BOSTON ADVERTISER

SUNDAY

NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER CIRCULATION

VOL. 234—No. 48 Entered as second-class mail matter at Boston, Mass. under the act of March 3, 1879 BOSTON, SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1927 Published Sunday by Northeastern Publishing Co., 3 Winthrop Square VOL. 234—No. 48

Price of This Paper Is 10c Pay No More

Today

Painless Birth
We're Not Rich—Yet
She Married Six
Said Solon to Croesus

—By Arthur Brisbane—

(Copyright, 1927, by Star Co.)

TWO DOCTORS of New York's Lying-in Hospital are said to have developed a method of bringing children into the world without pain and without the danger that attends use of ether or the so-called "twilight sleep."

The new method is called the "analgesia" method, eliminates pain without eliminating consciousness. If Drs. Asa Davis and William Gwathney accomplished this result, their names should live forever.

Professor Fisher of Yale says that 80 per cent. of Americans earn barely a living. It depends on what you call a living. The average income of those in "gainful professions" is $2,000 a year. Once you could have bought two strong slaves for that money, and worked them all their lives without wages.

Two thousand dollars a year for the "gainful employed," however, only means $500 a year average for the total population. The country's total income is ninety thousand million dollars, not enough by far, but as the comedian said, "better than being hit on the head with a sharp stone."

A Chicago lady who married six husbands is in jail. That would have seemed harsh when polyandry was the fashion in many parts of the world. Read Westermarck's big history of marriage for full details and learn how nicely the numerous husbands got along, one or more out hunting, while one or more stayed at home.

The husband "group" were often brothers; the oldest married the lady first, the younger brothers marrying her as they grew up. The oldest kept the superior rights. Perhaps he didn't have to go hunting.

The trouble with our domestic felicity, however, is not polyandry, polygamy, and man's "double standard." According to Westermarck, see Chapter 49, of his "Origin and Development of Moral Ideas," page 388, volume 2, the negroes of Angola are quite frank about it. "They asserted that they 'were not able to eat always from the same dish.'" Therefore they were polygamists.

We are rich in material things, possessing more automobiles than all other countries put together, and according to a federal survey, 655 radio stations, more than all the rest of the world combined.

Too bad we can't say the same about flying machines.

When Croesus showed all his gold to Solon—it's worth repeating—that wise gentleman said: "If anybody ever comes having better iron than you, he will be master of all this gold." Croesus remembered that later when Cyrus got him and tied him on top of a bonfire.

If anybody comes having better flying machines than we have, he will be master of all our radio stations and automobile plants.

Men committing suicide interest us, for we all know we must die and wonder why anybody should be in a hurry. In romantic far-away Vienna, a brilliant young theatrical manager, in his early twenties, handsome, but discouraged, sat before a mirror, took poison, and watched himself die.

In prosaic Newark, N. J., a man waited until dawn to kill himself, writing to his brother, "I am afraid of the darkness and the mice." He also wrote "booze is the cause of everything." Bootleggers' customers take warning.

That man, afraid of "darkness and the mice," may meet deeper darkness and worse mice where he has gone.

"Evolution," new magazine, has on the front page a big gorilla labeled "MAN'S BLOOD COUSIN." The magazine will "combat bigotry and superstition, and develop the open mind by popularising natural science."

Nevertheless, the gorilla, although his blood is marvelously like that of human beings, is certainly not man's cousin MENTALLY. If he were, he would eat other animals as man does, and kill his own kind for glory as man does.

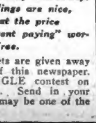
Continued on Page 2, Column 8.

THE WEATHER

Sunday cloudy and warmer; Monday cloudy and colder, probably rain; fresh to strong south to southwest winds, shifting to northwest Monday.

Sun rises 6:50; sets 4:16.
Moon sets 6:34 a. m.
High tide 12:15 a. m.; 12:45 p.m.
Light all vehicles at 4:49 p. m.

Supt. of Police M. H. CROWLEY Wins a Free Ticket to the



KEITH-ALBEE BOSTON THEATRE

By submitting the following in the Boston Advertiser JINGLE Last Line Contest.

There's a cute bungalow you should see
In a good, healthy community.
The surroundings are nice,
It's a "buy" at the price.
And from "rent paying" worries be free.

100 Free tickets are given away to readers of this newspaper. See the JINGLE contest on another page. Send in your answer—you may be one of the winners.

ARMED UPRISING IN LITHUANIA

Lt. Gov. Allen Weds Daughter's Chum

INVITATION FOR 'VISIT' OF YEAR IS ACCEPTED BY GIRL 'FOR LIFE'

Miss Eleanor Hamilton Wallace Is Bride of Acting Chief Executive in Pittsburgh

HER UNCLE OFFICIATES

Couple Will Hasten Return to Boston After Brief Automobile Honeymoon

"Come and spend a year with us."

It was this invitation to her college chum from the daughter of Lieut.-Gov. Frank G. Allen of Massachusetts that led to his marriage last night.

In Pittsburgh, Pa., the Lieutenant-Governor took an his bride Miss Eleanor Hamilton Wallace of that city. Both she and the Lieutenant-Governor's daughter are graduates of Wellesley College, 1925.

It is the second romance in the Allen family within a few months. The daughter, Mary Winslow Allen, became the bride of Francis Valentine Crane last August. Her marriage, in the belief of friends, hastened that of her father.

MARRIED BY UNCLE.

The ceremony took place at 8 o'clock last evening at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Cushing Wallace, Jr., 1408 Pennsylvania avenue, Pittsburgh. It was a simple service, without bridal attendants save for a best man, Harry Allen of Boston, brother of the bridegroom.

While the bride was unattended, she had as special guests seven of her college classmates, including the daughter of the bridegroom. Rev. E. S. Wallace, uncle of the bride, performed the ceremony, according to the Presbyterian ritual.

The bride wore a gown of real lace over ivory satin, with a lace veil falling over a long court train. On her head was a Dutch cap with orange blossoms, the cap also of real lace. A beautiful necklace of pearls she wore was the bridegroom's gift to her.

Her bridal bouquet was of orchids, lilies of the valley, bride's roses and gardenias, carried on the arm and tied with ivory satin ribbon.

DINNER FOLLOWS WEDDING.

A dinner and reception at the bride's home followed.

Those present included two uncles of the bride, Frank and C. F. Wallace, both of Erie, Pa., and their wives; Mr. and Mrs. Cheney Cook of Boston; Miss Grace Allen, sister of the lieutenant governor; Thomas Wallace, 3d, brother of the bride, a Princeton undergraduate; Miss Marie Wallace, sister of the bride, a student in Buffalo; Mrs. Crane, daughter of the bridegroom, and her husband; Mrs. Parke Sickler, East Orange, N. J., Miss Chaille Cage.

Continued on Page 2, Column 6.

More Secret Letters Prove Plottings of Mexico Against U. S.

Calles Ordered $100,000 Paid to Brazilian Arbiter Who Blocked American Claims—Thousands Spent to Aid Soviet Propaganda

Startling Disclosures!

Facsimiles of original documents from the Mexican archives published by the Boston Evening American and associated Hearst newspapers during the past week have revealed the following:

PRESIDENT CALLES ordered $100,000 spent for propaganda in Russia and another $50,000 for propaganda expenses "in favor of Mexico in China."

Striking British coal miners were made the beneficiaries of a $100,000 fund provided by Calles to help carry on their strike.

In a letter to the Mexican Minister in London, Arturo M. Elias, half-brother of President Calles and Mexican fiscal agent in New York, asserted that he had cabled $250,000 for delivery to Arcos, Limited, Russian trade agency in London, which in turn was to forward the money to a Russia Soviet official for propaganda.

President Calles ordered $100,000 paid to Dr. Rodrigo Octavio, neutral Brazilian member of the special mixed claims commission, "for his good services to Mexico." Dr. Octavio cast the deciding vote for this commission against claims which Americans lodged against Mexico for damages from loss of life and property.

In addition, Judge Ernest B. Perry of Lincoln, Neb., who was the American representative on this commission, presented interesting evidence relating to the activities of Dr. Octavio, whose decision was adverse to the American claims and against which Judge Perry lodged an official protest on behalf of the United States. Judge Perry's revelations were based upon reports made to him by John J. Zozaya, his secretary during the commission's deliberations in Mexico.

By JOHN PAGE
Copyright, 1927, by Washington Herald

Washington, Nov. 26.

REVELATIONS, supported by facsimiles of original documents from the Mexican secret archives, continuing to show the Bolshevik and anti-American activities of President Calles have been published by the Boston Evening American and associated Hearst newspapers during the past week.

Scope of Activities Almost World Wide

President Calles ordered money spent lavishly for the propagation of Russia's Bolshevik doctrine in his own country, in neighboring Central American republics, in Russia, in England and in China.

Last week it was shown how Mexican cash had been ordered broadcast in Nicaragua and in Mexico to convert the citizens to Bolshevism and to defeat American aims in Nicaragua. This week, the documents published show that the scope of Calles' activities was almost world-wide.

Two orders were made payable to the Mexican minister to Russia, Basilio Badillo, one for $100,000 and the other for $50,000. The large sum was to be delivered to "Citizen Basil Livitnoff," whom Calles called "a secret agent of Mexico in Leningrad." The smaller sum, Badillo was instructed to use for propaganda favoring Mexico in China.

The order in favor of "Livitnoff" follows:

To the Citizen Minister of the Treasury:

Please direct the citizen treasurer general of the nation to issue a pay warrant for the sum of $100,000 (one hundred thousand dollars), in favor of the citizen minister of Mexico in Russia, to be placed at the disposal of Citizen Basil Livitnoff, secret agent of Mexico in Leningrad.

You will order at the same time that this item be charged to secret expenditures of the executive, in the corresponding file, and with all possible reserve.

NOTICE!
Xmas Club Members Join the Unique Fur Club
See Page 4

Continued on Page 8, Column 1.

DINE—DANCE
Arlington Spanish Room
$1.25—No cover charge
Arlington at Tremont Street

RUTH SNYDER HYSTERICAL AT FEAR OF CHAIR

Doomed Murderess Shrieks and Beats Bars of Cell in Frenzy of Dread

TEARS HAIR, BITES NAILS

Sing Sing Guards Never Saw Such Spectacle; Lies on Floor Half Demented

By PEARL GROSS
Universal Service Correspondent

Ossining, N. Y., Nov. 26.—The dark, the terrible nerve-wracking fear of the inevitable dark.

Shrieking and clawing at the cold bars of a prison cell in the Sing Sing death house here, a woman, Mrs. Ruth Snyder, doomed to perish in the electric chair early in January, 1928, for the murder of her husband, screams repeatedly as realization dawns upon her.

"My God, I'm afraid! Oh, God, help me, please—please—"

Never before, over the death house guards, have they witnessed such a spectacle of fear.

She bites at her once trimly-manicured fingernails until they are red and bleeding. Fear-bound, she clings desperately to the matron, crying:

"I can't stand these shadows!"

All night the electric light burns dimly in her bare cell. She lies, most of the time, hysterical and half-demented, on the cold, stone floor.

LAST-HOPE APPEALS.

In the outside world her attorneys are making desperate appeals for further clemency for the doomed woman and Judy Judd Gray, who aided her in the murder of her husband, Albert Snyder, in the Snyder home in Queens Village, N. Y.

Gray faces death more courageously. He is writing life memoirs. They are to be sold after he death and the proceeds are to go to his little daughter Jane and his wife who lives in East Orange, N. J.

The figure of a long, solitary child causes Ruth Snyder most anguish, next to her criminal patron of the dark. It is her daughter, Lorraine, nine years old, who still believes her mother is only sick in the hospital."

NOTE FROM LORRAINE.

A Scott Lorraine visit the death house to say goodbye to her mother before the straps of the electric chair encase her forever.

Today, little Lorraine penned this letter to her "little mother":

"Mother Dear: Hurry up and get better. I can't eat without you. Grandma says you are not sick. She says she don't know whether you will be home for Christmas. But anyway, mother, here is what I want. You send me the big dolls you gave me two years ago. That dress I have. You have to make me another dress for dolly.

"I would like to have a little dolls' house. I hope you get better—love—Lorraine."

ARLINGTON MAN RETURNS FLAG SEIZED IN RICHMOND IN 1865

THE flag of Virginia, which was flying over the State Capitol in Richmond on April 3, 1865, when Federal troops seized the city, will be returned to Virginia, Governor Frederick Atherton Stevens, of No. 12 Cleveland street, Arlington, grandson of Major Atherton H. Stevens, Jr., the Union officer who removed it.

At the presentation will be Mrs. Charles H. Talbot, of Richmond, who made the flag at the request of Governor William Smith during the last year of the Civil War.

Governor Harry F. Byrd will receive the flag from Mr. Stevens in the old hall of the House of Delegates and it will be run up on the Capitol flagpole by Virginia National Guardsmen.

BEST FOR CHILDREN—FR. JOHN'S Medicine is safe—no drugs.—Advt.

FORMER POLICE CHIEF CONGDON IS CONVICTED

Getchell, Frothingham and Georges Also Face Sentence on "Graft" Charge

2 ALREADY SENTENCED

Penalties Will Be Meted Out by Judge Quinn in Salem Monday

Harold M. Congdon, former Salisbury police chief, and four other defendants in the Salisbury rum case, were convicted last night in Essex County Superior Court at Salem.

The jury deliberated for more than eight hours. The others convicted were Everett R. George and Ruel S. Getchell, both former Salisbury selectmen, and Warren S. Frothingham and Howard F. George, former policemen.

At the same time the jury announced that it had acquitted six other defendants in the case. They were Harry Congdon, brother of the former chief, Steve Senk, Harry F. Burnham, commander of Powell Island canal patrol station, Vincent Lazzaro, John Grillo and Carl A. Voss.

Wives of those already has been twice dragged through the federal courts, opened in the State court two weeks ago, 16 defendants were on trial.

Two of them, Charles W. Lamprey, former Salisbury selectman, and Stephen Williams, Salisbury beach hotel man, withdrew not guilty pleas and were sentenced to two years at hard labor and fined $500 for Judge Quinn when they pleaded guilty.

The other, Anthony Caramango, turned State's evidence.

The Salisbury Beach rum conspiracy was brought to the attention of Department of Justice agents three years ago when Mrs. Susan Congdon, wife of the former police chief, became jealous of her husband and told the story of the alleged conspiracy to Mrs. Ruth Williams, then U. S. Attorney at Boston.

When the case first was tried in the Federal Court in Boston in 1926 the jury acquitted a majority of the defendants and disagreed on former Chief Congdon and two others.

A year later many of the original defendants again were indicted in a Federal Grand Jury and were ordered on trial in the Boston court for conspiring to smuggle liquor. Former Chief Congdon was the only one convicted, he being sentenced to four months at Plymouth jail.

During the trial at Salem, which covered two weeks ago, much of the testimony given during the Federal trials was repeated by government and defense witnesses. Stories of the operation of rum vessels at Salisbury Beach during the Fall of 1923, a bootlegger's sale of a quart of liquor to Salisbury police, a motion by the then Chief Congdon to search the defendants' homes, and many things by policemen formed the daily routine.

Salisbury Beach County jury announced its verdicts. Judge Quinn ordered sentence for 9:30 tomorrow morning, at which time the convicted men will face defendants' counsel guilty.

Throne in Danger

—Photo by International Newsreel

KING MICHAEL, boy ruler of Rumania, whose throne is now in danger following the death of Premier Bratianu, "Iron Man" of the Balkans.

SOS BY FRENCH UNDERSEA CRAFT

London, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—An S O S from the French submarine Monge was intercepted here by Lloyds fourth Paul radio station.

The message said the submarine was in lat. 40.22 north, longitude 2.34 east. This is off the Balearic Islands in the Mediterranean.

(The Monge carries a complement of 51 men and was built in 1925.)

Paris, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—The French submarine Monge, in distress in the Mediterranean, has met with an accident to the rudder.

DEATH TOLL NOW 13 IN PRISON MUTINY

Folsom Prison, Cal., Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Five more wounds suffered by convicts, rounds in the scene of Folsom Prison mutiny, increased the death toll resulting from the riot of the prisoners on Tuesday of those who died were guards.

Twenty-five convicts still are suffering from wounds and four of them are in serious condition.

2 MASKED MEN ROB POSTMASTER OF $300

Robbery of $300 in cash from Postmaster Almon L. Dodd was related to him by two masked men, as he was on his way home from work this morning, his family was immediately informed and all but the wife overpowered.

The money, which he carried in a satchel, was partly his own and partly the government's.

Have paid Dividends in Savings Department at the rate of 5% since Incorporation

5

December 1st Next deposits by mail

HIGHLAND TRUST CO.
Davis Square
Branch: Union Sq., Somerville, Mass.

When the dinner is served and the drinks are passed around, then's the time to make the hit of the meal with—

WALDEMARAS GOVERNMENT IS REPORTED OVERTHROWN

Several Thousand Insurgents Preparing to March on Kovno, Capital

TO TAKE NATION'S REINS

Six Countries Face War Menace as Balkans Seethe With Threats

London, Nov. 26 (I.N.S.)—A dispatch to the Central News from Berlin states that reports coming by way of Riga declare the Waldemaras government of Lithuania was overthrown tonight by a military uprising at Kovno.

It is further reported from Kovno that several thousand Lithuanian insurgents are preparing to march on the capital and take over the reins of the government.

Lithuanian Premier Resigns, Says Report

Berlin, Nov. 26 (I.N.S.)—Premier M. Waldemaras of Lithuania resigned tonight, according to a report from Kovno, via Riga.

Poland Supporting Uprising Is Report

London, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—In connection with a report in the wee hours of the Lithuanian government, Reuter's Berlin correspondent says there has been no news from Lithuania since last night, when a Kovno wireless report that demonstrations had been posted about the city exhorting the citizens to participate in an armed uprising against the Waldemaras government.

The movement was said to be engineered by Lithuanian emigres under Col. Plechavicius, who is alleged to have assembled the followers at Vilna with Polish support, intending to march against Kovno.

It is also reported from Berlin that Premier Waldemaras in a note to the League of Nations declares he has positive information of an army of Lithuanian emigres, organized with Polish aid.

Six Nations Menaced by Flames of War

By ROBERT J. PREW
Universal Service Correspondent

London, Nov. 26.—With the vanguard of the League of Nations' disarmament conference which opens at Geneva Wednesday, arriving war clouds threaten to deluge numerous countries with blood.

1—Lithuania: Indicate that threatened war between Poland and Lithuania has been only temporarily averted through the decision late yesterday, after long conferences by Polish leaders including Marshal Pilsudski, not to take direct action against Lithuania until the League of Nations acts.

2—Poland's action is believed to have been influenced by a threatening note from the Soviet government that Russia would consider Poland's new attempt to annex Lithuania a hostile act.

3—Unrest and revolt in Ukraine and Crimea, denied at

Continued on Page 3, Column 1.

$1,500,000.00
Will Be Paid Dec. 1
JOIN NOW OUR 1928 CLUB

OVER FIFTY MILLION PAID BY US

EXCHANGE TRUST COMPANY
Original Christmas Club
1 Court St. 124 Boylston St.

Two Boys Appealing Figures in Woman's Death Trial

'IT'S A SIN TO LIE!' SAYS ONE IN GIBBONS CASE

Brother and Sister to Testify for State as Girl Widow Faces the Jury

NEIGHBORS ALSO CALLED

Interpreters in Two Languages Needed in Fall River Court

By KATHERINE BROOKS

Fall River, Nov. 26.

TWO members of her family, brother and sister, will take the stand here tomorrow against Mrs. Gertrude F. Gibbs in, on trial charged with the murder of her husband.

The case has been pending since last May, when the body of Theodore Gibbons was found in a well in East Swansea. Antone da Silva, co-defendant with Mrs. Gibbons and her alleged sweetheart, has been committed to the State Hospital for the Insane at Bridgewater.

The young widow, hardly more than a girl in appearance, the mother of a five-year-old boy, is fighting court proceedings alone.

The trial, which now has completed its first week, with but half of the State's witnesses as yet heard, is replete with extraordinary interest. Family ties are the subject of figures of two little children, prominent among the dramatis personae. Second, there is the intense human story in the "call of the blood"—that mysterious impulse that led the young defendant to desert her American husband for a man of her own race.

Little Boy Witness

The children in the case are five-year-old Herman Gibbons, son of the defendant and the slain man, about whom at least half the testimony revolves, and Daniel Maloney, seven years old, called by the State as a witness.

Daniel created a marked stir when in response to his name called out in deep-throated tones by an official of the court he appeared at the door door from the witness room.

By the tone of voice of the portly attendant spectators were prepared to behold a personage of substance, perhaps of physical bulk. Suddenly—"Well, will you look at that little feller" was heard in startled gasps.

A little blonde head was beheld down the aisle as Daniel, with strides as long as his short legs would permit, walk solemnly toward the stand. Judge Hugo A. Dubuque, presiding at the trial, halted the child's below the witness chair.

"One moment," he said. "How old is this boy?"

Daniel thereupon went through a qualification test.

Responding to questions put gently by District Attorney William C. Crossley, Daniel said he was seven years old, in the second grade of St. Peter and Paul School; that one and one made two; that he lived with his mother and knew about God.

"Do you know what it means to tell a lie?" asked the district attorney.

Daniel nodded. "It's a sin," he replied, with conviction.

He was allowed to take the stand. He took the oath. Then the judge orders a chair was brought and a court officer lifted Daniel into it. Seen then his small head with its yellow crop scarcely could be seen at the first question by Attorney Crossley. Daniel, like a well-trained schoolboy, rose to his feet and remained standing.

His testimony was that he had known the slain man, both of them living on Ferry-st tenement, and Mrs. Gibbons also on Foster street, and that Gibbons had once found a dime behind the door" for him while he went to the store.

'Feared Wife, Says Witness

"Do you know where Mr. Gibbons is now?" asked the examiner Daniel shook his head.

"Where is he?" asked Mr. Crossley.

"He's dead," replied the witness, very gravely.

Little Herman Gibbons, although not called as a witness, is a dominating figure in the trial. He appears, by testimony to have been the chief bone of contention between his parents prior to the mysterious disappearance of Gibbons and the finding of his body. Witnesses told of Mrs. Gibbons leaving her husband to live elsewhere, and taking the child with her; and of Gibbons' efforts to find and reclaim his son.

Testimony introduced by the State, and admitted over objections by defense counsel, tended to show that Gibbons was in fear of his wife and her associates; that they barricaded his apartment against her, by nailing the windows, changing the lock, and buying a revolver, and that he was lured to his death by the promise that he should see his boy.

Mother a Millhand

Court interpreters were called for several witnesses. Mrs. Mary Soares of Tiverton testified in Portuguese that Mrs. Gibbons and Da Silvia had lived for a time at her home.

Mrs. Soares is one of the most picturesque figures of the first week's proceedings. She came down the aisle, with a brown scarf tied shawl-fashion over her head, she looked hard working, simple-hearted, intensely human.

On the stand, after being sworn, she turned toward the spectators a face which in her youth must have had marked beauty; a face full of character, decision, and lurking humor. Although her testimony was given with gravity, there was in her eyes and in the lines about her mouth a suggestion of latent irony.

Self-possession and poise were here; unembarrassed by the unaccustomed scene, she gave her answers promptly, sometimes with eloquent gesture, but never with an unnecessary word.

On completion of her evidence, she walked stolidly back, up the aisle, and out, holding her brown head erect. Most of the women witnesses gave the impression that they had "dolled up" for the occasion. Not so Mrs. Soares. One felt that she had come from her work and would go back to it.

In contrast to her reticence, was the testimony of Mrs. Blanche Mailloux, a mill worker, one-time colleague of Mrs. Gibbons. They started work in a local mill, according to Mrs. Mailloux, on the same day, and entered into an arrangement by which she rode to and from the factory with Mrs. Gibbons in the latter's car. For this service she paid $2 a week.

Four children has Mrs. Mailloux, and she works to support them. They keep her too busy, she testified, what with her factory work also, to attend much to what her neighbors are doing. She knew Manuel Frazier, brother of Mrs. Gibbons, and his wife, and had been riding with them.

"Very Determined Woman"

Mrs. Mailloux did not allow any possible ambiguity as to her neighborly relations. Repeated questions by Attorney Silvia, chief defense counsel, as to her idea "with Manuel Frazier" brought each time the sharp response, "AND his wife, AND my children."

She told the jury of conversations she had with Mrs. Gibbons as they rode to and fro; how defendant had told her the reason she wanted work at the factory was because "Tony" Da Silvia was stopped for a time while the attention suit was on. This referred to a suit brought a year ago by Gibbons against Da Silvia for alienation of his wife's affections. Gibbons was awarded a verdict of $100.

Under cross-examination of Mrs. Mailloux by Attorney Silvia sparks flew.

"You get very confidential, didn't you?" asked the lawyer, "Told each other all about your affairs?"

"Not me!" retorted witness swiftly. "She made all that talk herself. I don't to 'about my own affairs."

"She told me she was a bootlegger," said Mrs. Mailloux.

Further testimony disclosed that the two women had had a difference. According to witness, Mrs. Gibbons had once gone to the factory and "licked her."

"What did she do that for?" asked Attorney Silvia. By this time, Mrs. Mailloux was exhibiting some impatience at the tone of the cross-examination.

"Ask her!" she retorted.

After some excused, she added, before leaving the stand, "She's a very determined woman. When she makes up her mind to anything—"

Counsel here interrupted, and Mrs. Mailloux walked out, her cheeks flushed.

The "very determined woman," meantime, sits all day, without apparent emotion. Her figure is slight, her face very pale. She displays no animation, not even interest in the proceedings.

Not even when her own brother, Manuel Frazier, was called by the district attorney to testify against his sister, did Gertrude Gibbons exhibit any feeling.

"She told me she liked Tony better than she did her husband. I told her she wasn't doing right to go with Tony when she had a husband. She told me to mind my own business, and so did he."

These statements elicited no flicker of expression on her sister's face. Nor did she exhibit any interest when under cross-examination, Frazier admitted he had said, over the telephone, that his sister might "rot in jail" for all he was concerned.

In the courtroom Mrs. Gibbons wears a costume of Copenhagen blue with a hat to match, braided in gold thread. The collar of her coat is trimmed with narrow gray fur, and on her left arm is a mourning band for the husband with whose death she is charged. She wears beige silk stockings and black pumps.

Frazier's testimony will be resumed on Monday. The sister who will be called is Mrs. Mary Madeiros, also a witness for the State.

MRS. GERTRUDE F. GIBBONS, on trial in Fall River for the death of her husband, whose body was found in a well, and her lawyer, Frank W. Silvia.

Alcohol in Tobacco?

Berlin, Nov. 26.

IF Professor Carl Newburg's claim is true, that tobacco contains alcohol and not nicotine, the troubles of America's prohibition agents will increase a thousand fold, say German editors.

The noted professor is a director of the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute for Experimental Therapy.

SURPRISED IN LOOTING HOME, THIEVES KILL 2

Mother and Son Shot to Death by "Ladder Burglars" After Struggle

Yonkers, N. Y., Nov. 26 (I.N.S.). —Mrs Clarence Rein, 48, and her son, Leslie, 23 were shot to death tonight in their Allison apartment.

Their bullet-pierced bodies were found in the apartment, with indications that the prowlers believed to have committed the murders had been frightened away after the slaying before ransacking the place.

Police believe the murders were committed by "ladder burglars," who have been active in Westchester county for the past year. A ladder leaning against the house led the police to the theory that the ladder burglars had entered the apartment, that Mrs. Rein and her son had returned home and found the intruders who in the subsequent scuffle shot and killed both of them.

WOUNDED GIRL IS RESCUED BY AIR

Apchorage, Alaska, Nov. 26 (A.P.)—Help for Bessie Howa, government school teacher at the isolated native village of Nikolai, 115 miles west of Anchorage on Cook inlet, literally came out of the air when a smile prevented rescue by sea.

Miss Howe accidentally shot herself last Tuesday while cleaning a rifle. The government radio at Seldovia and Anchorage caught a faint amateur signal of distress asking aid. Boats refused to set out in the raging storm. Russell Merrill and A. B. Haverstock, government doctor, hopped off in a plane equipped with skis. They landed on the ice.

HER HOSE COST MORE THAN HIS CLOTHES

Chicago, Nov. 26 (A.P.)—Women pay more for their hosiery alone than men pay for all their furnishings, the dollar survey of Chicago's industrial census disclosed today.

The survey's figures were $24,000,000 for women's hosiery and $21,000,000 for men's furnishings, spent during last year.

For their complete outfit during the year, the women paid out almost $40,000,000, while the men paid about $55,000,000.

DIES AS HE LEAVES B. C.-H. C. GAME

Albert J. Smith, 42, of Powder Hill road, Maynard, died suddenly yesterday while leaving the Boston College-Holy Cross football game at Braves Field.

Dr. Edward J. Flaherty of Main street, Maynard, he walked up Commonwealth avenue toward where his auto was parked. He complained of a pain in the region of the heart. Dr. Flaherty was called to an auto salesroom, where he died.

SIX NAMED TO TAKE WEST POINT EXAMS

William F. Powers, John B. Gibbons, Jr., and William J. Healey, all of Boston, received notice from the United States War Department yesterday that they had been designated from their Congressional district to take the entrance examinations for West Point.

From the 14th Congressional district, Ralph H. Davey, Jr., Francis Hill and Roland L. Dutton, all of Brockton, have been designated.

FACTORY NAMED FOR SACCO IS BOMBED

Buenos Aires, Nov. 26.—A cigarette factory named in honor of Sacco and Vanzetti, executed in Massachusetts last July, was wrecked today by a powerful bomb explosion.

No one was injured. Police believe that another bomb in a cigarette factory out of anger that the names of Sacco and Vanzetti should have been used for commercial purposes.

WEALTHY MAN SUED BY GIRL FOR $300,000

Baltimore, Nov. 26 (I.N.S.)—Suit for $300,000 damages against C. Warner Stork, wealthy Baltimore real estate dealer was filed here today by Miss Adelaide Doing of New York city.

The plaintiff asked $200,000 for alleged breach of promise, and $100,000 for alleged injuries resulting from an attack she declares Stork made upon her.

JUNKERS SEAPLANE AGAIN FAILS TO HOP

London, Nov. 26 (I.N.S.). — The Junkers seaplane, which is attempting a Germany-to-New York flight by stages, failed today in its third attempt in a week to take off from Horta, in the Azores, Grace, N. F., according to a cable to Lloyd's.

The plane, carrying a crew of four and Mlle. Lilli Dillenz, Viennese actress, as passenger, arrived at the Azores many weeks ago.

BOSTON BRIDE DEAD OF GAS

Mrs. Joseph E. Reynolds, 30, said to be a bride of a few months, was found dead from gas asphyxiation in her recently established home at No. 25 Queensbury street, Back Bay, last night after police had forced entrance following complaints of neighbors who reported leaking gas. Mrs. Reynolds was found in her underclothing in the kitchen where four gas ranges jets were open.

Mrs. Reynolds, daughter of Mrs. Ralph Nichols of Rutland square, South End, for whom she left a note, moved into the Queensbury street apartment less than three months ago. Police said they had been informed that Mrs. Reynolds and her husband, a post office clerk, had a dispute on Thanksgiving eve following which he left the house.

With Thanksgiving dinner prepared and her husband absent, police said, Mrs. Reynolds became despondent, and, according to neighbors, mainly in several places, then returned home.

Police who found the woman's body hurried to City Hospital, using a pulmotor on the way but without success.

Medical Examiner Leary was notified and the letter addressed to Mrs. Nichols was held by police until his arrival.

HOPES FOR DRY U. S. 50 YEARS FROM NOW

Chicago, Nov. 26. (A. P.) — If the United States is dry in fifty years "it will be the marvel of the world," in the opinion of Commander Evangeline Booth of the Salvation Army, who is here for a conference of her workers.

"Of course we cannot do away with drinking with a wave of the hand," said the commander. "The moral character of the United States already is so 50 per cent better since drinking liquor became illegal.

COOLIDGES GO ON WEEK-END BOAT TRIP

Washington, Nov. 26 (A.P.)—President and Mrs. Coolidge sailed on the Mayflower today for a week-end cruise.

Their guests were Senator and Mrs. McNary of Oregon, Senator and Mrs. Eddie of New Jersey and Mrs. Dale of Vermont, Mrs. Frank W. Stearns and Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Clark.

JAPANESE SOLDIER JAILED FOR APPEAL TO MIKADO

Tokio, Nov. 26.

TAISALU KITAHARA, private soldier who dared to make a personal direct appeal to the Emperor during the recent army maneuvers, today was sentenced to one year in prison.

During the maneuvers, Kitahara broke from the ranks and flung himself before the Emperor, beseeching imperial aid in obtaining better treatment for the Suhei'a's soldiers, members of the former "outcast class."

The soldier's act was without precedence and the officers of his regiment immediately handed in their resignations because of the disgrace. The resignations were not accepted.

Acting Governor Weds

LIEUT.-GOV. FRANK G. ALLEN and his bride, who was Miss Eleanor Hamilton Wallace of Pittsburgh.

DAUGHTER SEES ALLEN WED CHUM

Continued from First Page.

Huston, Tex.; Miss Charlotte Hamblen, Spokane, Wash.; Miss Mildred Barnett, Detroit; Miss Eleanor Lodington Albany, N. Y., and Miss Mary Louise Schedenhelm, Chicago.

WIDOWER SINCE 1924.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Allen left for a brief honeymoon trip by motor. They planned to be in Boston within a week, as Mr. Allen has been acting Governor during the absence abroad of Governor Alvan T. Fuller.

The parents of the bridegroom were prevented by failing health from attending the wedding, but the Lieutenant-Governor spent Thanksgiving with them at their home, 25 Batchelder street, Lynn.

Preceding the wedding, out-of-town guests were entertained by the bride-elect at a luncheon at the Duquesne Club, Pittsburgh.

Not for years in Massachusetts has the marriage of a prominent resident been fraught with so much romantic interest. The Lieutenant-Governor was a widower of more than three years, his first wife, the former Clara H. Winslow, having died in August, 1924.

With his daughter then in college, the big home of the Allens in Norwood was lonely. Although the Lieutenant-Governor is known as a lavish entertainer, there was no "lady of the manor" to welcome his guests.

The two girls, on graduation from Wellesley in June, 1925, immediately accepted positions. The then Miss Allen took up social work at the Children's Hospital in this city, while her chum became instructor at the Beaver Country Day School in Brookline.

LAUGHTER IS DELIGHTED.

Having no home in Boston, but being an intimate friend of Mary Allen, she was invited by the latter to make her home with the Allens during the school year. This she accepted. Her domicile with them is looked to be regarded as a matter of course. Last Summer, when the Allens went abroad, prior to the marriage of Mary, Miss Wallace went with them.

On their return came the marriage of the daughter to Mr. Crane, a member of the wealthy Chicago family. Crane family of Massachusetts, and Harvard graduate. This marriage completely upset the Allen household. Not only did the daughter of the family depart to her new life, the friend, deprives of her chaperon also departed, to return to her parents in Pittsburgh.

It was shortly after this that the engagement to her former host, the Lieutenant-Governor of Massachusetts, was announced.

According to friends, Mrs. Crane was delighted with the marriage. Her former college chum now becomes her stepmother.

The bridegroom is a native of Lynn, having been graduated by the Lynn Classical High School. He is 54 years old, and his bride is 27.

UNABLE TO FIND FULLER ABROAD

By Universal Service.

London, Nov. 26.—Diligent inquiry in several European cities has failed to find the "lost" Gov. Alvan T. Fuller, of Massachusetts, said to be seeking restoration of his health on a secret vacation trip.

Reports that he was ill in some hospital in London, Liverpool or Paris have not been confirmed.

Gov. Fuller has been "missing" for three weeks, according to dispatches from America asking for report on his condition. Worn out by the worries of the Sacco-Vanzetti case, the Governor was believed to have sailed for a rest abroad, and the reports seemed confirmed by advices that his physician, Dr. C. F. Sylvester, left a week later for Liverpool.

He has not appeared at any of his usual hotels on this side and none of his friends has heard of his arrival.

TRIO FACE TRIAL IN DROWNING OF YOUTH

New York, Nov. 26 (I.N.S.)—One middle-aged man and two youths will go to trial in Brooklyn Monday on a charge of having deliberately drowned a third youth that the middle-aged man might collect $70,000 insurance.

They are Joseph Lefkowitz, 42, merchant, salesman and broker; Irving Rubinzahl, 20, and Harry Greenberg, 18. The slain youth was Benjamin Goldstein 20, a partner of Lefkowitz. Goldstein was thrown from a boat in Gravesend Bay last August, according to the confessions of Rubinzahl and Greenberg, at the behest of Lefkowitz in whose name the insurance had been drawn.

VANDERBILT IS SAD AS HE IS DIVORCED

Reno, Nev., Nov. 26 (A.P.)—Mrs. Rachel Vanderbilt was today granted a divorce from Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., former newspaper publisher, on charges of desertion.

A complaint filed by Vanderbilt charging cruelty was withdrawn. Mrs. Vanderbilt was present.

Vanderbilt said after the decree was granted he was "very sad" and spoke of the happy moments he had spent with Mrs. Vanderbilt. He added that he intended to reside in Reno.

HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE IN AFRICAN FLOOD

Oran, Algiers, French North Africa, Nov. 26 (A.P.)—Heavy loss of life at Mostaganem is reported after a torrential rain.

The Oran region is flooded. A torrent rushing out of a railway tunnel swept away fifty houses.

First reports place the casualties as high as 800. Many bodies were floating in the harbor.

Try and Stop 'Em

London, Nov. 26.

GERMAN hotel and inn keepers have begun a campaign against the custom of women combing their bobbed hair and painting and powdering themselves in public.

75 WITNESSES TO BE CALLED IN SINCLAIR CASE

Government Springs Surprise in Its Contempt Proceedings

Washington, Nov. 26 (A.P.)—Springing a surprise in the contempt proceedings against Harry F. Sinclair, wealthy oil operator; W. J. Burns, founder of the Burns Detective Agency, and four of their associates, District Attorney Gordon began today preparation of approximately 75 subpoenas calling as government witnesses nearly every person who testifies during the grand jury investigation into the charges of tampering with the Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy jury.

Sinclair, Burns, the oil man's confidential associates, Henry Mason Day of New York and Sheldon Clark of Chicago; W. Sherman Burns, manager of the Burns Agency, and C. L. Veltch, Burns' Baltimore manager, have been cited to appear before Justice Siddons in the District of Columbia Supreme Court December 5 to show cause why they should not be punished for contempt of court.

The government charged in its petition upon which the rule of contempt was issued that Sinclair sent Day and Clark to Washington, where they engaged the Burns Detective Agency "to spy upon, to bribe and intimidate and to do anything calculated to interfere with and impede" the Fall-Sinclair jurors in the unbiased discharge of their duties.

In calling as government witnesses those who appeared before the Grand Jury, the district attorney's office let it be known for the first time that it would use the Burns operatives in attempting to prove that contempt of court had been committed.

The Burns detectives carried on the shadowing of the trial jury and their reports, seized by the district attorney, disclosed that they had kept up an intensive surveillance.

When the grand jury witnesses testify at the contempt hearing the evidence collected against these cited for contempt will be disclosed.

Those witnesses include Charles G. Ruddy, manager of the Burns Philadelphia office who directed the shadowing of the jury, and Edgar Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania, to whom W. J. McMullin directed what the government charged was a plot to bring about a mistrial.

SERVICES AT CONCORD FOR MAYOR MARDEN

Concord, N. H., Nov. 26.—Governor Huntley N. Spaulding and Knights Templar. Burial was in the late Mayor's home in Chichester.

TWO HUB WOMEN HURT IN WASHOUT

Ware, Nov. 26 (A.P.)—Injuries received when an automobile went into a washout and was wrecked on the West Brookfield highway today sent Mrs. Joseph A. Johnson of 76 East Main street, Ware, and Mrs. Mary Lane Hospital here in a critical condition.

Her husband was severely bruised. Miss Lougrue of 14 Mason street, Boston, who was also accompanying them, was only slightly injured.

WESTERN SENATOR AND WIFE IN HUB

U. S. Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota will be the principal speaker at Ford Hall Forum this evening. Senator Nye and Mrs. Nye arrive today for a short visit in New England.

TODAY

Continued from First Page.

Europe expects trouble between Russia and Poland. Russia accusing Poland of stirring up trouble in the Ukraine. Germany watches. In such a row she might get back territory that the allies kindly handed to Poland at Versailles.

Two big steel companies, the Republic and the Trumbull, agree on a $200,000,000 merger. Once good radicals would have shuddered. Now they murmur, "poor little baby trust, we hope you survive."

One hundred Republican leaders are invited to organize a "wet" Republican campaign for 1928. That probably won't amount to more than the old Prohibition party amounted to before prohibition. Many Republicans and Democrats, too, are wet, but they won't say much about it at election time.

288 Bitten by Dogs This Year, State Takes Action

POLICE CHIEFS CONFER WITH HEALTH BOARDS

Two Deaths Spur Officials to Make Vigorous Fight Against Rabies

11 GASHED BY ONE ANIMAL

Least That Terrified Three Cities Found to Have Been Infected

With 288 persons bitten since the first of the year by dogs and two deaths reported, State Health Commissioner Dr. George H. Bigelow yesterday called emergency meetings of the boards of health and police chiefs in the Metropolitan area.

The "mad dog" scare is the worst in the history of the State since 1917. Friday, 11 persons, 10 of them children, were reported bitten in Melrose, Malden, and Everett.

Many more are believed to have been victims, but the State records are necessarily limited to those who have reported their cases while applying for Pasteur treatment.

Everett police yesterday received a report that the dog which bit the 11 persons Friday was a victim of rabies necessitating the inoculation of the victims. The head of the animal was sent to the State Bureau of Animal Industry, which yesterday reported a positive finding.

Dr. Bigelow, in admitting yesterday the seriousness of the situation, called attention to the two deaths in a year from victims of dogs affected with rabies, and again stressed the fact that the disease is easily preventable from dogs to humans.

ONE DOG'S VICTIMS.

Friday's victims of the German police dog, finally shot by Officers Harry J. Donaghue and Dwight C. Riley of the Everett police, were:

ARTHUR SULLIVAN, five, of Essex street, Melrose; twelve stitches in ear, which was nearly severed.

HOWARD FRANCIS ELMS, twelve, of Avon street, Melrose; left hand severely bitten.

CHARLES TARR, seven, of Greenmont street, Malden; bitten in nose.

ETTORE DUNBAR, twelve, of Main street, Malden; bitten on upper lip.

NORMAN MOOREHEAD, four years, of Sixth street, Malden; right arm severely bitten.

ELIZABETH DeYESO, nineteen of Thurston street, Everett; right arm badly torn.

ARTHUR MORESCHI, fourteen of Health street, Everett; bitten on right leg.

NICOLA TADDEO, fourteen, of Health street, Everett; right arm gashed.

JOSEPH LONGO, 16 Shurtleff street, Revere; severely bitten while fighting off dog on Tileston street Everett.

MRS. ANNA LONGO, his wife right arm bitten.

MICHAEL LONGO, their baby; badly bitten in the face.

Police sent all of the victims to the State House to take the Pasteur treatment, which is anti-rabies serum.

DANA LEFT $25,000 TO TRUE, LOYAL FRIEND

The bulk of the estate of the late Payson Dana, former Commissioner of Civil Service, which is estimated at between $500,000 and $700,000, goes to his two nephews Richard Dana and Robert Brent Dana, both of St. Louis, according to the terms of the will which was filed in the Norfolk County Probate Court at Dedham yesterday.

A legacy of $25,000 was left to Carrie A. Vose of Brookline, characterized in the will as a "true and loyal friend." Other small bequests amounting to $15,000 are made to various relatives and employees.

GAS KILLS MAN, WIFE IS CRITICALLY ILL

Mrs. Jennie McKernon, 60, of No. 752 Parker street, Roxbury, was in critical condition in City Hospital last night several hours after she and her husband, Samuel McKernon, had been found overcome by gas in their home.

McKernon was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital.

29TH ANNIVERSARY OF PORTLAND'S LOSS

Twenty-nine years ago yesterday, the steamship City of Portland went down in the great blizzard of 1898, with loss of more than 200 lives.

The day also marked the 35th anniversary of the great fire that wiped out the centre of the city of Lynn, with a loss of more than $5,500,000.

NATHANIEL HODGES, HARVARD, '74, DIES

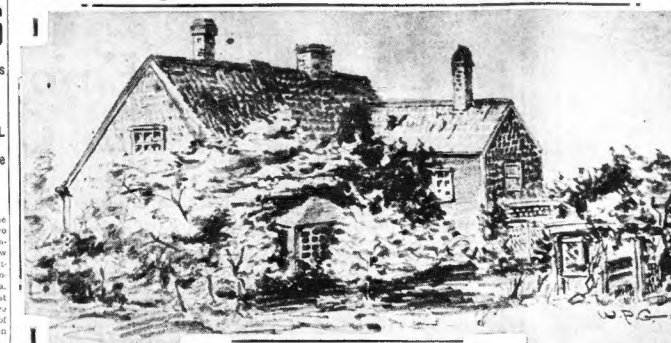
Nathaniel Dana Carlile Hodges, native of Salem, Harvard '74, and formerly connected with the Harvard library, is dead in Cincinnati, where he has been librarian of Hamilton Library since 1890.

AMUSEMENT

DEBATE
"COMPANIONATE MARRIAGE"
UPHELD BY
Hon. BERTRAN RUSSELL
OPPOSED BY
Rev. D. A. MACLENNAN
BOSTON OPERA HOUSE
Thur., Dec. 8, 8:15 P. M.
Tickets $50c, $1.10, $1.65, $2.20, $2.75
Now on Sale at Spectators' Guild, Little Building, Oslo.

New England Doctors to Show Their Skill With Pen and Brush

What Leading Medical Men Turn Hands to in Leisure Hours



Exhibition Will Open in Boston Medical Library Galleries Next Wednesday

By SIDNEY DOUGLAS

PERHAPS the most interesting art exhibition to which Boston ever has been treated will open in the Boston Medical Library galleries, at No. 8 Fenway, next Wednesday. Fifty of the best known physicians and surgeons of New England will show, for ten days, the product of their skill with pencil and pen, in oil and water colors, in clay modeling and silver working—in nearly every branch of art in which sympathetic perception, sensitive understanding, leftness and craftsmanship find expression.

It will be the first exhibit of their avocations Boston doctors ever have given, and the second such exhibit in this country. The amount of talent New England has hidden away in its medical men—and women, for at least one of the exhibitors at the coming show is a woman doctor—is extraordinary, it appears, for when such a display was attempted in Paris only fifty contributors were found in the whole of France.

Surprises in Store

Some of the most distinguished names in American medicine today are on the list of exhibitors, and there are many surprises for the lay public in store.

Dr. Frederic J. Cotton, outstanding expert on fractures and worldfamous for his work in that special field of surgery, will appear in the Medical Library gallery as a painter and modeler in clay, both, and as a master of pencil drawing, too. One of the charming pieces of the show is a little head of his granddaughter done in clay, colored and varnished—a Florentine looking bit, full of humor and affectionate admiration.

With Pen and Pencil

The delicacy of touch and sureness of the surgeon appears strikingly in a number of things from the brush and pencil of Dr. William P. Graves, who by profession is a leader among gynecologists and is eminent for the remarkable record of the Free Hospital for Women in Brookline, of which he was founder and still the directing head.

Dr. Graves is a Nantucket enthusiast, having made his Summer home there for years, and the picturesque homes, shores and corners of the quaint island are depicted by his pen and pencil in watercolors and oils, all with fineness of view and spirit and workmanship.

Again the scientific man's touch appears without in any way affecting the artist, in the exhibits of the work of Dr. Joseph W. Courtney, distinguished as a nerve specialist. Dr. Courtney's media are chalk, crayon and the etcher's point, and the warmth and expression he achieves are fascinating.

So the list goes on. Dr. George H. Monks, past president of the Boston Surgical Society, displays sculpture. Dr. Alice G. Bryant shows some charcoal drawings of special quality. And among the exhibitors outside of Greater Boston are Dr. Edward Bagg of Holyoke, who is a landscape painter in his moments of leisure and recreation, and Dr. Hale Powers of Northampton, who expresses himself in water colors.

"There is nothing of a medical nature in this exhibition," said Dr. Cotton, who has been an enthusiastic worker for the show. "We don't expect the work to be up to that of professional artists, but we hope to prove that many New England doctors find great enjoyment in practicing the fine arts as an avocation and in fine craftsmanship of various kinds."

Glimpse of Personal Side

The craftsmanship exhibits cover a wide field. Silver jewelry is one man's hobby, and he has developed striking skill at it. Another's is bookbinding. A third has entered two violins as examples of what his turns his hand to making in his leisure hours.

So here will be a chance to get a glimpse of the personal side of many distinguished professional men such as rarely offers. The exhibition is to be open daily, except Sunday, from 9:30 a. m., to 10 p.m.

PORTRAIT BUST modeled by Dr. Frederic J. Cotton, expert on fractures and world famous for his work in that line.

Fish Tails for Hats

Paris, Nov. 26.

DAME FASHION'S latest idea is the fish tail at the back of felt hats. A little felt hat, with a crown inclining to roundness, is cut and stitched down the centre, shaped fish-tail ends coming below the narrow brim at the back of the hat.

STRICKEN AS SHE QUITS HOSPITAL

While Mrs. Mary McGrath, 45, hovered between life and death at Lynn Hospital last night police started to check up missing women of surrounding cities and towns to learn her address.

Mrs. McGrath was run down by an auto at Essex and Rockaway streets. Edmund Valeri of Valeri place, Lynn, was the driver of the car, which he had rented for the night.

Mrs. McGrath had cuts and bruises which hospital authorities did not consider serious. They dressed her wounds and allowed her to leave without recording her address.

She stepped out of the hospital and collapsed. Thorough examination revealed internal injuries which may prove fatal.

RECOVERS $42 LEFT IN SHOE AT COBBLER'S

Lill Sullivan of Clinton street, Cambridge, hid $42 in one of her shoes before she went to bed Friday night. She forgot all about it yesterday and took the shoes to a cobbler in Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, to be repaired.

When she went for them the $42 was missing. Questioned by police, the cobbler said he knew nothing about the money. Later he telephoned police he had found it in a paper bag in which the shoes were brought.

$15,000 SETTLES DAUGHTER'S SUIT

A three-year court battle ended yesterday when Mrs. Louise B. Baldwin, 24, of New Bedford, "penniless heiress," announced that her father, George O'Neil of Brookline, had settled for $15,000 her suit against him.

The suit was brought as a result of the daughter's attempting to force her father's payment of $25,000, representing a trust fund left her by her mother and accruing when she reached her 21st birthday.

PENCIL sketch of Nantucket house by Dr. William P. Graves.

HOLDUP MEN GET $600, LEAVE FOWL

Louis S. Shapiro of No. 56 Glenway street, Dorchester, had chickens last night in Newman's Market, at No. 243A Belmont street, Belmont, and he also had $600.

Two holdup men took the $600 instead of the chickens.

Shapiro was counting the market's receipts for the day when the two men entered the shop. One asked if he had any chickens. Shapiro answered that he ...

"Give us the bills inside," ordered one of the pair, noticing the money and pointing a revolver at Shapiro.

The attendant handed over the sheaf of bills, totaling more than $600, he said.

The men locked him into the wash room and departed. Ten minutes later a customer, hearing Shapiro's cries, released him.

WAKEFIELD YOUTH FOILED IN ESCAPE

Edward F. Kilgore, 16, of Wakefield, met failure yesterday to escape from a cell in Wakefield police station. Kilgore is charged with having committed a dozen breaks in Wakefield and Reading. He is accused of stealing 25 old tires from Hyman Barron and selling them to Barron next day.

Yesterday Capt. McFadden discovered Kilgore as he was trying to remove bricks from the wall of his cell.

NOW OFFICIATES AT DAUGHTER'S WEDDING

Rev. Charles H. Watson, D. D., of Belmont last night officiated at the wedding of Miss Evelyn Crosby and Harold Gilman Bennett at the home of her parents, former State Senator and Mrs. J. Howell Crosby, No. 282 Mystic street, Arlington.

Rev. Dr. Watson performed the marriage ceremony for the bride's parents.

ACCUSED SLAYER, SHOT, WILL LIVE

Lawrence, Nov. 26 (A.P.)—With the removal of a self-inflicted bullet from his right ear, Joseph Lorenti, 29, accused slayer on Thanksgiving afternoon of Mrs. Edna La Scola, 26, will probably recover.

Arlington 'White Way'

Powerful arc lights, creating a "white way," were turned on in the business centre of Massachusetts avenue, Arlington, last night. The system will be extended the length of the avenue, from Cambridge to Lexington.

4 WEDDINGS MARK CLOSE OF HOLIDAY WEEK

Miss Kingsford of Brookline Bride of Philip B. Dowst of Newton Center

An evening wedding yesterday at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Brookline, united Miss Vivien Askew Kingsford, daughter of Mrs. Alice M. Kingsford of the Riverway, and Philip B. Dowst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Dowst of Newton Center.

The rector of the church, Rev. William Lathrop Clark, officiated.

Miss Kingsford gave her daughter in marriage and the bride's sister, Miss Vera A. Kingsford, was maid of honor. Her other attendants were Mrs. Arnold D. Brundage, Jr., of Salem, matron of honor, and Miss Ruth B. Melvin of Watertown and Miss Ruth M. Walton of Dedham, bridesmaids. Robert Dowst of New York, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Mr. Dowst is a graduate of Boston University Law School, '19. The couple will be at home after Jan. 1 at 77 Morton street, Newton Center.

BENNETT-CROSBY.

Miss Evelyn Crosby, daughter of former State Senator and Mrs. J. Howell Crosby of Arlington, was bride to Harold Gilman Bennett of Bethel, Me., last night. The ceremony was performed at the bride's home by Rev. Charles H. Watson, D. D., officiated.

The bride was graduated by Pierce Secretarial School and the Hubbardcroft by Gould Academy, Bethel. Mr. Tibbey will be at home at 200 Mystic street, Arlington, after Jan. 1.

The wedding of Miss Madeline W. Dwyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Dwyer of Tremont street, Newton, and Howard F. Smith of Jamaica Plain was solemnized at the Church of the Presentation, Brighton, yesterday morning, Rev. James Murphy officiating.

MARRIED IN QUINCY.

The bride's sister, Miss Eleanor A. Dwyer, was maid of honor and Miss Margaret M. Dwyer and Miss Katrine Monahan, bridesmaids. Edwin J. Smith, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bridegroom is an M. I. T. graduate and a veteran of the World War. The bride was graduated from Pacton Pianoforte School. A reception was given at the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. Ray Cameron May of Lough-lin Pla., became the bride of William B. I. Blake of Dixwell avenue, Quincy, yesterday afternoon. Rev. George H. Nichols of Wollaston was best man. After a wedding trip to Washington and other points, Mr. and Mrs. Blake will live in Quincy.

FUNERAL TODAY FOR RODNEY G. CHASE

Funeral services for Rodney G. Chase, 88, graduate of Dartmouth College in 1864, lumberman, educator and authority on penitentiary will be held today at 2 p. m. at his late home, 109 Beech street, West Medford.

Mr. Chase died Thanksgiving Day of heart trouble following a battle of pneumonia. He was born at Derry, N. H., he was headmaster of the Dwight and Wells Schools, Boston.

INJURIES OF MAN IN CAFE A MYSTERY

The plight of an unidentified middle-aged man found unconscious late last night on the floor of a restaurant at No. 48 Dover street, is a matter of mystery. At City Hospital it was found his skull probably was fractured. Employes of the place told the man fell from a stool while eating.

Boy Run Down, Badly Cut

Michael Delgieco, 5, of Hall avenue, South Braintree, received severe gashes on the head and right hand yesterday when he was struck by an auto driver, Charles Donohue of South Braintree, near the boy's home.

Style Says Glitter

Berlin, Nov. 26.

THE fashionable woman this Autumn must decorate her dress with sparkling stones. The demand is for glitter.

From Paris come black felt hats. A huge bird, completely composed of glittering stones, studded into the right side, aroused great admiration. Another dazzle was produced by a large, glittering lion on the side of the crown.

First Spadeful

GEORGE D. COLGAN breaking ground for the new Cambridge City Home in the Fresh Pond Parkway section. The $500,000 building will accommodate 200 patients.

BURGLAR USES FISTS AND FLEES

His wife an hysterical and helpless witness, Joseph Shields, 35, fought a burglar in his home, 35 Canal avenue, Waltham, last night. After exchanging blows with Shields, the burglar escaped by crashing through the front door.

Mr. and Mrs. Shields were alone when they heard unusual noises in a darkened bedroom off the living room of their apartment. Entering the bedroom, Shields was confronted by a man whom he describes as about 25 or 27 years, five feet six inches in height and of dark complexion. The intruder, whom he presumed to be bent on robbery, was a robust man of about 160 pounds. He broke away from Shields' grip before assistance could be summoned.

The intruder is believed to have entered through a window which had been left unlocked.

Patrolman Benjamin Howard was assigned to investigate the case.

SUBMARINE CABLE TO LINK AIRPORT

Several hundred yards of submarine cable is to be laid at the Boston Airport within the next few days to carry the plane area from the city streets to the army and commercial flying stations.

For the past 10 days the airport has been cut off from telephonic communication with the exception of an emergency line installed for use by army authorities. The clay foundations at the "port," it is said, have caused the regular cable to become so saturated with water that it has become unserviceable.

SHENANDOAH WIDOW SAILS FOR TROPICS

Many Bostonians sailed yesterday from New York on the United Fruit Liner Tivives, for a cruise to Cuba, Jamaica, Guatemala and Honduras, including William S. Kuhn, Jr., Kenneth G. Smith, William Vernon Hall, Thomas M. Cloward and Roy I. Peters. Mrs. John Caswell is now of Commander Zachary Landsdowne, victim of the Shenandoah disaster, was a passenger.

LICENSE TAKEN, MARGOLIS WILL APPEAL RULING

Goodwin Punishes Owner Whose Auto, Commandeered by Police, Killed Man

Nathan Margolis, of Morton st., Mattapan, driver of an auto which killed a pedestrian after it had been commandeered by a police officer, announced last night that he would appeal from the action of Registrar Frank A. Goodwin, who revoked his license.

Margolis had not been notified officially that his license had been revoked. This information, however, was contained in a statement Registrar Goodwin issued yesterday.

Margolis claims he is being penalized in a situation for which the police are to blame. His auto was commandeered by Patrolman J. J. Quinn on Nov. 13 for a chase which ended in the death of Timothy J. Scannell of South Boston.

GOODWIN'S STATEMENT.

The registrar announced yesterday that policemen have no right to force motorists to break the laws.

Goodwin suspended the license, after evidence showed the car had struck and killed Scannell, piled up on a sidewalk and later crashed into a pole, injuring two.

Goodwin commented:

"I am very sorry that I have to take the license of Mr. Margolis, because he, like many other persons, no doubt, thought he was under obligation to obey the police officer in chasing the other car.

"The power given to a police officer to demand aid from a citizen in a criminal case, does not carry with it the power to compel the person aiding to break the law.

TIME TO STOP IT.

"In this case, Margolis was operating so that the lives and safety of the public might be endangered, and he was also speeding. There have been so many bad accidents, recently, in connection with these wild chases through the streets, that it is about time to stop it.

"He catches the chance as 'crazy, Wild West' drivers on our streets."

The license of Margolis will automatically be suspended for six months, when it will be restored by the registrar of motor vehicles.

Margolis, however, has the alternative of appealing Goodwin's decision to Chairman William P. Williams of the State Public Works Commission, and the commission may recall the action of the registrar.

3 FLEE FIRE CAUSED BY SMOKING IN BED

A man and his wife and child were assisted to the street from a room on the sixth floor of a house in Watson street, Cambridge, last night by firemen who had been summoned to put out a blaze which had started in a mattress.

According to police, Leroy Adams retired for the night, but continued to smoke a cigar. Her husband, after his bed and also the mattress of the crib alongside. Adams rescued his child, about the hands.

GIRL REPORTS YOUTH SEIZED HANDBAG

Miss Jennie Lane of No. 1170 Boylston street reported last night to police of Station 19, Roxbury Crossing, that a young man seized her handbag containing $20 in money and other articles.

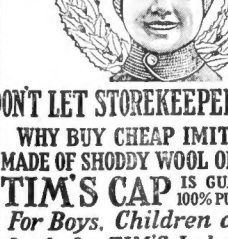
The attempted theft occurred in the Fens near the junction of Longwood and Huntington avenues.

MOTORCYCLE OFFICER STOPS LYNN RUNAWAY

Motorcycle Officer David Feinberg yesterday pursued and caught a runaway horse in Market street, Lynn, just before it raced into crowded Western avenue.

When abreast of the horse the officer leaped from his cycle and succeeded in stopping the runaway.

REAL GIFT TIM'S CAP



DON'T LET STOREKEEPER FOOL YOU
WHY BUY CHEAP IMITATIONS MADE OF SHODDY WOOL OR COTTON
TIM'S CAP IS GUARANTEED 100% PURE WORSTED
For Boys, Children and Men
Look for TIM'S Label in Cap
TIM'S GIFT BOX FREE, DEMAND BOX
TIM'S CAP CORPORATION, 30-32-34 West 17th St. New York

SMOULDERING WAR FLAMES MENACE PEACE OF EUROPE

Continued from First Page.

the Soviet government from Moscow, are declared in dispatches from several sources to have already resulted in hundreds of deaths. Trotzky followers are credited with these uprisings against the Stalin majority rule in the Communist party.

4—Jugoslavia, still further incensed by the new Italian-Albanian treaty, signed in Tirana this week, is showing her fangs and causing worry to the chancelleries of England, France and Germany.

5—With mourning Rumanians striving by the bier of the dead "Iron Man," Premier Jan Bratianu, the pro-tem government, headed by Bratianu's brother, is throwing every military precaution up on all sides to keep peace at home.

6—Rumania is reported to be reacting doubling all border guards to forestall any possible attempt at a coup by the Soviets to seize Bessarabia.

HOMER'S

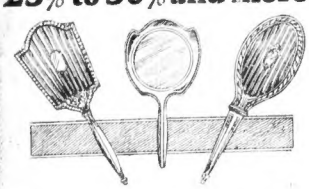
Diamond Merchants and Jewelers for Forty-three Years

Monday at 9 a. m.

SALE

1486 PIECES STERLING SILVER BOUDOIR PIECES

At Savings of 25% to 50% and more!



---three beautiful patterns

WIDE SELECTION INCLUDES HAND MIRRORS, MILITARY BRUSHES, COMBS, SHOE HORNS, FILES, HOOKS, POWDER BOXES, HAIR RECEIVERS, CLOTHES BRUSHES, NAIL BUFFERS AND SO FORTH.

Your opportunity to make up complete toilet sets with as many pieces as desired —beautiful Christmas Gifts!!

To the best of our knowledge, such tremendous savings have never before been open to the public!—A Homer's Accomplishment! Select NOW. Reserve Until Christmas

Also Monday at 9 a.m.

CLEARANCE OF 683 GENUINE PYRALIN IVORY PIECES—IN WHITE, AMBER, PEARL AND AMBER, SHELL IN VARIOUS DESIGNS: DUBARRY, ARLINGTON, MAYFLOWER, LA BELLE, ETC., INCLUDING PERFUME BOTTLES, PICTURE FRAMES, SCISSORS, JEWEL BOXES, TRAYS, NAIL FILES, PUFF BOXES, MIRRORS, NAIL POLISHERS, ETC.

ALL REDUCED TO 25c to $2

IN OUR TOILET GOODS DEPARTMENT

Also 236 pieces of different makes reduced to as low as 10c each.

35 to 39 WINTER STREET

Biding His Time

—Photo by International Newsreel

PRINCE CAROL, whose eyes are turned toward Rumania since the death of his foe, Premier Bratianu. Friends say he is biding his time and preparing to take advantage of the disturbed conditions to seek the throne.

RUMANIA STABLE, SAYS BRATIANU

New Premier Declares There Is No Chance of Carol's Returning

Bucharest, Nov. 26 (A.P.)—In his first interview since his accession to power, Vintila Bratianu, who succeeded his brother, the late Jon Bratianu, as premier of Rumania, told the Associated Press today he had the fullest confidence in his cabinet's ability to guide Rumania successfully through its difficulties.

"Tell the people," said Vintila, "that whatever may befall Rumania because of my brother's death there can be no revolution, no serious disturbances, and no change in the constitution or Regency.

"Rumania will be the last country to be contaminated by Bolshevik shocks. You must remember that all our peasants now own their own land, therefore they are the last people in the world to want to upset the new order.

"As for me, perfect calm reigns, our army is completely loyal to the constitution. There is no chance of Carol's returning."

JACOB D'HAAS TO LECTURE NOV. 30

Jacob DeHaas, former editor of the Boston Jewish Advocate and for a number of years associated here with Justice Louis D. Brandeis of the United States Supreme Court in the direction of affairs of the Zionist organization, will lecture at Temple Ohabei Shalom Centre, No. 1187 Beacon street, Brookline, on November 30, at 8 p. m.

His topic will be: "Practical Palestine Problems."

6 KILLED AS FRENCH ARMY PLANE DROPS

Casablanca, Morocco, Nov. 26 (I.N.S.)—Six persons, including Lieutenant Majorle, the pilot, were killed when a French army airplane crashed near Todjda while the occupants were making a photographic survey of the district.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN TO HEAR DISCUSSION

Opportunities for Educated Women in Modern Life will be the topic for discussion at the meeting of the Boston branch of the American Association of University Women at Simmons College next Saturday.

POLICE GUARD 16 RUSSIANS IN 'PEACE HOTEL'

Envoys to Geneva Preparatory Disarmament Parley Fear Bodily Harm

Geneva, Nov. 26 (I.N.S.)—Heavy police guards were thrown around the Hotel de la Paix (the Hotel of Peace) tonight to protect the 16 Russian delegates to the League of Nations preparatory disarmament conference, against any untoward incidents.

The Russian delegation, headed by Maxim Litvinoff, arrived this afternoon and was escorted to the hotel by police, while crowds along the lake front promenade admired the sumptuous furs worn by the four Russian women delegates.

The military air which surrounds the Russian headquarters was in striking contrast to the usual atmosphere of this particular hotel, which is known to thousands of tourists as one of the quietest hotels in Geneva.

The famous concierge of the hotel, who, by virtue of his marvelous beard and his soft, musical voice has become known to many Americans, was in a fluster tonight for it is a long time since there has been so much excitement and mystery about this place, where ordinarily a peal of laughter is regarded as startling.

There is a good deal of conjecture in league circles as to just what the Russians may have up their sleeve, for their delegation is large and strong for a meeting which had been considered likely to be largely one of routine.

Many reports were abroad that the Russians plan a bombshell in the shape of a demand that will force the league conference to take action which will place its views on disarmament definitely before the people of the world.

Rumania Plans Simple Burial Rites for Bratianu

Bucharest, Nov. 26 (I.N.S.)—In striking contrast to the power which he wielded as virtual dictator of Rumania, simple funeral ceremonies will be conducted tomorrow for Jan C. Bratianu.

Members of the royal family and the regency, accompanied by a few relatives and near friends, will follow the body to the country estate of the Bratianu family at Pories.

Thousands today again passed in review before the bier of the former premier, there being but small ceremony in accordance with the last wishes of M. Bratianu.

Although great precautions have been taken to prevent any outbreaks following the death of M. Bratianu, peace has prevailed.

Some political observers believe that with the death of Bratianu there will be a decrease in sentiment for the return of Prince Carol, since they hold that much of the sentiment in favor of Carol was merely an expression of opposition to Bratianu.

Show-Down On Dry Law Sought

THE Roosevelt Club is seeking a show-down on the prohibition laws. A petition for a leislative resolve filed by Robert M. Washburn, president of the club, reads:

"Resolved, That the General Court of Massachusetts hereby respectfully requests the Republican and Democratic national conventions, and the Republican and Democratic Massachusetts State conventions, all of the year of 1928, to declare either for the endorsement of the principle of the 18th amendment to the Federal Constitution or for its repeal, that law and order in this respect may be established."

R. M. Washburn

NO PAIN NO GUMS

Gratifying

Porcelain Bridge Work $6 Per Tooth

MOST PHYSICIANS COULD RECOMMEND (The Original)

AnchorDenture

$12.50 Plates That Can't Slip

Lock In Lower

Plates adjusted Free regardless of where they were made.

Modern Dentistry Is Painless

You feel no pain while having dental work in this office, for our new Holeless Discovery kills all pain. Why suffer? See Dr. Roxbury now.

DR. THEO. ROXBURY

518 Washington St.

TWO DOORS FROM WEST ST.

Roof to Station & Kissing

OPEN ALL DAY SATURDAY

Open 9 to 7. Sundays by Appt.

Phone Han 0708

Deposits Go on Interest DEC. 1

North End Savings Bank

52 Devonshire Street, Boston

Located in the office district, handy to Mills and State Tunnel Stations.

Join Our Christmas Club

"One of America's Greatest Furriers"

Thousands of Women of Moderate Means Can Now Enjoy a Beautiful Fur Coat

Thousands of women in all walks of life---from all parts of New England---have solved their Fur Coat problems by joining Scott's

UNIQUE FUR CLUB

REGISTERED THE ONLY ONE IN NEW ENGLAND

You, too, can enjoy a beautiful Fur Coat on the Easiest, Fairest and Most Economical Payment Plan Ever Known!

DEENA DREW in "Oh, Kay," the musical comedy success at Majestic Theatre, wearing one of our Fine Leopard Coats, beaver collar and cuffs.

Select your Coat Now, take it home, and enjoy the convenience of small weekly or monthly payments while wearing it.

No delay, no inconvenience, the Most UNIQUE ARRANGEMENT EVER KNOWN!

No COMPULSORY AMOUNTS are required, NOR IS IT NECESSARY TO MAKE PAYMENTS at SPECIFIED periods.

What Other Store GIVES You All These Advantages?

A Remarkable Offer to

XMAS CLUB Members

This timely announcement will be good news to all CHRISTMAS CLUB MEMBERS. In response to the urgent request of many women who will not receive their Christmas Savings Checks until December, WE AGAIN LEAD by allowing you to take your coat out NOW and arrange to make a payment when your check is payable. You can then continue to pay in small, convenient weekly or monthly payments while wearing it.

WE POSITIVELY DO NOT REFER TO ANY-ONE in opening an account here, and the transaction is ABSOLUTELY CONFIDENTIAL. Payments may be mailed or brought in.

Raccoons, Seal Dyed Muskrats, Ponies, Caraculs, Opossums, Seal Dyed Conies, Beavers, Squirrels, Natural Muskrats, etc,

$90 and up to depending on the fur $575

If unforeseen circumstances arise and you are unable to make your payments we are pleased to wait until you CAN pay!

Could Anything Be Fairer or More Convenient?

Good allowance on your old fur coat when buying a new one

15 Private Offices for Opening Accounts

Open Evenings Until 9 P. M.

Reliability

Scott Furriers have earned an enviable reputation for fair dealings, liberal terms and sincere interest in the welfare of their customers long after their coat is paid for. The owners enjoy the record of 20 years of honest business dealings.

Scott FURRIERS, INC.

69 SUMMER ST

(C) 1927—S. F. Inc.

LISTEN IN

on Station WNAC (BIS), every morning from 8 to 9:30 and afternoons from 2 to 4 for SCOTT'S shopping news and musical program.

SECOND FLOOR

C. F. Hovey Co.

Established 1833

SECOND FLOOR

Special for Larger Women

Afternoon, Evening & Street Dresses

—Brocaded Velvets, Crepes, Satins!
—Tailored Woolens, All Wool Jersey!

Velvet Brocade $15

$15

As an example of the value of these dresses—consider the cost of brocaded velvet by the yard, the number of yards used in an extra size dress, and then think of these dresses at $15.

All wool jersey that will not sag makes splendidly practical dresses! Light weight wools in tailored styles! Afternoon dresses of lustrous satin and heavy flat crepe.

Sizes 42½ to 54½

MURIEL WARD OMITS BRIDAL ATTENDANTS

Back Bay Girl Married to William Y. Peters, Jr., at Emmanuel Church

EX-MAYOR PETERS GUEST

After a Southern Honeymoon Couple Will Make Their Home in Boston

At noon yesterday in Leslie Lindsey Memorial Chapel of Emmanuel Church, the marriage of Miss Muriel Ward and William York Peters, Jr., was solemnized by Rev. Elwood Worcester, rector of the church.

Miss Ward, daughter of Mrs. Edgar Perry Ward of Hotel Puritan, Commonwealth avenue, formerly of South Orange, N. J., was given in marriage by her brother, Edgar B. Ward.

She wore a simple frock of beige crepe, with long, tight sleeves and knife pleated skirt, matching slippers and stockings, and cloche hat of soft beige felt, banded in narrow velvet. She carried an arm bouquet of valley lilies and yellow roses tied with white satin ribbon.

NO BRIDAL ATTENDANTS.

There were no bridal attendants. S Elliot Guild, a brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man. The ushers included John S. Chafee of Providence, Singleton P. Moorehead and Harold Amory of Boston, and Daniel B. Wetherell of Cambridge.

A small reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William York Peters of No 141 Bay State road, parents of the bridegroom, followed the ceremony. After a southern honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Peters will make their home in Boston.

HARVARD, '22, MAN.

Mr. Peters was graduated from Harvard in 1922, and is a member of the Harvard Club and the University club. The bride attended the Ranlett McIver School in New York and studied in Europe, where she lived for several years with her mother.

Among the guests at the church were noted former Mayor and Mrs. Andrew J. Peters, the latter very striking in chiffon velvet gown of chanel red with matching hat of velvet, and seal wrap. Mrs. Edgar Perry Ward, mother of the bride, wore a black chiffon frock, large hat of black velvet and black satin coat with orchid corsage.

Mrs. William York Peters, Sr., mother of the bridegroom, wore a beige chiffon frock with small hat of dark brown satin. His sister, Mrs. S. Elliot Guild, the former Miss Anne Peters, was attractive in frock of golden brown velvet with matching hat, and wrap of brown caracul. Mrs. William Dexter wore a black chiffon frock and close fitting hat of black felt.

Back Bay Bridal Couple

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM YORK PETERS, leaving Emmanuel Church yesterday after their marriage in Leslie Lindsey Memorial Chapel by Rev. Elwood Worcester.

DANCE BENEFIT FOR WIDOW OF MAILER

A testimonial and dance to aid Mrs. Mary E. Blake, widow of William J. Blake, late president of the Boston Mailers' Union, will be given tomorrow night at the Winter Warden ballroom, City Square, Charlestown.

Among performers will be Russell and Melvin McCully, James McDonald, Maxie Zides, Joseph Patterson, Master and Miss Todd, Bunny Steive, Billy Parker, the Misses Towles, Dorothy Cole, Virginia M. Sullivan, Mildred Brooks and Helen Hurst. James R. Martin is chairman and Stephen J. Howard secretary-treasurer.

137 WARRANTS IN NEW ORLEANS RAIDS

New Orleans, Nov. 26 (A.P.)—An army of dry agents from five nearby States swooped down on more than 100 restaurants, cafes, and soft-drink establishments here today and arrested so many persons it was necessary for the United States commissioner to move his office to larger quarters before all of the alleged liquor violators could be given a hearing.

One hundred and thirty-one search warrants were issued.

BISHOP PETERSON HONORED IN SALEM

Fourth decree Knights of Columbus, parishioners of the Church of St. Catherine of Genoa, Somerville, and other organizations will join with the parishioners of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Salem, in a reception to Auxiliary Bishop John B. Peterson, D. D., of the Boston archdiocese in the Phillips school, Essex street, Salem, today.

Fr. Sullivan will be a speaker at the exercises. Michael J. Reardon will preside. Bishop Peterson will be presented by John B. Tivnan.

REM for coughs

PORTLAND GROPES WAY IN THICK FOG

Portland, Me., Nov. 26 (A.P.)—An unusual fog which completely blotted out the rays of the sun and limited vision to a few feet, submerged Portland today in a thick blanket. Every form of traffic was affected by the opaque curtain. Automobiles, in some cases, were forced to suspend operation and street cars slowed to the minimum.

When the fog cleared was thickest, it was impossible to see even the bright traffic lights about the city until they were directly overhead.

CHAS. T. WOODBURY, EDUCATOR, DEAD

Fitchburg, Nov. 26.—Charles T. Woodbury, principal of the Fitchburg High School 25 years and one of New England's foremost educators, died suddenly at his home, 135 Mt. Vernon street from an attack of heart failure shortly before noon today.

Two days ago Mr. Woodbury, who is 64 years old, complained of pain in his chest and since then he had been confined to his home. Mr. Woodbury was president of the Massachusetts High School Principals' Association. He was born in Salem N. H.

'SECOND HONEYMOONERS' BAG FISHED FROM SUDBURY RIVER

A DIVER yesterday recovered a bag from the Sudbury River, in Wayland, a small black bag containing jewelry and documents which had been lost since Frank A Hines and his wife, 73 years old, of Barre, drowned when their car skidded last July.

Finding of the bag with contents intact by Frederick J. Wallace, a diver, of No. 13 Hinckley street, Somerville, set at rest fears that the elderly couple had been treated to a easy set out on their "second honeymoon."

NOMAN IS SLAIN WITH PHYSICIAN

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 26 (A.P.)—Mrs. Artie McGough, 33, formerly of Philadelphia, and Dr. Charles Dryer, 38, Cincinnati physician, died tonight within two hours after they were discovered desperately wounded in Dryer's downtown office.

Both died soon after being removed to a hospital. Both blamed Mrs. McGough's former husband, from whom she had been separated for some time.

The attacker escaped.

NANNETTE GUILFORD, SINGER, RECOVERING

New York, Nov. 26.—Nannette Guilford, youthful Metropolitan opera Company soprano, who underwent an operation for appendicitis Friday, was "doing as well as could be expected" in Swedenhaus Hospital today, according to her physician.

3 OVERCOME IN EVERETT FIRE

Three firemen were nearly suffocated by coal gas and another was badly injured in a $50,000 fire yesterday at the Everett Square Department Store, Nos. 128 to 146 School street, Everett.

Deputy Chief George E. Hatch and Captain Oscar De Champ and Hoseman Charles E. Carlson of the Central fire station were taken to the Whidden Memorial Hospital. Assistant Chief John A. Cameron, after treatment by a neighborhood physician, was sent home.

On arrival of the first piece of apparatus at the building, known as the old Symphony Hall, a second alarm was sounded, which was followed by a general alarm.

The Everett Square Department Store suffered the heaviest damage, though the stocks of the New York Chain Dry Goods Company and the children's wear factory of Frederick S. Thompson were badly damaged by smoke and water.

HOUGHTON & DUTTON

—Legal Stamps Given and Redeemed—

Warm weather caused a N. Y. maker to sell us a big lot of fine coats at real savings. These added to our own stocks make this a seldom equalled opportunity.

New Fur Coats $99

—Squirrel Trimmed Sealine (dyed rabbit)
—Fox Trimmed Sealine (dyed rabbit)
—Mendoza Beaver (dyed rabbit) with fox collars.
—Cocoa Squirrelette (rabbit) with fox collar.
—Tomboy Wombat Coats
—Cocoa Caracul (lamb)

Sold on Our 10-Payment Plan

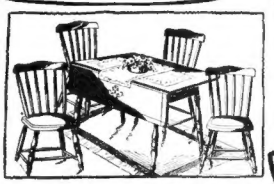
Pay $9.90 now and the balance in 9 equal payments.

All this season we have been selling quality coats, smart coats, at $99.00. We have built up an enviable reputation for exceptional value at this price, but never before have we had coats like this to sell at $99.00. Judge for yourself.

H. & D. CO.—THIRD FLOOR

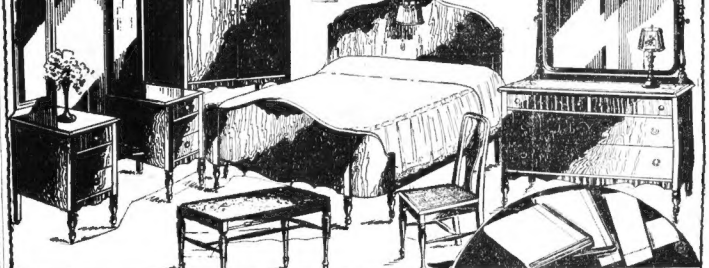
KANE'S 1 2 3 SALE

LOWER TERMS—Longer to Pay—on KANE'S fine furniture—that's the story of this sale! For a limited time only—you can buy at KANE'S low prices on the most sensational, liberal terms ever offered in New England, we believe! A marvelous opportunity to fix up your home for Christmas—without even feeling the cost!



5-Pc. Decorated Breakfast Set in brilliant colors, with gay decorations—Drop-Leaf Table and Four Chairs to brighten your home—at a price only KANE'S could offer. $18.75 $1 Weekly

$1 A WEEK DELIVERS ANY PURCHASE TO $100
$2 A WEEK DELIVERS ANY PURCHASE TO $150
$3 A WEEK DELIVERS ANY PURCHASE TO $200



Lacy PEPPERELL SHEETS and PILLOW CASES

FIRST Values and NOW Terms that lead the rest—Come in and compare KANE'S prices and quality with what other good stores are offering! Then you will realize the savings at KANE'S always!

Coxwell Chair

JACQUARD covered, with deep, soft cushions! Low seat, with high, restful back! Artistic carved frame. $19.50 $1 Week

Remarkable Bargain—While 64 Suites Last—

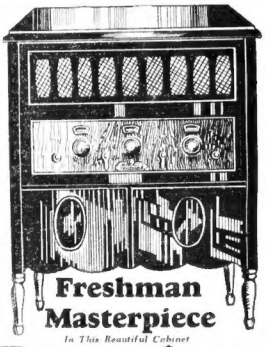
Save $100—This Walnut Bedroom—Only $119 $2 WEEK

A WONDERFUL example of fine furniture building—4 large pieces, as pictured, in WALNUT veneer combined with other fancy woods. Note the good size of the plate glass mirrors, the depth of drawers and the artistic lines of the suite! Two-tone decorations! At $119 a value that happens very seldom, so be early!

Extras below can be bought separately

UPHOLSTERED BENCH, $4.75 BOUDOIR CHAIR, $3.75 SPRING, $6.50
MATTRESS, $12.75 LADY PEPPERELL SHEETS AND CASES, $3.95

Down Crash RADIO Prices!



Freshman Masterpiece

In This Beautiful Cabinet

Complete $70

$2 Week

With All Accessories

Delivered and set up—all ready to play. HURRY! If you want one at this low price—quantity limited!

ELECTRIFIED $98

With TOWER A & B Socket Power

Ready to Plug Into Your Light Socket EASY TERMS

Radio Dept. Open Every Night to 9 P. M.

KANE Creates a New Sensation

Custom-Built Living Room— $98 $1 WEEKLY

THE Living Room market is shot to pieces! Manufacturers are begging us to take their merchandise at our price—at any price! That is why we can offer a suite of such wonderful style and quality for only $98. It's a positive $198 value, but at KANE'S, starting tomorrow, you get it at sensational savings! Suite contains spacious Wing Chair, Arm Chair and Davenport, covered in gorgeous JACQUARD!

Extras below can be bought separately

DAVENPORT TABLE, $7.95 END TABLE, $1.95 TABLE LAMP, $3.95

It's Ready—KANE'S New PARADISE Outfit

4 Rooms COMPLETE $375

SEE them all set up on our floors. Just as they will look in YOUR home—complete Living Room, Dining Room, Bedroom and Kitchen, with EVERYTHING included to make your home beautiful and comfortable. Only $3.50 a Week!

GUARANTEED LOWEST PRICES—CASH OR CREDIT!

KANE'S
740 WASHINGTON ST.

Mail Orders Given Our Instant Attention

Free Delivery—Free Storage—Free R. R. Fares to Out-of-Town Customers.

Your Credit Is Good Wherever You Live!

For Evening Appointments Phone HANcock 2680

Look for the Clock

WHEREVER YOU LIVE IT WILL PAY YOU TO COME TO KANE'S

ING

Sale to Aid Home

The annual exhibition and sale of antiques in aid of North Bennet Street Industrial School, will open Dec. 5 in the Nottingham building, Huntington avenue. Mrs. Henry Lyman is chairman.

NOTICE!

Xmas Club Members Join the Unique Fur Club

See Page 4

MRS. LILLIENDAHL HAPPY ON EVE OF MURDER TRIAL

Mays Landing, N. J., Nov. 26 (A.P.)—Mrs. Margaret T. Lilliendahl, who comes up for trial on Monday on the charge of murdering her husband, Dr. A. William Lilliendahl, is "as happy as a lark," according to Sheriff James Cimino of Atlantic county.

"Yes," said the sheriff, "she tells me she is as happy as a lark, she looks it."

Mrs. Lilliendahl will be tried jointly with Willis L. Beach, poultry raiser and a neighbor of the Lilliendahls in South Vineland, who is alleged to have carried on correspondence with the doctor's wife before the physician was found dead.

READS AND SEWS.

The sheriff said that Mrs. Lilliendahl reads and sews, while Beach is idle.

"The widow reads mostly the newspapers. She reads everything they print about her," said the sheriff. "Sometimes she gets mad at what she sees. And then I hear about it."

Preparations for the trial are about completed. Supreme Court Justice Luther A. Campbell, who will preside, has announced it is "not to be hippodromed."

Mays Landing, however, is preparing as though a circus were coming to town. Inns of the hotels and the front porch enclosed and the place filled like new.

LUNCH WAGON ADDS WING.

The lunch wagon opposite the courthouse has been doubled in capacity by the addition of a wing and the courthouse, beautiful in its Georgian simplicity, has been freshened up for the occasion.

Arrangements have been made to admit to the courtroom only accredited newspapermen. The court room will be roped off.

The defence in the trial will stand on Mrs. Lilliendahl's first statement that her husband was killed by two negroes.

Murder Widow

MRS. MARGARET T. LILLIENDAHL, who goes on trial with her neighbor, Willis Beach, at May's Landing, N. J., tomorrow on indictments charging murder of her husband, Dr. William Lilliendahl, last Summer.

NEW BOMB BLAST IN GANGSTER WAR

Chicago, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Reports of an armistice between two factions of rival Chicago gangsters fighting for control of gambling and bootlegging did not deter the police today from continuing their war against both factions.

More than 50 men, arrested last night when squads of detectives invaded the betting match at the Coliseum in search of gang suspects, were still in jail today. While reports of the armistice were being broadcast, the quiet of Blue Island, a suburb, was disturbed by the second bomb explosion of the past two weeks, the target in each case being a gambling house.

JAIL BREAKER BEGS TO RETURN TO FINISH TERM

Fled Worcester Institution to Fight in War, He Says

Worcester, Nov. 26 (A.P.)—Leslie L. Irving vaulted into the Worcester county jail today and confronted Sheriff Richardson with a demand that he be given a chance to serve the remaining three months of a two-year sentence.

Nine years ago Irving took "French leave." Although nearly 50 years old, he was accepted 72 hours after his escape as a 34-year-old recruit in the field artillery at Fort Slocum.

The desire to serve his country and fight the Germans, he told the sheriff tonight, was too strong to resist the temptation to escape.

Just how brilliant Irving's war record was never will be officially known for he admitted that his real identity is concealed behind the name he has assumed to protect his family. But he convinced the sheriff that he served in France and Germany.

Also he offered proof to show he had participated in many of the important battles and that he was gassed, shell-shocked and suffered other injuries.

"You used me like a son," he told the sheriff, "and I couldn't stand the burden of my conscience that my escape had placed there. That's why I've come back."

Irving was graduated from Exeter Academy in 1898. He served in Cuba in the Spanish-American war and later in the Philippines where he contracted the drug habit. It was while under the influence of drugs that he committed a petty larceny in Gardner which gained him a two-year sentence at Worcester.

NAUTICAL SCHOOL ALUMNI AT DINNER

With more than 80 members and guests present the Massachusetts Nautical School Alumni Association last night held its 32d annual meeting and dinner at the Boston Chamber of Commerce Building.

Officers re-elected were: Frank L. Hoffman, president; Commander E. J. Hogan of the U. S. Navy, vice-president; Captain Charles H. Hurley, Jr., of the Merchant Marine, treasurer, and G. C. Lamb, secretary.

FREDK. R. HOLLISTER, JEWELER, DEAD AT 63

Frederick Russell Hollister, sixty-three, wholesale jeweler, who lived at the Copley Square Hotel, died yesterday at Riverbank Hospital, where he had been a patient since September.

Born in Greenfield, he was a member of the firm of Chapin, Hollister & Co. of Providence, but had lived in Boston for forty years. He was a Mason and an Elk. The funeral will be held at Greenfield tomorrow.

HAS TO TELL DOCTORS WHAT'S AILING HIM

Picked up unconscious on Cambridge street, Cambridge, yesterday, Humphrey Sullivan, 35, of 81 Thorndike street, proved a puzzling case to physicians at Cambridge City Hospital until he regained his senses and said his right ankle was broken.

Sullivan said he was walking through a lumber yard on Bridge street when he turned his ankle. He was on his way to the hospital when he collapsed.

ST. LOUIS RECORDS SEVERE TREMORS

St. Louis, Nov. 26 (A.P.)—Severe earth tremors at a distance of 4,500 miles were recorded today on the seismograph at St. Louis University. The shocks started at 7:04 a. m., and continued approximately thirty minutes.

Dr. James B. Macelwane, seismologist, said the quake probably was destructive.

TUMULTY'S DAUGHTER WEDS IN WASHINGTON

Washington, Nov. 26 (A.P.)—Miss Mary Tumulty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Tumulty, and Robert Cahill of Washington were married today at the Church of St. Thomas the Apostle.

The bride was given away by her father, who was secretary to President Wilson.

CHILD AND MOTHER BURNED AT STOVE

Ware, Nov. 26 (A.P.)—Jennie Nowak, aged seven, was probably fatally burned when her clothing was ignited as she was trying to start a fire in the kitchen stove today.

Her mother, Mrs. Michael Nowak, received serious burns in putting out the flames.

GEN. CHIANG TO WED WELLESLEY GIRL

Shanghai, Nov. 26 (A.P.)—General Chiang Kai-Shek, Nationalist Generalissimo and Mme. Soulling Soong, prime Wellesley graduate, will be married on Dec. 1 it was announced today.

A thousand prominent Chinese political leaders have been invited to the ceremony.

DROPSY TREATED ONE WEEK FREE

Short breathing relieved in 24 to 48 hours; swelling reduced in 14 to 20 days. Regulates the heart, corrects the liver and kidneys. Purifies the entire system. Collom Dropsy Remedy Company, Dept. 373, Atlanta, Ga.

J. S. ROUND & CO'S.
732-734 WASHINGTON ST.

Simplified Credit Plan

Will make Christmas Gift-Giving easy

A Gift of Jewelry is a "Gift that Lasts"

The gifts that remain an ever present reminder of your thoughtfulness. Our Simplified Credit Plan will make it a simple and convenient matter to remember everyone in fitting fashion.

Ladies' Diamond Ring $24.75 — $1 Deposit, $1 a Week. No. 310—14K solid white gold, carved and filigreed mounting, set with a bright diamond.

Men's Belcher $24.75 — $1 Deposit, $1 a Week. No. 311—14K solid yellow gold, shadwell-made mounting, set with a colorful diamond of good quality.

OPEN SAT. EVE.

Ladies' Diamond Ring $35 — $1 Deposit, $1 a Week. No. 317—18K white gold, prong-tipped and filigreed mounting, set with a colorful diamond of fine quality.

Ladies' Diamond Ring $49.50 — $1 a Week, $1 Deposit Will Reserve It. No. 318—18K solid white gold, daintily pierced and carved mounting with 18K engraving, set with a brilliant diamond of excellent cut and color.

Men's Diamond Ring $49.50 — $1 a Week, $1 Deposit Will Reserve It. No. 319—Heavy 18K solid white gold, handsomely carved mounting, set with a solitaire diamond of excellent quality, which enhances the beauty of this distinctive model.

OPEN MON. EVE.

Men's Sport Watch $15.50 — No. 315—Accurate 15-jewel movement with radium hands and dial fitted in white chromium finish case. 50c DEPOSIT—50c WEEK

Ladies' Sport Watch $12.50 — No. 1311—Dependable 15-jewel movement, fitted in daintily covered white Butler finish case, with radium hands and dial. 50c DEPOSIT—50c WEEK

Dueber-Hampden $22.50 — No. 315—Well jeweled, exceptionally accurate Dueber-Hampden, with radium hands and dial fitted in white chromium finish case. $1 DEPOSIT—$1 A WEEK

17 Jewel Dueber-Hampden $31.50 — No. 1110—New thin model, 12 size, 17-jewel Dueber-Hampden, with raised gold finished dial, fitted in carved 14K white gold filled case. $1 DEPOSIT—$1 A WEEK

MAIL ORDER COUPON

J.S.ROUND & CO.

Dependable Jewelers for Almost a Half Century

732-734 WASHINGTON ST. BOSTON

A few doors from Washington and Essex Street Subway

Gentlemen: Enclosed please find ..... Deposit for Special No. ..... Price ..... payable as advertised. If I am not pleased within 10 Days, I will return the merchandise and my deposit will be refunded. (If ordering ring give finger size.....)

Name .....

Address ..... Sa n 27

Summerfield's

Radios, Pianos and Phonographs! Something for All the Family to Enjoy!

Atwater Kent Model No. 35, Six Tubes — $49

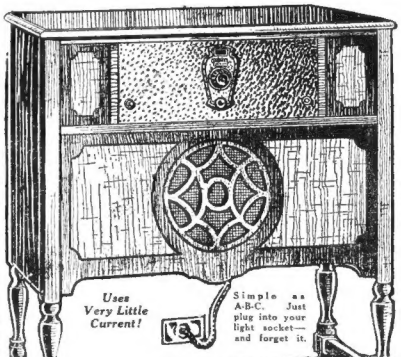
Complete—Ready to "Tune In" $79.75

Can Be Electrified at a Slight Additional Cost

"FRESHMAN" ELECTRIC RADIO



This is not a so called "Electrified" set but a real ELECTRIC set. There's a world of difference—as one is a "makeshift" proposition while this is a perfected job that NEVER needs any attention. Come in and see the difference!

NO "Chargers" "Trickle Chargers" Attention Troubles Acids

NO "A" Batteries "B" Batteries "C" Batteries "B" Eliminators "A" Eliminators

DO NOT confuse the new 1928 All Electric Freshman Masterpiece with the "so-called" light socket sets. The Freshman uses the new Radio Corporation AC tubes which operate direct from your electric current without batteries or eliminators. Nothing to run down, corrode, waste current or get out of order. A snap of the switch and everything on the air, within range, is at your disposal. This 8-tube, single dial model is encased in an attractive console cabinet of fine mahogany veneers and gumwood. A large built-in cone speaker of exceptional tone quality is installed in the lower part of the console. See this wonderful radio at our store!

COMPLETE $153. EASY TERMS!

We Are Authorized Agents for

Atwater Kent, Freshman Masterpiece, Browning-Drake (factory built), Day Fan, Grebe Synchrophase, Sonochorde Loud Speakers, Valley Chargers, Valley "B" Eliminators, Majestic "B" Eliminators, Philco "A" and "B" Eliminators, Balkite "A" and "B" Eliminators, Belmont, Paramount and others.

Sold on Easy Payments at Cash Prices!

A PERFECT XMAS GIFT FOR THE HOME!

Entertainment For the Whole Family

We are Agents for the Brunswick

Summerfield's

Ask to hear any of the famous Brunswick PANATROPES. We will be glad to demonstrate any Brunswick Phonograph. We always carry a full line of their models.

They are Priced from $90 to $600

Easy Terms

TRADE IN YOUR OLD PIANO!

We Will Make You a Liberal Allowance!

PLAYER PIANO OUTFIT

For $298 You Get: (1) Player Piano; (2) Portable Duet Bench; (3) 12 Latest Music Rolls; (4) Handsome Piano Floor Lamp and Shade; (5) FREE TUNING; (6) Free Delivery

Complete $298 Easy Terms

If you cannot call at our store—write for complete information regarding this remarkable offer!

See our big Furniture ad. on Page 12.

Store Open All Day Saturday Till 9 P. M.

Summerfield's

727 to 737 Washington St., Boston

See our big Jewelry ad. on Page 7.

For Fine Furniture!

REMUS INSANE, SAY FIRST 2 OF HIS WITNESSES

Lawyers Declare "Bootleg King" Raved at Mention of Wife and Dodge; State Rests

Cincinnati, Nov. 26 (A.P.)—Insanity today became the theme of George Remus' murder trial when the State rested its case and the defence plunged into the attempt to establish in the minds of the jury that the defendant was temporarily unbalanced when he ran down and shot to death his estranged wife.

For a week the prosecution had emphasized a theme of cold-blooded murder, in a four-cornered plot in which Remus acted out his part of executioner.

The defence had only an hour and a half left of the court session when it got its chance to strike the first blow in behalf of Remus as the State rested.

It immediately called a score men who had been in intimate contact with Remus in recent months. Both lay witnesses, with no knowledge of the medical descriptions of insanity, they asserted the bold belief that Remus was insane. A report by alienists earlier in the day declared Remus sane now and at the time of the shooting.

Leo A. Burke, lawyer, said Remus went off on wild tangents repeatedly at the mention of the names of Mrs. Remus and Franklin L. Dodge, Jr., of Lansing, Mich., former Department of Justice agent.

Leo Beaty, former Assistant Federal District Attorney and ex legislator for Ohio, who said Remus appeared to him as an insane man at the mention of the Jack Daniels distillery case. More than once when it became necessary to move him from one to another of the nine prisons he has inhabited in the last five years, he raved, Beaty said.

Remus' raving attempt to indicate that government agents had entered into a conspiracy with the "Egan's rats" gang of St. Louis to exterminate him was another thing Beaty said influenced him to the opinion Remus was insane. Beaty said Remus had accused Dodge as one of the conspirators.

Attorney Elston after adjournment said at least two weeks, possibly more, would be required for the defense's case. Remus might be expected to be on the stand a week.

The defense has approximately 100 witnesses. The State presented 23 in its direct case, and has many, including Dodge, for rebuttal.

COLONIAL CLUB TO HOLD REUNION

"Ye Olt Time Reunion" of the Colonial Club will be repeated this year on Dec. 3 at the clubhouse, Claybourn and Park sts., Dorchester. It will be the second annual event of the sort. Any old-time resident of Dorchester or South Boston is invited to attend.

The committee in charge includes M. F. Pendergast, president; Charles Davidson, treasurer; William Harrington, secretary, and William Moore, head of the reception committee. A women's committee includes Mrs. Pendergast, Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Harrington, Mrs. Moore also Mrs. Jere DeTone, Mrs. Richard Sullivan and Mrs. Julia Kerwin.

Fit to Fight

(Photo by International Newsreel)

GEORGE REMUS, millionaire, on trial in Cincinnati for wife-murder, shown in gymnastic togs, keeping in trim for court ordeal.

TRIES TO BREAK WAY INTO LOCKUP

An attempt to break into the police headquarters lockup in Lynn was made last night by Henry T. Kelley, who has no known address.

Officers saw the man enter the station but paid no particular attention to him until he walked down the corridor and opened the big cell door to the cell room.

Capt. John T. Curry, who was in charge, sent Inspector V. Benson to see what the man wanted. The inspector found him, he reported, trying to break into the lockup and took him to the desk. There he was booked on a charge of drunkenness and locked up.

Kelley said he wanted to be in the jail out of the cold.

Found Dead in Mill

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 26 (A.P.)—Found dead in the Amoskeag Mills, Albert Prince, 63, was a victim of heart trouble, according to Dr. J. J. Powers, medical referee.

NOTICE!
Xmas Club Members
Join the Unique Fur Club
See Page 4

BONZANO LEAVES ALL TO CHARITY

Rome, Nov. 26 (L.N.S.)—Garbed in the robes of his office, the body of John Cardinal Bonzano lies in state in the Chapel Ardente tonight.

Masses were said for the repose of the soul of the Cardinal, who died today as a result of an operation for a serious stomach disorder.

The Cardinal, who was formerly apostolic delegate to the United States and representative of the Vatican at the Chicago Eucharistic Congress, was aware of approaching death and comforted friends and relatives at his bedside.

All his Cardinal's estate will go to charity, as directed by a will made a few days ago.

Cardinal Gaspari, Papal Secretary of State, rose from a sick bed to go to the bier of Cardinal Bonzano.

BOY KNOCKED OUT BY CAN THROWN AT GAME

A football fan who hurled a heavy milk can into the shenanigans of a soldiers' football game at Tufts Stadium, Medford, yesterday was sought by Medford police last night.

The can struck William Groff, 14, on the head. He was unconscious 10 minutes.

Lots of Timber for President, Says Coolidge

Washington, Nov. 26.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE believes "there are plenty of other good men" in the United States from among whom to select a President.

Mr. Coolidge expressed this opinion today to Rep. Strong (R.), of Kansas, a caller at the White House.

Strong had told the President that while Kansas was for the McNary-Haugen bill, which was vetoed last year, they were also "strong for Coolidge."

He received the foregoing reply.

C. A. PLUMER TO BE BURIED TOMORROW

Funeral services for Charles A. Plumer, 79, who died at his home, 17 Whiting street, Roxbury, yesterday, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 o'clock at Mt. Auburn Chapel.

He was a native of Boston and retired flour and grain dealer. He was one of the early members of the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

MOTHER AWAITS FORBES' RETURN

Plymouth, Nov. 26.—In a little white cottage almost in the shadow of Jordan Hospital, a 39 year-old mother stocked the fire of a yellow coal furnace and thanked a reporter for information that her son was on the way home from prison.

She was the mother of Col. Charles R. Forbes, former director of the United States Veterans Bureau, sensed at midnight from the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan.

When Forbes was released from the penitentiary he was met by a friend from St. Louis. Franz Lindell, former employe of the Veterans Bureau. They motored to Kansas City, where Forbes boarded a train for the East.

Forbes, now 49, won a distinguished service medal. He was sentenced to Leavenworth for defrauding the government in awarding contracts for veterans' hospitals.

He said he would devote the rest of his life to trying to clear the names of himself and Dr. Frederick A. Cook, Arctic explorer.

Dr. Crandon Sails

Dr. LeRoy G. Crandon, Back Bay surgeon, and M. W. Colquhoun were Bostonians who sailed from New York yesterday on the White Star liner Majestic, for Cherbourg and Southampton.

To Attack Foes

CHARLES R. FORBES once head of the Veterans bureau, having served his term, will try to clear his record. He's coming to visit his mother, 92, at Plymouth.

MAYOR COOL TO CUMMINGS PLAN

FATHER IS HELD IN BOSTON SHOOTING

Charles A. DiPrinzio, 48, of Prospect street, Cliftondale, in Saugus court yesterday was held in $10,000 on charges of shooting Anthony Paterno, 19, of Prince street, Boston.

DiPrinzio, it is alleged, opened fire with a shotgun on Paterno who was returning home from a theatre with Mary DiPrinzio, the accused man's daughter.

A Guide to Better Clothing

Those who offer you the certified all-wool fabrics of the American Woolen Company can be relied upon to give you the best in style and workmanship, for they have said good tailoring for over 50 years. Look for trade mark which guarantees every yard of fabric. Ask your tailor or clothier for these fabrics, as well as a selected variety of textiles adapted to suit your preference. Your tailor or clothier has them.

American Woolen Company
"Makers of correct fabrics for men's and women's wear"

Summerfield's

Mail Orders Filled!

Ready As Never Before!

Gifts That Will Thrill Those Dear to You!

Summerfield's
727 to 737 Washington Street, Boston
Is Now Ready with a Thousand Gift Suggestions!

Jewelry—Gifts That Last! Our Most Complete Jewelry Dept. is more complete NOW than at any time before in our history—More New Things—More Variety—More Space—and prices that will delight you—Come in—look around—There is absolutely no obligation to buy—

Diamond Bracelet
Genuine diamond and two synthetic emeralds (or sapphires), 14 karat solid gold band. A $35 value $22.50
$1 WEEKLY

26 Pieces "1881" Wm. Rogers, Ltd.
Guaranteed for 25 Yrs.! —at the Low Price of 26 Pieces, Complete $11.75
EASY TERMS
See our Big Stock of Silverware—all sold on credit at CASH prices!

Men's Waltham Strap Watch
Jewelled movement, nice case. A real gift $16.50 for a real man ..... $1 WEEKLY

Ladies' Wrist Watch
14 karat solid white gold case, 15-jewel guaranteed movement. A $35 value $27.50
$1 WEEKLY

—TOILET SETS—
EXTRA SPECIAL! She'll love it! 14 pieces complete—with beautiful fully lined case. Choice of ivory or mauve. A $27.50 value. $16.50
$1 WEEKLY
Other Sets from $12.50 to $100.00

Men's "Waltham" Watch
Small size. Jeweled movement in white or green plated case. A $19.50 value $12.50
$1 WEEKLY

It's a "Hamilton"
"America's Finest Watch"
Small size, your choice of either white or green gold filled cases $50.00
$1 WEEKLY

Ladies' Wrist Watch
Guaranteed case 15-jewel guaranteed movement; a very dainty watch. A $32.50 value $21.50
$1 WEEKLY

Ladies' Wrist Watch
Tonneau design, guaranteed movement and case. A $16.50 value $8.98
$1 WEEKLY

Ladies' "Solitaire"
Genuine diamond, 18-Karat solid white gold mounting. A $200 value $145.00
$2 WEEKLY

CLOCKS
Folding Travelling Clock Genuine Leather $8.75
$1 WEEKLY
Boudoir Clocks A fine gift. All $2.45
Hanging Ribbon Wall Clock $3.98

Men's Military Strap Watch for "knock-about" use, guaranteed $7.98
$1 WEEKLY

Genuine Cameo Ring
With Genuine Dismond, 14-Karat Solid White Gold mounting. A $21 value. $12.50
$1 WEEKLY

Men's Military Strap Watch
Guaranteed movement and case. An $18.50 value $12.50
$1 WEEKLY

Solid Gold Cuff Links
14-Karat solid white gold. A beautiful gift. Engraving Free $6.50
$1 WEEKLY

Ladies' Wrist Watch
Guaranteed movement 20-Karat white gold filled case. $17.50 value $13.50
$1 WEEKLY

Genuine Hand Carved Cameo
14-Karat Solid White Gold Frame—A $27.50 Value $17.75
$1 WEEKLY

Ladies' "Solitaire"
Genuine diamond—14-Karat Solid White Gold mounting. A $125 value. $85.00 $1.00 WEEKLY

Bracelets
A large assortment of bracelets in sterling silver, choice of blue or green stones $7.50
$1 WEEKLY
Others from $5 to $15

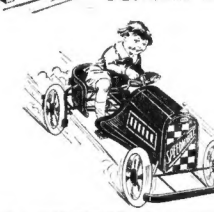
NEW GIFT SHOP
Visit our New Gift Shop on the Street Floor—See hundreds of beautiful gift suggestions—fancy glassware—smoking sets—china ware, etc. Variety has never been as great nor prices as reasonable.

Store Open All Day Saturday Till 9 P. M.
Summerfield's
727 to 737 Washington St., Boston

LADIES' HANDBAGS!
See our gorgeous display in ladies' handbags—all the new styles—and priced from $3.95 to $8.75

See Our Big Radio Ad on Page 6
See Our Big Furniture Ad on Page 12

CHAIN DRIVE
SPEEDMOBILE
"FASTEST JUNIOR BUILT"



Sold in NEW HAMPSHIRE by

BERLIN
Brown Company
CLAREMONT
Claremont Furniture Co., Inc.
CONCORD
Concord Furniture Company
DOVER
George W. Flowers
Market Furniture Company
EXETER
Ra'ph E. Merna
FARMINGTON
S. A. Pelletier
FRANKLIN
C. P. Stevens
KEENE
Pike & Whipple
LACONIA
Lougee Robinson Company
NASHUA
J. M. Levesque & Son
C. H. Avery Company
J. G. Lacroix
MANCHESTER
George W. Chartrain & Co., 1190 Elm Street
Le Marquand Furniture Co.
Joseph Moreau & Son
Charles S. Caron, 40 Bridge Street
F. X. Lareviere Furniture Co.
C. F. Jackson, 20 W. Central Barton Company
MILFORD
H. H. Barber Company
NEWMARKET
A. H. Place Drug Company
PORTSMOUTH
Portsmouth Furniture Co.
D. D. McIntosh
ROCHESTER
Ayers & Jenkins
SOMERSWORTH
Geo. E. Perreault
SUNCOOK
F. W. Morse Company
WOODSVILLE
Woodsville Furniture Co.

See Comic Section for Advertisement and Names of Other New England Dealers

Calles Sent Huge Sums to Help Bolshevist Cause

$250,000 TO ARCOS, LTD., RAIDED BY BRITISH POLICE

Continued from First Page.

Effective suffrage and no-reelection
The National Palace, Mexico, D. F., July 25, 1925.
The President of the Republic,
P. Elias Calles.

SG/PEC

In order to carry out the president's wishes the treasury department made out the following order to the treasurer general the next day. The original document from which this is translated is in the possession of the Hearst newspapers. The order follows:

To the Treasurer General of the Nation:

The president of the republic directs that you order that pay warrants be issued for the sum of $100,000, (one hundred thousand dollars), in favor of Citizen Arturo Elias, financial agent of Mexico in New York, in order that the said sum may be delivered through the proper channels to Citizen Minister Basilio Badillo, minister of Mexico in Russia.

Secretary Pani Resigns

You will please issue orders that the transfer of this money be effected by cable to New York, charging the warrant to the item of secret expenditures of the federal executive.

Effective suffrage no re-election
Mexico, D. F., July 26, 1925.
The secretary of the treasury,
O. Dubois.

By AJP—NO F

Alberto J. Pani, Mexican secretary of the treasury, never signed the treasury department orders carrying out the president's wishes when Mexican money was to be spent for Bolshevist or anti-American propaganda, readers of the Hearst newspapers will have observed.

Secretary Pani resigned his portfolio last February. No specific reasons for his action were given but his intimate friends assert that his resignation followed a long standing dispute with Calles over the reckless expenditure of treasury funds.

Pani, it is believed, contended that the money was more needed at home than abroad.

In direct connection with these orders in the one drawn in favor of Mexican propaganda in China.

Sharing Russia's Aims

Russia had striven to convert the Chinese Nationalists to Bolshevism and by so doing, increase their own power and at the same time add China's millions to their cause against capitalism.

President Calles' order instructing Pani to telegraph $50,000 to the Mexican fiscal agent in New York for transfer to the Mexican minister in Russia, is interesting, therefore, in that it showed to what extent the executive shared Russia's aims.

The original of this order is also in the possession of the Hearst newspapers. Translated, it follows:

To the Citizen Secretary of the Treasury and Public Credit:

You will please order the Citizen Treasurer General of the Nation to transfer by telegraph in care of the financial agent of Mexico in New York the sum of $50,000 (fifty thousand dollars) to be delivered to Citizen Basilio Badillo, minister of Mexico in Russia, for propaganda expenses in favor of Mexico in China.

Direct that this item be charged to secret expenditures of the presidential general staff.

Effective suffrage no re-election.

The National Palace, D. C., June 10, 1927.

The President of the Republic,
P. ELIAS CALLES.

SG-PEC-RL.

However, earlier than this Calles had meddled in the internal affairs of Great Britain, championing the cause of unrest and Red terror in that nation.

This is brought out in more of these original documents in the possession of the Hearst newspapers.

Ideals of Proletariat

"The ideals of the proletariat" were to be upheld, thought Calles, and so he ordered that $100,000 be contributed to the strike fund of the British miners who walked out in 1926.

On June 4, 1926, the documents show that the money was ordered forwarded to help keep the coal strike going. The English translation of the document follows:

To the Citizen Secretary of the Treasury:

You will please order the citizen financial agent of Mexico in New York to transfer by cable and through the Minister of Mexico in London the sum of $100,000 (one hundred thousand dollars) to be delivered to the fund of the Coal Miners' Union, as a secret aid contributed by the government of Mexico to the maintenance of the ideals of the proletariat.

Take care that these orders be issued in special code and with the necessary safeguards of transmission.

Effective suffrage no re-election.

The National Palace, June 4, 1926.

The President of the Republic.

P. ELIAS CALLES.

SG-PEC-RL.

That this was not the only Mexican contribution to the cause of Communism is evidenced in a letter written about August 5, 1925, by Arturo Elias, the financial agent in New York, to Gilberto Valenzuela, who was the Mexican minister to Great Britain. The Hearst newspapers hold a copy of this letter.

Scotland Yard Active

The letter, written by Consul General Elias, follows:

CONSULATE OF MEXICO
New York, N. Y.,
August 5, 1926.

Senor Gilberto Valenzuela,
Minister of Mexico,
London.

Very Esteemed Friend:

By means of this letter I inform you that on the second of this month I transferred to you, via Madrid, the sum of two hundred fifty thousand dollars to be delivered by you to Senor M. Khinchuk, director of Arcos Limited, of London, and requesting the said Senor to give notice through the proper channels of the delivery of these funds to the Commissary Maxim Litvinoff (Russian Soviet Foreign Minister).

They advise me from Mexico that Madrid will effect the transfer to you through the Midland Bank of London. It is advisable that you withdraw the sum in cash, in order that there shall not remain any proof of the transaction in the said bank.

I have heard that your wife is ill. This I regret too much, and hope that she will recover qui[illegible] from her indisposition.

I salut[illegible] affectionately.
CONSUL GENERAL OF MEXICO.
EL-AME.

Evidence accumulated by Scotland Yard and special police in London had convinced them that Arcos Limited was not a "trade" organization, but in reality was the hotbed of radical activities aimed at the overthrow of responsible government in Great Britain.

The raid on Arcos followed. Many incriminating documents were found. Others had been burned. But soon thereafter England severed trade and diplomatic relations with the Russian Soviet.

The British coal strike itself was an honest effort on the part of a group of laboring men to ward off the threat of decreased wages but Russian and British Communists and their allies seized upon this movement as the opportune time for a world revolution.

Swinging back again to the North American continent we find President Calles engaged in another endeavor to defeat American aims in relation to Mexico and Central America.

Perhaps it would be better here to go back a few years and explain events leading up to the period outlined in the secret documents for a better understanding of the situation.

Reassures Americans

Mexico was in a state of revolution between November 20, 1910, and May 31, 1920. In this period numerous crimes were committed against the property and lives of citizens of the United States.

But in January, 1926, General Alvaro Obregon, at that time chief of military operation in Northern Mexico and who was soon to become president of the Republic, speaking at a banquet in El Paso, Texas, invited Americans who had left Mexico because of the depredations of Pancho Villa's band to return. He assured them they could resume their normal activities with safety in his district.

Sixteen Americans accepted the invitation and boarded a train at Juarez, on the Rio Grande, for the scene of their operations. At Santa Isabel the train was stopped by a band of Villa followers and all sixteen killed. The Villistas fled to their refuge in the mountains and a few months later Pershing led his men into Mexico to search for the desperadoes.

This assassination at Santa Isabel was the most flagrant of many outrages committed against Americans.

After many negotiations, in 1925 a convention establishing the mixed claims commission was signed by Mexico and the United States. In this agreement Mexico agreed to do more than her share "to make full indemnification" for any losses or damages sustained by Americans.

$100,000 for Services

This commission was comprised of the following:

Judge Ernest B. Perry, of Lincoln, Nebraska, American member. Fernando Gonzalez Roa was the Mexican member.

Dr. Rodrigo Octavio, of Brazil, was the neutral member.

In addition there were a number of agents from Mexico and the United States to assist the commissioners.

The commission first met in 1925 to arbitrate American claims against Mexico. The commission adjourned in September, 1925, without having accomplished anything.

Documents now in the possession of the Hearst newspapers and from the secret files of the Mexican government show that on September 9, 1925, President Calles issued the following order:

To the Citizen Secretary of the Treasury:

You will please order the Treasurer General of the nation to issue a pay warrant for the sum of $100,000 (one hundred thousand dollars) in favor of Senor Don Carlo J. Berenger, to be delivered by him to his excellency Senor Don Rodrigo Octavio, as a recompense for his good services to Mexico.

You will order that the expediente (papers relating to the payment) be handled without compliance with the legal requisites. The pay warrant will be charged to secret expenditures of the Department of Foreign Relations.

Effective Suffrage No Re-election
The National Palace, Mexico, D. F., Sept. 9, 1925.
The President of the Republic,
P. Elias Calles.

SG-PEC-BL

Carlos J. Berenger, a Brazilian, was Dr. Octavio's private secretary.

On the same day he advised the Department of Foreign Relations that he had ordered the payment. That communication follows:

To the Citizen Secretary of Foreign Affairs:

This date I have ordered the Citizen Secretary of the Treasury Department to see to it that a pay warrant for $100,000 (one hundred thousand dollars) be issued in favor Senor Don Carlos J Berenger, to be delivered by him to his excellency Don Rodrigo Octavio, as a recompense for his valuable services as arbiter of the mixed claims commission.

You will please ask the Treasurer General for the said pay warrant, which should be delivered by your department to the interested party, avoiding every evil interpretation in this affair.

Effective Suffrage No-Reelection
The National Palace, Mexico, D. F., Sept. 9, 1925.
The President of the Republic,
P. Elias Calles.

The mixed claims commission met again in January, 1926, and took up claims arising from the Santa Isabel assassination. The American members of the commission felt that they had a clear cut case and believed that the Mexican members would agree with them and offer no contest.

What was the surprise then of the American commissioner and his assistants when the decision of the commission was made public in April, 1926, and absolved Mexico from any responsibility for the assassinations.

This decision represented the combined opinions of Senor Roa, the Mexican commissioner, and Dr. Octavio, the neutral commissioner.

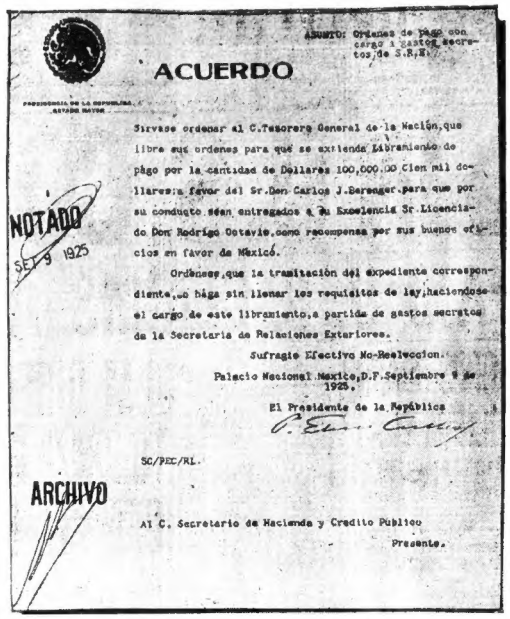
Commissioner Perry entered a formal protest against the decision.

Last Winter President Coolidge decided not to arbitrate further differences between this nation and Mexico.

In a statement to the Hearst newspapers Judge Perry revealed interesting evidence regarding the deliberation of the commission in Mexico gathered by his secretary, John J. Zozaya. The latter, who spoke Spanish, was able to secure important information regarding the activities of Dr. Octavio and Mexican officials who were concerned in the commission's decision and this he communicated to Judge Perry at the time.

[These startling revelations will continue in Monday's Boston Evening American.]

Calles Revealed as Double Dealer



ASUNTO: Ordenes de pago con cargo a gastos secretos, de S.R.E.

ACUERDO

PRESIDENCIA DE LA REPUBLICA. ESTADO MAYOR.

Sírvase ordenar al C.Tesorero General de la Nación,que libre sus ordenes para que se extienda Libramiento de pago por la cantidad de Dollares 100,000.00 Cien mil dollares;a favor del Sr.Don Carlos J.Berenger,para que por su conducto sean entregados a Su Excelencia Sr.Licenciado Don Rodrigo Octavio,como recompensa por sus buenos oficios en favor de Mexico.

Ordenese,que la tramitación del expediente correspondiente,se haga sin llenar los requisitos de ley,haciendose el cargo de este libramiento,a partida de gastos secretos de la Secretaria de Relaciones Exteriores.

Sufragio Efectivo No-Reelecion.

Palacio Nacional Mexico,D.F.Septiembre 9 de 1925.

El Presidente de la Republica

NOTADO SEP 9 1925

SG/PEC/RL.

ARCHIVO

Al C. Secretario de Hacienda y Credito Publico

Presente.

(Copyright, 1927, by Washington Herald.)

TRANSLATION

A Seal Which Says:
UNITED MEXICAN STATES
Presidency of the Republic
General Staff

Subject: Order of payment to be charged to secret expenditures of the Department of Foreign Relations

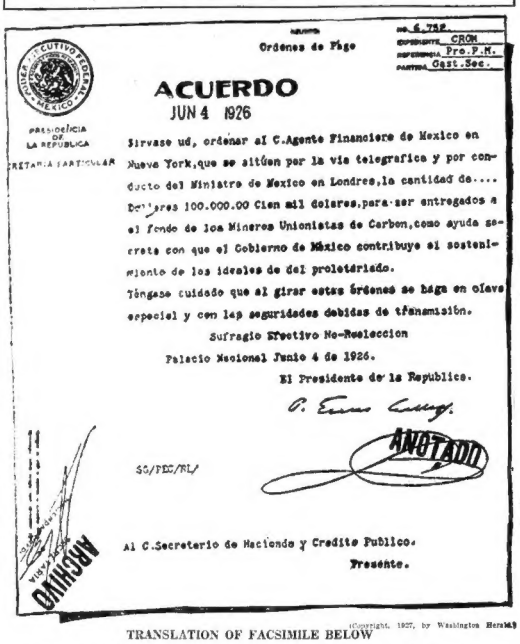
PRESIDENTIAL ORDER

You will please order the Treasurer General of the Nation to extend a pay warrant for the sum of $100,000 (One hundred thousand dollars) in favor of Senor Don Carlos J. Berenger, to be delivered by him to His Excellency Senor Don Rodrigo Octavio, as a recompense for his good services to Mexico.

You will order that the expediente (papers relating to the payment) be handled without the compliance with legal requisites. The pay warrant will be charged to secret expenditures of the Department of Foreign Relations.

EFFECTIVE SUFFRAGE NO RE-ELECTION
National Palace of Mexico
September 9, 1925
NOTED The President of the Republic
Sept. 9, 1925 P. Elias Calles
RUBRICO (Hand-written)
SG/PEC/RL.
ARCHIVO
Treasury Department
RUBRICO
To the Citizen Secretary of the Treasury.

"$100,000 to Maintain Ideals"



No. 6,752
Ordenes de Pago
EXPEDIENTE CROM
REFERENCIA Pro.P.M.
PARTIDA Gast.Sec.

PRESIDENCIA DE LA REPUBLICA
CRITAMIA PARTICULAR

ACUERDO
JUN 4 1926

Sírvase ud, ordenar al C.Agente Financiero de Mexico en Nueva York,que se sitúen por la via telegrafica y por conducto del Ministro de Mexico en Londres,la cantidad de.... Dollares 100.000.00 Cien mil dolares,para ser entregados a el fondo de los Mineros Unionistas de Carbon,como ayuda secreta con que el Gobierno de Mexico contribuye al sostenimiento de los ideales de del proletariado.

Tengase cuidado que al girar estas órdenes se haga en clave especial y con las seguridades debidas de transmisión.

Sufragio Efectivo No-Reelección

Palacio Nacional Junio 4 de 1926.

El Presidente de la Republica.

P. Elias Calles

SG/PEC/RL/

ANOTADO

ARCHIVO

Al C.Secretario de Hacienda y Credito Publico.

Presente.

(Copyright, 1927, by Washington Herald.)

TRANSLATION OF FACSIMILE BELOW

A seal which says:
United Mexican States
Federal Executive Power Mexico
Presidency of the Republic
Office of Private Secretary

No. 6,752
File CROM
Ref. Propaganda Pro-Mexico
Item Secret Expenditures

PRESIDENTIAL ORDER
June 4, 1926

You will please order the Citizen Financial Agent of Mexico in New York to transfer by cable and through the Minister of Mexico to London, the sum of $100,000 (One hundred thousand dollars) to be delivered to the fund of the Coal Miners' Union as a secret aid contributed by the Government of Mexico to the maintenance of the ideals of the proletariat.

Take care that these orders be issued in special code and with the necessary safeguards of transmission.

SUFRAGIO EFECTIVO NO-REELECCION
The National Palace, June 4, 1926
The President of the Republic
P. Elias Calles
SG PEC RL (Hand-written)
ARCHIVES NOTED
Treasury Department Rubrico
Rubrico
To the Citizen Secretary of the Treasury

GILCHRIST'S
THE FRIENDLY STORE

We Have Sold an Amazingly Large Number of These Washers!

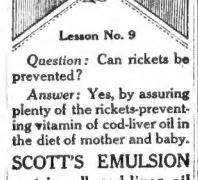
New Automatic Guaranteed
Electric Washer
An Amazing Value at

$95

Occupies a space 24 inches square. Copper Tub—Nickel plated inside. Starts and Stops Automatically. Two Aluminum Drain Boards. Noiseless and Enclosed Belt Drive. Steel and Aluminum Wringer—12-inch cushion rolls. Rust-proof Steel Frame and Legs.

10-Year Service Guarantee

$5 down $1.85 week



Lesson No. 9

Question: Can rickets be prevented?

Answer: Yes, by assuring plenty of the rickets-preventing vitamin of cod-liver oil in the diet of mother and baby.

SCOTT'S EMULSION contains all cod-liver oil vitamins in great abundance.

G. O. P. LIKELY TO CONVENE IN SAN FRANCISCO

Florida Metropolis Offers $150,000 for Expenses; Detroit Also in 1928 Race

CHOICE DUE THIS WEEK

Republican National Committee Will Meet in Washington; Coolidge Hands Off

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service.

Washington, Nov. 26.—The Republican national convention will meet next June in either San Francisco or Detroit, with chances favoring the coast city, according to indications today, a week in advance of the national committee meeting here to make the final decision.

Although a dozen cities have put in bids for the G. O. P. show, the choice among committee members is said to have virtually narrowed to these two cities.

William H. Crocker, committeeman from California, will reach the capital Monday to press the Pacific coast's claims for its first Republican convention. He has 24 pledges from members to vote for San Francisco, besides a certified check for $250,000 to defray the costs.

There are ninety-six members of the committee, and in addition to the thirty-four pledges, Crocker is understood to have enough secondary pledges to almost insure success.

President Coolidge is said to be keeping hands off the selection of the convention city. Four years ago he directed that it be given to Cleveland.

Ralph H. Williams, vice-chairman of the national committee, was at the White House today. He said the West is behind San Francisco's bid. He was confident the ultimate selection will fall there, despite the fact that Herbert Hoover, a Californian, is a candidate.

"It would be almost impossible to select a suitable city where there is not some candidacy to consider," said Williams.

'BLACK BOTTOM' TO FEATURE DANSANT

"Black Bottom" experts will compete for a prize at the annual dansant of North End Post No. 53, American Legion, tomorrow evening. The post, familiarly known as the "Dears" will hold the dance at the Roseland Ballroom, Massachusetts avenue and Norway street.

There will be saxophone numbers, including a Virginia Reel, played by "Toots" Mondello. Ex-Mayor John F. Fitzgerald is expected to lead the grand. Stephen Ford is chairman of the committee in charge, assisted by Joseph Pireno, secretary; Charles E. Gardella, treasurer; George Costanza, publicity; Commander Joseph A. D'Angelo, marshal, and others.

New Welcome House

Members and friends of the Florence Crittenton League are invited to an "open house" on Thursday and Friday, from 3 to 5, to inspect the new Welcome House at No. 13 Reed street.

Record Seeker

—Photo by International Newsreel

LT. GEORGE R. POND, U. S. N., who is grooming the Southern Cross, a three-motor Fokker plane, for a flight to Australia, expects to take the air at San Francisco today in an attempt to break the world's record for sustained flight.

SMITH FORBIDS NAME ON BALLOT

New York, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—The New York American will say tomorrow that Tammany Hall leaders, acting on express orders from Gov. Smith, have temporarily abandoned negotiations with Democratic spokesmen from other states to promote the Governor's nomination for the Presidency on the Democratic ticket.

He has informed Tammany leaders, the article will declare, that he will not talk about the Presidential nomination nor do anything to influence the next Democratic national convention.

The American will say that a delegation of Michigan Democrats came to see Governor Smith a few days ago, seeking permission to place his name on the ticket in the Michigan primaries.

"The Governor courteously but firmly declined to see the visitors," the American quotes its Tammany informant as saying. "He sent word that he would not consent to have his name on the primary ballot in Michigan or Elsewhere."

RIVER IS DRAGGED FOR MISSING WIFE

While Newton police searched through woods, clay and gravel pits, Metropolitan District police dragged the Charles River bed, near Auburndale, yesterday, for traces of Mrs. Isabelle Jewett of Providence, R. I., missing from her home since Friday morning.

At that time Mrs. Jewett accompanied her husband to the Riverside station of the Boston & Albany Railroad from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Jewett, of Asbyville road, Newton Lower Falls, with whom Jewett and his wife had passed Thanksgiving.

Jewett returned to his work in Providence, but Mrs. Jewett failed to return.

WILSON BROS.

A Safe Place to Trade

Credit as an ADDED SERVICE Without Extra Charge

"Royal" Diamond Ring $165

SELECT NOW! LAY AWAY FOR CHRISTMAS!

SPORT WATCHES
Wilson's Parason of Perfection, classy and dependable, 15-jewel movement, leather strap 25

"PERFECTION" $150

"NATALIE" $200

THE "CLARIBEL" $100

Your choice of all the fashionable shapes and models—Tonneau, Oval, Rectangular, Cushion, etc. $10, $15, $20, $25, $35, $50. Some very exclusive models, $60, $75, $100.

OTHER BRACELET WATCHES. $15, $20, $35, $50 Up
OTHER DIAMOND RINGS . . $75, $100, $125 Up
MEN'S POCKET WATCHES. $12.50, $18, $22.50, $25 Up

Don't be misled by extravagant statements—OUR values are GENUINE! All OUR prices marked in plain figures!

"The Old Reliable" — Established 1858

WILSON BROTHERS' BIG JEWELRY STORE

28-30-32 SCOLLAY SQUARE—OPEN SATURDAY EVENINGS
JOHN M. WILSON CHARLES S. WILSON

YOU can be wearing a new FUR COAT right NOW!

NO NEED TO WAIT! Choose Your Coat Now! Pay a Little! Take It With You! Pay as You Wear It—Conveniently

Why Wait!

NO NEED TO WAIT! Enjoy Your Fur Coat Now! Choose the Coat! Pay a Little! Wear It While Paying For It Weekly or Monthly—Conveniently

A strictly up-to-date plan that assures no collectors or disagreeable payment details!

Crawford's Modern Payment Plan

Crawford's FURRIERS INC

3rd Floor Dexter Bldg. 453 WASHINGTON ST. Near WINTER ST. Opposite Jordan's

No Worry in Buying at Crawford's! We Have No Collector's Systems and Charge NO INTEREST!

Making It Easy For ALL WOMEN To Own Beautiful

FUR COATS

Choose Your Fur Coat NOW! Pay a Little! Take It With You When Wanted! Pay Conveniently in Small Weekly or Monthly Payments While You Are Wearing Your Fur Coat!

OPEN EVENINGS TO 9 P. M.

Choose From Hundreds of Crawford's Fur Coats with full confidence in the pleasant knowledge that---

Fine BLACK CARACUL FUR COAT, Queen Anne collar

Hudson Seal (Dyed Muskrat) Fur Coat, Fox cuffs, throw and scarf

Beautiful Baume Marten, Johnny Collar trims this SUMMER ERMINE FUR COAT

EVERY COAT has its one and only original PRICE plainly marked on the Crawford price tag!

An assurance that each customer knows the exact price of every coat! No code or blind figures, no false mark-ups, no secrecy needed—simply ONE Low Price, one Fair Price—to ALL Our Customers!

Buy HERE with absolute confidence!

HUDSON SEALS (Dyed Muskrat)—RACCOONS—PONIES—SQUIRRELS—CARACULS—BEAVERS—MUSKRAT—OPOSSUM—NORTHERN SEALS (Dyed Nutria)—BEAVERETTES (Dyed Nutria) and other Fur Coats.

$85 to $495 According to Furs

Christmas Club Members

Can choose their Fur Coats NOW---Take it out now---Make a Small Payment when they receive their checks, and arrange for small Weekly or Monthly payments thereafter AT THEIR CONVENIENCE! Just another Crawford's Service to our customers!

A STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL MODERN PAYMENT PLAN!

Crawford's FURRIERS INC

MODERN PAYMENT PLAN

3RD FLOOR DEXTER BLDG.

453 WASHINGTON STREET

NEAR WINTER ST. Between Temple Place and Winter St.

-Buy Your Furs-

WITHOUT Your Family, Friends or Employer Being Referred to.

WITHOUT Paying any Interest or Carrying Charges!

WITHOUT any Collectors to Call on You for Payments!

LOOK FOR OUR BIG WASHINGTON ST. ELECTRIC SIGN

INHERITANCE TAX LOBBY PROBE URGED

Rep. Johnson of South Dakota Says $50,000 Was Spent for Witnesses' Expenses

Washington, Nov. 26 (A.P.)—An inquiry by the House ways and means committee into reports that $50,000 had been used to pay expenses of witnesses recently appearing before it in favor of repeal of the Federal inheritance tax was demanded today by Rep. Johnson, Republican, South Dakota.

He declared that if no committee member initiated such action he proposed to introduce a resolution demanding an investigation.

The South Dakotan said that he had advised Speaker Longworth of the report that "a well financed anti-inheritance tax lobby" had been organized in the capital.

APPEALS TO LONGWORTH.

He added that he also had written the speaker that if the committee, at the time of the recent tax hearings had possessed authority to investigate, it could have ascertained what he said was a fact.

"Had this committee possessed legal powers," Johnson's letter continued, "it could undoubtedly have proven that the pay-off man of this group at the Raleigh Hotel recently had approximately $50,000 in $100 bills and paid off those hired to be in Washington to make the demonstration before the alleged committee.

HEARINGS ILLEGAL, SAYS.

"Had it legal powers, it could have shown that approximately $2,500 was paid to Oregon men alone and $700 went to one man from Arizona. About $500 was, as can be shown, paid to men from my own State of South Dakota who were brought here to convince the alleged committee that that State desired repeal of the inheritance tax."

Mr. Johnson, now undergoing treatment at Walter Reed Hospital here, maintains the recent tax hearings of the ways and means committee were illegal because a resolution to give the committee authority to sit during adjournment of Congress had failed of enactment last session.

NEW MASS WILL BE SUNG ON THURSDAY

A new mass composed by Thomas J. Hurley will be sung at the lecture by Rev. James L. McGovern, S. J., in Boston College Hall next Thursday evening. The lecture is one of a series of "The Details of Catholic Worship," under the auspices of the Young Men's Catholic Association.

The topic for Thursday evening will be "The Mass." Mr. Hurley, the composer, is director of the Glee Club of the Association, consisting of 50 male voices. This group will sing the mass, under the direction of the composer, with Lawrence B. O'Connor as organist.

Cleo Mayfield as a Doctor

She Prescribes for the T. B. M.

Musical Revues and Outdoor Hobby Fine for the Wind, Says Stage Star

By MARY M. MAHONEY

"THERE are two things in which the tired business man should indulge—frequent musical revues and at least one outdoor hobby," says radiant Cleo Mayfield, co-star of Cecil Lean in "Allez-Oop" at the Colonial Theatre.

"The musical revue is the ideal type of show for the tired business man man or woman because it is thoroughly American in spirit," continued Miss Mayfield.

"The principal idea of the revue is speed. Speed has a great appeal for the business type, especially. Brilliant stage settings, catchy music, comedy and pick of American beauties all contribute to this the most popular form of diversion.

Drives Away Fatigue

"This contrast with a drab business office is something that never can be obtained in a drama or other form of entertainment, no matter how suddenly it may move. Snappy music and bright settings are a positive relaxation to mental fatigue.

"But business people should not confine their enjoyment to any indoor hobby. Fresh air is a necessity that may be enjoyed while swimming, golfing, horseback riding or playing tennis. How people play bridge or other card games after a hard day's work is a mystery to me.

"My hobbies all keep me in the open, horseback riding taking first place. At my Summer place on Lake Winnipesaukee, I organize a big party every morning, and we ride until noon.

"I love swimming, diving and walking, too. Whenever I go for a walk I take along my dogs, 'Duke' and 'Count.'"

Her Excellent Dogs

Miss Mayfield was in her dressing room and "Duke" and "Count" were cuddled at her feet. The maid had just put on their badger hair collars, the last word in fashionable dogdom when on parade.

"Smile, Count!" she commanded. "Count" stood up on hind legs and grinned from ear to ear.

"Now it's 'Duke's' turn to do something, Sweetie, 'Duke!'"

"Duke" also arose and sneezed several times in quick succession.

"And here's another hobby I haven't mentioned," said Miss Mayfield as Cecil Lean entered the dressing room. Miss Mayfield in private life is Mrs. Cecil Lean.

"What's your chief hobby, Cecil?" she asked.

Cecil Lean grinned.

"Why, fast motor boats, of course," he said.

"Ha, ha!" laughed Cleo Mayfield. "Not quite the whole truth. Fast motor boats and blondes. He's one of those who prefers 'em."

"Why, the idea!" protested Cecil Lean. "There's just one girl in the world for me; Cleo."

RADIANT CLEO MAYFIELD who prescribes for the tired business man.

3,290 COAL MINE STRIKERS EVICTED

Pittsburgh, Nov. 26 (A.P.)—The task of providing housing facilities for 3,290 striking coal miners and their wives and children today held the attention of officials of the United Mine Workers.

The strikers were occupied houses owned by coal companies for eight months, retaining possession by appealing eviction actions to the higher court. The eviction decision early this week was in favor of the companies, and it is expected the higher court's opinion will be filed with the sheriff here for execution early next week.

The union is caring for more than 12,000 persons in barracks and other houses.

NORWOOD SWEDISH CHURCH CELEBRATES

A two-days' celebration of the 25th anniversary of the Swedish Baptist Church in Norwood began in that town last night with the reading of written reports and the history of the church and its various organizations. Addresses were delivered by Rev. A. Kahgren, first pastor of the church, and Rev. Alfred E. Lindberg, of Worcester.

A special service will be held at 10:30 today in which the Sunday School attached to the church will join. In the afternoon at 3:30 there will be a meeting of the young people.

BORAH HITS WAR 'OUTLAW' PLAN

Washington, Nov. 26 (A.P.)—World peace plans hinging upon the question of aggressor nations were condemned today by Chairman Borah of the Senate foreign relations committee as "unworkable."

Senator Borah, who has a resolution to declare war illegal as a basis for outlawing warfare, declared it is impossible to determine which nation is the aggressor.

This view is shared in part by President Coolidge and was brought forward following announcement by Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas, that he would introduce a resolution to outlaw war and prevent the United States from trading with countries which wage aggressive warfare.

"So far as I am concerned," Senator Borah said, "I would not support a peace plan which recognizes war as legitimate at any time or under any circumstances. If war has to come, it should come in contravention and in failed of peace plans and international law and not under their acquiescence, approval or protection.

"There never has been an aggressor nation and never will be in the sense that it would be a workable basis for operation of the machinery of peace. There is no practical way in an exigency to determine what nation is an 'aggressor nation.'

And Now---Ear Veils

Paris, Nov. 26.

WOMAN'S latest way of covering hear ears is to have little ear veils attached to her hat. The ear veil is an adaptation of the eye veil.

Ex-Governor to Speak

"The Poetry of Business" will be the topic and former Gov. Edward L. Stokes of New Jersey the speaker at the fifth assembly luncheon at the Boston Chamber of Commerce Wednesday noon.

MALDEN BOY IS SHOT IN BACK IN CELLAR TARGET PRACTICE

KENNETH LAMB, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Lamb of Lebanon street, Malden, is on the danger list at the Melrose Hospital after being accidentally shot in the back by a playmate yesterday.

The accident took place in the cellar of the Lamb home when Kenneth with his brother, Albert Lamb, Jr., and two companions, Vaiten Bullard, 14 years, of Columbia street, Malden, and Arthur Moran, 13, were practising shooting with a .22-calibre rifle, using a bottle as a target.

When the bottle was accidentally overturned, Kenneth bent over to put it back, and the rifle, in the hands of Walter Bullard, was discharged, striking the Lamb boy in the back.

2 HUB MEN JAILED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

St. Albans, Vt., Nov. 26—Frank Lounge, 47, and Fred Martin, both of Boston, were arrested today by Customs Patrolmen H. A. Coburn and F. A. Temple of the Beechers Falls Port on the road between Canaan and Colebrook, N. H., when their roadster bearing Massachusetts number 576,076 was found to contain 169 quart bottles of liquors.

They were lodged in the Coos County Jail to await hearing.

NEDELL'S BOSTON FUR SHOP—453 WASHINGTON ST.

Monday Morning---9 o'clock Sharp!

A Great Sale!

Fur Coats

Buy Now! Make Tremendous Savings!

You Can Buy With Confidence and Assured Reliability Here!

Hundreds of Smart Models to Choose From!

All Sizes for Women, Misses & Stouts

FUR COATS for you at DRASTIC SACRIFICE PRICES! READY NOW!

MUSKRAT Northern Seals (Dyed Hare) and Other Fur Coats — $85	Fox Trimmed MUSKRATS Dyed Marmots CARACULS, etc. — $119	HUDSON SEALS (Dyed Muskrat) — $145
Mendoza Beavers (Dyed Hare) MUSKRATS Northern Seals (Dyed Hare) — $95	Raccoon Coats — $135	Beautiful SQUIRREL COATS — $225

Other Coats (in all furs) MARKED DOWN

We Are Manufacturers!

Making up many beautiful new styles in our own daylight fur workrooms, direct on the premises, at MANY, MANY DOLLARS LESS! BUY DIRECT FROM US

Open Eves. to 7 P. M.

Nedell's

Small Deposit Reserves Coat

BOSTON FUR SHOP

5TH FLOOR 453 WASHINGTON ST.

DEXTER BLDG. NEAR WINTER ST.

From All Over the World Diamond Gifts Are Ordered from Jason Weiler & Sons

Buy Diamonds Direct

from Jason Weiler & Sons

America's Leading Importers, and

Save 20 to 40%

An exquisite creation in Solid Platinum, beautifully hand pierced with four square prongs holding the fine, full cut, blue white diamond of extreme brilliancy. Six smaller diamonds are embedded in the sides. Our price direct to you,

$200

A deposit made now will hold any selection for later delivery

Following is a partial list of other diamonds, mounted in various styles of gold, platinum and white gold settings. You have the privilege of keeping any of them ten days for comparison and appraisal and then returning for the full amount in cash, if desired.

¼ carat... $32.00	1½ carats.. $390.00	3¼ carats.. $490.00
⅝ carat.... 72.00	1 carat... 145.00	3 carats.. 294.00
¾ carat.... 90.00	⅞ carat ... 135.90	1⅛ carats . 217.00
⅛ carat.... 82.00	¾ carat .. 92.00	2 carats.. 310.00

MAIL ORDERS FILLED

Diamonds Sent for Inspection Before Payment, If Desired

Write for free catalog "How to Buy Diamonds"

JASON WEILER & SONS

Founded in 1870 Diamond Importers Since 1875

376 Washington St. COR. OF FRANKLIN 2d, 3d and 4th Floors

BOSTON, MASS

PLAYER PIANO OUTFIT

$295

...Its a brand new Kenmore Player Piano Exceptional Value

Fully Guaranteed

Lamp, Cabinet, Bench and Music Roll Included

A Reasonable First Payment $2.50 Per Week

A truly Amazing Offer

The illustration above pictures STARCK'S new Kenmore Player Piano outfit offered at a price of $295.00. We consider this exceptional value at this price. The Player Piano is of latest style and is constructed of good materials. This instrument is made especially for the P. A. STARCK PIANO COMPANY and is guaranteed by us. Don't purchase a Player Piano anywhere at any price until you have first seen and heard this beautiful instrument.

Trade in your present piano or any other musical instrument of value. We will accept same as first payment.

If you cannot call, mail coupon for particulars.

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

.....

P. A. Starck Piano Co.

Manufacturers of Starck Player Pianos, $850 to $1,500

1088 ELM STREET MANCHESTER, N. H.

156 Boylston St. [Opposite Common] BOSTON

29 FOREST AVENUE PORTLAND, MAINE

With so many to choose from you will be almost sure to find the room best suited to your needs in today's

SUNDAY ADVERTISER

CLASSIFIED ADS

in the main news section

IT'S O. K. BEING GOVERNOR—BUT FOR BANQUETS!

Speeches That Go With Them Bother "Pinch Hitter" Cook, Too

[illegible]

BEGINS "GOVERNORING"

[illegible]

"BUT THE SPELCHMAKING"

[illegible]

HOME AFTER 5 YEARS IN DIAMOND MINES

[illegible]

Fearful of Feasting

ACTING GOVERNOR FREDERIC W. COOK, who is worried about his digestion, considering the number of banquets he'll have to attend while Governor Fuller and Lt.-Gov. Allen are out of the State.

CHAS. P. DOLAN & SON

CHAS. P. DOLAN — WM. O. "BILL" DOLAN

FURS

One Year to Pay

Thirty-Five Years of Square Dealing with the Public

Not one customer can point their finger at us and say that we ever deceived them in the way of honest values for honest dollars.

FUR QUESTIONS ANSWERED

What is meant by the term "Burnt skins." used in the construction of fur coats?

ANSWER

Skins whose pelt of leather is so thin and delicate that they burn with the acids used during the process of dyeing and dressing.

Bear in mind that the fur is never affected, and always looks just as good as a super quality skin. Even the furrier cannot tell the difference as far as loose will feeling concerned, then how are you expected to know the difference?

DO ALL SKINS BURN!

Every known skin will burn when the pelt or leather is weak and decayed, and we assure you that there are thousands and thousands of them, namely: Dyed Muskrat, Hudson Seal, Opossum, Mink, Nutria, Beaver, Rabbit, Caracul, Natural Muskrat, Squirrels, Foxes, Wolves, Leopards, Kolinskys, etc., etc., and I might add forty other names, all of which burn during the process of dyeing and dressing.

What Becomes of Burnt Skins?

Are they discarded, which would cause the manufacturers untold losses, or are they used in the construction of the so-called price coat? I will leave this for every intelligent reader of this advertisement to answer for themselves.

BARNUM

You all know Barnum's proverb, and those who don't know, I will leave it to their most vivid imagination.

LET US ASSIST YOU

In selecting quality, then your investment will be protected, and our reputation for square dealings will have one more satisfied customer added to our list because of the fact that the test of time will prove that she has received honest values for honest dollars.

GUARANTEE

Our money-back guarantee is given with every Dolan coat, and a $500 reward in gold is offered to any person who can prove that Chas. P. Dolan & Son ever bought, sold or offered for sale one coat manufactured from burnt skins.

WELCOME

You are always welcome whether you purchase or not to come in and look over our tremendous stock, and compare our prices with coats of similar quality, elsewhere.

$15—Fur Coat Relined—$15

Repairing, remodeling, etc., 30% less. All work done in our own sanitary factory.

110 Tremont St., at Bromfield, Third Floor

One Minute From Park St. Phone Liberty 8724

For $5

We are showing

English Brass Candle Sticks—Book Ends—
Cigarette Boxes—
Indian Brass Etched Trays—
Pottery Vases—
Lamps—
Shades—Imported Glass—
Placques—
Framed Color Etchings—

And an endless variety of attractive gifts at $5.

Kabatznick's
484 BOYLSTON ST.

All Prices Plainly Marked

No blind or code figures to be manipulated to fit the occasion — no secrecy needed where deception is not intended. There's a difference in stores

YOU BUY HERE WITH SAFETY!

ESTABLISHED 1874 — AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION — OSGOOD'S — WHEN IN DOUBT BUY OF OSGOOD — DEPENDABLE — TRUSTWORTHY

No Need to Pay Interest

Decide what you wish to pay at time of purchase, make subsequent payments as arranged, by week or month, and you will be required to pay no interest.

WHAT COULD BE FAIRER?

Just Four More Sundays and Then—Christmas

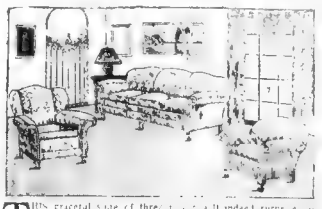
The greatest home-day in all Christendom, the day when families congregate from far and near to renew old ties, bringing with them Christmas spirit of love and cheer, no dear to all of us.

Christmas always means new things in every home. Possibly the guest room will be refurnished, or perhaps the living room or the dining room? An occasional chair, or a smoking stand, or a lamp for floor or table will add to the picture

Remember father, mother, sister or brother, all must be remembered on this day of days with gifts that the whole family may enjoy, right in your own home.

And what is more in keeping with this ideal than the giving of good furniture. Go where you will, buy where you find the best and remember that the season's smartest saying —

When in Doubt Buy of Osgood



THIS graceful suite of three [illegible] indeed superb [illegible] thoroughly good, inside [illegible] Italian [illegible] construction—Built in backs and [illegible] ling in neat and sanitary [illegible] Velour—genuine Jacquard Velour, [illegible] sides and outside backs in plain Velour to match. Positively the best value we ever offered regular price $175, but marked for this week at 129.50

Why Not Be Sure That You Are Safe?

[illegible] the seat [illegible] [illegible] Assn. [illegible] [illegible] that [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

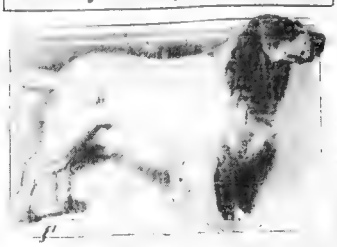
COCKER SPANIEL SHOW TOMORROW

Horticultural Hall Will Be the Scene of Dogdom Social Event

An event of the dogdom [illegible] Horticultural Hall [illegible] places of the [illegible] are [illegible]

In addition to [illegible] will [illegible] transient [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] Georges Green, [illegible] of the American [illegible] [illegible] Mrs. J. Stu [illegible] Mr. and Mrs. S [illegible] Jr., Mor [illegible] Mellin, Pro [illegible] Allen A. [illegible]

A Very Likely Youngster



IDAHURST LOFTY, owned by O. B. Gilman, will appear in the Cocker Spaniel Breeders' Club show tomorrow.. He has won in five different shows since August.

NOTED TEACHERS GATHER IN HUB

[illegible] Dr. Dodd [illegible] Chairs [illegible] Dr. Dodd [illegible] Chairs University [illegible] Walter S. Young superintendent [illegible] Worcester, will preside [illegible] meeting of the guest [illegible] Dodd [illegible] Dr. Dodd [illegible] Chairs of Greek [illegible]

RED CROSS FLOOD FUND IS $31,845.51

[illegible] voluntary contributions to the [illegible] Mississippi Chapter [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

BOARD SEES END OF PARALYSIS WAVE FOR YEAR

State Department of Public Health Issues Last Bulletin for Current Season

GOOD NEWS TO PARENTS

Throughout State There Were 1097 Cases; 1042 in the 16-Week Period Ending Nov. 19

Thousands of anxious parents will be cheered by this announcement from the State Board of Public Health:

"This bulletin will probably be the last on the prevalence of the disease (infantile paralysis) for the current year."

Photo by Dr. Safford

That the wave of the disease prevalent in Massachusetts since August 6 has definitely passed on is the opinion of Dr. Harold C. Ernst, Brookline, deputy health commissioner of the State, and Dr. Francis X. Maloney, health commissioner for the city of Boston.

Throughout the State there were 1097 cases during the year, 1042 of which were reported in the 16-week period ending November 19. Boston reports showed 268 cases, but some of these were patients from outside sections who were sent to the city for treatment.

The State reports do not include the fatalities, but the city reports state there were 50 within a few days of the appearance of the disease.

BROUGHT IN NEW WAY.

The net result of the intensive study of the disease is said by prominent medical men to have been most encouraging. New methods of treatment have been discovered that have warded off the dread effects of the disease. Treatment by serum in the early stages has been found to afford practical immunity from the after-effects of paralysis.

Weather conditions are also believed to be a factor in spreading the disease.

Dr. Rosenau

Dr. Rosenau the rise and fall of the graph having closely followed the changes in temperature. Dr. M. Victor Safford, deputy health commissioner for Boston, in a report on a study of poliomyelitis, the medical term for infantile paralysis, said:

SUN EFFECT OF HEAT.

"It is conceivable that in some such way hot weather may produce a vulnerability to polioencephalitis infection on the part of the central nervous system."

He urges greater emphasis on precautionary measures to prevent the spread of the disease.

"In fact," he adds, "are we not justified as an experiment, at least in applying in a community on early signs of a polioencephalitis some measures which we would apply to an outbreak of Asiatic cholera?"

Dr. Milton J. Rosenau, professor of Preventive Med. ine of Harvard and a member of the Harvard Infantile Paralysis Commission, says:

"If contaminated milk can serve to convey the disease, it would seem reasonable to assume that other foodstuff might do as well."

Dr. Stafford declares there is "justification for an assumption that other foodstuff beside milk may serve as a means of infection and that poliomyelitis may be spread in any of the various ways in which typhoid may be spread."

KILLED BY AUTO NEAR GLOUCESTER HOME

Gloucester, Nov. 26—George Corman, 65, was killed here tonight almost in front of his home on Essex avenue by an auto driven by Roger Moore of this city.

Moore told police that Corman stepped from the sidewalk into the path of his car. Moore was not held.

Member Federal | Interest Begins DEC. 1 | Reserve System

Keep Friends

with your bank account! Deposit frequently, and in time of need it will repay you many times for your effort.

LIBERTY TRUST COMPANY

100 Washington St. Mass. (Corner Court St.)

"Why not more part of that Christmas Club check you will soon receive?"

OPEN EVERY EVENING UNTIL 9 O'CLOCK

MORGAN'S GIGANTIC

250,000 Worth of Fine furniture Greatly Reduced

STOCK REDUCING SALE

$5 down delivers any suite!

"Clearing the Decks!"
Suites, Odd Pieces, Radios, Pianos—Store Wide Reductions — Getting Ready to Take Stock, So We Are Slashing Prices to Assure Quick Clearance!

3-Piece Living Room Suite---Covered All Over in BEAUTIFUL ROSANNA VELOUR

KNOW WHAT'S UNDER THE COVER
See Details Below

$79.50 EASY TERMS

Here Are the High Spots From the Specifications as Given to Us By the Manufacturers!

(a) Covered all over, backs, sides, etc., in high quality Rosanna velour!
(b) Nackmann nationally advertised cushion spring
(c) The frame is of special hardwood, kiln dried stock, reinforced with arm braces and corner blocked on all 4 corners!
(d) The leg is Louis XV in style, screwed and doweled to the frame!
(e) Pure white, layer felt cotton used!
(f) The filling is germ cured and dust proof fibre!
(g) 21 high-carboned specially tempered seat springs in sofa!
(h) Nothing but new material used throughout this suite!
(i) 9 high-carboned, especially tempered seat springs in chairs!

Morgan's

Aiming Always to Sell Highest Grade Furniture at Lowest Possible Prices

We Are Members of National Retail Furniture Association

Here's VALUE! 4 Pcs. for $65

Bow-End Bed—Four-Drawer Vanity—Fine Dresser—Chest of Drawers

This suite bears all the fine qualities that are dominant in furniture that sells for much more.

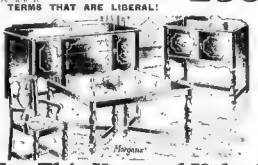
RELY ON US FOR EASY TERMS!

Morgan's

3 Pieces Complete! $135

Large, Inviting Divan—Cozy Club Chair—Handsome, Comfortable Throne Chair Covered all over in Jacquard

TERMS THAT ARE LIBERAL!



Morgan's

See This Unusual Value! $65

Extension Table Buffet—Host Chair Server—6 Guest Chairs

Note attractive design of buffet with long linen drawer—excellently made, well proged for this sale.

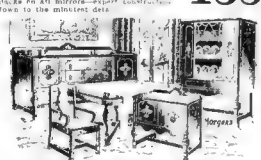
EASY TO BUY ON OUR TERMS!

Morgan's

4 Pcs. of Sturdy Construction $135

Full Vanity—Large Dresser—Roomy Wardrobe—Bow-End Bed

All finished Interiors—Hoxelin Drawers with dovetail mahogany veneer tops on all mirrors—expert construction down to the smallest detail.



Morgan's

10 Attractive Pieces! $125

Extension Table—Buffet—Server—China Cabinet—Host Chair—6 Guest Chairs

Morgan's offers this suite at a price that makes it wonderfully easy to own! Beautifully finished in Walnut Veneers combined with selected American Gumwood!

$5 DOWN ---Delivers ---To Your ---Home ---These ---Famous ---Radios

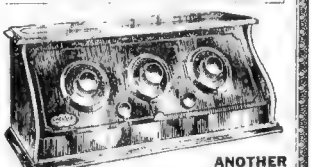
CHELSEA Console Radios

Note the Beautiful Console Cabinet and Fine Built-In LOUD SPEAKER

COMPLETE with All Accessories Nothing More to Buy $75 EASY TERMS

WE ARE AUTHORIZED AGENTS FOR NEW ATWATER KENT A. C. MODEL No. 36, NOW $125

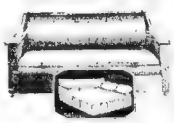
CROSLEY, Chelsea, Freed Eisemann, Grebe and other nationally known radios



ANOTHER CHELSEA LEADER

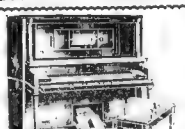
COMPLETE WITH CONE SPEAKER AND ALL ACCESSORIES $49 EASY TERMS

DAVENPORT BED BARGAIN $39 EASY TERMS



An attractive living room piece by day—a full size bed at night! The ideal thing for the unexpected guest! It opens up to a full size bed!

PLAYER PIANO $285 EASY TERMS



With Bench & 12 Music Rolls

SIMMONS STEEL BED 17.25 EASY TERMS

Used by Mrs. J Borden Harriman

This exceptionally attractive bed was selected by the well known society woman, Mrs. J Borden Harriman for her Washington home

Famous Glendale Double Mantel Range $59 EASY TERMS

An extraordinary value for this popular well known range! An exceptional value with sterling heating features. Other Ranges as low as $34.50

OUR TERMS

There is no set, specified amount required for your down payment or weekly or monthly terms. No Red Tape—just an agreement between Two Honest Persons.

YOUR CREDIT IS GOOD AT MORGAN'S
THE HOME OF HOME OUTFITTERS
757 WASHINGTON ST.

Old Customers Pay No Money Down! Purchases Held Till Wanted Free! R. R and Taxi Fares Paid to Out-of-Town Customers!

MAIL ORDER COUPON

MORGAN FURNITURE CO
762 Washington St., Boston, Mass

Name .....
Address .....
Phone No. .....

RADIO DEPT. OPEN EVENINGS UNTIL 9 O'CLOCK

WENT TO SHOW AS CAR KILLED BOY, IS CHARGE

Henry Powicki of Lynn Held for Manslaughter and Leaving Accident

6 Months' Wife

MRS WILLIAM H. CASWELL as she appeared when sailing from New York to join her husband at Cristobal, Panama. Her friends learned for the first time that she had been married since August 10. Mrs. Caswell is to live with her husband during six months of each year and spend the other six months in New York.

SAYS AMERICA SHOULD ADOPT SWISS METHODS

Dr. William Harman Van Allen Sees Chance to Improve Hotels of This Country

Praises Swiss

Photo by Purdy

Rev. William H. Van Allen believes American hotels would be improved if they imported some experts from Switzerland

'BLANK CHECK' SCHEME EARNS G.O.P. FROWNS

Administration Opposes Letting Old World Pass on American Issues

By JAMES T. WILLIAMS, JR., Editor of Universal Service

Chimney Sweep Hats

Paris, Nov. 26

OSTRICH feathers on hats are correct for dress occasions. Among the newest ideas is the sweep's brush ornament, made entirely from uncurled feathers.

PRINCE WORLD'S RICHEST CONVICT

Aristocratic Counterfeiter Is $50,000,000 Heir Through Death of Uncle

Andover Boys to Attend

SPECIAL
SHAMPOO and WAVE $1.00
WARREN
175 TREMONT ST.

Kussell's

By Using the KUSSELL Plan of Extended Payments you need not Spend One Cent of Your Xmas Club Savings for

A FUR COAT

Open Evenings Until 8 P. M.

Kussell makes this Startling Offer to Every Woman in New England

Spend your Xmas Club Savings on gifts, on Christmas pleasures or put it in the bank. YOU DON'T NEED TO SACRIFICE YULETIDE JOYS IN ORDER TO BUY A FUR COAT!! Choose your Fur Coat here and use the Kussell Plan to pay for it. Pay in whatever amounts you wish and take whatever time you need! Remember—the Kussell Plan fits every income—because YOU MAKE THE TERMS!

The Kussell Plan Has Stood the Test of Time for 26 Years

Smart Raccoon Model, specially selected skins

Over a quarter century of success and thousands and thousands of satisfied customers testify to the superiority of the KUSSELL Plan. Only fair dealing, liberal terms and honest prices could win and hold so many loyal friends.

26th Anniversary Sale Values continue for just one more week

Raccoons as low as	$119	Caracul	$125
Tomboy Raccoons	$249	Hudson Seals (dyed muskrat)	$195
Russian Pony	$85	Squirrels	$295
Marmot Mink (dyed marmot)	$119	Muskrats	$149
or Northern Seal (dyed hare)	$95	Fine Broadtail	$249
		Australian Opossum	$195

KUSSELL FUR CO.
41 WINTER STREET—5TH FLOOR
Downtown Shop

PHONE RICHMOND 4549

LOW SUPPLY CO.

Now brings to the good people of Boston and vicinity the wonderful opportunity of buying all

Plumbing and Heating SUPPLIES DIRECT At Wholesale Prices

Down go prices on Plumbing and Heating Supplies. LOW saves you real money whether you buy simply a piece of brass pipe or a complete plumbing and heating equipment. The items below are a few samples of our values. Visit our store during opening days and select your needs from our complete stocks. We save you from 1-3 to 1-2.

NOW OPEN FOR BUSINESS in our own building at 145 North Washington St. NEAR HAYMARKET SQ. Boston, Mass.

Losco Seats $3.95

Durable snow white seat—will not crack or discolor. Seat carefully built of kiln-dried timber, sturdily reinforced, fully guaranteed.

Supreme Gas Ranges! Made by the Largest Stove Plant in the World

$29.50

Gas Water Heater $5.98

$6.50

A Real Bath Tub Bargain $22.50

Full size heavy cast iron, acid resisting white porcelain enamel. A good looking and very serviceable bath at a bargain price during our opening sale.

Fittings extra.

Bath Room Outfit $55

COMPLETE ONLY $55

Here's a "Hot" One

Our Famous One-Pipe Heater

69.50

69c Each

Ideal Airid Siphon Valve Steam Boiler

Buy Now Before the Price Goes Up

$79.50

COMPLETE STOCK OF ALL Plumbing and Heating Supplies carried for immediate delivery

Mail orders filled. The quality of our merchandise and our service fully guaranteed.

LOW SUPPLY CO.
145 N. Washington St.—Boston

Pipes, Valves, Fittings, Shut Offs—Everything you need, big or little in heating and plumbing supplies from nurses and kitchen sinks. Come here FIRST! We operate the PUBLIC Entry of Parking Space.

OPEN ALL DAY SATURDAY

RESET YOUR DIAMONDS IN MODERN MOUNTINGS WHILE WAITING

By Expert Diamond Setters Since 1904. All Work Guaranteed.

Your Choice Will Be Found in Our Large Selection of 10% Iridio Platinum Mountings 18K White Gold With Cut Diamonds $3 to $12 $35 to $200

Full allowance for old mountings

Sager Bros. & Co.
333 Washington St.
Room 617—Elevator to 6th Floor

Special! Last Week!

Full Set, Gold Pin Teeth Upper or Lower

This is positively your last chance to ever get one of these marvelous plates that are made.

These plates are made with our own natural moulds and life like shades. In the mouth the deception and substitution is so perfect that it is nearly impossible to detect them from nature's own.

Gas Administered

Hours: 9 A.M.-9 P.M. Sundays 10 to 1

Never offered before at this price. ONLY $17.50

SPECIAL—A $5.00 deposit will hold one of these plates for you for a period of six months. If unable to call in person you may send deposit by mail.

Examination FREE. Estimates FREE. Work Fully Guaranteed.

AVERY DENTAL PARLORS
578 WASHINGTON ST. Open Evenings
Scientific Harvard Graduates Phone Richmond 7049

AUTOIST ACCUSED IN WOMAN'S DEATH

TWO HURT AS AUTOS CRASH IN METHUEN

DEATH TOLL OF FOUR IN VERMONT WRECK

CENTURY-OLD FULLER TAVERN REOPENS DOOR

South Walpole Out to Give Welcome to Old-Time Coach

LAFAYETTE ONCE A GUEST

Team of Oxen Haul Ye Ancient Cart Piled High With Wood for Fireplace

South Walpole yesterday turned back the pages of its history 100 years to re-enact the day of the stage coach.

The occasion was the reopening of the 126-year-old Fuller Tavern famous old Half-Way House on the old Providence-Boston turnpike.

Restored to its original condition, so far as it was possible, through the generosity and public spirit of Mrs. Philip R. Allen and George A. Plimpton of Walpole, the ancient inn was thrown open to the public yesterday.

After years of obscurity as a tenement dwelling, it was reborn yesterday in all its former glory.

FESTIVITIES UNDER WAY.

The Inn was reopened in fitting pageantry.

It is November, 1827—not 1927. Up the old turnpike which starts at the Inn, lumbers a stage coach drawn by four spirited horses. With a flourish and a crack driver reins in his prancing horses at the Inn door beneath a sign which proclaims "Fuller's Tavern, 1802."

Hostlers race forward to change horses. The coach proceeds on its journey down and enter the ancient Half-Way House—and the reopening festivities are under way.

The coach driver was Philip R. Allen Riding "up top" with him were Mrs. Allen and Mr. and Mrs. George A. Plimpton. Within the coach were the Walpole Board of Selectmen, H. W. Cadwell, T. E. Delaney, John Hock and Arthur Mann; John J. Flaherty, publisher of the Walpole Times, and Town Treasurer H. A. Whitney. The coach itself was in use more than 100 years ago.

Ann and Mary Bird, grandchildren of the late Charles Sumner Bird, also enjoyed a ride in the old coach.

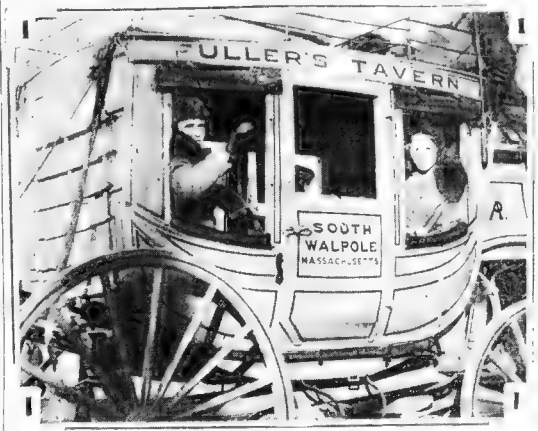
As another feature of the reopening yesterday, George A. Plimpton drove a yoke of oxen drawing a 100-year-old ox cart piled high with wood, into the tavern yard and the inn's woodbox was stocked with ample fuel for its nine old-fashioned fireplaces.

LAFAYETTE ONCE A GUEST.

It is the ancient inn's boast that General Lafayette was once its guest, sleeping there during a visit in 1824. Hundreds flocked to the reopening day "Open House" festivities yesterday.

Henry Ford, who restored the Wayside Inn, was invited to attend the reopening of the South Walpole Tavern yesterday but was unable to be present.

On the Way to Ye Ancient Tavern



LITTLE MISS MODERN yesterday lived in the days of a past century when she joined in the feast at reopening of Fuller Tavern at South Walpole. In the old Fuller coach, as shown in the photo, are Ann and Mary Bird, grandchildren of the late Charles Sumner Bird.

CARMEN'S LEADER HAS THREE RIVALS

President Charles H. Clark of the Boston Street Carmen's Union will be opposed for renomination in the primary election in Old Franklin Schoolhouse, Washington and Dover streets, South End, tomorrow from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. His opponents will be Vice-President Thomas F. Walsh, Pierce F. Quinlan and Harry G. Barrett.

Candidates for vice-president will be John J. Flynn, Francis E. Manning, Martin A. Tayme and John J. Foley.

For the office of business agent there are three candidates, the present incumbent, Matthew J. McLaughlin; Charles P. Dunlap and Timothy J. Regan.

Ernest O. M. Fehrmann, seeking the office of financial secretary for a 12th term, is opposed by Charles H. Ross, Michael J. Walsh is unopposed for recording secretary. Patrick J. Wallo is unopposed for warden. Sentinel Patrick J. Donahue is opposed for re-election by John J. Mahoney.

The election is Dec. 5.

HIS LEG BROKEN BY HIT-AND-RUN CAR

Peter Doherty, aged 24, of No. 51 Half Moon street, Dorchester, was taken to the City Hospital yesterday suffering from cuts and bruises and a double fracture of the right leg, received when he was struck by a hit-and-run driver while crossing West Cottage street at Dudley street, Roxbury.

CRAM'S NEPHEW MISSING 6 WEEKS

Joseph Leavitt Cram, 16, son of William Elwell Cram of Plimpton Falls, N. H., and nephew of Rufus Cram Alden Cram, Boston architect, has been missing since September 9, it was disclosed today by a letter sent to the Sunday Advertiser by relatives in finding him.

Young Cram, a descendant of Isaac Cram, who settled in Plimpton Falls in 1764, left home on his father's farm on the morning of September 9. He told his parents he was going to the Amoskeag County Fair at Manchester, N. H., to look for a job.

With anxiety steadily growing, Mrs. Cram at last has decided to appeal to the readers of the Sunday Advertiser, and Mrs. Cram says that anyone knowing where her son is will have him communicate with her.

"My son Joseph has been much interested in maps of all sections of the country, and Mrs. Cram says. "He has been accustomed with the aid of maps to take long walks—sometimes ten miles.

Young Cram is 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighs 135 pounds. He is described as quiet disposed, in a good sense, and has had no trouble with

Pastor to Be Named

Trustees of the Second Unitarian Church, West Somerville, will meet today at 8 p. m. to name a successor to Rev. Thomas Parrell, pastor, resigned.

OLD-TIME TOURIST SAILS ON NEW LINER

Mrs. Henry Black of Montreal, [illegible] Quebec, sailed on the Canadian Pacific liner Montcalm for Liverpool yesterday. Mrs. Black, who is 87 years old, is a descendant of the Loyalist Molson family of Montreal. [illegible] Mrs. Black is a passenger on the Montcalm's maiden voyage to Liverpool. [illegible] New York for Liverpool on the Cunarder Berengaria. [illegible] Mr. and Mrs. John Stone of Boston sailed on the Cunarder Laconia for Liverpool. [illegible] Mr. and Mrs. Edward K. P. Linard were passengers on the Canadian Pacific liner Montrose for Liverpool.

Scheinfeldt
JEWELERS
DIAMONDS, WATCHES
JEWELRY, LEATHER GOODS
CLOCKS AND NOVELTIES
A Much Wanted Gift

WEBSTER'S COMBINATION DICTIONARY FOUNTAIN PEN—Self-filler—Size 6 1/2 inches high—Gold point—Iridium tipped—Non-leakable—Non-breakable—Guaranteed for life—Writes 1 month without refilling—Has 2 colors of ink—Red and Black—Instantly changed by AUTOMATIC PENCIL—Has 2 pencils—Red and Black—Has 2 erasers—Has pocket clip—Has gold band—Has gold ring—Has gold cap—Has gold barrel—Has gold nib—Has gold feed—Has gold ink—Has gold pencil—Has gold eraser—Has gold

B. U. Woman Professor Urges Training For Marriage

'PUSH-BUTTON AGE' MAKES IT A NECESSITY

Home Apprenticeship Is No Longer Available, Says Mrs. Elizabeth MacDonald

SOME VIEWS ON WOMEN

"Wives Can Go Out in World and Earn Money and Still Be Successfully Married"

By KATHERINE BROOKS

The woman who earns a livelihood of the Home Economics Department, Boston University, has come to the conclusion that the modern girl and woman's place is in the city. Drawing a parallel between the Big Industry Once

at the end of the 19th century, Miss Madeleg said, "and now I see my brotherhood in every city in New England.

Used to Pitch Files

"A whitesmith is to the smith what a watchmaker is to a locksmith, one being a worker in steel, and the other a worker in iron.

Severe Winters Then

During the severe winters of the early days, the whitesmith was kept busy making and repairing tools. There was plenty left, however, for others to do, and as it will never be extinct

Keen Yachtsman

Hub's Only Whitesmith 60 Years at His Forge

J. W. Madden Last Member of Ancient Trade

Works Exclusively in Steel and Is Teaching an Adopted Son the Business

By KATHERINE BRADFORD

Boston's only whitesmith, [illegible] has been engaged in the [illegible] for more than 60 years, is teaching his trade to James W. Madden, who [illegible] shop in the basement of [illegible]

JAMES W. MADDEN at old forge on Traverse street, North End, where for sixty years he has carried on his trade as a whitesmith.

Station was then a fire station. I took over which was my regular job as a whitesmith since then, though Mr. Madden now does all the heavy

FILENE'S STORE FOR WORCESTER

Boston Company to Add Another Link to Its New England Chain

This building at 837 to 849 Main [illegible] been leased [illegible] Filene's, it was announced [illegible] Boston Company. [illegible] Worcester [illegible] Filene's [illegible] Main street. It was [illegible] specialty [illegible] for a retail [illegible] Worcester [illegible] street floor at [illegible] this led into four shops, one of which [illegible] one occupied [illegible] Filene's and another [illegible] Filene company. Both [illegible] business are to find new [illegible] store, with the second [illegible] are of the entire building [illegible] by the Zimmerman [illegible] Filene's [illegible] and the name of [illegible] Filene's in Worcester [illegible] by Filene's [illegible] store [illegible] a [illegible] store [illegible] a [illegible] Filene's [illegible]

GEN. BROWN TO FLY TO YALE HONORS

Yale alumni will honor Major-Gen [illegible] Brown, U. S. Army, [illegible] present [illegible] Association [illegible] the [illegible] of Mid [illegible] river, at "Ne'er" Roberts' Old Yale Boat Party [illegible] General Brown is a member of the class of '92 at Yale. He has notified [illegible] he will be [illegible] M. A. in [illegible]

MRS. THAYER TO BE HONOR GUEST AT TEA

Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer will be the [illegible] at a tea and [illegible] Women's Republican Club [illegible] Mrs. Thayer is [illegible] president [illegible] directors of [illegible]

MOVIE PARTY FOR LYNN NEWSBOYS

$1,386,826 REFUND TO BROOKS ESTATE

A refund of $1,386,826.75 will be made to the estate of James C. Brooks of Boston [illegible] Internal Revenue [illegible] Boston [illegible] Brooks died [illegible] and the refund [illegible] was [illegible] directly or [illegible] several [illegible] time prior to this was [illegible]

The Last Word

—Photo by Globe Staff Photographers

DELIGHTFULLY NEW is this dress of beige satin. A pleasing change from the tight sleeve is the Vionnet sleeve. The circular skirt flits flat over the hips. Fagotting in a diamond motif adds a decorative note.

LINDBERGH TESTS AIR-COOLED MOTOR

Curtiss Field, L. I., Nov. 26.—A [illegible] half hour of new motor [illegible] engine [illegible] was made [illegible] at Curtiss Aeroplane [illegible] Lindbergh [illegible] Lindbergh [illegible] Miss Nan [illegible] Miss Thom [illegible] Commander [illegible]

BYRD'S KIN READS LINDBERGH POEM

Roosevelt Club to Meet

The Roosevelt Club of Boston will [illegible] regular meeting in the [illegible] Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., [illegible] Thursday noon, it was announced yesterday.

IRISH RECORDS
10-inch 75c
The Shan Van Vocht
The Old Fenian Gun
Londonderry Hornpipe
Rich tis and Tullagh Hornpipes
E. O'Byrne De Wilt's Sons
The Home of Irish Music
51 Warren Street, Roxbury
DUDLEY TERMINUS BUILDING
Open Evenings Haymarket 8616

"When You Think of FURS—Think of FOX"
End-of-the-Month
SALE
Fine Quality, Latest Style Furs

Beautiful dark Muskrat, [illegible] smart
$85
Muskrat Coats
at sacrifice prices—to keep our factory busy—$85
Beautifully lined and trimmed—made to sell at a much higher price. Don't miss this Sale of smart new Muskrats. All typical Fox values. All guaranteed by Fox Furriers!
Other Typical Values
Raccoon . . $115
Caracul $99
Hudson Seal $135
(Dyed Muskrat)
Pony $95
Squirrel . . $225
$5 Deposit is all you need to reserve your coat at this sale—pay the balance later!
Xmas Club Checks Credited NOW!
We will credit you with the amount of your Xmas Club Check right NOW. You may have a Fur Coat and bring or send Xmas Club Check when you receive it later!
Open Evenings Until 8 P. M.
I. J. FOX
Biggest Possible Allowances
41 Winter St.—4th Floor
Manufacturing Furriers Since 1888

Asks Jury Trial In Will Contests

DEMAND
BAYER
ASPIRIN
The whole world knows Aspirin as an effective antidote for pain. But it's just as important to know that there is only one genuine Bayer Aspirin. The name Bayer is on every tablet, and on the box. If it says Bayer, it's genuine; and if it doesn't it is not! Headaches of all sorts are dispelled by Bayer Aspirin. So are colds, and the pain that goes with them; even neuralgia, neuritis, and rheumatism promptly relieved. Get Bayer—at any drugstore—with proven directions.
Physicians prescribe Bayer Aspirin; it does NOT affect the heart
Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Treat Colds 2 Ways With One Treatment
RUBBED on throat and chest, Vicks does two things at once:
(1) It is vaporized by the body heat and inhaled direct to the inflamed air passages, and
(2) It stimulates the skin like an old-fashioned poultice and "draws out" the soreness.
TEACH NO A NATION TO AVOID SEVERE COLDS acts 2 ways at once
VICKS VAPORUB
OVER 17 MILLION JARS USED YEARLY

RELIABLE AERO-CAP
THE HEADWEAR HIT OF THE SEASON
Made of DuPont guaranteed long wearing Fabrikoid or genuine leather. Warm, soft brushed wool lining—elastic knitted ear lars. Fabrikoid in black, brown, and a variety of pleasing colors. Leather in black or brown. Sizes for all ages from three years up including adults.
Sold by all good dealers
RELIABLE KNITTING WORKS
MILWAUKEE, WISCONSIN

HOME and STORE

$600 Down

This 9-room house, newly painted, with city water, electricity, and store, 15x25, with 10,000 ft. of land is priced at only $4,000 by C. G. Clapp of 291 Washington St., Boston. This is only one of several bargains listed in the real estate columns of today's

SUNDAY ADVERTISER
CLASSIFIED ADS
in the Main News Section

2-MILE MINUTE SPEED NOW FOR HUB AIR MAIL

Maximum of Protection for Aviators in the Latest Plane

SACRIFICE FOR SPEED

SAFETY FOR PILOT.

Too Young to Quit Comedy

EDDIE FOY, 71, Keith topliner, who collapsed with an attack of grip after the Friday matinee, refuses to give up his stage career, even after 58 years. He is shown taking medicine in his dressing room before "going on" for the Friday matinee.

JESUIT CHURCHES TO OPEN NOVENA

Crisis Passes

VERA COUNTESS OF CATHCART, who has been near death from heart disease was reported in London yesterday as having passed the crisis of her malady and is on the road to recovery

BISHOP LAWRENCE PREACHER TODAY

AUTO MEN PLAN FOR N. E. TOURS

Kryptok bifocal
Special Prices
Mon-Tues-Wed

Can You Read This?

CREDIT SERVICE
No Extra Charge for This Convenience
Seven Registered Optometrists in Attendance
Artificial Human Eyes Made to Order
WILSON BROS. CO.
BIG JEWELRY STORE
28, 30, 32 SCOLLAY SQUARE Open Saturday Nights
JOHN W. WILSON CHAS. S. WILSON

FUR COATS
—Repaired
—Remodelled
—Relined
SPECIAL
RELINING—Choice of colors. Everything furnished COMPLETE $12
KLAFF & MACK
8 Winter St. 4th Floor

HARVEY'S "The Music Center of Boston"
$79.50
12 Record Selections Included
HARVEY'S "The Music Center of Boston"

SPECIAL PRE-CHRISTMAS
SALE

Slightly Used
VICTROLAS
BRUNSWICKS
VOCALIONS
COLUMBIA
PHONOGRAPHS
LESS THAN 1/2 Regular Price
$49.50
Twelve Record Selections Included

These are all high-grade used instruments taken in exchange or used for demonstrations. All must be sold at once to make room for our large Christmas assortment of musical instruments. Act at once and secure first choice at practically your own terms.

UPRIGHT AND CONSOLE MODELS
$29.50, $39.50, $57.50, $69.50, $79.50 and $97.50

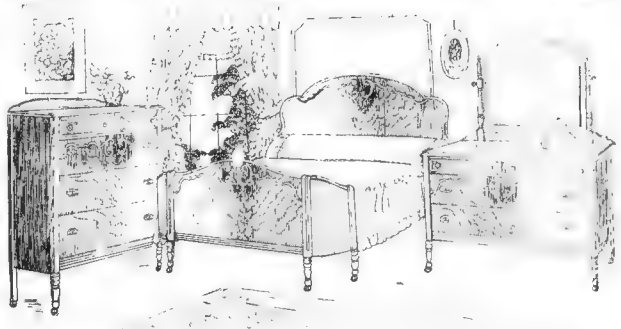
TERMS AS LOW AS $4 PER MONTH

MAIL COUPON TODAY
C. C. HARVEY COMPANY
144 Boylston St. Boston
NAME .....
ADDRESS .....

C. C. HARVEY CO.
144 Boylston Street, Boston

FERDINAND'S
1868 to 1927—59 Years' Square Dealing With Its Customers
HOLIDAY SPECIALS
Every department in this great store is now showing a complete assortment of holiday merchandise

Here is a Real Bedroom Value!



A Marvelous Outfit at This Price
This three-piece bedroom suite is designed in the latest style and constructed of selected walnut veneers with other fine cabinet woods. Has mahogany drawer bottoms and dustproof construction. Included are a roomy dresser, full width bow end bed and chest of drawers with the latest 3-partition men's shirt drawer. The colonial decoration on each piece exemplifies the beauty of the finish.
$93

In Our TOY DEPT. Street Floor

Doll Carriages ... beds to ... $2.75

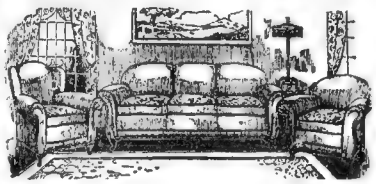
Sidewalk Cycle — Rubber-... wheels, ball bearing ... and adjustable seat ... $18.75

Desk ... $3.95

Automobile — ... $6.75

Scooter — ... $3.75

Roll-Top Desk ... $8.75



3-Piece Mohair Living Room Suite
... $197.50

Martha Washington Sewing Cabinet
$18.75

RED CROSS Mattress
... 17

Liberal Credit Terms

Genuine Simmons Spring
Double deck spring, will fit any bedstead size $10.75

FERDINAND'S
At Dudley Street Terminal
The Largest Exclusive Furniture Store in New England

JOHN COOLIDGE IS GUEST OF TRUMBULLS

His Amherst Chum and Classmate of Governor's Daughter Also Visitor

Hartford, ... Coolidge ... a visit ... daughter, ... on a home ... Young Cr... herst, Ed... mer Brow... Trumbull, ... Hospital ... Powers of ... guests of ...

Last ... ballroom ... city, ... Edward ... Trumb... his own ... log ... during ... ence, ... where ... sportsm...

Before ... Amherst ... acting ... turn ... lived ... day ...

He Is Still "Youthful"

Landing in Back Yard Will Be Vogue Soon, Says Lieut. Bourdon

Senior Commercial Flier of This Region Sees Big Future

Dennison Airport Pilot Believes Next Generation Will Take Flying for Granted

By FRANKLIN P. COLLIER, JR.

"THE coming generation will take to flying like a duck ... and ... [illegible]

"THE PRIVATE PLANE will be constantly adapted to smaller fields until it can land in an ordinary backyard," is the prophecy of Lieutenant Allen P. Bourdon, chief pilot for the Dennison Airport.

Cause of Accidents

Many Radical Changes

Looks for Excitement

First Crash in 1919

NEW CALENDAR MAKES IT EASY TO FIND DATES

Adherents of Plan Point Out Convenience of the 28-Day, 13-Month Idea

Every month a new Calendar. Hasn't it happened to you, ... Ask us ...

B... and I have a plan from ... B... and ... Aunt ... and ... dollar ...

But ... Before ... most people ... what ... reason why this ... was the first ... [illegible]

Sunday, November 27, ... month ... of the ... in ...

ONE ARGUMENT ADVANCED.

... at once, for ...

FINANCIAL SIDE OF IT.

EXTRA TIME TAKEN.

OLYMPIA FUR CO., 8 WINTER ST.

Almost Unbelievable—but TRUE!

FUR COATS

at Savings of $60 to $175

TAKE your pick of hundreds of coats of the choicest pelts. Lustrous, long furs of exceptional color. At our present prices you SAVE TREMENDOUSLY on any coat you select. Why? Too much warm weather. End-of-season prices now while THE SEASON IS JUST STARTING.

MUSKRATS
RACOONS
CARACULS
SQUIRRELS
HUDSON SEALS
DAVID MUSKRAT

Priced According to Furs

$69

And Up to $325

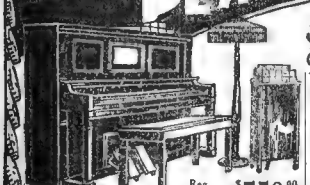
$5 DEPOSIT HOLDS A COAT UNTIL YOU ARE READY FOR IT

EVERY COAT GUARANTEED THREE YEARS

OLYMPIA FUR CO. 3RD FLOOR 8 WINTER ST. 3RD FLOOR

TAKE ELEVATOR TO 3RD FLOOR

LORD'S CHRISTMAS PLAYER PIANO CLUB



Reg. Value $550.00

This is the most wonderful offer we have ever been able to give the music loving people of New England

$20 IN GOLD GIVEN TO EACH MEMBER

FREE BENCH — CABINET — FLOOR LAMP — 24 LATEST ROLLS — WITH THIS PLAYER PIANO

COMPLETE CLUB OUTFIT

$312

SMALL PAYMENT DOWN $3 PER WEEK

Special Privileges to CLUB MEMBERS ONLY

OPEN EVERY NIGHT TILL 9:30

Special Personal Attention Given Mail Orders

If You Cannot Call, Send This Coupon. Money Refunded If Not Satisfactory

Christmas Player Piano Club ...

Name .....

St. & No. .....

City .....

ESTABLISHED 1875

LORD PIANO CO

1ST FLOOR, TOWER ... BOSTON

WHIST AND DANCING PARTY TO AID CHURCH

A whist and dancing party for all ... of the building fund of the new ... church of the Holy ... Saturday, Nov. ... Whist, prizes, ... Dancing ... Bridge and ... from 8 to ... program. Tea ... Mrs. Marguerite ... assisted by a committee of ... women.

40 BURIED IN FALL OF PLANT; 6 DEAD

Madrid, Nov. 26 (A.N.S.)—Six ... known dead and ... buried ... fall ... of ... in the ... Barcelona ... Bilbao ... Seville ... Madrid ...

200 HEALTH CAMP TOTS HOLD REUNION

A reunion of 200 children who spent last Summer at the health camps of the Southern Middlesex Health ... Association was held ... Framingham ... from the ... Framingham ... Washington ... Framingham ... secretary of ... was in charge of the ...

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

On the face, neck, underarms or on any other part of the body can be safely, quickly and surely removed by applying just a few drops of the pleasant smelling liquid

ANNA HAIR DISSOLVER

This wonderful preparation dissolves the hair close to the skin, leaving no roughness or irritation. Your local druggist, department store or beauty parlor has ANNA or the following reliable dealers will supply you:

BOSTON, MASS.—T. D. Whitney Co., Plaut's, Shepard's, R. H. White Co., Houghton & Dutton Co., Crawford Hollister, Jordan Marsh Co. Or if you will send a postal card we will bring a trial ... [illegible]

PLANNER & CO., Inc., Distributors, 218 West St., Boston, Mass.

Martha Lee's Kitchen

Pure Speech Easy to Attain

FEW of us realize that we are in constant contact with a potential germ carrier. That is the mouthpiece of the telephone and it is extremely important that this be cleaned almost daily. To do this, remove the mouth-piece and clean thoroughly with a little soap suds, using a stiff bristle brush to insure perfect cleaning of the perforated part in the back.

After this, rinse well in clear water and allow it to dry before putting back on the transmitter. No disease germ will live in a telephone mouth piece that is cleaned daily with pure white soap.

Cheese Week in Martha Lee Kitchen

WHENEVER we are just a little at a loss to decide what to feature in the Martha Lee Kitchen we decide to have a cheese week knowing that in the wide variety of cheeses we can find something to suit almost anyone's taste.

Here's the program:

MONDAY
11 A. M.—Cheese Fondue
2 P. M.—Hot Cheese Sandwiches

TUESDAY
11 A. M.—Cheese Omelet
2 P. M.—Cheese Toast and Pickle Relish

WEDNESDAY
11 A. M.—Cheese Toast
2 P. M.—Rich Cream Spaghetti

THURSDAY
11 A. M.—Cream Cheese Roast Sweet Potatoes
2 P. M.—Cheese Biscuit.

FRIDAY
11 A. M.—Cheese Popovers
2 P. M.—[illegible]

SATURDAY
11 A. M.—Cream Cheese Sandwiches with Olives
2 P. M. Baked Crackers and Cheese

We hope you are planning right now to come to at least one of these luncheons next week. Remember that Wednesday is the last day for the Thanksgiving Recipe Contest. If you have not sent in your recipe, do so at once. Address Martha Lee Kitchen, Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Chicken Casserole Delicious

Have ... pound ... chicken ... and clean a layer of the following vegetables: 4 diced, 6 carrots, 6 small onions, 2 stalks celery, 1 green pepper and 1 cup canned peas. Put small lumps of butter on top of the vegetables and sprinkle with pepper and salt and 1 tablespoonful of flour. Then put the chicken on top of the vegetables and add 1 cup of water. Cover and bake in a moderate oven for 2½ hours. Serve in casserole.

Pimento Potato Puff

To one pint of mashed potatoes add 1 tablespoonful butter, 1 whole egg, salt and pepper to taste, and 2 canned pimentos, finely chopped. Pile lightly in a casserole or glass baking dish, and place in a hot oven to reheat. This should require about ten minutes and provides six servings.

Keeping Kitchen Table Clean

To protect the kitchen table from blackened bottoms of pans or wet greasy dishes, tightly enter a thick cardboard, about 12x18, with a piece of oilcloth. This is easy to clean.

These Hints Good, Even After the Holiday

HOLIDAY Hints followed by Economy Suggestions, as a ... [illegible] ... of the ... [illegible] ... Martha Lee ... [illegible] ... Every ... [illegible] ... and want ... [illegible] ... recipe ... [illegible] ... and ... [illegible] ... service ... [illegible] ... I keep ... [illegible] ... cans ... [illegible] ... and ... [illegible] ... [illegible] ... [illegible]

TRAVEL-TOURS-HOTELS-RESORTS

CUPID VICTOR OVER MANY IN WORLD CRUISES

Veteran Tripper Soon to Start Sixth Tour Says Romance "Gets" Passengers

New York, Nov. 26.—Deane S. Dickason of Denver, and Harry Pollard of Calgary, Alberta soon will embark on their sixth and fourth cruises, respectively, round the world.

They have "made the circle" each time on Canadian Pacific world cruises, Dickason as cruise lecturer, and Pollard as cruise photographer, and their next engagement starts on Dec. 3, when the liner Empress of Australia sails from here on a 132-day voyage 'round the world via the Mediterranean, returning by way of the Panama Canal.

From long observation Dickason firmly believes that every world cruise is piloted by Dan Cupid "Four months" he says, "is a long time, but the couples who become engaged during the voyage and later marry assure me that I am mistaken.

"They seem to enjoy in declaring a four months' cruise to be just a lovely week-end. But this is not at all surprising. Thrown more or less together in highly romantic circumstances—Portofino days in Venice, Monte Carlo, Cairo, Shanghai, Bombay, Pekin, Yokaoama, Manila—how can they bother to note the passage of time?"

In some ways Pollard's work is even more fascinating than Dickason's even though he must carry a rather heavy camera equipment. Pollard himself likes the work because he gets out among the natives at every port of call and photographs them in what they think are humdrum pursuits.

He has snapped giants and pygmies, fakirs in India and dwarfs in Ceylon rug merchants in Cairo, [illegible] men everywhere.

Dickason and Pollard have an extensive acquaintance in many of the foreign countries they have visited.

Diners Favor Corned Beef and Cabbage

THREE old American favorites—corned beef and cabbage, New England boiled dinner and Irish stew today are among the most popular dishes served on railway dining cars, according to Otto Paul Reiss, noted supervising chef of Southern Pacific's commissary service.

Once more American tastes stand justified, according to Reiss, who believes this food trinity to be unsurpassed in any land for taste, wholesomeness and nourishment values. "European chefs produce fine recipes, the best of which are used on our trains. None of these, however, are so lastingly popular as the old fashioned American favorites," he says.

CALIFORNIA TOUR ON MARSTERS' LIST

A 40-day trans-continental tour to California is announced in the mid-Winter Tour under escort, leaving Boston on Feb. 17.

Cruises and tours to Florida, Bermuda, Havana, Porto Rico, Jamaica, and Christmas tropical cruises to the West Indies ports are offered by Geo. E. Marsters, Inc., 248 Washington Street, Boston.

DISHES ON TRAIN POWER WASHED

Electric Cleaners to Be Installed on New Deluxe Diners From Chicago to West

Dishwashing chores on six new dining cars, four of which will be placed in service this month on the Overland Limited between Chicago and San Francisco, will be performed by electrical apparatus according to Alan Poock, manager of the Southern Pacific's dining car service.

The [illegible] dishwashing machines will be installed as a standard equipment in an entire series of new dining cars. The machines are automatic affairs in which the dishes are washed in soapy water and then rinsed in clear water and blown dry by steam heated air jets.

"The new cars are to cost approximately $65,000 each. Each pair will have the kitchen and pantry equipped with [illegible] electric refrigerators of the latest type. Each car is to carry 172 cups and saucers and 124 plates [illegible] weeks in addition to other china, and 327 articles of silverware.

"Nearly 5,000 pieces of linen, made in Ireland for this service, at a cost of nearly $5,000 per car [illegible] 2,112 napkins and 70 tablecloths, and make a total of 30,000 pieces of linen for the six cars.

TO VISIT QUAINT INDIES ISLANDS

Steamers Begin Sailings in December to Points in Caribbean Sea

The Lamport & Holt Line announces [illegible] cruises this season to the West Indies [illegible] Nova Scotia [illegible] December [illegible] An all-expense cruise to Dominica, Martinique, Barbados and Trinidad [illegible] Port of Spain [illegible] cruises [illegible] New York Jan. 11 [illegible] Feb. 1 [illegible] Mar. 1 [illegible] The itinerary [illegible] Feb. 2 [illegible] Mar. [illegible] Sunday, February 26 [illegible] Mar. [illegible]

The location of American Legion [illegible] Dominica [illegible] Martinique [illegible] Barbados and Trinidad [illegible] steam bathing [illegible] pool [illegible] The itinerary [illegible] Port of Spain [illegible] cruises [illegible] the Main New York Jan. 11 [illegible] Feb. 1 [illegible] Mar. 1 [illegible] The itinerary

AUTOMOBILES

Buick — Noyes Buick Sales Co.

What we believe to be the largest and best stock in New England, with lowest prices.

BUY YOUR USED CAR HERE!!

We shall be glad to consider your present car as part payment. Call and let us explain further details to you.

SEDANS	COACHES	TOURINGS	ROADSTERS
1927 Buick Master, 5 Pass.	1927 Buick Standard	1925 Buick Master Sport	1928 Buick Master Sport
1927 Buick Standard, 5 Pass.	1927 Buick Master	1925 Buick Master, 5 Pass.	1926 Buick Master
1926 Buick Standard, 5 Pass.	1926 Buick Standard	1925 Buick Master, 5 Pass.	1926 Dodge
1925 Buick Standard, 5 Pass.	1926 Buick Master	1923 Buick Master, 7 Pass.	1925 Dodge
1926 Buick Master, 7 Pass.	1925 Buick Master	1925 Buick Sport, 6 Cyl. 12	1925 Buick Sport, 6 Cyl. 12
1924 Buick Master, 5 Pass.	1924 Buick Master, 5 Pass.
1924 Buick Regular, 5 Pass.	1924 Buick, 4 Cyl. 5 Pass.
1923 Buick Regular, 7 Pass.	1925 Buick, 6 Cyl. 5 Pass.
1926 Buick, 5 Pass.	1925 Buick, 6 Cyl. Sport
1925 Buick, 5 Pass.	1923 Chandler Phaeton
1926 Oldsmobile Sport, 4	1925 Dodge
1924 Willys Knight	1923 Studebaker Special
1922 Franklin
1926 Jordan, 8 Cyl.
1924 Maxwell Cloth
1925 Dodge
1925 Ford
1924 Ford
1924 Peerless

BROUGHAMS	COUPES
1927 Buick Standard	1927 Buick Standard, 2 Pass.
1927 Buick Master	1926 Buick Master, 2 Pass.
1926 Buick Master	1924 Buick Master, 2 Pass.
1925 Buick Master	1924 Buick Master, 4 Pass.
1924 Buick Master, 5 Pass.	1926 Buick Master, 4 Pass.
1923 Buick Master, 5 Pass.	1925 Buick Master, 2 Pass.
1926 Oldsmobile	1925 Packard, 8 Cyl.
1924 Willys Knight	1926 Dodge, 2 Pass.
1922 Franklin	1924 Oakland, 5 Pass.
1926 Jordan, 8 Cyl.	1923 Oakland, 4 Pass.
1924 Maxwell Cloth	1927 Studebaker, 4 Pass.
1925 Dodge	1922 Studebaker, 5 Pass.
1925 Ford	1927 Pontiac, 2 Pass.
1924 Ford	1926 Chrysler, 2 Pass.
1924 Peerless	1921 Lafayette, 4 Pass.

857 Commonwealth avenue near Cottage Farm Bridge

OPEN MONDAY EVENING

NASH

OUR REPUTATION IS YOUR PROTECTION

GREAT! Our November, 1926, Used Car sales records, great as they were, have already been surpassed in November, 1927, to date—and still 3 days to go.

GREATER!! Values and assortments are greater, wider and lower priced.

GREAT— Unfinished? Of course, but—the month isn't finished either, and with these extra inducements it's bound to be the Greatest. **!!!

1924 Buick Sedan $375	1927 Chevrolet Coach .. $475
1928 Hudson Coach ... $425	1926 Chandler Sedan... $550
1926 Dodge Sedan $495	1925 Essex Coach $295
1924 Jewett Brougham . $325	1926 Overland 6 Sedan $425
1925 Ford Sedan ... $120

1926 NASH Adv. 6 Sedan, the car for the family. Those familiar with this type of car will appreciate the value at this price. $845

1926 NASH Adv. Six 2-Door Sedan—A 6-pass. model, mechanically right, in fine condition. Low mileage. Terms to suit. $695

$325-$525	$550-$700	$725-$850
1926 Chevrolet Coach. Need car as a gift inside and out	1926 Nash Sedan. Eight Six. Small and compact, a little runabout that's big on performance	1926 4-door Brougham. Paint and machine in good condition, good tires. A real buy at the price, up to our usual standard
1925 Dodge Sedan	1926 Nash Adv. 6 Touring	1926 Nash Spec. Six Sedan.
1926 Chrysler Sedan	1926 Nash Adv. 6 Roadster	1926 Nash Adv. Six 4 Door Sedan
1925 Oldsmobile Coach	1926 Nash Light Six Sedan	1926 Nash Adv. Six 4 Door Coupe
1924 Kirkebaker Sedan	1925 Nash Special Six 5 Door Sedan
1925 Nash Touring
1925 Cleveland Coach

C.P. Rockwell, Inc. MOTOR CAR MERCHANTS

USED CAR DEPARTMENT — 674 Commonwealth Ave. KEN more 1403-1404

Pay a little down—balance monthly—your car is out yourself.

Jeffrey-Nichols Co.

HUPMOBILE — Used Car Department

Shrewd People Buy USED CARS AT PRESENT LOW PRICES

10% DOWN 15 MONTHLY PAYMENTS

FOR SPRING DELIVERY

FREE STORAGE

A FEW EXAMPLES:

1928 Hupp S Sedan	$1375
1926 Hupp S Sedan	975
1926 Hupp 6 Coupe. ..	875
1927 Hupp S Sedan	925
1925 Hupp S Touring....	875
1926 Studebaker Sedan ..	925
1926 Chrysler Sedan	875
1926 Buick Touring	395
1927 Oakland Sedan	695
1926 Dodge Sedan	495
1926 Hudson Coach	495
1926 Olds Cabriolet	745
1925 Rickenbacker Sedan .	525
1926 Hupp Sedan	775
1926 Hupp Touring	675
1925 Dodge Roadster	485
1923 Stutz 4-Pass. Spatr..	165
1926 Chevrolet Touring .	145
1923 Studebaker Touring .	85
1925 Chrysler Brougham	695

55 Cars Sacrificed—Must be sold this week. Low down payment.

OPEN EVENINGS UNTIL 9 P. M.

971 Commonwealth Ave.

Now you can buy GOODYEAR

TIRES on $1 CREDIT as low as 25c per Week

No Money Down "To Old Customers"

OUR FIFTEEN N. E. STORES
All Selling at Boston Prices
2 BOSTON STORES
618 Stanford St. Nr. No. Station
179 Mass. Ave.... Nr. Boylston
380 Mass. Ave.... Nr. Columbus
LYNN, MASS.... (City Hall Sq.
BROCKTON, MASS. 18 Belmont St.
PROVIDENCE, R. I. ... 1 Eddy St.
FALL RIVER, ... 186 Pleasant St.
LOWELL, MASS. .212 Central St.
NEW BEDFORD, 716 Pleasant St.
Lawrence, Mass., Essex, cor. Bry
WORCESTER, MASS. 566 Main St.
SPRINGFIELD .... 170 State St.
HARTFORD, CT. 301 Trumbull St.
NEW HAVEN, CT. 240 Crown St.
PORTLAND, ME. 636 Congress St.

RADIO & AUTO Batteries $1.00 per week

RADIOS Many Makes Electrified Central Easy Payments

30x3½ Made by GOODYEAR Special for CASH 5.95

Stores Open Monday, Friday & Saturday Until 9 P.M.

CENTRAL AUTOMOBILE TIRE CO.
119 STANIFORD ST. BOSTON
Phone 179 MASS AVE — Phone 380 MASS AVE

OLDSMOBILE

"OWN YOUR OWN!"
Don't depend on the other fellow.

1926 Chrysler 4 Door Sedan, 1926 Oldsmobile De Luxe 2 Door Sedan $550

1927 Oldsmobile 5 Passenger 2 Door Sedan $585

1924 Buick Master 5 Passenger Touring $700

1925 Nash Special Six Sedan $395

1923 Ford Touring $75

$525

10 FINE CARS. Most of them almost new. Excellent mechanical condition. Your choice $125

7 OTHER FINE CARS. Most of these also re-dressed. Your choice $250

Special Easy Payment Plan — OPEN EVENINGS

BOSTON OLDSMOBILE CO.
940 Commonwealth Ave.
Opp. Reserve Field
Aspinwall 6000

Why Not Put Your Money Into a Stearns

WITH THE SILENT KNIGHT ENGINE

A refinished Stearns automobile, powered by the famous Knight sleeve valve motor, offers the best transportation investment you can find in the used car market. With a Stearns Knight you have no valves to grind—no carbon to clean—no noisy tappets—no noisy valves—motive silence—just put in oil and water and the engine takes care of itself.

WE HAVE SEVERAL SPLENDID BUYS IN SEDANS, COUPES, SPORT COUPES, SPORT ROADSTERS AND TOURING CARS ready for immediate delivery and priced on terms to suit your convenience.

FROM $650 TO $1500

NO FINANCE CHARGES

WHITTREDGE GARAGES

Fireproof

As Shown 18x19 Feet $350
Unpainted Flush 18x18 ft., $340
A Good Buy 9'7"x16'4" $165
Cash Price .....
GET OUR Special Winter Terms for Erection Before Christmas

Be Under Cover Before It Is Too Late
DON'T WAIT—TELEPHONE TODAY

Everett 3879, Mr. Hutchings — WALTHAM EXHIBIT
Granite 2272, Mr. Wetmore — 287 Newton St., Near High St.
Saugus 41-W, Mr. Pike — Tel. Waltham 1090, Res. 2124-M —Mr. L. W. Arnold

Visit Nearest Exhibit—Or Write for Information and Prices

WHITTREDGE PORTABLE BUILDINGS CO.
ON NORTH SHORE BOULEVARD
972 Broad St., Cor. Commercial, West Lynn, Mass. Tel. Brookers 3210

White "Most Money Earning Miles"

5-Ton White Dump	$3450	2½-Ton White Model 51,	$2650
Latest model, nearly new.		Overhauled and painted, 1926.
2-Ton White Model 20,	$1400	¼-Ton Roo	$250
1926, electric lights, disc wheels (dual rear), overhauled and painted.		Covered express body, good condition.
2½-Ton Garford	$850	1-Ton GMC K16	$300
Long wheelbase, nearly new tires, A-1 condition.		Covered express body, good tires.

THE WHITE CO.
USED TRUCK DEPT.
926 COMMONWEALTH AVE. Aspinwall 5303

$1 TIRE SALE $1

First Quality Tires

Mail Orders Filled Promptly

Buy Now

Inspection and Adjustment Free

2 TIRES For the PRICE of ONE

Size	One tire	Two Tires
30x3½	$6.00	$7.00
30x3½	7.50	8.50
31x4	14.00	15.00
32x4	14.90	15.90
33x4	14.95	15.95
34x4	16.75	17.75
32x4½	21.00	22.00
33x4½	21.50	22.50
34x4½	21.75	22.75
33x5	26.50	27.50
35x5	27.00	28.00

United States, Kelly-Springfield, Fisk, 2nds

29x4.40	Regular Price One Balloon CORD Tire $7.00 / Two Tires. 13.00
29x4.95 30x5.05 31x4.95	Regular Price One Balloon CORD Tire $13.00 / Two Tires.... 23.00
28x5.25 30x5.25 31x5.25	Regular Price One Balloon CORD Tire $15.00 / Two Tires.... 26.00
30x5.77 32x5.77 33x5.77	Regular Price One Balloon CORD Tire $17.00 / Two Tires.. 29.00
32x6.00 32x6.20 33x6.02	Regular Price One Balloon CORD Tire $1.50 / Two Tires.. 32.50

Royal Tire Co.
300 Columbus Ave.
BOSTON Back Bay 0636

More For Your Money at Our Used Car Department

We Are Referring to Good Used Cars:

1926 5-Passenger Big Six Studebaker Sedan. Like new. $985.00

1925 Studebaker Special Six Sedan. Guaranteed and certified. $845.00

1926 Studebaker Special Six Victoria 4-pass. Also certified $785.00

1923 Studebaker Big Six 7-Passenger Sedan. ... $695.00

1925 Studebaker Special Phaeton $695.00

Two-Passenger Studebaker Coupe For quick sale. $565.00

1926 Willys Knight 7-Passenger Sedan, in beautiful shape $995.00

1926 Master Six Buick Sedan. $895.00

1927 Chrysler 70 Sedan $795.00

1924 Oakland Sedan .. $725.00

1926 Chevrolet Coach $335.00

Late Model Hudson Coach $365.00

1925 Two-Door Ford Sedan. No reasonable offer will be refused

COME, PARTY AND MAKE YOUR BID

Open Evenings

State Motor Co., Inc.
1546 Hancock St., Quincy, Mass.
Tel. Granite 0403-04-05

MISCELLANEOUS MAKES

1925 Willis St. Claire Coupe—One of the large 7-passenger 6 cyl. models, in excellent condition throughout. Has good tires $950

Packard Straight Eight Sedan—A 1926 7-pass. model in beautiful condition. Has had but one owner and shows excellent care $1450

1925 Jordan Sedan—7-pass.; 6 cyl.; disc wheels; very good condition throughout. Has had but one owner and shows excellent care $800

1923 Minerva 7-Pass. Limousine

AND MANY OTHERS

J. H. MacALMAN
100 Massachusetts Ave.
Cor. Mass. Ave. and Newbury St.
Get Off Cars at Mass. Subway Station
PHONE BACK BAY 0560

Fellsway Motor Mart

INC
884-886-888
Commonwealth Av., Boston
Phones: Regent 1016, 2918 Aspin.

HUPMOBILE DEALERS
SALES AND SERVICE
1927 CADILLAC SEDAN
3-16 Model, Run like new, 5,000 miles
1926 BUICK 4-PASS. COUPE
1927 LA SALLE SEDAN
Sport Model
1928 CHRYSLER '62' COACH
Very low mileage
1928 CHRYSLER '72' ROSTR
Very low mileage
1928 HUDSON BROUGHAM
Very low mileage
1928 ESSEX SEDAN
Very low mileage
1928 ESSEX COACH
Very low mileage
1926 Packard '8' Imperial Sedan
1926 FRANKLIN ROADSTER
1926 PACKARD "8" SEDAN
1925 LINCOLN SEDAN
1926 FRANKLIN SEDAN
1927 BUICK 4-PASS COUPE
1925 NASH SEDAN
1927 NASH ROADSTER

Guaranteed First Quality Tires

MAIL ORDERS FILLED PROMPTLY
Be Prepared—ORDER NOW

FREE TUBE
DEMANDER CORDS
Only 2 Tires to a Customer at This Price

HIGH PRESSURE

Size	Price	Size	Price
29x4.40	$4.50	30x3½	$5.35
29x4.50	4.75	29x4.40	5.75
30x4.50	4.85	29x4.50	5.95
31x4	5.25	30x4.50	7.95
30x4½	5.85	31x4.50	8.25
32x4½	6.85	32x4.50	9.25
33x4½	7.90	33x4.50	U. S. Royal 2nd $6.25
34x4½	8.95	34x4.50	9.95
35x5	10.25	35x5	10.25

BALLOON TIRES

Size	Price	Size	Price
29x4.40	$6.75	31x5.25	$12.50
29x4.75	8.50	32x6	13.50
30x4.75	9.00	33x6.00	Ajax 2nd $13.50
31x4.75	11.50
32x5.00	12.50
33x5.00	13.50

Boston Auto Tire Exchange
304 Columbus Ave., Boston

Specials

Fisk Premier Tires 30x3½ $5.35

29x4.40 $5.75

Fisk U. S. Royal 2nd $6.25

31x5.25 Fisk U. S. Royal 2nd $12.50

33x6.00 Ajax 2nd $13.50

Direct Factory Branch

860 COMMONWEALTH AVE.
Phone Aspinwall 4300

1925 Mack 5 Ton Stake Covered
1923 Mack 3½ Ton Stake Covered
1925 White 5 Ton Stake Covered
1923 Brockway 1 Ton, Closed Cab Stake
1925 Dodge ¾ Ton Screen Side
1925 Dodge ¾ Ton Panel
1927 Reo 1½ Ton Cov. Express
1926 Reo 1½ Ton Stake

Fords—10 to Select From Priced Very Low

DODGE

More Car Value than you ever dreamed so little money could buy.

A Few of Many

1927 Dodge Sedan Sic.	$1580
1927 Dodge De Luxe Sedan	1060
1925 Dodge Coach	485
1927 Dodge Special Coupe	825
1924 Maxwell Sedan	200
1922 Cadillac Sedan	295
1926 Dodge Special Sedan	575
1925 Nash Special Coach	395
1924 Hudson Coach	250

Trucks

1926 Graham Express ...	$550
1927 Pontiac Panel.	615
1928 Dodge Panel	395
1917 Autocar	100

140 other Passenger Cars and Trucks. Terms can be arranged to suit your convenience. Open Evenings.

Henshaw Motor Co.
989 Commonwealth Ave. Sta. 3500

FIREPROOF STORAGE FOR AUTOMOBILES

Cars Jacked Up — Battery Service
24 & 26 Per Month

T. G. BUCKLEY CO.
690 DUDLEY ST., BOSTON
TEL. 4 0f 5 Still 4100
SINCE 1880
MOVING—PACKING—STORAGE

Automobiles

Automobiles for Sale 150

LOOKING for BARGAINS?
We have 50 good used cars of all kinds and makes, reconditioned. These cars were all taken in in the last 10 days and must pick yours now.
$50 TO $650—TERMS OR TRADE
ATTON & JONES, INC.
NASH DEMOND CHEVROLET
WEBSTER SQ. WORCESTER 5478

1928 NASH VICTORIA
Low mileage. Tires, finish. Demi-M
ESSEX COACH, 1926—And how! Looks like a large car. Runs like one. Has that appearance; mechanically exceptional, plenty of power, economical operation; you can't take a street car alley that dance here's the motion. $225. Terms to suit. Harvey 600 Beacon St., at Kenmore Station. Ken more 5000.

ESSEX '26 Coach, $295; Buick '25 Coupe, $375; Hupmo Roadster, $200. 118 Brighton Ave., Allston; Stadium 0462.

PAINT TOUCHING—Tops, tires, upholstering and motor in excellent shape; very easy-looking car; plenty of pep and speed; full equipment of extras; you can save money by buying this exceptional value. $375. Tyson, 7 C. Harvey, 660 Beacon St., at Kenmore Station, Kenmore 0500.

Automobiles

Automobiles for Sale 150

Cadillac 7-Pass. Sedan, $1,000. Studebaker Big Six 7-Pass. Sedan, $695. Studebaker Special Six Sedan, $695. Two-Passenger Studebaker Coupe, $565. Willys Knight 7-Passenger Sedan, $995. Buick Master Six Sedan, $895. Chrysler 70 Sedan, $795. Oakland Sedan, $725. Chevrolet Coach, $335. Late Model Hudson Coach, $365. Ford Touring, $75. Ford Sedan, $120. Ford Coupe, $75. Ford Roadster, $75. Ford Truck, $75. Ford Truck, $75. Ford Truck

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Male Help

New Way to Wash Dishes

NO HOT WATER — NO DRYING

Agents MAKE $15 a Day!

You can make $50 a week in spare time—$100 a week full time—helping to take care of orders for DENIMAN, a new, scientific compound that washes dishes without soap and without hot water. It cleans and polishes them so they dry themselves at a rapid rate. No dish towels needed. No dishpan hands. No muss. No fuss. The dishes dry themselves.

Anyone, Anywhere can make Big Money!

Just [illegible] spare time. [illegible] Denisman [illegible] Dishes. [illegible] Dishes [illegible] Dishes [illegible] Dishes

Attractive New Homes Reflect High Realty Standards

TRACTS WITH IMPROVEMENTS DRAW ATTENTION OF BUYERS

IN an age of competition, reputable real estate men seize upon one of their best advertisements and assurances of fair work successfully completed. This is declared to be the case in keeping pledges with the home buyers. That it is not only good business to fulfill the conditions of a sale to an advantage is proved today than ever.

Realtors must not only be home builders today are the first to recognize with attractive, completed developments to their credit. Each such a unit shows a realization that the purchaser of the opinion tore

Many of land and land t ...

In the connection, interesting photographs are shown ... new homes ... in West Medford where the ... tam ... con ...

The West M ... to pro ... and ... natural ... over ...

"Woodman, Spare That Tree," Was This Home-Builder's Motto

A NOVEL stucco type of single residence in the Seven Pines tract in West Medford, with twin pine sentinels at the door

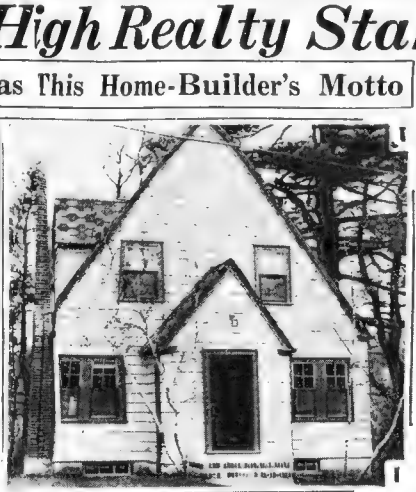

PHOTO SHOWS single-family home in West Medford tract, with many features of design. White birch and pine trees surround the house.

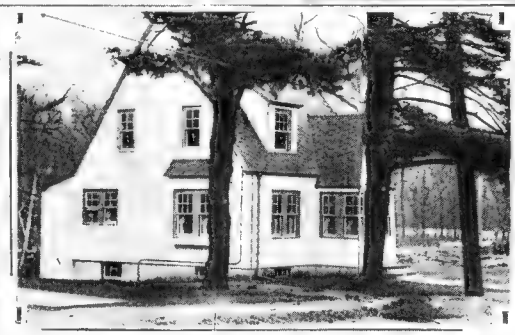

NEWLY-BUILT single home, finished in white, reflects modern ideas of design and construction. Plenty of well-placed windows add to the attractiveness and serve the practical purpose of affording more light.

REALTY MARKET DROPS 7 POINTS

Statistics Reported for October in 41 Cities Show Decline From September

In the Association's compilation from average number of transfers and ... recorded during the ... months of the years ... is taken as ...

August, 1927, 183, September, 1927, 176; October, 1927, 161.

Winter Bugaboo

No Longer Frightens Builders

THE change of the seasons fails to halt Boston's builders. A generation ago, building came to a halt with the coming of Winter.

Now it is not uncommon to launch building projects in the late Fall. All types go ahead—homes, business buildings, manufacturing establishments.

Several million-dollar buildings are getting under way at the present time and the suburbs give ample evidence of new home building activity.

Building problems are heightened of course by the cold weather. Digging for a foundation in particular, is made difficult by the iron strength of Jack Frost. But construction men are successfully coping with one problem after another.

Winter building is welcome. It puts extra money into the city's pocket and helps to keep construction workers employed on a more regular basis.

INVESTORS BUY BUILDING SITES

Several sales of investment property are reported by Henry W. Savage, Inc. The sales are as follows: The property at Nos. 157-159 Washington street, Brookline, has been sold for Myer M. Mattioy to Avid Rubin. It consists of a frame ... [illegible] ... a modern ...

... [illegible] ... Arthur Schectman has sold to Arthur Russell of Boston the property at Nos. 2437 Centre street, Mid-Neboro, consisting of a parcel of land containing about 13,860 square feet, with a frontage of 84½ feet on Centre street.

... [illegible] ... Mrs. Laura E. Parker ... Mrs. Parker has purchased a ... [illegible] ... Nos. 15 ... [illegible] ... Dorchester ... [illegible] ... a frame dwelling, containing nine rooms and bath, and has a lot of land containing 5,000 square feet. It is the intention of Mrs. Parker to improve with a one-story ... [illegible] ...

Arthur Schectman has sold to Arthur Russell of Boston the property at Nos. 2437 Centre street, Mid-Neboro, consisting of a parcel of land containing about 13,860 square feet, with a frontage of 84½ feet on Centre street.

... [illegible] ... Mrs. Laura E. Parker ... Mrs. Parker has purchased a ... [illegible] ... Nos. 15 ... [illegible] ... Dorchester ... [illegible] ... a frame dwelling, containing nine rooms and bath, and has a lot of land containing 5,000 square feet. It is the intention of Mrs. Parker to improve with a one-story ... [illegible] ...

WEEK'S BUILDING HITS HIGH MARK

Statistics of building and engineering contracts awarded in New England for the week ended amounted to a total of $7,239,100, according to the F. W. Dodge Corporation. The ... [illegible] ...

WEST SOMERVILLE HOUSE CONVEYED

The Chas. E. Howe Co. reports the sale of a 3-family house at No. 46 Holland street, West Somerville, to Winfield W. Hall, gave title to Frank C. Heaton. The entire assessment was $5,000.

A Car for Every Buyer

Forty-three manufacturers of automobiles in the United States are now producing 826 models at prices ranging from $260 to $9000.

PLANS TO DEVELOP WEST NEWTON SITES

... [illegible] ... Burns & Sons report to ... [illegible] ... sold to Peter F. Crowley the Howard estate at No. 231 Mount Vernon street, in the West Newton Hill district of Newton. The property comprises a frame ten-room house together with stable and 21,600 ... [illegible] ...

... [illegible] ... plans to develop the ... [illegible] ... the new ... [illegible] ... the ... [illegible] ... The property is ... [illegible] ... Howard Johnson ...

BUILDING MANAGERS ANNOUNCE MEETING

Chicago, Nov. 26—The dates of June 11 to 15, 1928, inclusive, have been selected by the National Association of Building Owners and Managers for their 21st annual convention, which will be held in St Louis it was announced today by Lewis R. Ermeling, executive secretary of the association.

Plans now are being made for the program, for the skyscraper men's convention, which, it is expected will attract more than 700 owners and managers of the world's greatest office and apartment buildings.

WAGE LEVELS HOLD IN 1928, SAYS REVIEW

Apparent Drop in Building Recently Has Brought Stability, Declares Report

New York, Nov. 26—Wage rates in the building trades will undoubtedly hold at present levels for the remainder of 1927, and for the first quarter of 1928, according to the national monthly building labor review of the building economic research bureau of the American Bond and Mortgage Company.

"The apparent recession in building operations," said the review, "has undoubtedly had much to do with the present condition of wage stability and tranquility in the construction industry.

"The withdrawal of the Bricklayers', Masons' and Plasterers' Union from the Building Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor, however, represents a new trend in a peaceful status of labor affairs in the construction industry.

"It is now expected that the building trades local unions will also secure readjustments with local building trades councils and recreate a situation similar to the one prevailing when the carpenters or other trades were not affiliated.

"Arising out of jurisdictional troubles in Baltimore, and coming after the dissolution of the National Board of Jurisdictional Awards, the action of the bricklayers makes it more imperative that the building trades unions immediately set up some method of adjusting their interunion difficulties without interfering with building operations.

"Unless this action is taken, building employers have indicated that they will move for State and Federal legislation to meet the situation.

"The advantages seen in the abolition of the Jurisdictional Awards Board through the reuniting of the carpenters' locals with building trades council and bringing the trade back into negotiations on local communities will probably be entirely nullified by the withdrawal of the bricklayers' union, the second largest building trades organization in this country.

"Building labor is well employed, except in a few districts where some surplus of skilled mechanics has been reported. Strikes and lockouts continue are unusually small in number at this time.

BUREAU PLANNED TO AID CO-OP MEN

Experts to Be Chosen by Realty Association for Solving Apartment Problems

A bureau of consultation and survey for co-operative apartment building projects is planned by the Metropolitan Association of Real Estate Boards to be set up through its co-operative apartment bureau.

The service is planned to bring to the attention of builders of co-operative housing projects the advisory experience of a committee of experts appointed at the bureau.

The committee, to be chosen from men who are authorities on the particular needs and problems of a co-operative apartment organization would go over the entire plan for the enterprise, make suggestions for ... [illegible] ... and, if the plan of the enterprise as a whole meets with the standard set up by the division, make a report setting forth their findings.

The establishment of the proposed bureau, and increase in dues of the active membership of the division authorized by vote in order to make ... [illegible] ... the ... [illegible] ... of the board of directors of the Metropolitan Real Estate Boards, to whom it will be submitted hereafter.

... [illegible] ... the ... [illegible] ... the ... [illegible] ... the

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY
Special Notices

New England Hairdressers' Association

Will be pleased to welcome all its members at the monthly meeting, Monday, Nov. 28, at 8 o'clock, Elks Hotel, Boston

Do Not Miss Th's Instructive Meeting—Elks Hotel, Boston

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY
Special Notices

Monuments

MONUMENT $25.50

COME ANY DAY
Best Quality Granite

E. J. CRAIG

Professional Services

FACE EXPERT

DR. E. P. REID 100 Boylston St. Room 829

Beauty Aids

Dulcibel Beauty Shop
MISS D. A. DELL
$5—Permanent Wave—$5

FAYETTE STREET BUILDING SOLD

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY
Agents and Salesmen

Woolens Worsteds

ST. THERESE
(The Little Flower)

GIRL TO TEACH U.S. DRAMA TO NEW TURKEY

Constantinople Graduate Starts Course at Brown to Fit Her for Work

His Voice Canned

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW is shown recording his voice in an experiment for the benefit of linguaphone students of good English

BABSON SEES GOOD BUSINESS DURING 1928

Cotton and Leather Industries Show Gain, He Points Out

EPICURES CHOOSE "CORNED BEEF AND

PLAN TO LENGTHEN FLORIDA SEASON

1927-28 tour[illegible] ands of ... December ... March 15, ... miles ... with the ... 40 days ... meeting ... triumphs ... bast... ... and

... Miami ... ville, ... and ... pass ... at ... which

100 FREE
THEATRE TICKETS
Given Away Every Day
To Readers of EVENING AMERICAN
AND SUNDAY ADVERTISER

CLASSIFIED ADS

Hundreds of Tickets for Orchestra Seats at the

KEITH-ALBEE
Boston Theatre

are presented to readers who submit the best last line in the "JINGLE" Contest now running daily in the

BOSTON AMERICAN and SUNDAY ADVERTISER

"JINGLES" similar to these below are printed every day

Here's a perfectly good Wills St. Claire
Priced at $695—it's a bear;
It's a closed 7-seater
For speed you can't beat her
And with "It" you'll always get there.

Last Line Submitted by
LILLIAN E. THOMAS,
35 Arthur St., Whitman, Mass.

There's a cute bungalow you should see
In a good, healthy community,
The surroundings are nice,
It's a "buy" at the price
And from "rent paying" worries be free.

Last Line Submitted by
JOHN F. DOWNEY,
279 Chestnut Ave., Jamaica Plain

Take a walk up to Museum Square,
There's a Jewett used car parked up there
The one that will get it
Will never regret it
It's been used but it doesn't show where.

Last Line Submitted by
ANNA M. COONIN,
64 Mt. Vernon St., Somerville

Say, girls, if you want to look neat
There's a place up at 8 Winter Street.
If your hair won't behave
Try a permanent wave
And your rival you'll surely defeat.

Last Line Submitted by MRS. E. F. LAWLAR,
50 Bigelow St., Quincy, Mass.

Here's a bargain that someone will grab,
It's an I. O. T. A. taxicab
In first-class condition
And gear shift transmission
And for $495 can be had.

Last Line Submitted by
PATRICK Y. FEENEY,
169 W. 7th St., So. Boston

Now here is a wonderful chance
For people to learn how to dance
The waltz and the toddle
Are taught at the "Model,"
The school where the pupils advance.

Last Line Submitted by MRS. H. ARMSTRONG,
477 Washington St., Dorchester

Out in Malden, a firm, H. C. A.,
Has an Essex Coach bargain today
With new paint and tires
They'll find lots of buyers
[illegible]-thirty-five takes it away.

Last Line Submitted by
G. J. FITZGERALD,
19 Tuckerman St., So. Boston

If a fur coat you're buying this year
Come to Max's, you'll find all kinds here.
There's the best in the town
For just five dollars down,
They are cheap, but they make you look "Dear."

Last Line Submitted by
MISS M. SWEENEY,
30 Greenville St., Roxbury, Mass.

Want a nice Buick Standard Sedan
That's been driven by only one man?
In Newton you'll find it
Get in behind it
You'll be glad you're the second man.

Last Line Submitted by
LEWIS W. GATES,
185 Hart St., Beverly Farms, Mass.

SEE BOSTON AMERICAN for FURTHER DETAILS
Write a Last Line and Get YOUR Ticket

[illegible] NORMAL CAPACITY

NEW WABAN HOME REPORTED SOLD

PEARL STREET FLOOR REPORTED IN LEASE

WOOL FIRM LEASES ON SUMMER STREET

BUNGALOW HOME IN CAMBRIDGE SOLD

Organizes Company

Wellesley Farms Sale

Hairpin Costs Life

Waukegan, Ill., Nov. 26 — Mrs. Maud Lander picked her scalp with a hairpin and died of blood poisoning.

Mail Order — Parcel Post

Established
LUMBER & MILLWORK
CENTRAL PLUMBING SUPPLY Co.
S.W. Cor. 12th & SPRING GARDEN Sts.
PHILADELPHIA, PENNA.

GALVANIZED BOILERS AND HEATERS

When Buying Range Boilers Insist On Getting the Well Known

LASTLONG
Galvanized inside and out
GUARANTEED
RIVETED and WELDED BOILERS

$5.45

Pipeless Furnace
24-inch Complete Heater to Install.
$44.75

Well Known 17-inch Hot Water Boiler
$47.15

HOT WATER BACKS
$1.25

Guaranteed
One-Piece Porcelain Enameled Sink

CLEARANCE SALE!

Vitreous Toilet Outfit
$10.

Vitreous Tubs
$11.75
$6.75
NOW $11.50

CENTRAL PLUMBING SUPPLY CO.
S. W. Cor. 12th and Spring Garden Sts.
Send Money Order — Philadelphia, Pa.

Sale Price Now!

Lamb Collar Dreadnaught Coat $1 deposit
Combination Raincoat and Warm Overcoat

Here is the most [illegible] coat ever made, [illegible] and over $10.00. [illegible] shawl collar, [illegible] and warm [illegible] and [illegible] with a [illegible] between making [illegible] Smart, [illegible] belted style [illegible] pockets with [illegible] pockets, [illegible] buttons to [illegible]

6 Months to Pay.

[illegible] Order by No. M I F. Terms $1.00 [illegible] $1.70 a month. [illegible] price only $10.95.

No. C.O.D. to Pay

Elmer Richards Co.
6018 W. 35th St., Chicago

Size Wanted

Poultry and [illegible]

YOUNGS
6x8
DRY FRONT
$39.75

E. C. YOUNG CO.
13 Depot St., Randolph, Mass

TURN FEED to EGGS

[illegible] Eggs in One Year

[illegible] $1.00 12 $7.00 50 $6.00 100 $12.00 [illegible] $5.00 [illegible] $7.00 [illegible] $8.00 [illegible] $14.00 [illegible] $10.00 [illegible] $18.00 [illegible] $12.00 [illegible] $22.00 [illegible] $14.00 [illegible] $26.00 [illegible] $16.00 [illegible] $30.00 [illegible] $18.00 [illegible] $34.00 [illegible] $20.00 [illegible] $38.00 [illegible] $22.00 [illegible] $42.00 [illegible] $24.00 [illegible] $46.00 [illegible] $26.00 [illegible] $50.00 [illegible]

Mail Order Parcel Post

Weekly Mail Order Catalogue—The Store at Your Door—Save These Timely Advertisements

PENN MDSE. CO.
PLUMB. & ... SUPPLIES
233 MARKET ST.
PHILADELPHIA

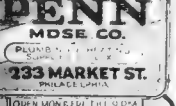
OPEN MONDAY THE 28TH

SEND FOR OUR FREE CATALOG

3-PIECE DE LUXE BATHROOM OUTFITS

FREE 8 BATHROOM ARTICLES

WITH EACH 3-PIECE BATHROOM OUTFIT AT SPECIAL LOW PRICES



$49

$35

$75

SEND CHECK OR MONEY ORDER

Or

Free Catalogue shows 10 Bathroom Outfits. Send for your copy

PENN MDSE. CO.
MEMBER PHILADELPHIA CHAMBER of COMMERCE.

Only $1 0 down

LADIES' CAMEO RING

Send Now

Send Only $1.00 and when ring arrives pay balance in 10 monthly payments. NO MORE TO PAY

Boston Lab. 170 Summer St. Boston

$1.00 deposit brings it

Men's Warm Sheep Lined Coat

Sent On Approval! No Risk! No C.O.D.! Send coupon and only $1.00 Now!

Order by No. M-9F. Terms $1.00 with coupon, only $2.50 a month. Total bargain price only $15.95

6 Months to Pay

Elmer Richards Co.
Dept. 7958 West 35th St., Chicago, Ill.
Enclosed $1 deposit. Send Sheep Lined Coat No. M-9F. If I am perfectly satisfied I will pay $2.50 per month until I have paid $15.95 in all. Size wanted.....
Name .....
Address .....
P.O. ..... State .....
6 months to pay. Send NOW!

FACTORY TO YOU
AT WHOLESALE PRICES
TWO OF OUR MANY SPECIALS

ELECTRIC FIXTURES — Value $14.00 — 9.95

ELECTRIC FIXTURES — Value $28.00 — 19.95

This Big New FREE CATALOG of over a thousand of the greatest bargains in newest ELECTRIC FIXTURES

MONEY BACK GUARANTEE
30 DAYS' TRIAL

FREE NEW BIG CATALOG

MAIL COUPON

PARAMOUNT ELECTRIC CO.
DEPT. E 4123 ARCHEST. PHILA. PA.
Send me FREE your BIG BARGAIN CATALOG
Name .....
Address .....
P.O. ..... State .....

PARAMOUNT ELECTRIC CO.
Dept. E. 4123 ARCH ST., PHILA., PA.

NOTE

To Subscribers of BOSTON SUNDAY ADVERTISER

Christmas Mail Order Catalog

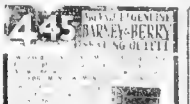
It will be published DEC. 4TH and will be chockfull of holiday gift suggestions from the great mail order houses of the country.

$4.45



KIRMON SHOE CO.

STUNNINGLY STYLED SUIT EFFECT WOOL JERSEY DRESS for only 7.95

SEND no Money

SENT on Approval

WONDERWEAR DRESS CO.
Dept. H 435, 200 Lexington St. Phila. Pa.

FREE $1.00 Worth of Flavors with your first Malt name and address

MALT EXTRACT

IMPORTED FLAVORS HEALTH WINE

Watch for Our Special Christmas Mail Order Catalogue December 4

LATEST NOVELTY!

Imitates Natural Voice

POST CARDS VOICE

ASSORTMENT OF SIX—$1.00
Send Check or Money Order Today
BOSTON NOVELTY EXCHANGE
753 Boylston St., Boston Mass.

Buy From the Store. We Bring to Your Door.

THE NATION'S MOST POPULAR SPORT JACKET

Style Sensation!

Made of Purest Gum Rubber Obtainable

Comes in Red, Green and Brown

50 CENTS ONLY! Deposit on each item. Balance C. O. D.

Sent on Approval! No Risk

PRICED ESPECIALLY AT

Regular $4.50 Value. You Save 90%

We Pay All Delivery Charges

$2.65 Send Only 50c With Order

Beautiful Table Lamp

Value $3.50 Priced at $1.59 Send only 50c with Coupon

Famous Kellogg LOUD SPEAKER

$4.95 Send only 50c with order

Regular $20.00 Value

Own 1 Mile This Special Way

2 Pcs 4 Ft. Bell Safety Rug Value $2.50 For This Sale Only 99c

Send Only 50c With Order

Be sure to send for the Persian Thrift Catalog containing thousands of other Savings! PURITAN STORES CO. Dept. 881 Fleming Forward Hall Institution

Send Only 50c With Coupon

PURITAN STORES COMPANY, 150 ... Street, ... Illinois
Enclosed find 50c. Send me the following items. If I am not satisfied I will return them within 5 days and you will refund my money. I will pay balance C. O. D.
☐ SPORT JACKET ($2.65)
☐ TABLE LAMP ($1.59)
☐ KELLOGG LOUD SPEAKER ($4.95)
☐ 2 LBS. HAND-DIPPED CHOCOLATES (89c)
NAME .....
ADDRESS .....
P. O. ..... STATE .....

How Far Did LINDY Fly? FROM NEW YORK TO PARIS

Solve this Puzzle

The letters on the wing of this plane show the number of miles Lindbergh flew from New York to Paris. The letters in the alphabet are numbered—A is 1, B is 2, etc. Put down the number represented by each letter. Then add up the total. You'll spend half your time figuring how you can get this new Buick Sedan or cash if you can't solve it. First prize Buick can have it or cash value of it ($1,000) and $500 EXTRA For Promptness!

AND WIN BUICK or $1800 Cash

4 Cars Given

I'm going to give this beautiful new 1928 four door ... Sedan, also a 1928 Buick Sedan and a ... Coach and a 1928 Chevrolet Sedan free and 2 ... cash additional cash. Orders over $50.00 ... Cars will be delivered free to ... in the United States. Have several given away only new automobiles ... advertise our business and now I can get this new Buick Sedan or cash if ... can't solve it. First prize Buick can have it or cash value of it ($1,000) and $500 EXTRA for promptness! ... Write plainly. Print ... Mail your answer ... Don't delay. Write today. Address: W. H. Kelly, Mgr., Dept. 198 ... Boulevard, Chicago, Ill.

An Unheard-of Offer Too Big to Resist

FREE $3.50 Cigarette Case given free with each PARAMOUNT LIGHTER. Amazing Introductory Offer Limited Time Only

PARAMOUNT LIGHTER CORP.
71 West 35th St., Dept. N New York City.

SEND NO MONEY

Pay only $1.00 ... Prepaid. Cash with order ... Details on request.

PARAMOUNT LIGHTER CORP.
71 West 35th St., Dept. N New York City.

LIQUOR or DRUG HABIT Cured Forever or No Pay

Full treatment sent on trial. Cure in the privacy ... Write today for booklet and ... proof. Don't delay.

STANDARD LABORATORIES
Dept. N. 87 BALTIMORE, MD.

FREE WONDER BOX

Contains with all materials needed to make Dresses ... Broidery Hoop, yarn ... Tells how to do it. It retails at 65c and is Given Free with each order of

3 BEAUTIFUL APRONS

Stamped on good quality print and ... Attractive Designs—Simple Stitches

3 for $1.00

Different Patterns and Colors

Makes an Ideal Xmas Gift or Sure to Order Today

SEND NO MONEY

Pay Postman $1.00 ... Money Refunded If Not Satisfied

IDEAL GARMENT CO.
Dept. A, Victory Bldg.
Philadelphia, Pa.

END SICKNESS THIS NEW WAY

No medicine drugs or dieting. Just a ... Write today for ... Reducing Regulator. High ... Heart, Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Nerves, Digestion, Nervous ... Heart Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Nerves, Digestion, Nervous ... Write today for ... Reducing Regulator. High ... Heart,

EDITORIAL BOSTON ADVERTISER CITY LIFE

Boston's Greatest Circulation—Over 500,000 Every Sunday | BOSTON, SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1927 | Boston's Greatest Circulation—Over 500,000 Every Sunday

IF YOUTH ONLY KNEW—

THE greatest part of mankind employ their first years to make their last miserable.--De la Bruyere

So said a wise Frenchman long ago. And Shelley, the poet, whose tempestuous life ended too soon, and who endured his share of youth's follies, said

All of us who are worth anything spend our manhood in unlearning the follies, or expiating the mistakes, of our youth.

To say that "all of us" devote our manhood to expiating mistakes of youth is perhaps not entirely exact, but it is nearly so. Bacon, whose philosophic mind was the greatest since Aristotle, and whose Essays you should read, says

A man that is young in years may be old in hours, if he have lost no time; but that happeneth rarely. Generally youth is like the first cogitations, not so wise as the second; for there is a youth in thought as well as in ages.

* * *

Today, young gentlemen, we print a "disagreeable" editorial of solemn advice, such as the young dislike for the good reason that they NEED IT. It is published at the suggestion of our good reader, William J. Dobbins, of New Haven, and we thank him for the suggestion.

* * *

The French have an old saying:

Si jeunesse savait
Si vieillesse pouvait, which means "If youth KNEW; if age COULD."

If youth knew the bitter regrets of old age based on youthful folly, or if youth would only LISTEN. But it will NOT listen and does NOT know. If age COULD repair the mistakes, undo the follies, wipe from life's slate the waste of hours, vitality and opportunity!

But youth is too indifferent and age too feeble!

Youth, believing that it is only AMUSING itself, is DESTROYING itself; is preparing, as in this picture, an old age of regret, regret that comes too late—and of failure and disappointment that need not have been.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN Said: "Reckless Youth Makes Rueful Age." Remember That, Young Gentlemen, and Give a Moment's Attention to the Plain Meaning of This Excellent Cartoon.

And You, Rare Young Men, That Do Not Need This Cartoon at All, and You, Old Men, That Know Only Too Well, by Bitter Experience, How Much Youth DOES Need It, Please See That This Cartoon Reaches Somebody That Needs It.

Youth in Its Folly Mutilates and Degrades Itself, Building Up an Old Age of Disappointment and Sorrow Because It Will Not Listen.

Many That See This WILL NOT LISTEN, But Some of Them Will REMEMBER Sorrowfully in Days to Come.

Youth should be a savings bank.

That was written more than a hundred years ago by Sophia Svetchine, a wise and pious Russian lady. Millions have heard and repeated it in a dozen ways. And ninety per cent. of those millions have made of youth an age of squandering, wasting, weakening, instead of a savings bank for storing up—not mere money—but energy, experience, knowledge and, above all, the VITALITY needed for the half of life that lies on the other side of fifty.

* * *

"Easy come, easy go," says easy-going youth. It is easy GO and easy come when life and the world are young. But it is hard going and hard winning in the old age that follows an "easy come, easy go" beginning.

Life passes like a flash, a moving picture of a few short reels and it is over. Bulwer Lytton said it in a few words:

Ere yet we yearn for what is out of our reach, we are still in the cradle. When wearied out with our yearnings, desire again falls asleep—we are on the deathbed.

While you are young, the chance is there. Before you know it, it is gone, and gone for good. Like the rushing express train, it does not turn around and come back to please you.

Many millions of men, young and old, see the Sunday newspapers in which this editorial is printed, and many will say: "I know what I am doing. Youth is the TIME for pleasure, maturity the time for work, old age a time for rest." Such people are answered well by Lord Chesterfield:

Young men are apt to think themselves wise enough, as drunken men are to think themselves sober enough.

* * *

A youth devoted to pleasure of the foolish, wasteful, exciting kind, produces a maturity capable of nothing worth while, and an old age—if the badly used body lasts into old age—in which there is no rest.

Millions of old men have worked two hours a year in and year out, to make up for every half hour that their youth wasted.

Poverty is slavery. The young man in this picture, Tom Jones at twenty-five, is preparing a slave's life for the old man—the SAME Tom Jones—of forty years later.

* * *

Young men THINK old men fools, and old men KNOW young men to be so.

It is good to reprint this wise old saying once in a while. Youth will not listen, but old age MUST listen whether it will or not.

Indignant adolescence asks:

Should youth be lost and smothered in hard work, in order that old age enjoy rusty peace? Must a man be a slave indoors at a time when he would most enjoy freedom and ask for freedom when he is too old to get its full reward?

Tom Jones, whom you see above, aged twenty-five, would ask those questions.

Every age should have its work, and every age its pleasures, suitable. But work cheats itself and whips its old age.

How beautiful is youth! How bright it gleams
With its illusions, aspirations, dreams!
Book of Beginnings, Story without end,
Each maid a heroine, and each man a friend!

Those cheerful lines by Longfellow do not conflict with this cartoon or this solemn sermon. Youth is beautiful, when it WORKS, and is polished by self-control.

Youth's "illusions, aspirations, dreams" are worth while when the illusions are mixed with understanding and a foundation laid on which aspirations and dreams may become realities.

* * *

It is hard to make the young understand ANY of the important facts in life; for instance:

There is no happiness without self-respect,
There is no self-respect without hard work.

Time moves on remorselessly. Only premature death can save us from an old age. Only what we do today can make old age worth while, and what it ought to be—the happiest part of life, the reward of wise youth and real work.

* * *

There is no escaping "consequences." The most stupid boy knows that if he hammers a delicate watch or a finely constructed engine, watch and engine must suffer. He cannot realize that he himself is a machine "fearfully and wonderfully made," a finely balanced mechanism of nerves, muscles, heart, lungs, all directed and controlled by the mind. He will hammer his own constitution, his own future, with alcohol, late hours, the excitement, stupid pleasures, not realizing that consequences must be met.

* * *

You have got to be all that you can be. You will be a failure or a success. You will be a healthy man or a miserable invalid, and you have got to make your choice NOW, while you are young. It must be said at the last, "Here lies success," or this is the epitaph

His youth a blunder, manhood a struggle, old age a regret.

(Reprinted by Request.)

OLD DOC HAWLEY

By DON MARQUIS

Score One for Superstition

"I KNOWED I was gonna have bad luck today," said Old Doc Hawley, looking sadly at his favorite pipe. He had capped the dottel out on his boot, and broken the stem off

"I knowed it when I got up this [illegible] I dared my right eye all the way up before I put my left shoe on, and had access to no less than 'leven bad luck"

[illegible] peared Hennery [illegible] Mr [illegible] Doc Hawley and [illegible] Be [illegible] sider [illegible] sen [illegible] were as usual in conference on weighty matters at Sam's Palace Hotel

"It ain't superstition," said Mr Hawley, puffin'. "It's experience

[illegible] to with no [illegible] opera [illegible] Hen [illegible] ing [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

H·C·Witwer's CLASSICS IN SLANG

McTague vs. Mephisto and Goethe's 'John L.'

H. C. WITWER, author of 'Classics in Slang' and creator of 'One Punch McTague,' has written a new [illegible] which he calls [illegible] encounters many famous celebrities of fiction.

McTague wields his pen with the same [illegible] with which he uses his fists, scoring a merry round of laughs and thrills for Boston Sunday Advertiser readers. Everyone should [illegible] the adventures of McTague and [illegible] beautiful book [illegible]. The first [illegible] published here.

* * *

SPEAKING of mo k turtles, it's the same as out of the question these days to pick up a magazine [illegible] they don't [illegible] meanin' oath who knows it.

Rich man, poor man, beggar man [illegible] merchant, chief is now havin' th horrors of writers cramp and [illegible] chil [illegible] balmer" is commencin to make me run a temperature.

If the noble editors has got such a incurable yen for that kind of bedtime stories, why don't they haul off and print a few which would mean somethin' like "The Truth About Eden," by Adam; "Rome Wasn't Burnt in a Day" by Nero; "What Made Me Look Back" by Mrs. Lot, or "How It Feels to Be Swallowed" by [illegible] last one couldst make a [illegible]

But as long a [illegible] open to all comers for no reason whatsoever I've decided to get in the thick of it myself. Don't scream!

In round numbers I'm One-Punch McTague, the fascinatin' heavyweight surprise of the century, with the ch [illegible] they love to touch and owner of Ye Old Book Shoppe on Amsterdams At one to [illegible] I'm fills [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible] hers [illegible] stances connected with it.

In the first place, I was plied with this trap by my ex-uncle Angus McTague, just before he shoved off for Heaven—or at least let us trust that was his destination, his plans bein' slightly uncertain as he was a very sick man when he died.

You might think that leavin' me this collection of bound volumes was as sensible as bequeathin' a toothbrush to a middle-a. I rooster, but by a freak of chance I cuddled right up to the joint. I ain't much'o' enough jack sellin' literature to feed a ant with chronic indigestion—in fact, I been drove to the extreme of puttin' in a line of telephone booths and postage stamps to entice anybody inside the store. Yet I'm payin' a clerk fifty bucks a week to handle the wheel at this enterprise, whilst I'm busy fightin'. I got to keep busy fightin' to accumulate the chap's wages!

I must take the liberty [illegible] con with you, me bein' a inveterate lunatic. I ain't [illegible] merely infatuated.

Three Cheers for Uncle

The name of the highest salaried and most beautiful book [illegible] clerk of modern times is Ethel Kinsley. As Gunga Din says, I learned about womea from her. I don't care how many faults Uncle Angus was bleeded with, failin' eyesight wasn't one of 'em, because this red blooded Nordic hired Ethel before he became a ghost.

On his death bed he wrung a vow from her that she'd stay behind the counter till I showed up to claim my vast estate—what I'm trying to do now is to ring another row out of this world's champion longer than she'll stay behind me till I reach my death bed, or versa vice. This is beginning to have all the earmarks of a impossible feat.

For a long time I was several feet past my wits' end to keep Ethel in the store. Raisin' her weekly up to fifty iron men only made her more determined to check out. Ethel was in tar [illegible] room [illegible] full [illegible] the moment [illegible] stamp we [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

by STEPHEN LEACOCK

The Life of John Mutation Smith

JOHN MUTATION SMITH was one of the Smiths of Mutation Massachusetts. His [illegible] apartment in Boston to the same apartment in Philadelphia.

Yarrow Smith's memories often alone forth in the house where he was born—or rather would have [illegible] to run a little later to put up a

Home Sweet Homes

[illegible] particulars [illegible] themselves to him [illegible] to remember which were [illegible] Oneonta and which in Binghamton and which in Akron. And [illegible] that their memory he never lost.

[illegible] Fargo, North Dakota, at least, it must have been [illegible] Minneapolis [illegible] lived in Oneonta (either Oneonta or Onondaga) at the very time when Mutation Smith was either in

One Flag or Another

[illegible] With Ears in His [illegible]

[illegible] I am anticipating Smith's father's work in Canada and in Mexico enabled him to get an American education. He went to Cornell University, which he says [illegible] the finest [illegible]

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [

FORTY-SECOND COUSINS

It's the Effect This Bracing Fall Air Has on Some of Us

By J. W. McGurk

"YOU WERE HIT BY A VIOLET-INDIGO TAXICAB, AND BROUGHT TO THE HOSPITAL HERE UNCONSCIOUS, BUT THIS DOCTOR SAYS YOU'RE SURE TO RECOVER."
"YES? HOW MUCH?"
"SEEING MUCH OF YOUR HUSBAND?"
"OH, MAYBE AN HOUR EACH DAY."
"YOU POOR DEAR!"
"OH, AN HOUR SOON PASSES, YOU KNOW."
"AND YOU SAY YOU SAW A COAL MINE SO DEEP THAT IT TOOK HALF A DAY TO GET TO THE BOTTOM, AND ANOTHER HALF TO COME UP AGAIN? BOY, I NEVER HEARD THE TOPS OF THAT FOR A TRAVELER'S TALE! WHEN WAS ANY WORK DONE?"
"OH, THE NIGHT SHIFT ATTENDED TO THAT."
"I'M SURPRISED TO SEE YOU AROUND, MR. STEADY PATIENT, SOMEBODY TOLD ME THAT YOUR DOCTOR HAD PRESCRIBED A CHANGE OF CLIMATE."
"HE DID—THAT'S THE REASON I'M STAYING RIGHT HERE. THIS TOWN'S GOT THE CHANGINGEST CLIMATE IN THE WORLD."
WHAT'SAMAT, YOUR FELLOW, YOU SEEM EXCITE? I GAVE YOU A SHAVE, JUSTA LIKE YOU TOL' ME DIDN'T I."
"YEAH, BUT WHERE'S MY MUSTACHE? I CAME IN HERE WITH A MUSTACHE!"
"IT'S A LOVELY EVENING FERDINAND GET THE BATTERY

©1927 BY N.Y. AMERICAN, INC.

COOK I cannot break this ice what shall I do?
Al stress Just [illegible] a piece of the dinner service and it will soon give."

"What is a wed, lyrl?"
"Wind, teacher, is air in a hurry."

A girl resists being kissed on the chin, says a moralist. She probably thinks a man who has higher aims than [illegible]

Women are said to be becoming more businesslike. They are certainly paying a great deal of attention to figures.

S[illegible] nothing for a week. But P[illegible] represents a goodly sum of money that.

"It was terribly dark."

M[illegible] people believe in the modern girl.

By Walter Davenport

A Couple Tons of Wrastlers

D

me a little shadow boxing waiting to see if the had a fight for me in the near future. H

He says he got the contracts of two wrastlers from a fellow who owed him a hundred and forty bucks and was brok One of the wrastlers is Big Johonnus the Bohemian Bouncer, and the other is Will Loopshock of Manch Chun, Pa.

hundred and forty bucks," he said and as for me he knows what I going to have it at any time in

I don't know any body named me properly but I know what has done. He has unloaded a of tons of wrastlers on us

I to know just who to pull prize and next time I think I watch I

Let me tell what to the

I me wasn't room to take I me know when they are I am not coming back until

YOU GO OUT AND FIND BIG JOHONNUS'S WIFE AND TELL HER WHERE HER HUSBAND AND HER BROTHER ARE — SEE THAT SHE GETS THEM

I don't know why Johonnus can't speak am com. . . a honest man a

Big chuck for two . . . "Listen," I I would . . . "Why the old "I prognostication I know . . . Of Let me . . . I'll do it . . . I'll be back in a minute."

Then I . . . Big Johonnus and Willy Loopshock are in my gym exam

How to Witness Music

By Wilbur C. Whitehead

"W . . .

Player Music Corporation he called the Musky Corporation . . . raise her wage . . . from ten thousand . . . when . . . boss's partner six men he . . . and . . . I'm not . . . Sam Rashkind, out . . . in Sunset Boulevard . . . sensible . . . cause him to sock five dollars . . . I don't know whose it . . . at all."

Where Economy Failed

"That must be why the motion picture manufacturers got together and decided to make certain economies except cutting their own salaries," Morris remarked, "although I understand it didn't go through because . . . soon as . . . under . . . cent, above the old . . . percent . . . on account of . . . effect them a . . .

"The results is Ab . . . of h . . . large . . . their own . . . Spectacle . . . unbeat . . . picture . . . Dream . . . tion, or that is to say . . . seven or eight hot drams, five small ones three tom . . . usual as . . .

Ten Cents Thrown Away

"A question!" Abe cried . . . "I bet there wasn't a member of that audience whose ears didn't ring for anyhow half an hour afterwards. My wife claimed it gave her a headache all night and as . . . Meditation player's neck!" Abe asked . . .

Morris Would Be Sorry

"It . . . among fiddlers in his moving p . . . theaters like houseman's . . . ball players," Morris explained. "It comes from a fiddler trying to play the Meditation from Thais and at the same time . . . the audience to see h . . . appreciating his effort.

"He must play it a lot of times to get that way," Abe suggested.

"Not more than a million at the outside," Morris said.

"And is such sickness like Meditation player's neck fatal?" Abe asked.

"I never asked a doctor," Morris concluded, "but all I can say is, that if his . . . should . . . wasn't, understand I should be very sorry to hear it."

Meditation Player's Neck

"W . . . Abe demanded. "D . . . hear it now?

"Well, I . . . played . . . Meditation from Thais or the Humoresque, y'understand. I'm also . . . In fact, Abe I've read . . . I enjoy seeing a good Meditation player and I can even . . . such a fiddler has developed . . . Meditation player.

"And what, might I ask, is Meditation player's neck?" Abe asked.

Keeping Track of Flames

"You mean he has to work hard?" Morris inquired.

"Work hard!" Abe exclaimed. 'Listen' We think we are busy in the busy season with sixty operators and a few pressers, but what that poor conductor didn't . . . to attend to with 200 operators all of them busy one hundred per cent. . . . time you wouldn't believe at all.

"At one time there, I thought the poor feller would get overcome by the heat or anyhow the noise. There was bells ringing in every direction, church bells, locomotive bells, fire bells and steamboat bells and then again he had to see to it that the picture of Moscow in flames which they threw onto the curtain should keep time to the music, so that the reddest flame should appear at the same time as the loudest noise."

"And was he successful?" Morris asked.

"Successful? Did you ever hear a fiddler play Meditation from Thais and not know what he was playing?" Abe answered.

"Then I guess he was successful," Morris said.

H C. WITWER -:- -:- Classics in Slang

Continued from Page 3

The waste . . . Too . . . Then . . . Then . . . Then

SOCIETY AND DRAMA

MARCH of EVENTS

BOSTON (SUNDAY) ADVERTISER

NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER CIRCULATION

SECOND NEWS SECTION

Boston's Greatest Circulation—Over 500,000 Every Sunday | BOSTON, SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1927 | Boston's Greatest Circulation—Over 500,000 Every Sunday

SECRET GERMAN REPORTS ON CONDUCT OF AMERICAN ARMY AT THE WAR FRONT

Revealed by General Ludendorff

'U. S. SOLDIERS HAD FULL CONFIDENCE IN VICTORY'

"Troops Showed Lack of Training and Many Officers Had Insufficient Qualities of Military Leadership to Take Full Advantage of Their Battle Gains," Kaiser's Observers Reported From the Trenches

By GENERAL ERICH LUDENDORFF

Chief Strategist of All the German Armies During the Latter Part of the World War

CHAPTER II.

I AM now ready to take up the question of The Fighting Value of the American Soldier.

To prove that my opinion is in no way formed by what became known after the war, I am basing my views exclusively upon the extensive material which came to me through reports from German commands and units, and through the interrogation of prisoners.

From the very beginning, I clearly perceived that, in the American soldier, a fighter presented himself of physically splendid material. Young, well developed, enterprising by nature, and utterly lacking fear, trained for exertions and deprivations by sport, very well fed and equipped and his nervous energy untapped, the American soldier possessed precisely those qualifications which make a good fighter.

A memorial of the German Supreme Command drafted in the Winter, 1917-1918, says:

"Replacement, armament, and equipment of the American troops are good. Their trainng is still insufficient. Notwithstanding this fact, the first American units employed in the front line, against a German attack, behaved very well. It is to be expected that the American soldier, after additional training and war experience, will amount to a formidable opponent."

"Brave, Strong and Skillful"

After the end of May, 1918, when American troops participated in battles to stem the German offensive movement, the judgment of the Supreme German Command, at the beginning of July, was as follows:

"In general the fighting value of the American divisions, considering their limited war experience and insufficient training, must be considered good. When on the defensive, even the youngest troops gave a good account of themselves. The American soldier proves himself brave, strong and skillful. Casualties do not faze him.

"Nevertheless leadership is still inferior. The employment of Americans in bigger independent units for the time being will not be possible without French instruction and assistance. In judging the fighting value of the American soldier, it must be taken into consideration that, up to now, only such units have been encountered as must be termed crack troops!"

Of one of these crack units, the Second Division, it said:

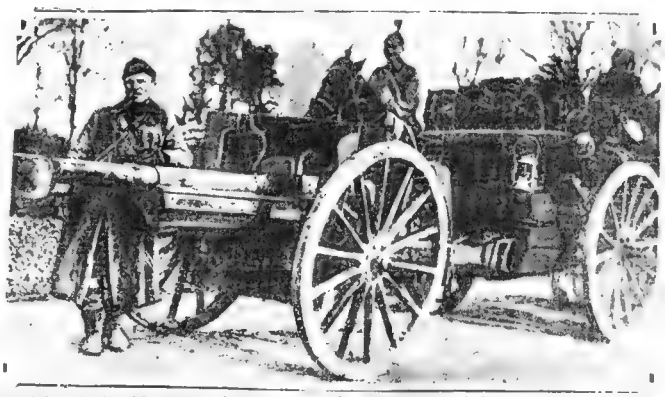
"This division must be considered as a very good one, maybe even as a shock unit. The material of the rank and file is very good indeed. They are healthy, physically well developed men from eighteen to twenty-eight years of age.

"Their morale is inexhaustible, and they are imbued with a spirit of implicit confidence. Significant are the words of one prisoner: 'Kill or get killed.' All the attacks in Belleau Wood in July were executed briskly and without hesitation. Their nerves are still strong and they are well fed."

New Light!

GENERAL LUDENDORFF, chief strategist of the German armies during the latter part of the World War, completes in the accompanying article his appraisement of the American soldier in the great conflict, supplementing his own views with extracts from the secret reports of expert German military observers in the front line trenches.

Heretofore the average American doughboy knew only generally that battles took place, that he blindly obeyed orders to move hither and thither, without knowing the motives behind the various strategic maneuvers. Now that leading French and German generals are telling in these articles the inside stories of the battles, the American soldier is enabled fully to understand what he was doing.



*FIRST SHOT FOR AMERICA—At 6:40 a. m. on October 2 [illegible] let loose the initial United States shell fired at the German lines. It was a [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

ATLANTA CLINIC TREATS BODILY DEFECTS TO CURE CRIME

H llins N. Randolph Tells How Physical Afflictions Breed Law Breaking

By HOLLINS N. RANDOLPH

Member of the Executive Committee of the American Crime Study Commission

AUTHORITIES differ in fine points as to the cause of crime, but practically all agree that moral etiology and disease play a most important role in the etiology of misconduct. Heredity, long indicted for many human frailties, is slowly being vindicated, although many still believe this to be an etiological factor in crime.

Environment, acquired habits, alcoholism, drugs and many social problems may be grouped under one of the above causes, although some students do not believe that a criminal is ever born. Dr. Amos O. Squire, chief physician to Sing Sing Prison, writing in 1924, said:

"As to the theory of the born criminal, Lombroso's conception of this group out of his anatomical and physiological researches . He claims that he found certain malformations of the skeleton and of the viscera, and several abnormalities in the physiological processes usually prevalent among the crim nals he examined.

Maldevelopment and Delinquency

"His theory has caused considerable discussion, criticism and difference of opinion. It is obvious, I think, to all of us that there is no such thing as a born criminal in the liberal sense of the term.

"It was estimated that in 1922 there were 500,000 persons who passed through the corrective penal institutions of the United States, and that 200,000 boys and girls under the age of eighteen were arrested for some form of delinquency. This calls to your attention the greatness of the problem of crime that we have to consider.

That personal maldevelopment, [illegible] in many cases with the a potential delinquent, and that some of these [illegible] knows into crime or social a there seems little doubt. The findings bore may be in the structure fat distribution, nervous system or mental make-up and may not be apparent until adolescence. However, in careful history taking physical examination one will in most cases find an abnormal child after the a th month of life.

It is established, of course, that a child would "cut" its first tooth at about six months, that it should walk at about twelve months and begin to form words at about the same time. When these well-known events are delayed for one, two or three years, no one would deny that an abnormal child had been born.

Also when a baby is born weighing ten or twelve pounds instead of six and a half to eight pounds it should be considered as born overweight and, therefore, abnormal, instead of being found a "a bouncing, fine boy" and the pride of the family.

In the first instance, there is a retardation of the bony process which, if nature does not correct, will later be a bearing on the entire skeletal growth; and in the second there will probably exist a lethargic, dull child. In these developments and physical [illegible] internal secretions [illegible]

Crime and Physique

It is also established that the torso of an infant is considerably longer than its legs, but as it grows to puberty the long bones grow normally to equalize the torso measure and we have then a correctly formed person, as far as bones are concerned. But in some individuals the down [illegible] occur irregularly. The torso grows over the body and the spine becomes greater than the ant [illegible] height. This is called "gunnochor" growth," or malformation.

In all of the boys and girls studied in Atlanta from the [illegible] ton County Juvenile Court the type of measurement has been found and tests [illegible] were charged with such crimes as theft, [illegible] and assault. One boy, thirteen years of age had killed his brother.

Dr. Rock H. Sleyster, [illegible] dent of the Wisconsin State Hospital for Criminal Insane, reported as far back as 1913 to the American Academy of Medicine a study of the physical development of criminals and said in part, as follows:

"I find the Wisconsin convict well nourished. He weighs little, if any, less than the average American citizen of his height. The chest measurement is very fair. The expansion is small, but this is to be expected and should be expect that he has not learned to breathe properly or has suffered from continued confinement.

"The figures given for the recidivists or habitu criminals are by far the most significant and show the marked physical inferiority of the chronic offender. These [illegible] of an average age of thirty three years lack 2 1 inches of the height of the average Wisconsin boy, not of high school, but [illegible] 2 inches of the height of the average American of their age and 2 inches of height of the average Harvard student as reported by Professor Sargent.

"It will be noted that these are well nourished, but are markedly deficient in chest and expansion measurements. These last measurements may be partially accounted for by the lack of physical exercise in the open air and subject to greater interest now in this and other institutions.

"This could not be any argument, however, account for the excess of deficiency of stature, which can be explained only as a marked and unmistakable stigma of degeneracy. Associated with these, I find in this class the highest percentage of other physical stigmata, such as degenerate palates ears, facial and cranial asymmetry, etc., though these are merely mentioned and not covered in this paper."

Dr. Z. B. Brockway, former superintendent of the New York State Reformatory, writing on "The Physical Basis of Criminality,

"Compared with college men of similar age, the average height of these prisoners is about three inches short; and in weight, lung capacity, strength of chest and back, they were markedly deficient. In these respects the prisoners resembled the women of a college where such defects were noted.

Correcting Deficiencies

"A number of the prisoners, at ways present, were so sluggish in appearance as to attract and excite derision from the others; their effeminate features, the pale, pasty color of the hands and head, the plastered, spit-curled hair these were derisive peculiarities.

"And these were organic abnormalities consonant and frequently associated with certain nascent perverted inclinations. The more recent examination of 8,000 by Dr. Christian gives, viz: 23 per cent, that about physical injuries mainly upon the head, and other physical disabilities, and disqualifying illnesses were disclosed together with defects of eyesight, hearing, teeth and probably the palate.

"Twenty per cent. of these 8,000 were tuberculous and 48 per cent. were, on their admission to the reformatory, affected with some form of venereal disease.

[illegible] conjunction with the juvenile court in all cases where that organization believes there [illegible] abnormal or [illegible] dance or disease responsible, or partly responsible for the misconduct of the child.

Assuming the criminal is physically disproportioned, why should it be?

There is a small [illegible] located in the skull known as the [illegible] the center of the [illegible] and [illegible] with an [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

STEWART EDWARD WHITE'S RECIPE FOR SUCCESS IN LIFE

"Effective Accomplishment Is an Art; Confusing Energies Usually Leads to Failure"

'Learn to Boss Yourself Before You Can Boss Others'

'Failures Always Tired; as Life Goes on They Grow More Tired'

By STEWART EDWARD WHITE

Prolific Writer of Novels and Short Stories

ARTISTIC genius is rather more direct in its workings than most others, and so is the more easily examined. But as a matter of fact genius exists in everybody, and works in everybody after exactly the same manner.

It is a great satisfaction to find out that one is a genius, but the value of the idea is somewhat diminished by the fact that everybody else is a genius, too.

That was the trouble with a World War. In lesser wars it meant something to be a Soldier and a Hero. But when nearly everybody was a Soldier and a Hero, there's nothing left but the mud and futility and foolishness.

But some are bigger heroes than others and some possess more and better developed genius. In many it exists only as a germ. And its method of working is the same with everyone.

"THE trouble with most failures, perhaps with all failures, in any department of life is that they never get caught up; they never shake themselves free of confusion."

Painful Solutions

We have too much the habit of doing at any job through its de- [illegible] about, and bad for [illegible] the same reason.

[illegible] is really not much use in telling the [illegible] of man that his distress all [illegible] and all the [illegible] of [illegible]

[illegible] nevertheless, a fact. It is the identical method that produces good art will work in business and any other department of life.

Nevertheless, the fact remains that this is the exact method by which most of the creative work is done in the world.

It does not matter what that creative work may be; whether painting a picture or organizing a business or constructing a dam or steering a corporation, or making a farm, or building a real farm. And proofs that it does work out soundingly are to be seen on every hand.

It is a commonplace of knowledge that the higher up a man gets, the cleaner his desk, in "finish" he is, the more also he has the more important and soughtfor he is, the easier and simpler—an emotionally—becomes his social relations, the bigger his interests, the less he is impressed by details; the more loved and demanded he is the more of himself he has to give.

With our easy predilection for dismissing a thing as comprehended merely because we have tagged it with a verbal label, we say: "Oh, yes, of course; but he is eccentric."

Certainly. But that is only another way of saying that he is a success, that he is an artist at his job. Nor is the latter phrase to be understood figuratively. He uses exactly the only methods by which the artist produces good art.

Generating Force

And furthermore, no one for a moment doubts that these "big" men could if they gave their attention to it, make an equally spacious success of the little jobs the jobs that so confuse and harry and worry the rest of us.

Let us repeat; these men make a success of their jobs because [illegible]

[illegible] The range of these perceptions happens to be [illegible]

The successful business man sees his business whole. He not only thinks about it a lot, but he has in the depths of his consciousness outside or beneath his intellectual range, his emotional ideal. He has a heart interest to make it in some way run best of [illegible]

And from that emotional fostering of his ideal—not from his hard thinking—comes the clarity of his aim. He knows what he is "going after."

And from that emotional fostering comes also his enthusiasm for it, and his feeling of responsibility toward it, as one would feel responsibility for a child.

And that, in turn, generates that creative force which enables him to carry through the ideal, evolving the details necessary to its manifestation.

Now that is exactly the creative artistic method. That is just what the fellow does who builds a cathedral or paints a picture or writes a book.

When we fully appreciate that fact, we will recognize that here is our building of real creative evo[illegible]

[illegible] is our present medium of exchange in our most spectacular example from which we [illegible] We are creating [illegible]

Business Adorned

And we have gone so far in that particular path by now that we are approaching a point of flowering. Not only have we before us the industrial vision being embodied, but we are witnessing the beginnings of the ideal [illegible]

Business lived plainly in the ranks while it secured the foundations and was in confusion, but with confidence making toward satisfaction. Now it is beginning to adorn itself.

Power houses are no longer invariably unpromising concrete prisons. They possess architecture worthy of cathedrals.

Skyscrapers appear as temples in the spiritual sense of beauty as well as in the physical sense of service both.

Factory sites are gardened as beautiful as country estates.

Lobbies are decorated with mural paintings, public works with [illegible] and [illegible] of certain ships, many things big and little.

It is a measure of the beauty [illegible] This is an encouraging [illegible]

Looking about we should feel encouraged with the trend of our present genius. I know it is true [illegible]

All of which may be very true but how does it affect you personally?

Bossing Yourself

Well, we are all executives in one way or another. If we have a [illegible] on our job we have at least ourselves. No matter what the job, or how few the workers, we should take an executive attitude toward it and them. And that means at [illegible]

[illegible] with bottomside

I remember in the lumber woods a certain Jim in charge of skidding logs at the end of a six mile [illegible] haul. He had a crew of men to unload the lowering sleighloads as they came in. There were a good many sleighloads [illegible] and [illegible] had on its way very promptly.

Jim who was energy and conscience personified would seize a cant hook and plunge into the [illegible] and tossing. Presently [illegible] Jim would [illegible] and [illegible] with [illegible]

But one day the Big Boss came along. He watched for some time in silence, then called Jim to one side.

"Jim" said he, "I'm sorry; but I've got to lay you off this job."

"What's the matter?" demanded Jim, astonished.

"I want a foreman here; not a cant hook man," was the reply.

At the time I thought the [illegible] were [illegible] and I can see the reason now. Jim was not a big job man. How could he [illegible]

It is a commonplace to say that work done with enthusiasm is worth [illegible] done [illegible] without. It is not so much a conception of the way that an energetic [illegible] manifests itself in the physical world in proportion to the amount of creative force behind it; but they are the same statements [illegible] or rather one is an amplification of the other. That is one element of any activity.

The other is that the only way that multi-personable creative force can be generated, can be segregated from [illegible] and [illegible] is to [illegible] for time and [illegible] problem, to be by the individual's interest with its [illegible] and [illegible] own inner reality. Only then is he coming to [illegible]

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [

M—M—M—

SOCIETY WOMEN'S CLUBS THEATRES

BOSTON ADVERTISER

Boston's Greatest Circulation—Over 500,000 Every Sunday (M—5) M—5 BOSTON, SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1927

PATRONESSES CHOSEN FOR JUNIOR DANCES

Society Events of the Week Include Luncheons, Dinners and Dances—Army-Navy Ball Friday Night.

By Florence Cowles

ON THE list of patronesses for the Junior Supper Dances which are scheduled for February and March and which Mrs. James Lawrence of Milton again heads, are found three new names, Mrs Rudolph Weld of Brookline, Mrs. S. Huntington Wolcott and Miss Margaret Porter.

They are taking the places of Mrs. N. Penrose Hallowell, Mrs. Hugh D. Scott, and Mrs. Henry F. Sears. The other seven patronesses are Mrs. F. Lothrop Ames, Mrs. F. L. W. Richardson, Mrs. Frederick P. Moseley, Mrs Phillip S. Dalton, Mrs Harold J Coolidge, Mrs. James Jackson Jr. and Mrs. Lawrence.

The junior members of the committee will be announced later in the season. They are to be those who have served as ushers at the Junior Dances this winter.

• • •

TONIGHT comes the lecture in Symphony Hall by Mr Robert Cutler who is to give for her daughter, Miss Rosamond Cutler, on Wednesday has been cancelled by on Tuesday evening at the home in Brookline, comes the dance with Mr. Bartlett [illegible] Beacon st is giving for her niece, Miss Eleanor Baggott.

• • •

ANOTHER event at the Chestnut Club on Thursday is the luncheon with Mrs. Chandler [illegible] No. 116 Chestnut street in honor of Mrs Betty [illegible] daughter of Mrs A[illegible] chairman of Hospital Day. [illegible] decorations [illegible]

MISS [illegible] FROST is the attractive daughter of Mr and Mrs. [illegible] of Spooner Hill road, Chestnut Hill, [illegible] but at a dance on November 2[illegible]

[illegible] sponsored by the Junior League with Mrs. Lyon Western chairman of the lecture committee. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Mumford, president [illegible] Miss Lothrop Ames, Mrs. Powell Warren, daughter of Mrs Prescott Warren, [illegible] Mrs. Hallett's mother, Mrs Lothrop, Miss Hallett.

On Wednesday, Miss Esther Prescott will entertain [illegible] honor of Miss Katherine Greenleaf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Greenleaf of Brookline, and on the afternoon of [illegible] comes the last and last parties of [illegible] Miss Noyes for the benefit of the Boston Music School settlement. It will be given at the home of Mrs. Alexander Steinert, No. 401 Commonwealth avenue. Miss Noyes will read from "Bleak House" by Charles Dickens.

The dance which Mrs. William [illegible] gave at the Navy Yard, the second in the Winter's [illegible] ball dance in the [illegible] Mumford, president [illegible] Mrs. Lothrop Ames, Mrs. F. L. W. Richardson, Mrs. Frederick P. Moseley, Mrs Phillip S. Dalton, Mrs Harold J Coolidge, Mrs. James Jackson Jr. and Mrs. Lawrence. [illegible] Symphony Hall by Mr Robert [illegible] sponsored by the Junior League with Mrs. Lyon Western chairman of the lecture committee. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Mumford, president [illegible] Miss

NEWS of INTEREST to SOCIETY

MRS. VANDERBILT WAGES 'OPERA WAR'

Defies Otto Kahn In His Plans for New Opera House—Wants Present System of Opera Government Maintained.

By Cholly Knickerbocker

Saturday, November 26

ABOUT a fortnight back, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt took that well-known monkey wrench in her bejeweled and highly polished digits and, with one well aimed [illegible], sent the said monkey wrench into Otto H. Kahn's formerly well-oiled opera machinery.

And the [illegible] fog at [illegible] Vanderbilt [illegible] Texas genuine and sure thing desire to [illegible] one of the most [illegible] gone hand [illegible] for generations.

Just at this time when things looked darkest at the Metropolitan Opera House for the annual bloodletting, [illegible] Mrs. Vanderbilt [illegible] enter Mr. Kahn's room, causing the latter to [illegible] Mr. Kahn from making the Metropolitan into a safe haven for [illegible] only a few Mrs. Vanderbilt arrived in town from the Virginia Hot Springs and gave Mr. Kahn the surprise of his career—private life.

Herein Mr. Kahn's word has been [illegible] music. They're [illegible] Wilson [illegible] Washington.

• • •

UP until a few months ago Mrs. Vanderbilt was in the feud that has existed in the Metropolitan ever since Mr. Kahn and a certain set of directors in the really company which controls the opera house privately announced their intention of disposing of the famous Broadway building. Mrs. "Neily" Vanderbilt was completely taken up with the thrilling [illegible] of saving a piece of her own and humanity—to all who would stop and [illegible] objectionable [illegible] Diamond Jim Brady, and The [illegible] Mr. Kahn's [illegible] never to need her hand until nephew Robert Wilson Gerry let happened to mention the matter [illegible].

There [illegible] between Mrs. Vanderbilt and Mr. Kahn and [illegible] who can tell, perhaps Mrs. Vanderbilt felt Mr. Kahn was secretly pigeonholing himself a [illegible] thing as certain, when Mr. Kahn's ideas and schemes were flatly explained to her she decided she did not like [illegible] Davis and The [illegible] Mr. Kahn's [illegible] never to need her hand until nephew Robert Wilson Gerry let happened to mention the matter [illegible].

There [illegible] between Mrs. Vanderbilt and Mr. Kahn and [illegible] who can tell, perhaps Mrs. Vanderbilt felt Mr. Kahn was secretly pigeonholing himself a [illegible] thing as certain, when Mr. Kahn's ideas and schemes were flatly explained to her she decided she did not like [illegible] for the best interests of society and the public. After several additional chats with nephew Robert, Mrs. Vanderbilt [illegible] in her determination that something must be done to crush Mr. Kahn—to break his death-like grip on the opera situation in this great, music-loving metropolis.

• • •

IT [illegible] with Mrs. Neily in the [illegible] Mrs. Vanderbilt opens and [illegible] opinion to their pride. When the opera house and [illegible] Mrs. Vanderbilt [illegible] of her daughters to be [illegible] Mr. Kahn's white [illegible] Mr. Kahn was not the Railroaded Otto [illegible] Mrs. Vanderbilt opens and [illegible] opinion to their pride. When the opera house and [illegible] Mrs. Vanderbilt [illegible] of her daughters to be [illegible] Mr. Kahn's white [illegible] Mr. Kahn was not the Railroaded Otto [illegible] for [illegible] of opera. Not [illegible] days when the fat [illegible] of Mrs. Neily [illegible] and the Mr. [illegible] [illegible] Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt.

• • •

ONCE she had secured sufficient backing to meet Mr. Kahn's plans, Mrs. "Neily" returned home from the Hot Springs and [illegible] her history in turn was Mrs. Vanderbilt and [illegible] Kahn [illegible] Mrs. Vanderbilt had [illegible] Kahn had interest [illegible] self in the project and even more [illegible] Mrs. Vanderbilt [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

With NEW ENGLAND WOMEN'S CLUBS by Mrs. F.J. Cowles.

Current Event Talk at Professional Club

THE department of literature and literary extension, will hold the first meeting of the season in the Georgian room of the Hotel Statler on Tuesday at 3 p.m. instead of at homes of members as heretofore. Mrs. Everett O. Fisk is chairman and Mrs. Frank Hill, vice chairman.

The speaker of the afternoon will be Professor Frank Speaks of Boston University, whose subject will be Conditions in Central Europe and the Balkan Peninsula. Music will be in charge of Mrs. M. H. Gulesian, composer-pianist.

On Monday afternoon a bridge party is to be held in the club room at the Hotel Statler, under the auspices of the club room committee, Mrs. Miriam L. Stacy, chairman. It will be the first occasion to get together parties planned for the winter by the committee, with Jr. Ladies Mrs. Lena B. Swasey, Mrs. Otis Nixon, Lynn; Mrs. S. [illegible] Mrs. Ida M. Wilson, Mrs. Minnie Sutton Watson, Dr. Mary Hough Wentworth, Mrs. Pierce Johnstone, Mrs. Edna King. Dr. Hosmer and Mrs. Katherine Ridge will Host.

Concord Woman's Club

The Women's Club of Concord met in the Town Hall room on the 14th with a program of [illegible] Mrs. Lena Lenhan, contralto, Mrs. Carl L. Smith, pianist and Laura Keene Wright on the harp, the latter rendering an interpretation of the Greek Sculptor Mrs. Congress Mrs. [illegible] commissioner of the Massachusetts Industrial Aid, and the hand loom will be demonstrations of their work.

Miss Albee Speaks at East Boston

MISS ALICE G. ALBEE, [illegible] general secretary of the Boston Children's League will speak on "The Aims of a Child Welfare" for members of the Women's Club of East Boston in the Senior Center on Thursday, [illegible] room at [illegible] H. Barnes [illegible] will be served [illegible] Mrs. E. [illegible] D. Mrs. [illegible] are president of the club.

On Friday evening in the [illegible] of Mrs. Jones, H. Bruce Schools [illegible] will entertain [illegible] Mrs. [illegible] Mrs. [illegible] Mrs.

With NEW ENGLAND WOMEN'S CLUBS

News and Notes of the World of Art

By Jean Nutting Oliver

In the list of women painters now exhibiting in Boston, headed by Laura Coombs Hills at the Copley Gallery, Rosamund Coolidge and Ruth Anderson, an unusual opportunity for comparison of work is offered.

But after all, why comparison, which we are told is odious? Some of us can appreciate all styles, even if we are not "modernists."

These pastels of flowers by Miss Hills are as wonderfully artistic as her miniatures, and that is saying all there is to be said. The gift of color combination she possesses is not only the most beautiful, harmonious, delicious thing in the world, but is absolutely unique.

This same color quality is one of the keys to her miniatures are so highly considered, apart from their [illegible] basic [illegible] sense. In their [illegible], a [illegible], a [illegible] she [illegible] among the [illegible] of the old famous.

• • •

MISS ROSAMOND COOLIDGE, well known young Boston painter, puts up an interesting show in the adaptable gallery of the Twentieth Century Club, 2 Park street. In the depiction of figures and portraits, Miss Coolidge certainly excels, for added to her native gift for "likeness" and characterization, she has had the advantage of the best training this country and France can give.

Sometimes an artist suffers in the expression of unity in striving too many arts of academy study, but in the present case this is not true.

During war times, Miss Coolidge spent many months in Washington, working at a hospital there on wounded men, and she could do no help, and this experience gave her insight into many phases of life not in the curriculum of an art student.

Latterly she has settled in her native environment, and her recent work as well as earlier examples are well seen in the present exhibition.

A former pupil, the portrait of a brother artist, Burtis Baker, remains one of her best efforts, for it is painted in a broad, free style, with strong lights and of fine, true color throughout. As a likeness it could be beyond reproach.

A portrait of John Orth, the composer-pianist, is another fine piece of work, with this fine human man's character aptly suggested. One likes, too, the "Portrait of a Rebel," for its well expressed individuality and one wonders if it is capital punishment, employment of children in mills, or vivisection, against which she rebels, for his countenance certainly expresses the courage of his convictions.

A "Girl in a Dutch Costume" strikes another note and is equally well painted.

• • •

AT the Casson Gallery Ruth Anderson is recently elected member of the Guild of Boston Artists, has an interesting collection of new paintings on view, until December 8. As a painter of young children, this artist is gaining an enviable reputation.

She has the ability to catch a fleeting childish look, that "graceful awkwardness of youth" which is so attractive and full of charm. The beauty, too, of the young things appeals to her, and their lovely colors, full of movement and joy of life she is able to [illegible].

• • •

OTHER good exhibitions are on, including that of John Whorf at Grace Horne's Gallery, Stuart street, where his success is already assured.

University Women to Meet at Simmons

THE American Association of University Women will meet at Simmons college on Saturday at 3 o'clock. The meeting will be in the form of a "Who's Who" in the Boston branch, and will be under the supervision of the membership committee of which Mrs. B. Alden Thresher is chairman.

The speakers will be allotted five minutes each in which to represent the following phases as follows: Mrs. T. Grafton Abbott, "Clinical Psychology;" Mrs. Virginia Turner Green, "Nursery;" Miss Alice Jaynes, "Art Museum;" Miss Eleanor Manning, "Architecture;" Miss Margaret McGill, "Business Executive;" Mrs Fanna Fall Schaffner, "Law."

Miss Ellen Sutton Ogden, of Milford, will give a brief discussion on "State Membership in Massachusetts."

Woburn Woman's Club

Professor Clarence R. Skinner, leader of the Old South Meeting House Forum and also of the Community Church, Boston, will speak on "Fiction Worlds and the People Who Live in Them," on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the meeting of the Woburn Woman's Club.

Women's Auxiliary, S. P. C. A.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Angell Memorial Animal Hospital of the Massachusetts S. P. C. A. will meet at No. 180 Longwood avenue on Tuesday at 2:30 o'clock. Tea will be served by Mrs. James A. Farrington, hostess.

A Charming Study of a Pretty Child

"FINE FEATHERS," painted by Ruth A. Anderson. This picture is in an exhibition of the artist's work at the Casson Gallery.

Club Women of Vermont Aid Relief Work

THE club women of Vermont are proving themselves tireless workers in the great period of reconstruction which is now taking place [illegible] Mrs. Martin S. Allas of Burlington, president of the State Federation, has appointed a woman's club member in each county to work cooperatively with the Red Cross who are now in charge of all flood relief work.

Miss Bernice Tuttle, of the Rutland Women's Club, represents Rutland county and [illegible] for the appointment of a representative from each women's club throughout the state. Mrs. Scott [illegible] Rutland and [illegible] report work and called several meetings of the club, at one time the members acted for the Red Cross in the [illegible] school children.

All the local women's societies have united materially in the great relief work, most of the labor being in the clothing depots that are maintained at the State Armory.

Federation Broadcast

MRS. [illegible] J. WALKER, [illegible] vice president of the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs, is to broadcast [illegible] Wednesday, on the WNAC program which starts at 10:30 a. m. The department of press and publicity will present Virginia Lind [illegible], a [illegible] and journalist, who has a talk on "The Art of Getting Along With People."

Two groups of songs are to be given by the Fortnightly [illegible] Isabella H. Winship, first soprano, Gertrude N. Barnes, second soprano, Alice M. Abbott, alto, with Nancy D. Alexander, accompanist.

[illegible] songs, and Marjorie Mills has an [illegible] message for homemakers.

Salem Woman's Club

Miss Edith Margaret Small will read the "The Trail of the Torch" on peculiarities of which will be observed on Wednesday, by the Salem Woman's Club in Ames Memorial Hall at three o'clock.

Chairman of Activities

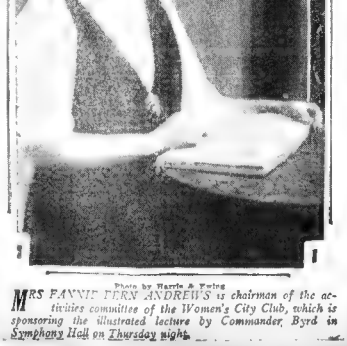


Photo by Harris & Ewing

MRS FANNIE PERL ANDREWS is chairman of the activities committee of the Women's City Club, which is sponsoring the illustrated lecture by Commander Byrd in Symphony Hall on Thursday night.

Commander Byrd to Speak on Thursday

THERE are only two events of importance upon the calendar for the coming week, of the Women's City Club. These two events, however, are extremely important to the club, since they signalize the visits of two people of world renown, Commander Richard E. Byrd, U. S. N., once of Virginia but now of Boston, is to appear in Symphony Hall on Thursday night, under club auspices, to tell given his illustrated lecture, "Ice Atlantic and Other Flights." This is by far the most ambitious meeting that the activities committee of the club has attempted so far this year. Mrs. Fannie Perl Andrews is the energetic chairman and it is to her foresight and wise judgment that the delightful club programs that have prevailed so far this year, are to be credited. Mrs. Lorena E. Mosher, president of the club, will present Commander Byrd to his audience.

The second affair of importance is the luncheon to Dr. Lotta Fairfield, to be given on Monday next, Dr. Fairfield is a full colonel of the air forces of the British army, and her speaking engagement during her visit will undoubtedly be the one before the Women's City Club. While her work during the war was chiefly with the women workers in the dangerous trades allied with airplane manufacture, she is concentrating now upon child health. Her visit to America is for the study of pneumonia clinics for children, and this she is carrying on in the hospitals in Boston, New York, Toronto and Chicago.

Portuguese to Sing In Providence

Providence, R. I., Nov. 26. A notably colorful and picturesque event at the Point Pleasant Clubhouse of the Point Pleasant Clubhouse of the Point Pleasant Clubhouse of

ATTRACTIONS FOR THE WEEK on STAGE AND SCREEN

DIXIE STARS AGAIN HIT BULLSEYE IN 'RANG-TANG' SHOW

"Allez-Oop" Revue Boasts Rare Aggregation of Dancing Specialists

By E. F. HARKINS

IN "Rang-Tang" you will find all the enthusiasm for which Dixie shows have been noted for years, plus an unusual array of stars and featured performers. All around it is the best entertainment the colored folk have produced since "Shuffle Along," which had a phenomenal run in Boston. As regards variety of enjoyment it is even better than any of the old darktown hits.

More and [illegible] dusky comedians [illegible] with Caucasian humor [illegible] most [illegible] Walker [illegible] true [illegible] from [illegible] Bottomley [illegible] happened before. It [illegible] to see real [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

ARMY LIFE HIS FIRST AMBITION

In

KOUNS SISTERS ON KEITH PROGRAM

Nellie and Sara Kouns head an

In Dollar Princess Role

FLORENCE VIDOR portrays the wealthy American girl who weds an Italian prince in "Honeymoon Hate" (Boston).

FLORENCE VIDOR IN BOSTON FILM

"BIG PARADE" AT LOEW'S COLUMBIA

CLARA BOW AT METROPOLITAN

CLARA BOW, the screen's red headed flamer, in her latest picture "Get Your Man" will be seen in person at the Metropolitan, the week. In "Get Your Man" the gentleman in question is Charles Rogers the Smith of the week in "Wings" fame with wife acclaim.

Starring from the Hall on His pictured in "Hula" Miss Bow is an American sailor Paris. Then she meets Rogers who is a young fellow from Iowa [illegible] Complications [illegible] it is over at first sight, with [illegible] Complications [illegible] wherever it goes. Clara is [illegible] Maxwell Hall [illegible]

Scattered [illegible] Bow [illegible] Paris [illegible] Rogers [illegible] Then [illegible] Rogers [illegible] wedding bells ring for [illegible]

The stage direction for the week of Miss Bow's Metropolitan [illegible] revealed [illegible] Bow [illegible] Rogers [illegible] Lloyd [illegible] Hall [illegible] Maxwell

WILLIAM BOYD, LOUIS WOLHEIM IN STATE FILM

HERALDED as one of the outstanding film successes of the year, "Two Arabian Knights," with Louis Wolheim, Mary Astor and William Boyd in the leading roles, is announced for the State Boston screening. Lewis Milestone's work. This motion picture comedy-drama of soldier life in the war is said to rival the success of "All Quiet on the Western Front."

[illegible] Lewis Milestone [illegible] Wolheim [illegible] Mary Astor [illegible] William Boyd [illegible] Two Arabian Knights [illegible] Milestone [illegible] Wolheim [illegible] Astor [illegible] Boyd [illegible] Arabian Knights

With NEW ENGLAND WOMEN'S CLUBS by Mrs. F.J. Cowles.

Board Appoints a Committee for Research

APPOINTMENT of a research committee to investigate ways of co-operating with existing organizations [illegible] standing [illegible]

Children's Day At Holyoke

THE [illegible] observance [illegible] meeting [illegible] Wednesday, [illegible] Friday afternoon [illegible] o'clock in the Hotel [illegible] Miss Martha Heywood [illegible] the [illegible] conference [illegible] Fleet the [illegible] The program will be [illegible] a chorus from the Little Theatre conducted by Mrs. Walter Thompson. This will also mark the club's annual gift meeting and each member is invited to bring a Christmas gift for distribution among [illegible] children

Coventry Club Has Fifth Tea

Providence R. I., Nov. 26 — THE Coventry Women's Club will [illegible] guest in the Howard [illegible] Richmond Memorial Hall at Crompton on Wednesday for the fifth Wednesday tea. The committee in charge includes Mrs. Arthur W. Smith, chairman, Mrs. John P. [illegible]

Indian Program on Tuesday

Providence R. I., Nov. 26 — THE Portsmouth Club will [illegible] every members of [illegible] Tuesday with an address by Rev. [illegible] of Derry on Tribal Customs and Dances of the American Indians. The [illegible] will be Mrs. Willis E. Benjamin, Miss Alice L. Wolcott, Mrs. G. Waldo Purcell, Mrs. Albert F. Brown

Joint Meeting at Melrose

AS the next meeting of the Melrose Highlands Women's Club particular attention is [illegible] to the date and place of meeting — Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Unitarian [illegible] Church, Upham [illegible] The speaker will be [illegible] Correspondent, who will [illegible] "Women in [illegible]" Music will be furnished by the Odell Glee [illegible]

The arrangements [illegible] the leadership of Mrs. Edna [illegible] will meet Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in the Melrose Library.

Benefit for Flood Relief Fund

"M[illegible] A [illegible] of the [illegible] based on [illegible] Repertory [illegible] Association [illegible] Hall, Tuesday [illegible] costs of [illegible] to the relief [illegible] in relief [illegible] Vermont [illegible] Mrs. [illegible] Franklin [illegible] committee [illegible] tickets [illegible] various [illegible]

Town Officials Club's Guests

THE community service and public welfare committees will conduct the meeting of the Woman's Afternoon Club of Abington on Thursday at 2 o'clock. Robert W. Sullivan, executive secretary of Boston Council of social agencies, is to speak on "The Better Living," and other [illegible] officials are to be present. [illegible] of the club [illegible] will be sung by Mr. [illegible] son.

Homemakers to Conduct Meeting

THE New England Home [illegible] Association will hold a general meeting on Friday evening at 8 o'clock in Horticultural Hall, No. [illegible] The [illegible] program [illegible] Caleb Dyer [illegible] will include a talk on "The Magic Hours of Childhood," by Dr. Mary M. Wentworth, head of the department of education at Mt. Holyoke College.

Greet New Guests Tomorrow

THE meeting of the Barnstable Woman's Club tomorrow comes under the direction of the art and [illegible] committee. Mrs. Thomas P. Lewis, chairman, [illegible] presents Mrs. Nina G. Dellinger of Cambridge. Her talk is entitled "From Coast to Coast [illegible] Canvas." Musical [illegible] [illegible] Mrs. [illegible] Mrs. [illegible] Miss Louise F. Cobb will be hostess. The meeting will be in the Parish House, with the business meeting at 7 p. m., the program at 8 o'clock. It has also been planned to have the reception to new members at this time.

RADIO DEPT. OPEN EVERY EVENING UNTIL 9 O'CLOCK

The Mighty Power Of $5 at Haines' Annual Pre-Inventory Sale!

It Will Act As Your Down Payment On Hundreds of Special Suite Values and Nationally Known Radios!

65 Baby Walkers

Red and ivory finish. Rubber tired wheels. Tray. Adjustable [illegible] Many [illegible]

1.75

No Mail Orders on This Item!

45 Magazine Racks

[illegible] fully mounted chaise of genuine wicker. Roomy magazine pocket. [illegible]

1.69

No Mail Orders on This Item

33 Kitchen Stools

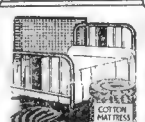
Sturdy — [illegible] pair of heavy metal [illegible] in white enamel. [illegible] finish. [illegible]

98c

Phonograph
Complete with 25 Double-Faced Records

With [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible]

49.50



5-Pc. Bed Outfit

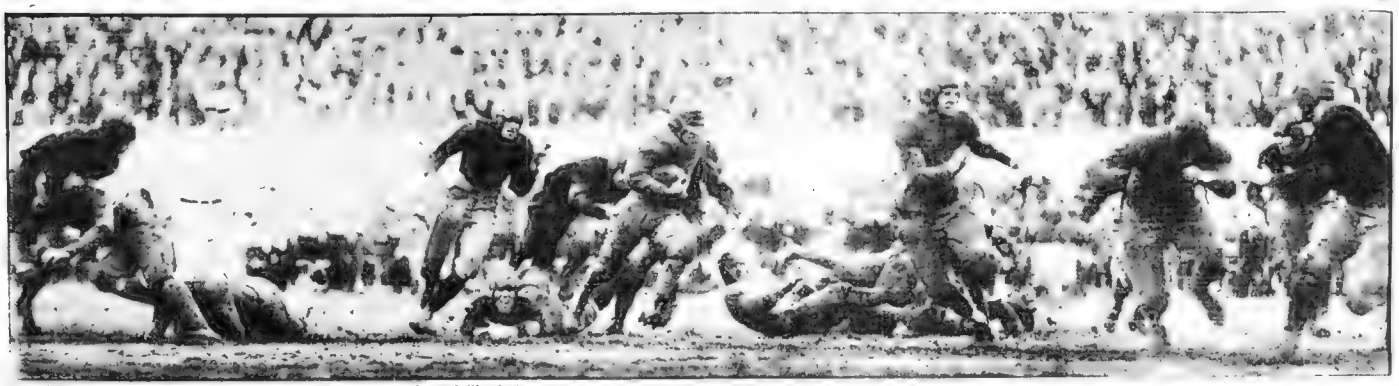
17.35 Easy Terms

A complete [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

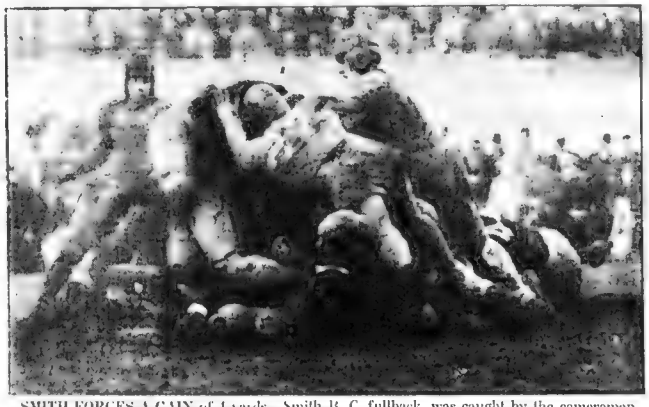
SPORTING RADIO AUTOMOBILES
BOSTON ADVERTISER
Boston's Greatest Circulation—Over 500,000 Every Sunday
(L—11) BOSTON, SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 27

BOSTON COLLEGE BEATS HOLY CROSS 6-0

Army Defeats Navy, 14 to 9; Notre Dame Wins by 7 to 6; Eruins Lose 4-3; Home Town Hails Caldwell Like Lindy

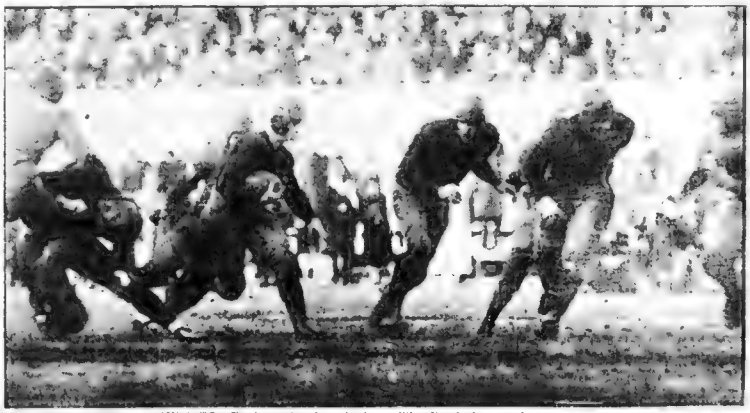


HIRTEEN WAS UNLUCKY for Holy Cross. Daley, Holy Cross fullback, is shown at centre aking a 13-yard gain in the game against Boston College at Braves Field yesterday. The in never materialized into a score, however, and Holy Cross will have to wait another year get a crack at the Boston College eleven. The game was the most spectacular of season.



SMITH FORGES A GAIN of 4 yards. Smith B. C. fullback, was caught by the cameraman making a gain of 4 yards against Holy Cross in the second period of the Jesuit College battle at Braves Field yesterday. Smith is somewh ere under the pile.

WESTON WADES THROUGH the Holy Cross line for nine yards. The photo shows the Eagle backfield ace stopped after making nine yards in the third period of the thrilling struggle between Boston College and Holy Cross at Braves Field yesterday before 40,000 people



HELPING FORGE A NEW CONTRACT for Leo Daley. The B. C. 6 to 0 victory over Holy Cross yesterday means that Leo Daley will return to the Heights next season. Creedon, B. C. back, is shown at left, starting 17-yard gain in the second period of the football classic at the Wigwam yesterday. All Staff Photos

SIX PURPLE YARDS. Clancy, Holy Cross ace, is shown being stopped after a 6-yard gain in the second period of the game between Boston College and Holy Cross at Braves Field yesterday. The Crusader backs were not good enough to break through B. C.'s defence.

B.C. BEATS HOLY CROSS IN LAST 5 MINUTES, 6-0

GOAL IS IN DANGER AS GAME ENDS

Whistle Ends Crusaders' Rush That Carries Ball to Eagles' 3-Yard Line

By BILL GRIMES

Bill Grimes

With the ball on Holy Cross' 31-yard line in the fourth quarter, Mike O'Brien detected interference on the part of Holy Cross and the Crusaders were back up to their 46-yard line and on the very next play drew another penalty for the same offense and back they went to their own yard line.

These two penalties proved to be the turning point of the contest. Until I saw from behind goal line and well off two would inches, but this time it was different. For Charlie Murphy did his stuff and the boys from the Heights annexed a six point advantage.

All was evident at the very start of the game that the officials were that they intended to play. They began to rule on all matters at hand and a number of the first quarter. The teams had been penalized twelve times, however, the teams failed to play within the rules and more penalties were imposed, until finally Holy Cross penalized itself out of PUTTING A FEATURE.

In the fourth quarter [illegible] Holy Cross and the [illegible] Eagles with their [illegible] which stood out [illegible] the punting of [illegible] got off some long boots but [illegible] punch than was evidenced earlier [illegible] Mike O'Brien was relieved [illegible] Levin directed his attack at [illegible] of the B. C. line and smash, smash, smash they went down the field to the four-yard line.

Boston College was shot and the only thing that stopped the Crusaders from going over with the [illegible] touchdown was the watch. Just as Holy Cross was preparing to take another crack at the B. C. line, after he had dashed back about four yards, Referee McGuirk grabbed off the big honors by scoring the touchdown, Charlie Murphy, the Roxbury boy, a product of Hingham High School, is the boy who made it possible for McGuirk to step into the Boston College Hall of Fame. Murphy blocked two of Bloody Ryan's punts during the afternoon. From almost the first kick it was evident that Murphy was the man for the Chancy, who was protecting Ryan's right on punts. Murphy raced in and cut in front of Chancy on the kick in the first quarter, but just when the Holy Cross back thought he had Murphy's mode of attack doped right, the Hingham boy shifted and swung outside and down in front of the kick, which was recovered by Captain O'Brien.

He repeated this feat in the fourth quarter, and due to his cleverness and the alertness of McGuirk, Boston College came through with a victory.

Little Paddy Creedon was the most consistent Boston College ground gainer. The product from Brockton was badly hurt before the close of the first period but he gamely stayed in the contest and only on rare occasions did he fail to get the ball. However, when Boston College was down by the goal line, Creedon was not called upon to carry the ball.

FOUND THE GOING HARD.

In the fourth quarter when Boston College had the ball on Holy Cross' seven-yard line, Weston and Dower did the carrying but after these rushes the ball was still six yards from the goal line. Al Weston pulled off a few clever runs and proved to be an exceptionally hard [illegible] on defense. On one run he [illegible] Crusaders had a shot at him before he was downed.

Capt. Tom O'Brien played a whale of a game in the line. He was in [illegible] every play, and the fighting of the Holy Cross running attack on [illegible] function was in no small measure due to the Boston College leader. Clinton and McGuirk got [illegible] count of themselves as did Zeus Wojcik.

It was a glorious afternoon for football and a fine crowd was on hand to see the game starred Capt. O'Connell of Holy Cross won the toss and elected to kick. Powers and Murphy [illegible] Holy Cross [illegible] Crusaders [illegible] Boston College [illegible] Murphy [illegible] Holy Cross [illegible] Ryan [illegible] Boston College [illegible] Holy Cross [illegible] Boston College [illegible] Holy Cross [illegible] Boston College [illegible] Holy Cross

WOODSIES WIN THOUGH BLAIR IS BANISHED

One Woodsies Attack That Failed to Score a Goal

McAULEY OF PROVIDENCE TEAM is photoed above disposing of Flemming of the Woodsies when the forward line of the Hub team made one of their many threats on the Clan diggers' goal. Dick of the Rhode Island team (in striped jersey) is shunting Ballantyne of the local delegation out of the play.

HUB TEAM NEVER IN DANGER

Wilson Proves Clever Substitute for Blair Who Will Be Out for Two Games

By BILL McAULEY

Playing without their ace, Bobby Blair, who drew a two game suspension for his rough tactics in the holiday game, the Woodsies scored a brilliant 4 to 1 victory over the First Providence eleven at the Walpole street grounds yesterday before a crowd of 3 000 fans.

The game was bitterly contested during the first period, but the Clandiggers weakened during the final half and play was confined to the half most of the time.

Wetter Smith, the clever Norwegian who played at center in Blair's position, was the star of the game, and he was ably assisted by Johnny Lavine, Wally Blanchard, Dick Ballantyne and Bert Wilson, all of whom starred in both offense and defense.

It was a fast game from the start, and Referee Mac Nevin had his hands full to keep the players from mixing it up. Time and again the players were warned by the referee to keep their tempers, and the game was played without any serious mishaps.

SOLLOWAY SHOWS PEPPER.

The game opened [illegible] Solloway and Flemming [illegible] Solloway showed the fans that he was the peppery player of the two, and he was given a warning by the referee for his actions.

The Woodsies [illegible] Solloway was back in the game. He was replaced by Flemming, who was given a warning by the referee for his actions.

With but ten minutes to go in the first period, Solloway [illegible] Woodsies [illegible]

BALLANTYNE SCORES.

On the kick-off [illegible] Ballantyne [illegible] Solloway [illegible] Ballantyne [illegible] Solloway [illegible] Ballantyne [illegible]

During the second half [illegible] Solloway [illegible] Ballantyne [illegible] Solloway [illegible] Ballantyne [illegible]

The Hub had [illegible] Solloway [illegible] Ballantyne [illegible] Solloway [illegible] Ballantyne [illegible]

On the whole [illegible] Solloway [illegible] Ballantyne [illegible] Solloway [illegible] Ballantyne [illegible]

SOLLOWAY HURT.

Hard luck [illegible] Solloway [illegible] Ballantyne [illegible] Solloway [illegible] Ballantyne [illegible]

BOSTON — PROVIDENCE

Sweeney g — g, McNutt
Quinn rb — rb, McAuley
McArthur lb — lb, Campbell
Fleming rhb — rhb, Dorr
E. Ballantyne, lhb — lhb, Barker
McNab or — or, Hoyt
Buness, if — if, Flores
Bennett cf — cf, Keeney
J. Ballantyne ir — ir, Aird
Fleming ol — ol, McCabe

Substitutes—Finnayson for Aird and Gonsalves for Buness. Goals — Made by J. Ballantyne 2, Fryatt, Nissen and Campbell. Referee—D. Evans, Detroit. Linesmen — A. Catto, Quincy and A. Hart, Quincy. Time—2 45m. periods.

NO SCORE IN CLAN SOCCER

Clans Robertson and McMillan were obliged to play a needless tie in a Scottish League game on Gilson Field Dorchester, yesterday.

The game was a battle [illegible] Robertson having a slight edge in the first period. Time and again they bombarded their opponents' goal, but they could not score. Hair and Glencross, throughout, were always dangerous for the Robertson forwards.

CLAN ROBERTSON.		CLAN McMILLAN
Campbell, g	g	Lewis
Gallery, rb	rb	Hunter
Dalton
Aitken, rhb	lhb	T. Christie
Stevenson, rhb	rhb	F. Dorrat
Hutchinson, lhb	rhb	Lonsdale
Glencross, or	ol	Graham
Hair, ir	ir	E. Dreen
Paton, cf	cf	R. Christie
Cave, il	il	Mulholland
McAllister, ol	or	Hawley

Referee—J. Haslam, Everett. Linesmen—J. Stuart Rothery and R. Dobson, Wenham. Time—4 45m. periods.

Colorado Aggies Win Mountain Grid Title

Colorado Springs, Colo., Nov. 26 (AP)—Colorado Agricultural College won the football championship of the Rock Mountain Conference by defeating Colorado College, 20 to 7, here today.

STEELMEN 2, N. Y. GIANTS 0

[illegible]

BETHLEHEM — NEW YORK GIANTS

[illegible]

6 ALL-STARS FOR NEBRASKA

[illegible]

FIRST TEAM — SECOND TEAM

[illegible]

CARDS TO PLAY SOX IN SPRING

[illegible]

Colt Sortie Wins $10,875 Handicap Race

[illegible]

Sande Goes to Visit Race Plants Abroad

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Earl Sande, knight of the saddle, has gone to Europe to forget the trials and tribulations of a dethroned king. He sailed on the Majestic today, ready [illegible]

[illegible]

Outside of Sande [illegible]

Sport Results

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

[illegible]

PRO FOOTBALL

[illegible]

SOCCER

[illegible]

FINE BOUTS AT ST. JOE'S

[illegible]

HEAVYWEIGHT CLASS

[illegible]

3 SWIMMING RECORDS GO

[illegible]

Balmy Beach Wins Canadian Rugby Title

[illegible]

Doctor to Sing for Attleboro Grid Win

Attleboro, Nov. 26.—Dr. Harry P. Kent, [illegible]

Sport Program for Today

FOOTBALL

[illegible]

SOCCER AMERICAN LEAGUE

[illegible]

BAY STATE LEAGUE

[illegible]

GAELIC FOOTBALL

[illegible]

SCOUT PACT UP TO TAD

[illegible]

'ROB ROY' PASSES AWAY

[illegible]

Soccer Results

[illegible]

Yale Freshmen Keep Soccer Slate Clea

5000 SEE WHALERS WIN, 3-0

New Bedford Soccer Team Blanks Brooklyn Wanderers Who Miss Curtis

[illegible]

PEARS TOPS ALL-SOUTHERN

[illegible]

FIRST TEAM — SECOND TEAM

[illegible]

Real Smoking Satisfaction—

at the lowest possible price

It's unwise economy to try to get real smoking satisfaction in a cigar selling at less than White Owl—and sheer extravagance to pay more.

White Owl and here's why—

Even in a smaller cigar, the fine, sweet-tasting tobacco used in White Owl would be considered remarkable value. But when you can get this smoking satisfaction in the generous, Invincible size, you must agree that the White Owl price is the lowest possible price —if you want the best.

3 for 20¢

Millions are saying—"tasting better than ever"

DAHMAN GIVES NOTRE DAME GREAT VICTORY

ACE SCORES ALL POINTS IN 7-6 WIN

Greatest Grid Crowd in History Sees Rockne's Eleven Defeat So. California

FEG MURRAY'S SPORT NEWS

Dahman Outkicked By Drury and Hibbs

CHICAGO, Nov. 26 (A.P.)—Statistics of the Southern California-Notre

IRENE CASTLE NEAR INJURY

Death Toll of Football Placed at 15 This Year

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 26 (A.P.)—The death toll in the ranks of football players in the United States during the 1927 season was set at 15 today in a report of statistics compiled by George F. Masters manager of a Topeka newspaper bureau.

Illinois and Texas led in the fatalities, with three deaths each attributed to injuries received by players. Two were reported in Pennsylvania, and one each in Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma, Nebraska, New Jersey, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Notre Dame in Pact to Play Trojans Twice

Chicago, Nov. 26.—The universal

Plan for Third Race Track at New Orleans

New Orleans, Nov. 26 (I.N.S.)—With two million-dollar race tracks operating in New Orleans, Sheriff Bernard Hodge & Associates have

What Good Little Men Have Accomplished in the World of Sport

By FEG MURRAY

THERE have been good little men in sports ever since David bounced a petrified biscuit off of Goliath's noble brow back in the days before the Old Testament was current literature. The saying that "A good big man can always beat a good little man" does not always hold—witness the triumphs in the past of small giants like Billy Johnston, Cyril Walker, Dick Kerr, Feg Murray Wee Willie Keeler, and many others. Size doesn't always count, and very often a little, sawed-off runt who makes up in pep and spirit what he lacks in brawn, can wreck a man nearly twice his size.

In football there have been many "good little men," and out on the Pacific the last two seasons one "Butch" Meeker, as quarterback of the Washington State Cougars, by his dynamic playing and aggressive spirit, has proved himself, in spite of his diminutive stature, one of the best football men in the Pacific Coast Conference as well as the Coast's best field general. Such a man was Johnny McGovern, probably the greatest player that ever went to Minnesota, for many splendid athletes have trod the barred arena since Doc Williams first won fame as a coach with his shift and with his "Giants of the North."

PICK STAR NO. SHORE GRID MEN

Schoolboy Players Able to Hold Their Own With Any in State

By CHARLES HOFFMAN

Each year the North Shore turns out some wonderful football teams and individual players able to cope with the rest of the high schools in the state. These players received scant reward for their good work outside the schoolboy writers cannot cover such a large territory in picking their scholastic teams. This writer has covered the North Shore activities for the past ten years and feels that he is able to pick eleven men who could meet anything in schoolboy ranks and give them a battle.

Of course arguments will arise as to this and that player, but the writer's aim is to be conservative and choose nine players who

SHOUT THE ENDS.

Starting with the ends Morse of Swampscott and Cowan of Lynn English looked out as two of the best wingmen I have seen in action for some time. Morse is a product of good coaching on the Swampscott team and Cowan is a natural football player. He has a good football head and is a fast man on the defense. He is also a good receiver of passes and can get down under punts in great style. The two ends should work well together.

Tom Morse, M. Gee of Salem and [illegible] Lynn English, are two of the best tackles I have seen in action for some time. Morse was a star of good reputation on the Swampscott team and Gee, after coming over to [illegible] City of Lynn, immediately got first call. The two tackles should work well together.

[illegible] Lynn English, and Capt. [illegible] Swampscott, are two of the best guards I have seen in action for some time. [illegible] was a star of good reputation on the Lynn English team and Capt. [illegible] over to [illegible] City of Lynn, immediately got first call. The two guards should work well together.

[illegible] Swampscott, is our choice for the pivot position. [illegible] is a natural football player and has a good football head. He is a fast man on the defense and a good passer with the ball. He is also a powerful man on the offense and can charge through a line in great style. He tackles and backs up the line in fine style. He should work well with the guards.

IN THE BACK FIELD.

In the backfield, Captain of Lynn English, and [illegible] Swampscott, are two of the best backfield men I have seen in action for some time. [illegible] is a natural football player and has a good football head. He is a fast man on the defense and a good passer with the ball. He is also a powerful man on the offense and can charge through a line in great style. He tackles and backs up the line in fine style. He should work well with the guards.

The following is our choice for the backfield position:

[illegible] Lynn English, and [illegible] Lynn English, are two of the best backfield men I have seen in action for some time. [illegible] is a natural football player and has a good football head. He is a fast man on the defense and a good passer with the ball. He is also a powerful man on the offense and can charge through a line in great style. He tackles and backs up the line in fine style. He should work well with the guards.

NORTH SHORE ALL-SCHOLASTIC XI

FIRST TEAM		SECOND TEAM
[illegible]	L.E.	[illegible]
[illegible]	L.T.	[illegible]
[illegible]	L.G.	[illegible]
[illegible]	C.	[illegible]
[illegible]	R.G.	[illegible]
[illegible]	R.T.	[illegible]
[illegible]	R.E.	[illegible]
[illegible]	Q.	[illegible]
[illegible]	L.H.	[illegible]
[illegible]	R.H.	[illegible]
[illegible]	F.	[illegible]

RESULTS

Bowie Results

FIRST RACE.

Charm (Baker)	10.10	4.60	3.00
Sunrise (Leonard)	—	4.20	3.40
Mandy (Lavigne)	—	—	3.20

ALSO RAN—Chancellory, Grand Tar Lass, Miss Joy, Jack O. Lantern, Richard Roy, Redford, Peter Finnegan, Sol Cyman, Rathbone, Stacy Limerick.

SECOND RACE.

Sandy (E. Barnes)	13.60	8.70	7.70
Polish (Wade)	—	7.90	6.10
Pelt (Baker)	—	—	4.90

ALSO RAN—Adamas, Lady Marie, Knapsack, Blackbird, Bitter Sweet, Blind Cost, Miss Sport Tra., Sun De Mer, Accomplish.

THIRD RACE.

Herodian (Calhoun)	14.60	7.60	4.80
Aurelia (Brown)	—	9.60	6.10
Rolla Borre (E. Barnes)	—	—	4.80

ALSO RAN—Son of John, Big Swoop, Gallant, Lieutenant Red, War Eagle.

FOURTH RACE.

Sortie (Wilson)	7.20	4.30	3.10
Centaur (Cottrill)	—	9.20	4.40
Ada (Lavigne)	—	—	3.60

ALSO RAN—The Dyer, Bystander, Cottage, Dicing, Black Friar, Solace, Girl Friend, Leonard B. Tinto.

FIFTH RACE.

Recreation (Fields)	8.10	4.60	4.40
F. Fred A. (Cottrill)	—	9.80	7.40
Signals (Leonard)	—	—	25.80

ALSO RAN—Cockrill, Mate Kraus, Prince, Ferelith, Spear Rock, Comet, William M.

SIXTH RACE.

Mars va (Abel)	36.10	16.70	6.00
Sweep (Leonard)	—	7.30	3.40
Aragon (Rice)	—	—	2.80

ALSO RAN—Fairmont, Gold Star, Jasper Signal, Clash, Aide, Ella Mc., Texas Ruby Harry, Botany, Legacy.

SEVENTH RACE.

Marauder (Leonard)	11.00	7.40	4.60
Long Tom (Abel)	—	11.00	6.40
Dr. H. Bren	—	—	3.60

ALSO RAN—Mollie McH, John S. Mosby, Dyer D., Lampo, Sand Pile, Mont, Powder Rim, Quandary, King O'Dea, Mr. Master, John F. Whitearf.

Tia Juana Results

FIRST RACE

[illegible] (Arbet)	3.50	3.00	2.70
[illegible] Front (Moore)	—	3.80	2.40
A. [illegible] (Crowley)	—	—	2.30

ALSO RAN—Beagle, Dungaree M., Jessie Pearl B., Shasta Express, Marjorie Rose, Bookworm, Salton Queen Rose, Foodgal, Little Shasta.

SECOND RACE

W. [illegible] (Wilson)	10.00	3.60	3.00
[illegible] (McDowell)	—	2.60	2.20
[illegible] (Rice)	—	—	2.40

ALSO RAN—Trust and Chas. Cooper, Dr. Zoe.

THIRD RACE

Queen Rose, [illegible]	6.40	2.60	2.20
Dr. [illegible] Stewart	—	2.60	2.20
Big Hop Peterson	—	—	2.80

ALSO RAN—Jimmy Boy, The Boyne, George Teel, Be Little Sadie.

FOURTH RACE

Golden Queen (Crowley)	7.10	4.00	4.00
Par-Joy, (Lowe)	—	4.40	3.00
Little Bess (Rodrigo)	—	—	2.80

ALSO RAN—Tibet, Fire Captain, Fort Wayne, Isaman.

FIFTH RACE

Crossbow (McCann)	3.50	3.00	3.40
Brazen (Lowe)	—	—	3.00
Count De [illegible]	—	—	2.60

SIXTH RACE

[illegible] Lewis
[illegible] (Rice)
[illegible] (Abel)

ALSO RAN—[illegible]

SEVENTH RACE

[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]

ALSO RAN—[illegible]

Davis Cup Tests May Be Held Much Earlier

[illegible] Nov. 26.—An

Widow Plans Fight on Tiger Flowers' Will

[illegible] Ga., Nov. 26 (I.N.S.)—A [illegible] in the will of the late [illegible] Tiger" Flowers, middleweight champion of the world [illegible] announcement [illegible] H. [illegible] Atlanta lawyer [illegible] Mrs. [illegible] in the will, court.

EIGHTH RACE

Jocatus (H. Hathaway)	26.50	15.40	10.80
Dossier (W. Bassett, jr.)	—	10.50	8.00
My Daddy (E. Russell)	—	—	7.00

ALSO RAN—Jack Sharper, Dr. Heffernan, Rock of Ages, Kansas Lizard, Freshener, Dusty Ann, Rabbette, Pure Gem, Bath, Jr., Shasta Limited.

Lexington Results

FIRST RACE.

Dr. Mason (E. Pool)	8.80	2.80	2.60
Chesterbrook (J. McDole)	—	6.40	3.80
Miss Grazie (Lancaster)	—	—	3.00

ALSO RAN—Miss Shapeff Out, Boatman, Rock of Ages, Kansas Lizard, Freshener, Dusty Ann, Rabbette, Pure Gem, Bath, Jr., Shasta Limited.

SECOND RACE.

Gham (Hardy)	18.20	9.40	5.80
Patsy R. (Peel)	—	4.60	3.80
Jack Rabbit (Lancaster)	—	—	3.80

ALSO RAN—Anna Leigston, Lightwaves, Lady Julia, Chrysler, Echo Light, Mansel, Fast Ann Watch Maid, Model.

THIRD RACE.

Petrochio (Chiavetti)	9.40	3.80	3.00
Rosanna Princess (Peel)	—	3.00	2.80
Old Fellow (Lancaster)	—	—	6.40

ALSO RAN—Jess K., Paul Smith, Occ. Ann, George McGrath, Jay Bell, Rivalry.

FOURTH RACE.

William Penn (Streetman)	3.20	2.20	—
Typhoon (Smith)	—	3.80	—
Irish Pal (Hardy)	—	—	—

ALSO RAN—Nick Collop.

FIFTH RACE.

Mat Time (Reiser)	20.00	7.30	4.60
Lydia (Hardy)	—	4.80	2.80
Barbara (McCoy)	—	—	2.60

ALSO RAN—Myrtle Don, Detort, Dinner Jacket, Prince Rufus, Sandy Hatch.

SIXTH RACE.

Indianapolis (Crossley)	14.40	12.00	10.00
George Denzer (Chiavetti)	—	13.00	9.00
Another Surprise	—	—	6.00

ALSO RAN—Smiling Gun, Iraq, Lieut Sutton.

SEVENTH RACE.

Barry Picker, McCoy	13.00	8.20	3.80
Rimo Age (Hardy)	—	3.60	3.00
Wrack Ray (Chiavetti)	—	—	11.60

ALSO RAN—West Point B's Jesse S., Terry, Friday Rich Up, Ella Dora, Magnolia Light, Galloping Shoes, Mesaverand, Rayon.

New Orleans Results

FIRST RACE.

Tommy Tickle (Mesa)	4.20	3.00	2.40
Bright Spangle (Meyer)	—	11.80	6.80
Cherrybrook (Ellis)	—	—	3.60

ALSO RAN—Purple Flag, Scotland Bay, Lady D Or, Jasord.

SECOND RACE

Marsalis (Rawlins)	6.60	4.40	3.60
Miss Ruby Mayer	—	3.60	4.80
Ch of Sabatus	—	—	7.50

ALSO RAN—Trois Jos, Rockard, Amy A Don Iranhoe, Star Falcon.

THIRD RACE

Wheat-Led (Cotsett)	19.60	4.60	2.80
Dear Queen Bowden)	—	2.60	2.20
Royal Aaron	—	—	2.40

ALSO RAN—Georgia Rose, Orbit Twinkle.

FOURTH RACE

Highland Chief (Bendel)	4.80	3.40	2.60
Carlham Paterson	—	6.20	4.60
Ben [illegible]	—	—	3.00

FIFTH RACE

[illegible]	18.20	8.60	4.00
[illegible] Rocket	—	2.10	2.10
[illegible]	—	—	2.10

ALSO RAN—[illegible] Fagon Wang Bud.

SIXTH RACE

[illegible]	4.80	3.80	2.80
[illegible]	—	3.00	2.60
[illegible]	—	—	2.20

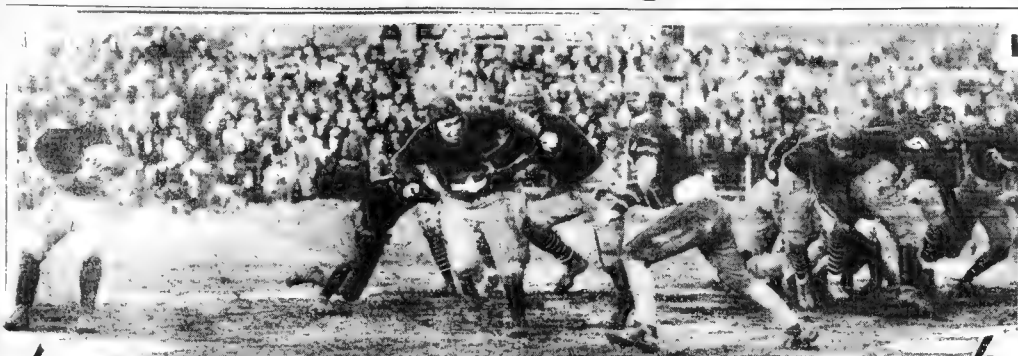
ALSO RAN—Julio Lane, The Master, Golden Revenge.

SEVENTH RACE

Royal Oak (Buttress)	28.60	12.60	6.00
Lancelot (Meyer)	—	5.00	3.60
Sweet Sweet (Lancaster)	—	—	3.40

ALSO RAN—Torbernarue, Ramon Mio Gem, The Artful Maiden, Surgeon.

Former Harvard Backfield Star Again Dons Moleskins



MADDISON SAYLES of Crimson fame again answered to the referee's whistle yesterday. He showed the same old form playing for Battery A against the Engineers that caused the Crimson stands to cheer in past years. Sayles is photoed above throwing one of the few successful forwards completed by the Battery.

COMPANY E WINS OVER BATTERY A

Plummer's Field Goal in Fourth Period Gives Engineers 3 to 0 Win

The fondest hopes of the powerful Battery A gridiron team to defeat Company E, 101st Engineers, failed on the Fulton street field, Medford, yesterday, where 4,000 spectators saw Company E of the Engineers win, 3 to 0.

Plummer, the crashing full-back, was the hero of the day. From Battery A's 40-yard line Plummer dropkicked a perfect goal. The winning tally came late in the fourth period. Apparently the spectators were as spellbound as the opponents when Plummer kicked from that distance.

Both teams set up a stonewall defence. Line plunges and end runs were few as punts and kicks formed the attacking [illegible]. Aerial attempts [illegible] and both [illegible] the forward pass when [illegible] and Wells [illegible] intercepting [illegible] formed the [illegible].

Many times [illegible] worked for Battery A as the ball [illegible] but [illegible] was [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] was [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

WILSON HERO OF ARMY'S 14-9 WIN OVER NAVY

CAPTAIN SCORES 12 POINTS

Middies Lead Until Cadets' Pilot Starts on Wild Rampage

By NICK FLATLEY

Nick Flatley

It was a desperate, gruelling fight from the opening whistle until the last sturdy play had sent a crowd of 74,000 fans away, satisfied with a perfect windup for a great season.

Lloyd of Navy Making 5 Yards Gain Around Army End

STERLING HALFBACK OF MIDDIES is photoed above advancing the ball for the Cadets in the second period of their annual battle at the Polo Grounds. This spectacular picture was transmitted over the wires of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company to the International News Reel.

MURREL OF ARMY is shown kicking his team out of trouble in the first period of yesterday's game at the Polo Grounds. The Cadet fullback had plenty of time in getting the punt off as this photo sent over the wires of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company to the International News Reel shows.

BAUER OF THE NAVY is pictured in one of his many thrust [illegible] who has starred all year for the Middies, didn't start the game [illegible] felt when once he took up the cause of the [illegible] ted over the wire of the American T. and T. to the International Newsree

FALL RIVER DEFEATS N. Y. TEAM

Gotham Nationals Bow to Well Drilled Marksmen in Fast Game, 3-1

COATS BEAT NEWARK, 5-2

Soccer Abroad

Football Abroad

Facts and Figures on Army-Navy Contest

NEW YORK [illegible]

Average distance gained on kicks—Navy, 33; Army, 39.
Distance gained running back kicks—Navy, 59 yards, Army, 106 yards.
Fumbles—Army, 3; Navy, 2.
Penalties—Navy, 75 yards; Army, 60 yards.

Bud Taylor Hurt; Title Bout Off

NEW YORK, Nov. 2—(AP)—Bud Taylor of Terre Haute, [illegible]

[illegible] said today.

The winner of the bout would be matched with [illegible] New York Boxing Commission, it was announced in the [illegible] of Boston.

McMahon has engaged Ignacio Fernandez, a Filipino boxer, to replace Taylor against Canzoneri in La Salle's return [illegible]

Over a Million Winterfront Users

PROTECT their motors against the destroying influence of cold with Automatic motor protection. This is a vital warning to you. Equip your car with Pines Automatic Winterfront at 60° Fahrenheit. That's when cold strikes at the heart of your motor.

Models for all cars—priced $22.50 to $40.00. Special models for Ford, $15; Chevrolet, $17.50; Dodge Four, $20

PINES AUTOMATIC WINTERFRONT
TRADE MARK REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

The Only Automatic Radiator Shutter on the Market

New England Distributors

W. J. CONNELL CO.
121 Brookline Ave., Boston Kenmore 1773-4-5

HOME TOWN FETES CALDWELL LIKE LINDY

$1,000 AND LOVING CUP FOR HERO

Yale Star Honored by Parade, Fireworks, Banquet and Many Speeches

[illegible]

BUSINESS SUSPENDED

[illegible]

With his customers modestly shouting praise of his cooking, Tod Lowe, and Bill Websdyke, for whom he waited every morning of the season, worked his head off.

[illegible]

MIGHT TURN PRO

His admirers are eager to "find out about pickin' professional teams and was advised that no [illegible] proposition.

[illegible]

"When I left San Francisco as a member of the All-star team for Hawaii my mother told me not to forget to uphold the fine name of my pals in the old home town," said Bruce.

He was presented with a [illegible] before leaving and [illegible] Mitchel [illegible]

[illegible] Connell, [illegible] Allen, [illegible] Ernie Hall, [illegible] of Lincoln [illegible] Jimmy Hogan [illegible]

[illegible]

AL'S SPORT SERMONETTE

Bruce Caldwell--His Day; A Tempest on the Gridiron; Some Recipes for Making Heroes; Whether to Take the Cash or the Credit

By AL NICKERSON.

YESTERDAY was Bruce Caldwell day in Cumberland, R. I. It was at the little high school there that football's newest hero learned the game. It is there that he and his family live.

AL

Next Saturday will be Bruce Caldwell day at the annual Old Yale Barn Party of the Yale Club of Montclair, N. J. Caldwell will play on the All-East team which will meet an All-West team at San Francisco on Dec. 26. And so on.

A tempest on the gridiron—as area almost as restricted for tempest purposes as the proverbial teapot—made Caldwell a hero.

It, on the other hand, deprived him of a place on this year's All-American team, and set the stage for the two sad days in his life. These were the days when, ineligible to play, he sat on the bench at Yale met Princeton and Harvard. The fact that Yale won both games lightened Caldwell's burden of grief but slightly.

CALDWELL has been made a hero, but he hates the role. He broke a Yale-Princeton-Harvard law he didnt know existed when he made the Eli eleven after having played on the Brown freshman team. "It was much as a man might walk on the grass without seeing the sign," one writer says.

Caldwell had the stuff in him because he was the only high school graduate on the Yale varsity squad. With only a small-town football background, he won a place on a team all the other members of which were from private schools, which make a science of the grid game.

Caldwell may play basketball and baseball for Yale, as he did not go out for these sports while at Brown. In fact, he was a member of last year's team which Izzy Zarakov defeated by a home run with the bases full. Oh, these rule-makers!

Caldwell is a hero. But how long will he remain one? Longer than many, perhaps, because like true heroes, he is of modest demeanor.

Interviewed after the Harvard game he did not say "I was one of the greatest backs in the East." Instead he told a sport writer:

"ANYONE could deliver playing at No. 3 in the Yale backfield. It is the wonderful interference and blocking of the Yale team that clears the way. Johnny Garvey went great against Harvard, and so did Bill Hammersley. Almost any back could run himself into fame through the holes the Yale team opened for him."

Caldwell is a hero, but heroes stand in slippery places. The public is fickle and the biographers are worse.

Adam was the first hero, but now comes a fiction writer who intimates Adam was deficient in philosophy, management of the home and savoir faire.

General Washington and General Burgoyne were heroes, and then someone started to write THEM up. Admiral Dewey and Richmond Pearson Hobson fluttered from their pedestals to the ex-hero class. Some of the heroes of yesteryear are gone and others are jolly well forgotten.

The prime recipe for remaining a first-class journeyman hero is to take the credit and let the cash go.

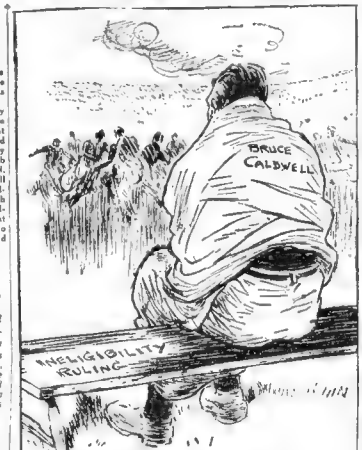
CALDWELL was deluged with offers of jobs paying thousands of dollars a few days after he was declared ineligible to play football for Yale. They were jobs such as a young man would gladly spend four years in college preparing for. They were jobs such as Bruce Caldwell may not have offered to him next June, when college closes.

But he had just been elected a hero. And a Grade-A hero cannot capitalize his admission to the select circle.

Caldwell, by all accounts, was and is a mighty fine chap. Football developed those fine qualities and probably in better fashion than geometry, dead languages or English composition.

Why, then, do the aesthetes "bear down" on football? Why not let it have its place in the November sun? It produces the Bruce Caldwells of this day and generation.

Copyright 1927, Walter C. N. Iverson



Bruce Caldwell of Yale on the outside looking in. From a cartoon by McGurk.

BRUINS LOSE FIRST GAME, 4-3

New York Americans Beat Local Pro Six in Overtime Game at Arena

[illegible]

FIRST PERIOD

[illegible]

SECOND PERIOD

[illegible]

THIRD PERIOD

[illegible]

BOSTON

R. Green, Barry Boucher[illegible]

[illegible]

Referee—Billy Bell and George Mallen. Time—2—20m.

Jack Conway's BOXING NEWS

WANTED! Young men who wish to make a few hundred thousand dollars. Short hours. Speed, strength, skill, INTELLIGENCE, COURAGE, required. For details communicate with any boxing promoter.

[illegible] Mexico [illegible] Mickey McKirdy will have time to answer the numerous questions the aspirants [illegible] when [illegible] fire at them.

During a recent visit with Tex Rickard, the great promoter, asked me why there were so few money fighting cities.

"Why, there are only two—New York and Chicago," I replied. "Tex, Tex Rickard, Jack Dempsey and Johnny Dundee—all from Texas."

I put on more [illegible] cause the public refuses to get excited, and as a result fans are afraid of vacant seats. What's the answer?"

Lighter Classes Lacking in Star Boxers

Other promoters, not quite as widely advertised as Rickard, but just as well versed in the boxing racket, have put the same question to me.

During a week I [illegible] at Atlantic City, I found time to [illegible] what the fans are [illegible] a chance. I [illegible] to see well known boxing [illegible] go through their training. I found that [illegible] I [illegible] watching the fighters [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] classes are without star performers.

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [

'MET' SOPRANO TO SING OLD ENGLISH AIRS

Editha Fleischer, Singer, and Alexander Brailowsky in Kent Hour

Two famous European artists will present the Atwater Kent Hour tonight. They are Editha Fleischer, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and Alexander Brailowsky, concert pianist.

Old English melodies predominate Miss Fleischer's program, in keeping with the recent revival of interest in old English madrigals, airs, songs and folk melodies. These will include the 18th century lullaby, "Golden Slumbers"; the hunting song, "When Daisies Pied"; the popular love lyric, "The Sweet Little Girl That I Love," and others.

Brailowsky will open his concert with his favorite composer, Chopin. "I always prefer the romantic," said Brailowsky, "especially Chopin, presenting the difficulties of Chopin. I find very satisfying, and not a Brailowsky Chopin that I want to play but the Chopin Chopin."

Brailowsky left his home in Russia at the age of 11 years to study in Vienna, later living in Belgium and in Paris where he has given more than 33 concerts.

He has toured the principal European countries and has also played in concert in Mexico and South America. He made an American debut in New York, November 15, 1924, and has since given concerts in the larger American cities.

Miss Fleischer is a native of Saxony, educated in Leipzig, Switzerland and the conservatory of Berlin. She made her debut in the Berlin Opera House in the role of Constanza in Mozart's opera, "Die Entführung aus dem Serail."

After two years in Berlin she joined the Vienna Opera Company and came to this country as a member of the Wagnerian Opera Company.

The joint program will be broadcast through WEEI and 23 other stations.

TUESDAY HOUR FOR FAMOUS COMPOSERS

Works of French, American, German and Russian composers go to make up the program on the stroke of 1 o'clock this afternoon hour to be broadcast through WJZ and other stations.

Tuesday evening, Nov. 29, beginning at 8:00 o'clock Romeo Boston, director of the Goldenberg-Carlson Orchestra, has arranged selections from Rodgers' Great Empire, a recent musical comedy success of Broadway, Paul Lincke's "Wedding Dance" (Ball) by Louis Gruno, the "Rose of Tralee" by Joe Utzkowsky, and the Schubert "Serenade."

Besides making this program a great musical interest,

STRING ARTISTS IN TROUBADOUR BILL

[illegible] Sam Lasch, director of the Lasch Troubadours, will [illegible] broadcast by the Troubadours [illegible] Nov. 30, beginning at 8:00 o'clock.

The song is [illegible] Victor Herbert's "Indian Summer" and [illegible] Dvorak's "Humoresque" and [illegible] favorite and the concluding selection, "Barcharole," taken from Gaunod's pantomime ballet, "Tod [illegible]."

MANCHURIA LEADS FAR EAST RADIO

Seattle, Nov. 26.—The three huge radio stations of Muckden, in southern Manchuria, make that city the largest and most modern radio center of the whole Far East, according to General Wu Tse Yu, who was delegate to the Washington international radio conference.

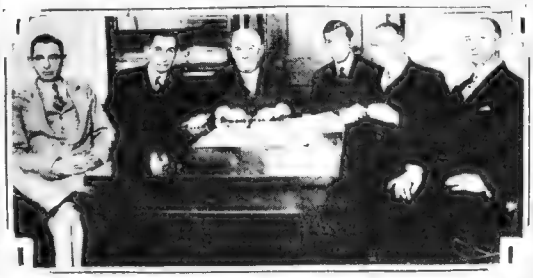
RADIO TELEPHONE FAILS TO PROFIT

London.—That the present radio telephone between Britain and the United States is not proving such a paying proposition as was at first thought it would is indicated by the fact that English telephone subscribers are receiving "circulars" from the British post authorities of the existence of the radio telephone and the facilities offered.

AMATEURS PUT ON RADIO PROGRAMS

Cuba has forty-five amateur radio broadcasting stations and only two others. The amateurs use broadcast wave lengths and put entertainment in the air.

Future of Radio Lies in Their Hands



ONE OF THE LAST photos taken of the Federal Radio Commission before the recent death of W. H. G. Bullard, Chairman. Left to right they are: Sam Pickard, E. O. Sykes, Chairman Bullard, Carl H. Butman, Secretary; O. H. Caldwell and H. A. Lafount.

MINNESOTA IN GYPSIES BILL

"Tales of Hoffman," "Valse Bluette" and Other Selections in Hour Concert

The Gypsies in the [illegible] program to be broadcast [illegible] WEEI tomorrow night at 9:00 o'clock [illegible] All of the [illegible] selections.

As is the [illegible] selection of [illegible] state's [illegible] popularity [illegible] Bar in the [illegible] of Hoffman."

Hugo Reeds in the [illegible] "Le Rimail [illegible] Bluette" [illegible] Gypsies [illegible] Schubert [illegible] Gypsies [illegible] arranged for [illegible] pianist [illegible] for piano with [illegible] The [illegible] Finnish [illegible] Intermezzo [illegible] and [illegible] answer to [illegible] Waters of [illegible] tonight which [illegible] other stations [illegible]

Tuesday evening, Nov. 29, [illegible] ning at 8:00 o'clock [illegible] Romeo Boston, director of the [illegible] Goldenberg-Carlson Orchestra, has [illegible] selections from Rodgers' [illegible] Great Empire, a recent musical [illegible] success of Broadway, Paul [illegible] Lincke's "Wedding Dance" (Ball) [illegible] by Louis Gruno, the "Rose of [illegible] Tralee" by Joe Utzkowsky, and the [illegible] Schubert "Serenade."

Besides making this program a great musical interest,

WILL PUT NOTED NUMBERS ON AIR

The [illegible] overture from Ambroise Thomas' opera "Mignon" and Liszt's [illegible] standing numbers in the program to be broadcast by the Moscow Art [illegible] Orchestra, through WEEI today at [illegible]

[illegible] Hungarian and [illegible] favorite and the concluding selection, "Barcharole," taken from Gaunod's pantomime ballet, "Tod [illegible]."

OPERA FEATURES THURSDAY RADIO

Rise Stevens, Hagemeyer in will hear [illegible]

ENGLISH STATION SENDS IN 2 CITIES

The [illegible] broadcasting station [illegible] broadcast [illegible] Wednesday [illegible] Bolton [illegible] Lancashire [illegible] Bolton [illegible] Lancashire [illegible] Bolton [illegible] Lancashire

COMPLETE RADIO BROADCASTS SCHEDULED FOR TODAY

Boston Stations

WNAC—SHEPARD STORES—461.3

WEEI—EDISON LIGHT—447.8

WBZ—WESTINGHOUSE—BOSTON AND SPRINGFIELD—333.1

WBZA—WBZ—WESTINGHOUSE—BOSTON AND SPRINGFIELD—333.1

WCSH—PORTLAND—442

WLBZ—IRVINGTON—215.7

WTIC—HARTFORD—535.4

WEAN—PROVIDENCE—305

WJAR—PROVIDENCE—305

WTAG—WORCESTER—227

JOHN CHARLES THOMAS. American tenor, is one of the artists to be featured in the "Family Party" broadcast tomorrow night at 9:30 o'clock from WEEI and other stations.

New York Stations

WJZ—494.8

WEAF—491.8

WOR—NEWARK—422.3

WHN—NEW YORK—360

WMCA—NEW YORK—341

WRNY—NEW YORK—309

New England Stations

WBAN—BABSON PARK, WELLESLEY HILLS—384.4

WLOE—BOSTON—278

WBSO—WELLESLEY HILLS—535.4

WNAC—BOSTON—348.6

WBZ—SPRINGFIELD—333.1

WORC—WORCESTER—278

WTAG—WORCESTER—227

WJAR—PROVIDENCE—305

WEAN—PROVIDENCE—305

WLIT—PROVIDENCE—275

WCSH—PORTLAND—442

WGAN—PORTLAND—374.8

WLBZ—BANGOR—215.7

WABI—BANGOR—275

WFEA—MANCHESTER—393.7

WLOE—BOSTON—278

WTIC—HARTFORD—535.4

WICC—BRIDGEPORT—394.5

Noted Songbird Heads Radio Menu of 'Family Party'

JOHN THOMAS TO BE HEARD IN 4 NUMBERS

Weber and Fields, Stage Stars, and Fritz Busch, Conductor, on the Program

John Charles Thomas, famous baritone, heads the group of musical notables to be heard tomorrow night in another gala "Family Party" by General Motors, to be broadcast through WEEI and 26 other stations. More than 100 artists will participate, with the veteran favorites, Weber and Fields, acting as masters of ceremonies.

Thomas is scheduled to sing four numbers under conditions which promise to bring forth the most appealing qualities of his voice, declared by the best critics to be "warm, colorful, tender and forceful—a rating of golden promise with body richness." His first two songs will be rendered with symphonic accompaniment and his second group with Goldman's Band.

The symphony orchestra will be conducted by Fritz Busch, leader of the New York Symphony Orchestra and former director of the Dresden Opera Company. Besides providing the accompaniment for two of Thomas' numbers, it will play three other special selections.

Weber and Fields will "do their stuff" in their popular, old time manner, in the second, or radio novelty division of the hour, assisted by Joe Green's marimba band.

The closing period of the entertainment will be devoted to popular music by Goldman's band, under the leadership of Edward Franko Goldman, with a concerto by Lalo featured. In addition to Mr. Busch's well known his unusual success is due to the varied experiences of this comparatively youthful artist.

[illegible] musical career of John Charles Thomas [illegible] perhaps a typical example of

Lew Fields (left) and Joe Weber

The son of a Methodist minister, he had lived in eight different towns before he determined to become a doctor and entered medical college in Baltimore. As a youth, however, he had sung [illegible] in

Two Beauties

OLGA LARSEN, radio enthusiast, shown with her new Sonocharde cone speaker, one of the new models now attracting public attention.

LISTENING IN

By the Radio Editor

FAST STEPPING music on several programs this week will keep the radio waves hot, if tunes mean anything. On Wednesday night from WBZ-WHAZ, the champion Sparklers promise "Sazarella," a piece designed for saxophone players who know they are good.

[illegible] cheering [illegible] and vocal accent in the solos [illegible] Tony [illegible] Boy [illegible] Tony [illegible] Lonesome [illegible] Been Gone [illegible] Me [illegible] Nothing to Lose" and "Crazy Fingers."

• • •

LISTENERS able to get WJZ on Tuesday night will hear the Gamblers in a hilarious mood. Their contribution to the other entertainment of the evening includes the following: "He Ain't Never Been to College," "I Ain't That Kind of a Baby," "Ice Cream," "Max and His Sax," "Nanette Nanette" and "Gee, I'm Glad I'm Home."

• • •

WEEI offers two programs that should be above the ordinary. Verde Grete, [illegible] violinist of Paul Whiteman's [illegible] orchestra will be a guest of the Eastern on [illegible] evening, playing several of his own [illegible] Also [illegible] The [illegible] Boys are getting better and better and will offer what figures to be their best program yet on next Wednesday night.

• • •

THE United Spanish War Veterans in the space of one hour at the WEEI mike tomorrow night will present the Aleph Trio, Ben Ives Mee Quartet and ex-Mayor James M. Curley and experts in their varied lines of endeavor and present radio performers as well. The Veterans' past commander will make an address.

• • •

TONIGHT another famous and humorous weaver of the many oral tegs will be—or rather may be heard, depending upon radio conditions—when the Friars Club of New York dines with Mayor James J. Walker as a guest of honor. The laugh making results of the country-wide sifting Babe Ruth, Ralph Hitchcock and noted stage stars will contribute a side-splitting program is scaled from WGBS at 8:30 o'clock.

• • •

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE was on the air in good style Thanksgiving eve. The President sat in a comfortable chair in his study and was heard to offer [illegible] of the nation. It was a [illegible] [illegible] expressing [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Finance—Money—Investments—Bonds—Stocks

DEAD SEA OF BIBLE FAME TO YIELD RICHES

Chemical Combine to Exploit Potash, Etc., in Zone of Desolation

By FRANK R. MELSON,
Financial Editor.

This Sunday we can turn to the Bible for the colorful background of the latest story of industrial enterprise.

It has become definitely known that the Imperial Chemical Industries of England, otherwise known as "the chemical combine," has secured the concession for exploiting the potash and other chemical resources of the Dead Sea of Palestine.

WIFE TURNS INTO SALT.

Three verses of Genesis describe in part the scene of desolation, the creation of this "dead sea" of Scripture.

Version:

"And the Lord said, Because Sodom and Gomorrha is grievous unto me, and because their sin is very grave; I will go down now, and see whether they have done altogether according to the cry of it, which is come unto me; and if not, I will know.

"And he looked toward Sodom and all the country about, all the inhabitants of the plain, and all that grew upon the ground, and, lo, the smoke of the country went up as the smoke of a furnace.

"And it came to pass, while God destroyed the cities of the plain, that God remembered Abraham, and sent Lot out of the midst of the overthrow, when he overthrew the cities in the which Lot dwelt.

And his wife looked back from behind him, and she became a pillar of salt."

Lot's wife, looking back, was turned into a statue of salt.

Abraham in fact was a wealthy man and the owner of many flocks and herds.

Lot, his nephew, was also a man of substance, and when Abraham and Lot could not dwell together because their possessions were so great that the land could not bear them, Abraham gave Lot his choice of the land.

Lot chose the plain of Jordan, which was well watered, "even as the garden of the Lord, like the land of Egypt, as thou comest unto Zoar."

NAMED BY JEROME.

Jerome (331-420), who first translated the Bible into Latin, named the Dead Sea "Asphaltites" because of the asphalt which floats on its surface.

Josephus, the historian, described the Dead Sea as "bitter and unfruitful, insomuch that it destroys the living creatures that swim in it, for the water is heavier than ordinary water and the bitumen makes it thicker."

Another writer says: "The water is nearly as clear and limpid as that of a mountain spring."

CONTENTS OF SEA.

The Dead Sea contains a chemical treasure compounded of potash, bromine, magnesium, sodium chloride, calcium chloride and other minerals.

Sir Alfred Mond is chairman of the British company which has secured the concession for exploiting the Dead Sea. Among its directors are Sir Josiah Stamp, Sir Max Muspratt, Sir Harry McGowan, Lord Ashfield and Lord Reading.

HOW MOST ACTIVE STOCKS HAVE SOLD

How most active stocks have sold in past week of full market days is shown in the following table, including dividend rate in dollars appearing in parentheses.

New York Cotton

New York cotton sold off at the close of December finished at 19.22, down 16, January finished at 19.24, down 19, March 19.53, down 20; May 19.75, down 17; July 19.67, down 16; and October 19.18, down 19.

Chicago Grain Mart

Chicago grains closed slightly lower after steadiness through most of the market. December wheat $1.37⅝; corn, 86½; oats, 48⅝.

BOSTON STOCKS

Total sales for past week, 3503 bonds and 208 339 shares; previous week, 8101 bonds and 239 374 shares; like period a year ago, 1451 bonds and 102,197 shares.

	Nov 26 High	Low	Close	Nov 28 High	Low	Close
Abitib P & P 138	138	138
Adv Rumely .. 15⅝	14⅝	14⅝	14⅝
Air Reduction 178	177	178	178
Alaska Rubber 8⅝	8⅝	8⅝	8⅝
All Ch & Dye 153⅞	152⅛	153½	153½
Am Ice Sec pf 81	81	81	81
Am Locomotive 30	30	30	30
Am Ag Chem 14⅞	14⅜	14⅝	14⅝
Am Sm & R .. 51	50½	51	51
Am Sm & R pf 82	82	82	82
Am Woolen pf 25⅝	25⅝	25⅝	25⅝
Am Tel & Tel 178½	178⅛	178½	178½
Am Woolen .. 21⅜	21⅛	21⅜	—
Amoskeag .. 45½	45⅜	45⅝	45⅝
Amoskeag pf 99	99	99	99
Anaconda .. 43½	42⅝	42⅞	42⅞
Area Consol .. 1⅝	1⅝	1⅝	1⅝
Arlington .. 5¼	5¼	5¼	5¼
Atlantic Mills 85	93	85	85
Bingham .. 57	57	57	57
Boston Elev .. 96½	97	96⅝	96⅝
Boston & Me pf 103	102	103	—
Boston & Prov 120	120	120	120
Bos El Ppf .. 108⅛	108⅛	108⅛	109
B & M & Astp .. 72½	71⅝	72½	72½
B & M Rrstp .. 153⅝	153	153	156
Cal & Hecla .. 19	19	19	19
Cap Range .. 2⅜	2⅜	2⅜	3
Cent Butte .. 2 3-16	2 3-16	2 3-16	2 3-16
Eastern SS .. 92½	91½	92½	91½
East SS I pf 103½	103½	103½	—
Edison .. 216	212½	215½	215½
E Mass adj .. 55	55	55	55
Fairbanks .. 33	33	34½	35
Fairb Nat Bk 20	19	20	20
Gen El .. 144½	139⅝	137⅝	140⅛
Gillette .. 100	99½	99½	100
Gleason .. 32⅞	32¼	32¼	32¼
Gray Hound .. 34½	33½	34½	33
Gt Nor Iron .. 23	23	23	23
Hood Rub .. 44⅞	44	44⅞	44
Inland Creek .. 6⅝	6⅝	6⅝	6⅝
Isle Roy .. 13	13	14	13
Mass Gas .. 115	113	113½	111
Mass Gas pf 81½	81⅝	81½	81½
Mexican .. 85⅝	85⅛	85⅝	85⅝
Mont Power pf 108	108	108	108
New Eng Tel 140	140	140	140
North Am Co .. 50	49½	50	50
North Leather .. 3½	3⅜	3⅜	3⅜
Old Colony .. 27½	27½	27½	27½
N E Pet .. 19	19	19	19
New Haven .. 58½	57½	57½	57½
New Mex .. 6⅝	6⅝	6⅝	6⅝
North N H .. 105	105	105	105
North Butte .. 5-16	5-16	1-16	1-16
Pacific .. 19	19	19	19
Penn R R .. 65½	65⅜	65⅝	65⅝
Pond Creek .. 45	45	45	45
Quincy .. 30	30	30	30
Reece Button .. 3½	3½	3½	3½
Rex Oil .. 2⅝	2⅝	2⅝	2⅝
Rockwood .. 1	1	1	1
Rubber Shoe .. 49	49	49	49
Shawmut .. 21½	21½	21½	21½
Shawmut pf .. 104	104	104	104
Stone & Webster 30	30	30	30
Swift & Co .. 126½	126½	127½	126½
Tel .. 26	26	26⅝	26½
Tex Gulf Sul .. 54	54	54	54
Torrington .. 24	24	24	24
Trinity .. 11½	11½	11½	11½
Union Twist .. 15	15	15	15
United Fruit .. 136	136	136	136½
U S Smelt pf 49½	49½	49½	—
U S Steel .. 132½	132½	132⅝	133¼
U S Steel pf .. 158	158	158	158
Utah Metal .. 4½	4	4½	4½
Utah Metal pf .. 10	10	10	10
Utah Power .. 46	45½	46	46
Utah Power pf .. 97	97	97	97
Utah Securities .. 2	2	2	2
Venezuela .. 6⅝	6⅝	6⅝	6⅝
Victor Talk .. 29	29	29	29
Walker Bros .. 20	20	20	20
Wentworth .. 18	18	18	18
Westinghouse .. 120	120	120	120
Weyman Bruton .. 1	1	1	1
Wickwire .. 3½	3½	3½	3½
Wilcox Oil .. 1	1	1	1
Wolverine .. 49	49	49	49
Worthington .. 120	120	120	120
Worth Pump pf .. 97	96½	96⅝	96½
Wright Aero .. 66	66	66	66
Yellow Cab .. 6½	6½	6½	6½
Third Cliff pf .. 97	97	97	97
Third Cliff .. 210	210	205	210
Amoskeag 6s .. 83½	83½	83½	83½

Factors to watch in the week's

FACTORS TO WATCH IN WEEK'S MARKET

New York Curb

	Nov 26 High	Low	Close	Nov 28 High	Low	Close
Am Cyanamid .. 78⅝	78⅛	78⅝	78⅝
Am Gas & El .. 178⅝	178⅛	178⅝	178⅝
Am Superpower .. 74⅝	74⅛	74⅝	74⅝
Asso Gas .. 45½	45⅜	45⅝	45⅝
Atlas Plywood .. 49	49	49	49
Bancitaly .. 14⅝	14⅜	14⅝	14⅝
Bancitaly pf .. 91	90	90	90
Brit Am Tob .. 11⅝	11⅝	11⅝	11⅝
Brit Am Tob ord .. 11⅝	11⅝	11⅝	11⅝
Brit Celanese .. 5⅜	5⅜	5⅜	5⅜
Brit Celanese pf .. 21	21	21	21
Brit Empire .. 47	47	47	47
Brit Empire pf .. 82	82	82	82
Can Marconi .. 6	6	6	6
Cent Ill Sec .. 5⅝	5⅝	5⅝	5⅝
Cent Ill Sec pf .. 50	50	50	50
Cities Service .. 104⅝	103⅝	104⅝	103⅝
Cities Service pf .. 104⅝	104⅛	104⅝	104⅝
Commonwealth Pow .. 43	42⅝	43	43
Consol Gas .. 70⅜	70⅛	70⅜	71⅜
Cord Corp .. 21⅝	21⅜	21⅝	21⅝
Crocker Wheeler .. 24	24	24	24
Curtiss Aero .. 21⅝	21⅜	21⅝	21⅝
Curtiss Aero pf .. 104	104	104	104
Deere & Co pf .. 107	107	107	107
Elec Bond & Sh .. 92⅝	92⅜	92⅝	92⅝
Elec Bond & Sh pf .. 98⅝	98⅜	98⅝	98⅝
Ford Motor Ltd .. 26⅝	26⅜	26⅝	26⅝
Fox Film A .. 58⅝	58⅛	58⅝	58⅝
Gen Asphalt .. 66⅝	66⅛	66⅝	66⅝
Gen Electric .. 39⅝	39⅜	39⅝	39⅝
Gen Ry Sig .. 70⅝	70⅛	70⅝	70⅝
Gilchrist .. 20	20	20	20
Gold Dust .. 34⅝	34⅜	34⅝	34⅝
Goodrich Rub .. 84⅝	84⅛	84⅝	84⅝
Goodrich Rub pf .. 111⅝	111⅝	111⅝	111⅝
Goodyear .. 37⅝	37⅜	37⅝	37⅝
Goodyear pf .. 108	108	108	108
Gt Atl & Pac .. 57⅝	57⅜	57⅝	57⅝
Gt Northn pf .. 100⅝	100⅝	100⅝	100⅝
Gt Western Sug .. 37⅝	37⅝	37⅝	37⅝
Greene Cons .. 30⅝	29⅝	30⅝	30⅝
Gulf Sts Stl .. 51⅝	50⅝	51⅝	50
Gillette .. 98⅝	98⅛	98⅝	100
Hartman Corp B 21	20⅝	20⅝	20⅝
Hollander .. 35	35	35	35
Household Pr 66⅝	66⅛	66⅝	66⅝
Houston Oil .. 160⅝	158⅛	159⅝	160
Howe Sound .. 44⅝	42	43⅝	41⅝
Hd & Mn RR .. 82⅝	82⅛	82⅝	82⅝
Hudson Motor .. 71⅝	70⅝	70⅝	71

,NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1927

Saturday's stock sales on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange totaled 1,263,100 shares; bonds, $6,717,000. Stock sales for the five-day week totaled 11,065,100 shares; bonds, $35,127,000.

Markets of Day at a Glance

IN NEW YORK.
STOCKS—Strong in spots.
BONDS—Week-end profit-taking well digested.
FOREIGN EXCHANGES—Sterling up, franc and lire sell off.
COTTON—Futures start up, then recede.

IN BOSTON.
STOCKS—Up at peak since 1914.
BONDS—Demand is moderate.
COPPER—Red metal prices are firm.

IN CHICAGO.
GRAINS—Wheat, corn and oats lower.
PROVISIONS—Quotations are firm.

	Nov 26 High	Low	Close	Nov 25 Close
Hupp Motor .. 31	30⅝	30⅝	30⅝
Independ Oil .. 22⅝	21⅝	22	21⅞
Inspiration Cp .. 20	20	20	20
Interb Agric .. 63⅝	61⅝	63⅝	63⅝
Intere Rubber .. 23	22	24½	26½
Int Harvester .. 143¾	141	141	143¾
Int Business .. 198½	196½	196½	198
Int Com Eng .. 55⅝	54⅝	54⅝	55⅝
Int Match pf .. 90½	90	90	90½
Int Nickel .. 34⅝	34⅛	34⅝	34⅝
Int Mer Mar pf .. 47¾	47	46	46¾
Int Paper .. 46⅝	45⅝	45⅝	46⅝
Int Paper .. 79⅝	78⅝	78⅝	79
Int Tel & Tel .. 182	180	181	180½
Jewel Tea .. 114⅝	114	114	114
Jones Tea .. 30½	30	30½	30½
Jordan Motor .. 16	15⅝	15⅝	16
Kan City Sou .. 64⅝	64	64	64⅝
Kayser & Co .. 64⅝	64½	64⅝	64
Kelsey Wheel .. 24	23⅝	24	24
Kelly Springfield 31	30	30½	30½
Kennecott Cop 82	81⅜	82	81½
Kresge Dept .. 72⅝	72	72⅝	72⅝
Kresge Ord .. 33½	33	33½	33½
Lambert .. 82⅝	82⅛	82⅝	82½
Lehigh Valley .. 98⅝	98⅝	98⅝	100
Lehn & Fink .. 40¼	39⅝	39⅝	39
Liggett & M .. 124	123	123	123
Liggett & M B 122⅝	122⅝	122⅝	123
Liquid Carbo .. 54	53½	53⅝	54½
Loew Inc .. 54½	54	54	54½
Loft Inc .. 5¾	5½	5⅝	6
Loose Wiles .. 54½	53½	54	54
Lorillard & Co .. 41⅝	41⅛	41⅝	41⅝
Lou G & E .. 27	26½	27	26½
Mack Trucks .. 109¾	107½	109½	107½
Magma Copper .. 43	42⅝	43	42⅝
Manhat E Sup .. 54	53½	53⅝	54
Manh Ry Mtg .. 47½	46	47⅜	46
Marmon Motor .. 31	30½	30½	30½
Mcat St Pkg pp .. 54⅜	51⅞	54⅜	52½
Mexican Seab .. 35⅜	35⅛	35⅜	35⅜
Martin Parry .. 15	14⅝	14⅝	14⅝
Mathieson .. 137⅛	137½	139½	139½
May Dept Std .. 88	88	88⅝	89
Maytag .. 30	30	30	30
Mex Seabd Oil .. 6	6	6	6
Miami Copper .. 34	33⅝	33⅝	33⅝
Mid Cont Pet .. 28⅛	28⅛	28⅛	28⅛
Middle Sts Oil .. 2½	2½	2½	2½
Mid States Oil .. 7⅝	7⅝	7⅝	7⅝
M SP & S S M .. 48⅞	48⅞	48⅞	48¾
Mo Kan & Tex .. 43	42	43	42⅝
Mo Kan & T pf .. 107½	107	107	107
Mo Pacific .. 54⅝	54⅜	54½	53⅞
Mo Pacific pf .. 115⅜	113½	115	115
Montana Pow .. 104½	104	104	104
Montgy Ward .. 98¼	96½	96⅝	97½
Moon Motor .. 8⅝	8⅝	8⅝	8
Mid Steel pf .. 218	214	214½	214
Mido-Meter A .. 21½	20	20½	21
Motor Meter .. 22	22	22	22
Mother Lode .. 2¾	2¾	2¾	2¾
Mullins Body .. 23½	23¼	24¼	24
Murray Corp .. 30¼	30	30¼	30¼
Nat Acme .. 40	39½	40	40
Nat Biscuit .. 159	158½	158½	158½
Nat Cash Reg .. 16⅞	16⅝	16⅞	17
Nat Dairy Pr .. 61	60½	61	61
Nat Distill .. 52⅝	50⅜	50⅜	51½
Nat Enam & St .. 115½	113	112½	110
Nat P & L .. 24⅜	23½	23⅝	23⅝
Nat Supply .. 86⅝	85½	86	84⅜
New Cons Cop .. 17⅝	17½	17⅝	17⅝
NY Air Brake .. 43½	43	43½	43
NY Central .. 163½	163	163	163½
NY Haw pf .. 114	114	114	114
New Haven .. 58⅝	58⅜	58⅜	58⅝
NY Ont & W .. 36⅝	35⅝	35⅝	36
North Am .. 63⅜	63	63	63
Nor Pacific .. 109⅜	98⅞	100	99⅜
Omnibus Corp 15⅝	15	15	15⅝
Orpheum Circ 23½	23½	23½	23½
Otis Elevator .. 147⅝	147½	147½	148½
Otis Steel .. 17⅝	16⅝	16⅝	16⅝
Otis Stl Pf .. 66	65½	65½	65½
Owens Bot .. 84⅜	83½	84½	85⅜
Pacific Devel .. 43⅝	42⅝	43⅝	43⅝
Pack Motor .. 34⅝	34	34	34⅜
Paige Detroit .. 11½	11½	11½	11½
Pan-Am Pet B .. 46	45	45½	45½
Pan-Am Pet M 50½	50	50	50⅝
Pan-Am West .. 70	70	70	70
Panhandle Pr .. 114⅝	114½	114½	115
Park & Lasky .. 108½	108½	108½	108½
Penn .. 71½	71	71½	71½
Penn & Ohio pf .. 24⅜	23½	23½	23½
Phillips Petrol .. 41¾	41½	41½	41¾
Phoenix Hosiery 24	24	24	24
Pierce Arrow .. 14½	13½	14½	14½
Pierce Ar pf .. 51	50½	50½	51½
Pierce Oil .. 3⅝	3⅝	3⅝	3⅝
Pillsbury Fl .. 33⅜	33	33⅛	33⅜
Postum Cer .. 119⅝	119½	119½	119½
Prairie Oil .. 100½	100	100	100
Prairie Pipe .. 129⅝	129½	130½	—
Pressed Steel .. 42⅝	42⅜	42⅝	42⅝
Pub Serv N J .. 44⅝	44¼	44¼	44⅛
Pullman Co .. 81⅝	80⅝	81⅛	81⅝
Pure Oil .. 24⅝	24⅜	24⅝	24⅝
Purity Bak A .. 59	58½	58⅝	58⅝
Radio Corp .. 87⅞	85½	85⅞	86⅝
Radio Cp pf .. 93⅝	93	93	93⅝
Reading .. 110⅝	109⅝	109⅝	110
Reid Ice Cream 67⅜	67½	67⅜	67⅜
Remington R .. 23⅛	23	23	23
Reynolds Spr .. 8⅝	8½	8⅝	8⅝
Reynolds T B .. 65¾	64¾	65¾	65¾
Reynolds T B 134¾	135½	136¼	137⅜
Rossia Ins .. 28⅞	28⅝	28⅝	28⅝
St L & S F .. 111	111	111	111½
St L S'western .. 85	80¾	80¾	80⅝
St L S'West pf .. 90⅝	89⅝	89⅝	89⅝
Savage Arms .. 58⅝	57	57⅛	56⅞
Schulte Stores 53¾	52¾	53¾	53⅝
Seaboard Air L .. 20½	20⅜	20⅝	20⅝
Seab Air L pf .. 39⅛	38⅝	39⅞	40
Sears Roebuck .. 82⅜	82	82	82⅜
Shattuck F C .. 29⅜	29⅛	29⅜	29⅜
Shell Union O .. 26½	26¼	26½	26⅝
Shubert T .. 73⅝	72⅝	73⅛	73⅝
Sinclair Oil .. 16⅝	16⅜	16⅝	16⅝
Simmons Co .. 55⅝	55	55⅜	56
Simms Petrol .. 19	19	19	19
Skelly Oil .. 27½	27½	27½	28

	Nov 26 High	Low	Close	Nov 25 Close
Southern Pac .. 120	119⅞	120	120⅛
So Cal Edison .. 40¼	40	40¼	39⅝
So Dairy A .. 22½	21	21	22
So Dairy B .. 8¼	8¼	8¼	8⅜
So P R Sug .. 38⅝	38	38	38
Southern Ry .. 140⅜	139⅞	140	139⅝
Std Gas & El .. 63	61	62¾	60⅞
Std Oil Calif .. 56	55⅜	56	56
Std Oil NJ .. 40⅝	40⅛	40⅝	40⅝
Std NY .. 32⅜	31⅞	32	32⅛
Stand Mill .. 88⅝	88½	88⅝	89⅜
Stewart-W Sp .. 75⅝	77⅝	78¾	76⅝
Studebaker .. 57⅝	56⅝	57	56⅜
Sun Oil .. 71⅞	71	71½	—
Superior Oil .. 3⅝	3⅝	3⅝	3½
Symington .. 5⅛	5⅛	5⅛	5⅛
Symington A .. 14⅞	14⅝	14⅞	14⅝
Tenn & Wil .. 38	33⅜	38⅜	35⅜
Tenn Cop&C .. 10	10	10	10
Texas & Co .. 53⅝	53⅜	53½	53⅜
Texas Gulf Sul 54⅝	54	54⅝	54⅝
Tex PacLT n .. 23¾	23½	23⅝	23⅜
Tex & PCoOil 133⅝	131½	133⅛	133⅛
Tex & PacRR 101½	101	101	101
TideWat Oil n117	116½	116½	117
Timken Roll .. 108	108	108	108½
Transcontl Oil .. 9⅝	9½	9⅝	9⅝
Underwood T .. 66⅝	64½	65⅞	66⅞
Union Carb .. 132½	131½	132½	131
Un Oil of Cal .. 43⅞	43⅞	43⅞	44¼
Union Pac .. 194½	193¾	194	194
Un Pac 1st R .. 84¾	84¼	84½	84½
Un Drug .. 195⅞	195⅜	195⅝	195⅝
Un Fruit .. 145	142	143	143½
Un Pipe .. 77	76½	77	77
U S C I Pipe 220	220	220	220½
U S Distrib .. 32⅝	32	32⅝	32⅝
U S Steel pf .. 137⅜	137¼	137⅜	137⅜
Utilities P & L .. 30⅜	30⅛	30⅜	30⅜
Utilities Pr .. 58½	57⅞	58⅛	58⅛
Va Cars Chem .. 14	13⅞	14	14
Va-Ky Mem .. 46⅞	46½	46⅞	46⅞
Vick Financial .. 61¾	61¼	61¾	61¾
Vivaudou .. 24⅛	23⅝	24⅛	24⅛
Vulcan D R .. 61½	61	61½	61½
Wabash R A .. 93⅜	93⅜	93½	93⅜
Wabash pf A .. 93⅜	93⅜	93½	93⅜
Walworth .. 18⅜	18⅛	18⅜	18⅜
Ward Bak B .. 31⅝	31½	31⅝	31⅝
Weber & Hdw .. 14⅜	14¼	14⅜	14⅜
Warner Bros .. 24⅛	23½	23⅝	23
Warner Pict .. 24⅝	24	24⅛	24⅛
Wayne Pump .. 51⅝	50¾	51⅝	51½
Webster Eis .. 8⅝	8⅝	8⅝	8⅝
Westing'se El .. 90⅝	89⅝	90⅝	89⅝
Wes Maryland .. 27⅝	27½	27⅝	28⅜
Wes Union Tel .. 93⅝	93	93⅝	93⅝
Western Md .. 31	31	31	30⅝
Western Pac .. 117⅝	117	117⅝	117⅝
Western Pac pf .. 91½	91½	91½	91½
Weston El A .. 47½	47½	47½	47½
Weston El B .. 48	48	48	48
Wheeling Steel .. 87⅝	87⅛	87⅝	87⅝
White Motor .. 32½	32½	32½	32½
White Rock .. 87⅝	87⅛	87⅝	87⅝
Wilcox Oil .. 19½	19½	19½	19½
Wright Aero .. 56⅝	56⅜	56⅝	56⅝
Wrigley W J .. 87⅞	87½	87⅝	87
Yellow Truck .. 31	30⅝	30⅝	30⅝
Youngstown S .. 87¾	87⅜	87⅛	87⅞

BANK CLEARINGS IN BOSTON SOAR

Figures from leading cities, above those of principals of Federal Reserve week ended Nov. 26, 1927, increase of 13.8 per cent over total for week ended Nov. 27, 1926. Six cities showed increases [illegible] of 21.7 per cent. Bost[illegible] of 21.7 per cent. Boston's increase of 16.8 per cent.

[illegible] of all varieties of 21.7 per cent. Bost[illegible] Boston's increase of 16.8 per cent.

MERRIMAC HAT TO ISSUE FOUR FOR ONE

Merrimac Hat Corp. stockholders meet Dec 3 to act on proposed reissue four shares of new common for one as a stock "melon."

Foreign Exchange

Demand sterling $4.87⅝; franc, 3.93¾ cts; lire, 5.14 cts; Belgians, 13.98 cts, a new 10.7 high.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

INDUSTRIALS	High	Low	Close	Sales
[illegible]

ELEVATED BIG BOSTON FEATURE

Good Tone Is Displayed on Week-End Locally and in Wall Street

Boston Elevated was the big feature of week-end trading on the Boston Stock Exchange when it moved close to $98 a share, establishing a new high since 1914, in which year it sold at $101 25.

Elevated was bought partly in expectation of a favorable valuation report by the public utility officials, due shortly.

A good tone was displayed both locally and in New York, with profit-taking well absorbed.

Boston Elevated 3d, pfd., moved up 3 at 120. General Electric finished Saturday holding at 141¼.

N. E. TELEPHONE UP.

New England Telephone at 159 and Swift and Co. at 127⅝ each added a point.

Mohawk was up 1¼ at 49¼, further reflecting confidence in the outlook for the coppers.

U. S. Steel sod up 1⅜ at 147⅝, on buying that followed Friday's closing rally.

Warren Bros. eased 2 at 165 Point for more recession in this quiet trading of American Telephone and Gillette.

Smokeless issues were again in demand.

In Wall Street the rise of three coppers to new 1927 highs reflected confidence in the outlook for red metal markets. Reports here Greene Cananea, Howe Sound and Anaconda.

NEW HAVEN RISES.

New Haven common touched $58⅝, fractionally below the best price since 1926. Increased earnings this year increase the possibility of dividend resumption for the stock next year, many of the earlier bullish predictions of important members of the directorate of the road. The talk here of such an [illegible] was comparatively inactive.

Motor stocks were active and strong, as also were the specialties. Radio Corporation sold around 86 in block of 20,000 shares.

Selling of the oils caused a slight recession in that section of the list, but the reaction in the wake was strong and active at tig close.

New highs were recorded for Intercontinental Rubber, Wrigley, Stewart Warner and National Biscuit.

Republic and Trumbull Steel merger news was apparently little regarded.

Increase in brokers' loans to a new high record also was disregarded. Stock exchange houses are temporarily suffer rates on money.

When C. B. Steel sold at 147⅜, top for the day, it was nearly $20 a share above last month's low.

MELLON PROPOSAL BIG BOND FACTOR

Secretary Mellon's proposal that United States Treasury securities be made wholly tax-exempt is regarded in financial circles as the most important occurrence in years in government bond market. The proposal, carried through it is expected that a vast new investment field will be opened up, composed of wealthy individuals and estates. Government securities are at present closely confined to hands of banks and corporations. Individuals and estates that pay surtax have been kept out of government bond market by taxes on Treasury securities while corporations and banks, which pay only a corporation tax, have in vested heavily in them.

Liberty Bond Prices

Closing Liberty bond prices were 4¼s 101 27, 1st 4¼s, 103 10; 2d 4¼s, 103 27; 4th 4¼s, 1941, Treasury 4¼s, 1947-52, 109 22; Treasury 4s, 1944-54, 109 2; Treasury 3½s, 1946-56, Treasury 3½s, 102 9.

FOREIGN BONDS

Argentine 6s 1960	100½	100½	100½
Australia 5s 1945	102½	102½	102½
Belgium 7s 1955	109½	109½	109½
Bergen 8s 1945	102½	102½	102½
Bogota 8s 1947	100½	100½	100½
Bolivia 8s 1947	100½	100½	100½
Brazil 8s 1941	106½

Salon Shows American Trend in Body Design

PREDICTED BY ENTHUSIASM AT FOREIGN SHOWS

Fourteen U. S. Custom Body Builders Exhibiting at New York

DETROIT HEARS OF MERGER

Peerless, Jordan, Hupmobile, Cotninental Motors and Durant Are Named

By RAY PRIEST
Universal Service Automobile Editor

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 26.

AUTOMOBILES gathered to gather for the 23rd annual [illegible] in New York [illegible] a [illegible] and [illegible] represents [illegible] to a [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

An Expert Swimmer at 89 Years

Rev. Dr. Barrett at Home in Water

"Secret of Long Life in Four Rules," He Says, Not the Least of Which Is Exercise

REV. DR. LUTHER C. BARRETT, of Melrose and Oak Bluffs, who celebrates 89th birthday on December 5, is famous as a swimmer

Has Four Rules

Native of Watertown

Verdi Chorus to Sing Requiem

Mrs. Francis J. Sullivan

Holding a Husband

A FORTUNATE PURCHASE

Enables PRIME'S To Offer

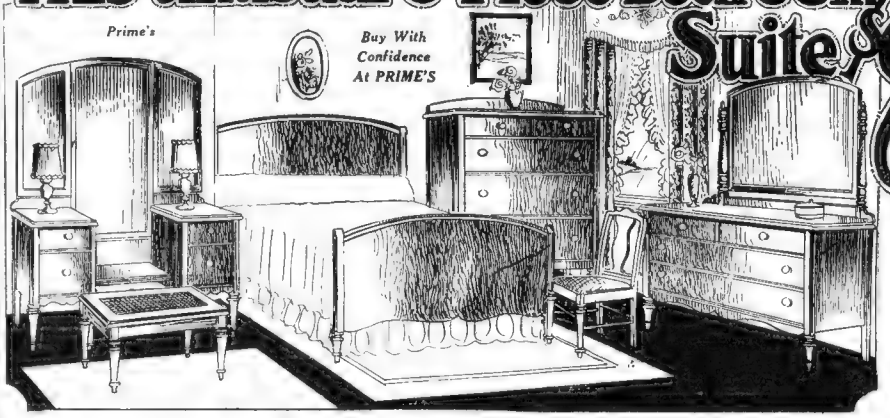
This Unusual 6-Piece Bedroom Suite $89

Prime's

Buy With Confidence At PRIME'S



1.50 Weekly

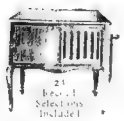
This suite is made up of 6 pieces durably constructed on lines of the season's latest furniture modes. It includes a Full-size Bed, Dresser, Triple-mirror Vanity, Chest of Drawers, a Bedroom Chair and a Vanity Bench. Each piece is unsurpassed in Sturdiness of construction. A rare bargain at this low price. See this suite before you purchase elsewhere!

10-Piece Dining Room Suite!

A Dining Room Suite of enduring construction, charm and graceful beauty. Each piece is constructed in finely matched genuine Walnut veneers in combination with gumwood, finished in high lighted two-tone Walnut. Consists of Buffet, Table, China Cabinet Server, Host Chair and 5 Side Chairs. It is an excellent examples of fine American cabinet work

$198

2.00 Weekly



21 Beautiful Selections Included

Phonographs

A special Prime assortment for advance Christmas selling. Some very excellent values. Many different models to choose from.

$39

Easy Terms

Radio Table

Beautifully finished and well constructed. Made to hold all patterns of power units with ease. Especially well braced.

$9

Easy Terms

Martha Washington

Sewing Cabinet

The ideal gift for Mother. Exceptionally well built and richly finished in imitation mahogany.

$13

Easy Terms

Prime's

Nationally Known

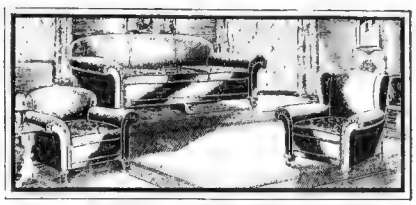
Glenwood Range

"Makes Cooking Easy"

No. 8 size.

$69

Easy Terms

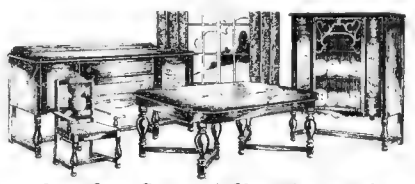


Rare 3-Piece Living Room Value!

This extraordinary living room suite, at this incredibly low price, is by far the greatest furniture value your dollars have ever had an opportunity to purchase! A three-piece group that will bring marked dignity and true distinction to YOUR home! Divan, club chair and inviting wing back chair—sumptuously overstuffed and richly upholstered in fine quality cut velour.

$79

1.00 Weekly



Another Outstanding Feature!

Selected woods, fine cabinet work and artistic finishing distinguish this magnificent suite. Made of perfectly matched, genuine walnut veneers in combination with gumwood. The Buffet, Table, Host Chair and 5 Side Chairs are included. Added beauty is given by the two-tone panel effect. (China Cabinet Extra, if desired.)

$99

1.50 Weekly

A Charming 4-Piece Chamber Suite!

A Suite whose beauty and quality proclaim it a masterpiece from every point of view. Graceful and well proportioned, it presents an air of simple elegance. But note its massive, built-up tops. The entire suite is constructed in Walnut Veneers combined with American Gumwood. This low price includes the Bow-end Bed, canopied Ward robe, Large Dresser and full-length Vanity.

$179

2.00 Weekly

Only the Finest In--- RADIO!

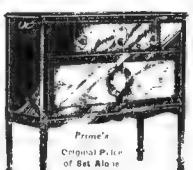
STEWART-WARNER



Prime's

Original Price of Set Alone without Cabinet, $80

Model No. 345 Single Dial Receiver

6-Tube Console

$89 EASY TERMS

...th a Stewart-Warner Matched-Unit Radio you have the world at your command—matched Units—that's the secret. Enjoy this new experience by installing a Stewart-Warner Radio now!

This Set Complete with all Equipment, including the Famous Stewart-Warner Reproducer Model 415 Loud Speaker.

$125 EASY TERMS

We Also Carry a Complete Line of Atwater Kent, Freshman, Sonora, Grebe, Freed-Eisemann, Kolster, Stewart-Warner, Radiola and many other nationally known radio products.

DO YOU APPRECIATE THE VALUE OF A GOOD FITTING PLATE?

Do you realize the harm that is done to the tissues of the mouth and the HEALTH in general by wearing ILL-FITTING PLATES?

Plates made in our Private Laboratory by expert plate men.

SPECIAL OFFER RUBBER Roof PLATE... $12.00

Full upper or lower made of best red rubber. (Not like picture)

BRIDGE WORK, per tooth $6

Silver Fillings $1

Cleanings $1

Our LOCKIN TOWEL ... plate ever discovered ... fits locks tightly to the lower jaw ... cannot ...

PLATES REPAIRED WHILE YOU WAIT. OLD PLATES REMADE LIKE NEW THE SAME DAY.

POSITIVELY PAINLESS EXTRACTIONS and ... where plate or bridge work is ...

DR. HEWSON DENTAL CO.

427 Washington St., Opposite Filene's

Hours daily 8:30 a. m. to 6 p. m. Lady Attendant. Phone Hubbard 1350

Open an Account

We make it easy for you. No red tape. No investigation. Accounts opened from $10 to $2500. Especially easy terms for this sale.

Prime Furniture Co.

FURNITURE—JEWELRY—RADIOS

715 WASHINGTON ST. 16 STUART ST.

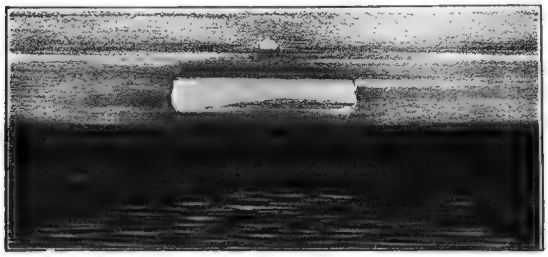
Toyland Is Ready

Our toy department opens tomorrow with a complete line of popular toys, large and small, for the enjoyment of the kiddies.

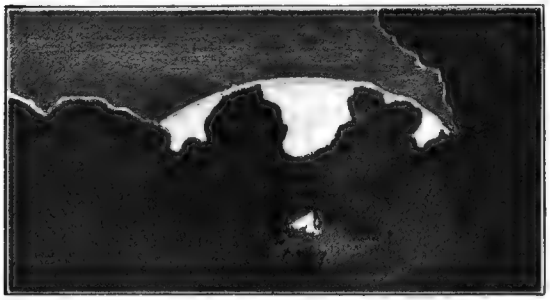
THE AMERICAN WEEKLY
The Largest Circulation in the World
Magazine Section
Boston Advertiser

New Discoveries About the Sun

By Special Process French Astronomers Photograph the Exact Colors of Sunrise and Sunset and Find and Explain Curious Green Rays



Unusual Picture of the Green Ray Taken With the Camera. On a Reddish Horizon Appears the Green Ray, While Below Is the Sun's Disc of Red Greatly Distorted.



The Green Rays of the Sun Seen Just Above Heavy Clouds. The Sun Is Disappearing Behind the Clouds, and Above Its Rim a Green Fringe Is Seen.

Remarkable Color Photograph of the Newly Discovered Green Rays of the Sun. They Are Shown Here as Part of the Sun's Rays Split Into Primary Colors from the Yellow to the Blue. The Wave-Like Appearance Is Due to the Density of Various Layers of the Atmosphere.

Photographs by Special New Process by the Astronomers of the Observatory at Donville, France.

IN earlier ages, and, indeed, until very recent years, astronomers recorded what they could see with their own eyes through the telescopes. But it has now been found that the photographic camera sees and records many things which the human eye is unable to see.

And thus it comes about that eminent French astronomers, by a new system of photography, have made some interesting and important recent discoveries about the sun. As the source of all light and life the sun is perhaps the most important thing in the world. Unusual happenings on the sun manifest themselves through unusual weather on this earth—man's life from hour to hour depends upon this great celestial orb. In fact, scientists largely agree that some unusual change in the sun some day will finally end all life on this earth.

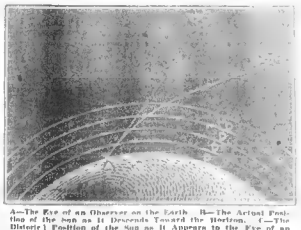
Most observations of the sun have been made when its visibility was unobstructed or during the brief moments when the telescopes could observe the corona of the sun while it was in eclipse. But the French scientists undertook a series of photographic examinations of the sun on the horizon as it was rising and as it was setting. They were able to make pictures in their true colors and prove beyond question the assertion that the sun sometimes gives off green rays, which, it was claimed, had been seen by the naked eye.

The existence of these curious green rays is now definitely demonstrated, and they are attributed to the refractory power of the air, which, under certain conditions, splits up the light of the sun into its primary colors. This effect is sometimes produced when the sun's light passes through a great mass of air, as it does when you see it at sunset from the shore.

An accompanying diagram shows how the sun's rays are bent so that our luminary appears to the eye in an entirely different position from its real one. The successive layers of air indicated become denser as the earth is approached. "B" is the sun, whose rays must traverse the successive air layers in an oblique direction. In accordance with the laws of refraction, the sun's rays, as they pass through these layers will depart more and more from a straight line until they appear to the eye of the observer in a widely different position from the one where they really started.

As a result the eye will see the sun in the position "C," corresponding to the arrival of the rays on the earth and not the real position. This change of position does not occur when the sun is in the zenith, because the rays then undergo no refraction, but the further the sun sinks toward the horizon the greater is the divergence between its apparent and its real position.

Diagram Showing How the Real Position of the Sun Is Changed to Our Eye by Atmospheric Refraction



A—The Eye of an Observer on the Earth. B—The Actual Position of the Sun as It Descends Toward the Horizon. C—The Distorted Position of the Sun as It Appears to the Eye of an Observer on Earth. D D D D—Layers of Air Increasing in Density as They Come Near the Earth, Producing Deformities in the Appearance of the Sun.

The divergence becomes so great that the sun's image is lifted from its true position by a greater distance than its diameter. One surprising result is that we still see it shining in the sky when it has really gone down.

Owing to the freaks of refraction the sun sometimes takes very strange shapes at sunset. Ordinarily at this moment it has the form of a flattened disc. Refraction changes the apparent position of its lower edge more than its upper one. Therefore it appears broadened out at the bottom.

The layers of atmosphere are often of irregular density, and then the most extraordinary changes occur in the appearance of the sun. Its ordinarily spheroid form may be transformed into almost any irregular body. The differing light absorbing powers of these air layers also cause the sun's rays to be split up into rays of different colors.

The change of direction due to the refractory powers of the air is not the same for the various colored rays making up the white light of the sun. Violet and blue rays are more changed from a straight line than yellow and red rays. Through the atmosphere the sun may appear to us with its violet rays at the top and its red rays at the bottom and the others spaced out in between.

The various colored rays overlie one another more or less, but where they do not blanket themselves they appear in their true colors. At the upper edge of the sun they produce an iridescent fringe of all the colors.

When the sun has completely sunk below the horizon the iridescent fringe is still in the sky. But the eye of the observer only sees a green light. That is because the violet and the blue are partly dispersed, and also because of the great absorption they undergo in the air. The green ray alone remains practically visible, and from it comes the green light, which can only be seen for a very short time, about two-thirds of a second, according to various official scientific calculations.

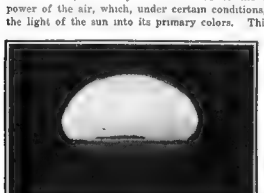
Seen by the naked eye the green ray only forms a luminous patch, and its visibility depends on the conditions from obstructions of the horizon, where alone it can be perceived. That is why the sea, with its geometrical horizon, is the ideal place for observing it. It may at times, however, be seen on the side of a mountain or where a wide plain forms the horizon.

There are rare occasions when the green ray is seen for about two seconds. Doubtless such rare cases have inspired the work of these artists who have depicted green sunsets. At these times there is an unusual width of the colored fringe above the sun.

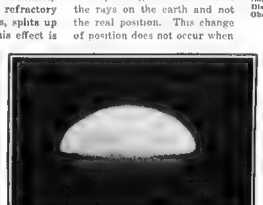
Some scientists and critics have attributed the reported appearance of the green light of the sun to a simple optical illusion. They said that the eye, having watched the sinking of the orange disc of the sun, then saw the complementary color—green. But this is now proved not to be the case.

In one of these colored plates the green rays appear on top of the sun, even before the latter has reached the horizon. The sun also produces many colored rays when it passes behind a thick cloud. When the sun is brilliant its radiance hides the green rays, but when it is masked these become more or less visible. There are sometimes several successive shades of green light—first above clouds floating near the horizon, and then when the sun has sunk.

Telescopic enlargement shows the strange agitation of the layers of the atmosphere which make the image of the sun tremble. The green rays then appear as a magnificent spectacle, rising and falling like waves. Sometimes through the telescope the blue fringe can be seen overlying the green. The least fog obscures the green ray so that it is not visible to the naked eye.

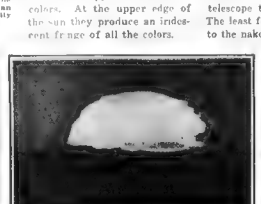


How the Circular Disc of the Sun Appears Misshapen at Sunset.

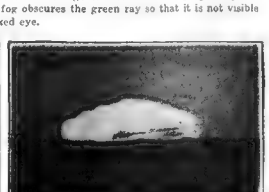


Photograph of the Sun Flattened Out Like a Mushroom.

One of the Most Peculiar Photographs Ever Taken of Our Luminary.



The Sun Deformed by Unusual Atmospheric Conditions.



When the Sun Looked as if It Were a Great Iceberg.

Preserved Vegetables Found in the Prehistoric Graves of Peru

WORKING in a great prehistoric cemetery near Lima, in Peru, W. E. Spafford, an American archaeologist, has just made some very interesting discoveries. Opening up a large number of ancient graves, dating back thousands of years, he found squatting mummies surrounded by terra-cotta jars of foodstuffs remarkably preserved.

The jars [illegible] dried cayenne pepper pods, potatoes and [illegible]. There were also shields of cotton thread and yarn spun from wool of the alpaca and the llama.

Further along the same coast near Trujillo and Chimbote digging in [illegible] graves yielded pottery vases fashioned in the likenesses of squashes, pumpkins, and calabashes. Other vases represented gods, and were evidently consecrated as objects of worship. One of themwas an image of the god of agriculture, holding in one hand a cornstalk. The corn god looked curiously like a metropolitan policeman, the hat corresponding, but with ears of corn surrounding him. Another image was seated on a warty squash. There were also vases filled with peanuts.

Some of the mummies were wrapped in elegant robes decorated with beautiful borders and resembling Gobelin tapestries, the colors perfectly preserved.

These discoveries serve in a way strikingly to illustrate the world's indebtedness to the American aborigines for many of the most useful plants.

If their ancestors arrived on this continent from Asia, perhaps 10,000 years ago—as many scientists believe, but others do not—they could have found in the New World not a single food plant or other economic plant that was familiar to them, save perhaps the calabash, which provided them with ready-made bottles, pots and dishes. Even the cotton which gave them material for weaving into cloth was obtained from a species of plant quite different from that of the Old World.

The Oldest Peanuts in the World, Found Packed in a Calabash and Buried in the Cemetery.

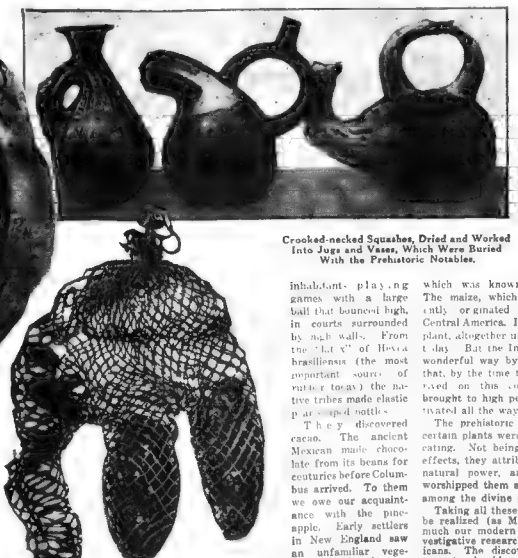
Photograph of a Squatting Mummy, Found With the Prehistoric Vegetables in the Ancient Cemetery of Peru.

Thus they were obliged to make experiments with the plants they did find in America, to find out which ones were good for food and which ones could be used for other purposes.

Their experimentation led to discoveries which today are of utmost importance to mankind. They discovered the virtues of cinchona bark, which yields quinine, man's chief defense against malaria. They discovered the value of the coca plant, from which is derived cocaine, so precious as a local anaesthetic. In the Peruvian graves excavated by Mr. Spafford nearly all the mummies had about their necks little sacks of cocoa leaves, a custom their descendants follow today, to give them endurance against fatigue.

They discovered the properties of rubber, and were first to utilize it. The Spanish conquerors in Mexico found the inhabitants playing games with a large ball that bounced high, in courts surrounded by high walls. From the "hule" of Hevea brasiliensis (the most important source of rubber today) the native tribes made elastic pear-shaped bottles.

They discovered cacao. The ancient Mexican made chocolate from its beans for centuries before Columbus arrived. To them we owe our acquaintance with the pineapple. Early settlers in New England saw an unfamiliar vegetable growing in gardens cultivated by Indians. It was the Jerusalem artichoke. From the Indians they learned to tap maple trees and make maple sugar.



Crooked-necked Squashes, Dried and Worked Into Jugs and Vases, Which Were Buried With the Prehistoric Notables.

It was the American aborigines who discovered ipecac. They were, in Mexico, the first users of cochineal for dyeing.

Through experience of many generations [illegible] to reject [illegible] to sow, cultivate, [illegible] and [illegible] of American agriculture. They discovered potatoes, sweet potatoes and kidney beans, none of which was known to the Old World. The maize, which we call corn, apparently originated in the highlands of Central America. It was a poor sort of food plant, altogether unlike the corn we know today. But the Indians improved it in a wonderful way by selective breeding, so that, by the time the first white men arrived on this continent, it had been brought to high perfection, and was cultivated all the way from Peru to Canada.

The prehistoric aborigines found that certain plants were stimulating or intoxicating. Not being able to explain their effects, they attributed to them a supernatural power, and in some instances worshipped them as divinities. Not least among the divine plants was tobacco.

Taking all these facts into view, it will be realized (as Mr. Spafford says) how much our modern world owes to the investigative research of the earliest Americans. The discovery of the preserved peanuts should set at rest forever the dispute as to whether the toothsome "goober" originated in the new or old world. It can now be stated authoritatively that the peanut is of American origin.

Kidney Beans and Lima Beans Unearthed in a Net of String, Not Unlike the Shopping Bags of Today.

Sun-baths Keep the Doctor Away

MEMBERS of the Illinois Women's Club of Chicago are following the example of Mrs. Ward Leigh, handsome young matron of Nyack, New York, the first American woman to go in systematically for daily sun baths on a scientific basis.

Mrs Leigh is building a house made practically all of glass, some of which will be the newly invented health glass which, unlike ordinary glass, does not debar the health-giving ultra-violet rays of the sun from entering. Although her venture met with derision in some quarters, she insists that it is only a question of time before every club and gymnasium, and the larger hotels, will have solariums enclosed within the ultra-violet glass, and that sun-baths will be as common as are water baths today.

Her statement to this effect had no sooner been made public than a group of women in the Chicago club organized a daily sun bathing class. Clad in one-piece bathing suits, and lying flat on their chests, this group of women have been taking their daily sun siesta on the roof of their clubhouse, which is quartered in a sky-scraper. Inasmuch as the roof of the building is graveled, and there are higher buildings in the neighborhood from which prying persons can spy on their sun bathing, the arrangement can hardly be called convenient, but it must suffice until the club can build its solarium.

America has been backward in taking advantage in this manner of the beneficial effects of systematic sun-bathing. In Europe it is practiced by thousands, frequently in the open air, without costumes. In the Winter, when it is too cold to take a sun bath in the open, it is possible to do it indoors by the use of ultra-violet rays from specially designed lamps. A great many hospitals are thus equipped, and it is possible to install such lamps in a bedroom so that the ultra-violet rays may bathe the body while one is asleep.

Five Members of the Women's Athletic Club, of Chicago, Taking Their Daily Sun Bath on the Roof of a Skyscraper.

Music Produced from Atmosphere

HAVING mined and tunneled the earth, and fished in the seas for animal and chemical treasures, man, with the advent of radio, has been exploring and using the air. Scientists have extracted ether, valuable nitrates and other substances from the atmosphere. Now comes the announcement that by means of radio principles, music can be extracted from the air.

It is the invention of a young Russian, who has been experimenting ever since Marconi developed wireless. By means of it a musician, moving sensitive fingers up and down invisible keys in an apparently empty atmosphere, can reproduce, to a pianoforte accompaniment, the music of the masters with the touch and tone and variations required for a sympathetic rendition.

He uses a box resembling a large cabinet, with a thin rod rising from it, equipped with a number of tuning contrivances like organ stops, some lengths of wire and a couple of loud speakers. Anyone's hands can produce the ethereal music but whereas a skilled person can play tunes, the unschooled can produce only discords. The inventor, while satisfactorily demonstrating his invention recently in Moscow, before a group of Russian scientists, has kept the design and secret of it to himself.

The principle, however, seems to be that the vibrations of the fingers and hands in the air create sounds too minute to be heard by the human ear. The new device magnifies them so that they are audible, and susceptible of graduation in a fashion similar to that music that comes over the radio.

The device is termed by the inventor a Termenvox. In its present stage it is more an interesting exhibition than a practical musical accomplishment. It is a most interesting sight to see the player appear to coax melodies out of the thin air by the graceful movements of his hands, as though he were actually mesmerizing the atmosphere.

England Reconditioning Nelson's Historic Flag Ship "Victory"

LONDON, Nov 18.

THE flagship which stands out in Britain's naval history as the most historic vessel in her brilliant record of sea accomplishment, Lord Nelson's "Victory," which has for years been riding at peace in Portsmouth Harbor after her service at Trafalgar, is being reconditioned as a permanent memorial.

The rehabilitation of the ship is being effected under the auspices of the Society for Naval Research.

The famous battle of Trafalgar, in the midst of which Nelson lost his life, came about owing to a gigantic effort on the part of Napoleon to gain command of the English channel by bringing into it the whole naval strength of France and Spain. The utter defeat of this attempt secured for Great Britain the naval supremacy which she has since enjoyed.

In the midst of this memorable victory Lord Nelson was wounded by a musket ball from the French vessel "Redoubtable's" mizzen-top. The bullet, striking the left epaulet of the admiral's uniform, passed down through the lungs and spine. Nelson fell to the deck, and as an officer picked him up, he said: "They have done for me at last." He was carried below and lived for three hours in great pain. Before he died, word was brought to him that fourteen of the enemy's ships had surrendered. "That's well," said the dying admiral, "but I'd bargained for twenty."

He expired almost at the moment when the French warship "Achille" blew up, and the "Intrepid" struck her flag.

It was on October 21, 1805 that Nelson, attacking the French and Spanish fleets at Cape Trafalgar, won his memorable victory and met his death. On December 4, the flag-ship "Victory" arrived at Portsmouth with the body of the admiral. The body lay in state at Greenwich until January 9, 1806, when the funeral took place, one of the most magnificent in the history of England, when the Prince of Wales, afterwards George IV, and other royal dukes and lords, followed the funeral procession to St. Paul's. The procession was witnessed by enormous crowds.

For over a hundred years the "Victory" remained in the harbor at Portsmouth, and gradually time did what the combined French and Spanish fleets had been unable to do. It began to conquer the old ship. Little by little she wore away, and the action of the Society for Naval Research came none too soon. The extensive repairs include the substitution of painted wooden guns for the original metal cannon of 1805.

Stern of the "Victory," Now Berthed in Portsmouth, Where Extensive Repairs Are Being Made.

India's Beauty Gets Into the Movies at Last

AT last the internationalization of the movies has been effected. A German film company engaged in the making of a million dollar "special," has engaged for the leading feminine role Miss Seta Deavi, a lovely girl from Calcutta, the first of her race ever to assume a principal role on the screen.

The charming girl, only fifteen years old, has been adjudged the most beautiful girl in India, and it is not for pay that she has entered the realm of the movies. She is the daughter of a wealthy rajah, and in the accompanying picture is shown wearing pearls and other family jewels to the value of $200,000.

The fair women of Japan, China, all the European countries and almost many of the natives in Asia, Africa and North America have been represented on the motion picture screen, but never until now has an Indian beauty been selected for stellar screen honors. The engagement of Seta Deavi, of course, brings with it certain advantages to the German firm which has placed her under contract. A great many of the scenes in the picture are to be taken in India, and through the influence of the girl's family the camera men will have access to temples and other locales which would be extremely difficult to photograph otherwise.

The scenes of the picture will be shot mainly in Calcutta and Bombay, and a few are to be filmed at the Taj Mahal, considered by travelers to be the most beautiful building in the world.

Miss Seta Deavi, One of the Noted Beauties of India, Who Has at Last Managed to Get Into the Movies, and Is to Be Starred by German Producers.

© 1927, by American Weekly, Inc. Great Britain Rights Reserved

The Follies Beauty's Cute Little Wedding

But the Trouble Was It Wasn't Exactly a Wedding, and, Anyhow, She Carelessly Signed a Paper She Oughtn't to—So Pretty Ann Ramus Loses Her Grip on a Millionaire's Fortune

Ann and the Man She Says She Thought Was Her Husband, Alphonse Morgan, the Cleveland Millionaire.

Ann Ramus, Well-Known Beauty of the "Kid Boots" Company, Who Says She Thought She Was a Bride, but the Judge Who Listened to Her Appealing Story Remarked: "I do not believe a word she says."

Miss Audrey Clapp, a Chicago Model, Who Testified That She Thought the "Follies" Beauty Was a Sure-Enough Bride.

WHEN Miss Ann Ramus' millionaire husband, Alphonse H. Morgan, died in Florida, her mourning was somewhat upset by the information that he had not been her husband at all, that she was neither maid, wife nor widow nor anything else, in particular, except an ex-"Follies" girl.

There was no law to stop her from putting on widow's weeds and continuing to mourn the late Mr. Morgan if she liked, but she could not collect her widow's dower right of one-third of the millionaire's estate, because she wasn't exactly his widow. Somebody had taken advantage of the "Follies" beauty's innocence.

Innocence is a comparative thing and hardly anyone is innocent about everything. For instance a six-year-old girl is innocent on lots of matters, but it would be hard to palm off a ten cent store doll on her as a ten dollar one.

And so Miss Ramus was not immoderately innocent about tights, orchids, "Johns" parties and other items on which chorus and show girls are customarily wise. Miss Ramus' innocence was mostly in legal matters which she now thinks is "the worst kind."

At what used to be the innocent age of 16, Miss Ramus was married by a justice of the peace to a professional saxophone player, known as "Stubby" Gordon. This marriage was a perfectly good one legally, as proved by the fact that it was promptly followed by a divorce. When asked what the grounds for this divorce were, Miss Ramus revealed her innocence of legal matters by replying:

"Because he was a saxophone player."

Most everyone knows that a wife has to prove more than that against her husband, even in Nevada. After this, half in love with George Gowans of Chicago, she danced through life for the next year or two and became one of Mr. Ziegfeld's glorified beauties in his "Kid Boots" show. In Cleveland, in 1926, she and Gowans met Fred Laub who, according to the story of Miss Ramus, is a remarkable person who played many parts in it, as manager of Mr. Morgan's great house, in Cleveland, his chauffeur, publicity suppresser, drugger, briber and always the villain of the piece.

It was Laub who invited them to Mr. Morgan's residence on Lake Ave., where they were introduced to the owner of the mansion, Alphonse H. himself. The sight of this 54-year-old bachelor, all alone except for a flock of servants and a well-stocked cellar, struck Miss Ramus as pathetic and she showed her sympathy on a long walk with Morgan through the grounds. Morgan was sorry for himself, too, and explained that when he was younger he had loved his freedom and carefully saved it from the entanglements of matrimony, but now, when the guests of his parties went home, he felt lonesome and realized that he had missed something.

Miss Ramus knew exactly what he had missed, something that every man should have as soon as he is able to support one a wife. She did not tell him that, but the talk resulted in her calling again, with Mr. Gowans. This time Ann's sympathy grew to liking for the wealthy bachelor, but still nothing was said about love.

The dancer left town, never expecting to see Morgan again, but fate wouldn't have it that way. A little later she was in Pittsburgh in a gay party when she ran into her lonesome friend with an even gayer one. The parties merged and for three days visited the high spots of the smoky city's night life.

But when, on the third evening, the hotel management threw them all out of the Morgan apartment, including Alphonse himself for being too noisy, Ann began to think and out on the sidewalk, told her host that he was slowly drinking himself to death and ought to sober up and go home. "Phonse," as she had now gotten to calling him, would not do this until she had promised to visit him in Cleveland and give him some more good advice.

Being a girl of her word, she made good and found Mr. Morgan sober, grateful but sad. Her advice had been excellent but his home was only an empty shelter in which to eat, sleep and be lonesome. However, he at last knew what it lacked, the obvious thing—a wife. He had first admired, then respected and now, on the fourth meeting, loved her. Would she be Mrs. Morgan?

This was sudden enough to warrant thinking over for a minute and while she thought, he mentioned that there was a small complication. He was, as she knew, the vice-president of the Morgan Lithograph Co., and worth somewhat more than a million dollars, but often vice-presidents are only zeros and the president is the only figure that counts. It happened that he was that kind of vice-president and his brother, Percy J. Morgan, was the president and the whole works of the concern. The powerful "P. J." had an unfortunate prejudice against stage people, especially chorus-girls, therefore, to avoid the wrath of this mighty brother, they must never let him know they were married.

Miss Ramus returned to her hotel to ponder the matter. The next evening she called again, and after many hours' talk consented to be married. But how was it to be done?

Mr. Morgan stated that they did not need a minister, which Miss Ramus knew to be true, because she had been married by a justice of the peace. But "Phonse" went on to explain that when justices of the peace, governors, mayors, aldermen, marriage clerks or any of the other public officials that are empowered to tie the knot in various States do it, a marriage license must first be recorded, and this would mean publicity.

The only secret way would be a common law marriage, which doesn't bother with any such red tape. She preferred a bishop, a big church and her picture in the paper, but if it had to be secret, she thought one marriage about as good as another—a sad bit of legal innocence.

Common law marriages in the past were universally recognized, but when rich bachelors died so many common law widows bobbed up that judges got headaches listening to them all. That careless institution is still given a dubious sort of recognition in some States, but not much. Alphonse might have explained it in a word, that common law in front of the word marriage make almost as much difference as P. J. or J. P. in front of the name Morgan. But he says he didn't tell her that, and so in her innocence, he agreed.

One of the oldest common law [illegible] monial ceremonies is for the couple to say "We're married" as they jump over a broomstick, but Alphonse could not find a broom without waking the servant. So this is what they did, according to the testimony of Miss Ramus before Judge Addams:

"He asked me just what was said when I married Stubby Gordon, and we repeated the oath and he pulled me down in his lap and kissed me and said it was sealed and that I would go on as Mrs. Morgan."

"By oath, what do you mean?" her attorney, Harry Payer, of Cleveland, interrupted.

"I told him the justice of the peace that married us said to love, honor and cherish the husband, and vice versa on his part, and we repeated this oath. Then he said the only ones we will let know about this will be Mr. and Mrs. Laub."

But evidently others were let into the secret. There was testimony about hiding times at the Mount Royal Hotel in Montreal and hostelries in many other cities, and copies of hotel registers were produced to show they registered as man and wife. Official United States customs records were produced to show Morgan had [illegible] to get her $5,000 if she would [illegible] the name of Mrs. Morgan [illegible] more. As Ann was just ready to become Mr. Gowan's, she thought this money a windfall and so no reason for asking her lawyer about it. So she went to Laub's house, where the [illegible] the ingredients for a good old Bowery melodrama scene. These consisted of a pen and ink, a paper to sign, five one thousand dollar bills and, of course, the inevitable black bottle of whiskey.

According to Miss Ramus Laub played the part of the smooth villain, which he denies, and she the innocent child. Ann says he poured out a drink which she innocently drank. Miss Ramus thinks there was something queer about that drink because it gave her a numb feeling all over and she signed the paper without looking at it. One drink of ordinary whiskey does not make even her that innocent.

While the five beautiful bills were still lying on the table, she says that Laub pocketed one of them with the remark that he had earned at least that much. When her case came up in court she took time to read that paper and found she had agreed that she was not a common law widow and would not take any legal action against the estate.

Mr. Wood, representing Mr. P. J. Morgan, admitted that they had paid Laub $5,000 for getting that paper signed which with the $1,000 Miss Ramus alleges he collected from her would indicate that this gentleman is some financier, even if his name isn't Morgan. At the hearing [illegible] Judge Addams, Miss Ramus [illegible] Mr. Gowans, was asked:

"Did you go to Alphonse's funeral, in January, 1927?"

I did not [illegible] I don't [illegible] to the funeral [illegible]

[illegible] Mr. Wood [illegible] Why [illegible] Do you know [illegible] [illegible] for [illegible] Were [illegible] night of the [illegible] Mr. Wood [illegible] I [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] poor Mr. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Judge Addams [illegible] for me to [illegible] case but Mr. P. J. [illegible] for Mr. [illegible] couldn't [illegible] mate purpose [illegible] me, although [illegible] the court.

"The [illegible] ment. Most of [illegible] this was [illegible] easily explained. The fact that she will [illegible] Morgan for fifteen [illegible] Ann [illegible] packing [illegible]

© 1927, by American Weekly, Inc. Great Britain Rights Reserved.

Arrested for Kissing His Own Wife in Their Auto—and What Happened

The Embarrassing Experience of Mr. and Mrs. Mack, Who Were Awarded Damages, but Will Fight to Make It Safe for Married Couples to Remain Affectionate

Mr. and Mrs. Mack in Their Automobile, in Which, Mr. Mack Says, He Will Continue to Kiss His Wife Whenever So Disposed.

THERE was a picnic in a grove near Cleveland, and among those present were the Macks. They were a popular young couple, much in love with each other, although married over only had a good time, and the evening came, and with it the kind of moon those who are young and in love are much affected by, due to an influence which science has never been quite able to explain.

It was time to start home. The party got into Mr. Mack's car, Lily [illegible] taking a seat in front. For a time Mrs. Mack sat sedately at her husband's side. The two talked about whatever it is married folks talk about when they've been to a picnic all day and are tired, pleasantly tired. Mr. Mack had to keep his eye on the road but Mrs. Mack looked at the moon. The fatigue of the day made the pretty Mrs. Mack grow deliciously drowsy. Her head drooped gradually to her husband's shoulder and one of his arms crept about her waist.

Another car whizzed by them, dangerously close. Mack realized suddenly they were on a main street. For a while the driving was one-handed. One by one the friends of the Macks dropped off, and presently they were alone in the car homeward bound. Again the arm of Mr. Mack crept around the waist of the woman he loved. She sighed, softly, sharply, and obeying a sudden impulse, Mack drew up alongside of the curb and stopped. He took his wife into his arms, he hugged her tightly and his lips met hers in a long and lingering kiss. Why not?

They were jarred rudely back to earth by a [illegible] "Hey, you! What're you doin' there?"

The lingering kiss drew apart abruptly, [illegible] their glow upon [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

What People Died of in Ancient Times

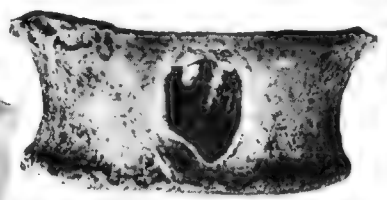
Modern Science Studies the Mummies of Egypt, Death-Bed Portraits and Sculptured Busts of Notables of the Past and the Teeth and Bones of Prehistoric Cave Men, and Diagnoses Their Diseases

That Mastoiditis Is Not a Disease Peculiar to Moderns Is Proved by This Prehistoric Skull, Which Shows the Diseased Bone Structure in a Cave Man.

The Head of Rameses V, Who Ruled About 3,300 Years Ago, Shows Clearly the Marks of Small-pox as the Disease He Was Suffering From When He Died.

While the Bible Does Not Specify the Exact Nature of the Terrible "Plague of David," Which Killed 70,000 People of the Hosts of Israel Within Three Days, Medical Science Knows That the Disease Was Probably Cholera.

In This Famous Portrait That Reveals the Death Agonies of Alexander the Great, Who Died in 323 B. C., the Modern Physician Recognizes the Symptoms of Cerebro-Spinal "Spotted Fever," Although the Doctors of the Period Probably Had Never Heard of That Disease.



This Vertebra of a Prehistoric Human Spine Shows a Cavity Eaten by Tuberculosis.

Pyorrhea, Which Is Attracting So Much Attention Today, Caused Some of the Ills of the Neanderthal Man, Who Lived 50,000 to 100,000 Years Ago. This Picture Shows Scars of Pyorrhea Upon a Neanderthal Jaw-Bone.

"Steatopygia," Which Is the Medical Name for the Grotesque Disease That Affects the Fatty Tissues Around the Hips and Thighs, Was Recorded in Many Images of the Chaldeans. This Old Statuette Reveals the Moon Goddess of Ur as Afflicted With This Ailment

In This Old Mummy Evidences of Cancer Have Been Found, Which Shows That This Is Not a Disease of Modern Time

FROM the cave man of the stone age to the club man of today, certain diseases seem to have always afflicted the human race. Others have disappeared mysteriously while still others seem to have burst forth as if newly created.

Are these new ones really new or only old ones that have been leaving us alone for a few thousand years, waiting for more favorable conditions to descend on us again? Or are they caused by microbes that after millions of years of harmlessness have evolved powers to attack the human body. These are two of the big questions whose answers Science is trying to find out.

From fossil bones of prehistoric men, Egyptian mummies, ancient [illegible] and even the casual remarks of [illegible] modern medical science is diagnosing what people died of in antiquity.

For instance, it is known that the cave man was bothered with pyorrhea, though most people think it a recent disease. Also his fossil bones show that he would have been a good customer for rheumatism cures. Some of the children of the stone age had rickets and it is [illegible] that their mothers knew what to give them for it too—sun-bine. The cure of sunshine seems to have been one of the earliest medical discoveries. Probably it was prehuman, as most animals know it instinctively.

Skulls of Egyptian mummies show that rac too had pyorrhea, at least [illegible] the upper classes, thousands of years [illegible]. But what is more surprising, in spite of the dry, hot Egyptian climate, many of them went around crippled up with rheumatism, much worse than the cave man in his damp abodes.

When Alexander the Great lay on his death bed, a sculptor made such a careful portrait bust of the conqueror that it reveals to the physician that he died of cerebro-spinal spotted fever, something that the great man and his doctors did not know. That artist's conscientious work refutes the story that Alexander died of dissipation.

Another faithful artist, Lucas Van Leyden, painted the portrait of Emperor Ferdinand I. of Germany with such fidelity that modern surgeons know at a glance that his Imperial Majesty suffered from adenoids, though these growths had not even been named in those dark [illegible].

Of course Pharaoh Syptah knew that he had a club foot just as well as anyone who examines his mummy today but it is safe to say that a priestess of Amen who died of gall stones, during the Twenty-First Dynasty, did not know what was the matter with her, nor did anyone else until modern Science found them in the carefully preserved liver of her mummy.

Examining the mummy of a priest of Amen who lived to a rather ripe age about that same time, a medical man can diagnose Potts disease of the spine as surely as he could for a living patient. There are other mummies whose spines exhibit the unmistakable ravages of tuberculosis. There is evidence that the white plague is at least as old as civilization. More recent mummies show many of the first Egyptian Christians died of leprosy which [illegible] modern scientists [illegible] good.

Of course there are [illegible] of the present diseases, but [illegible] Pyorrhea was [illegible] short and crooked. The [illegible] and fingers [illegible] have been pronged [illegible] They are other [illegible] of the bones [illegible] a terrifying [illegible] some and have [illegible] Egyptian [illegible] Who knows [illegible] and new [illegible] [illegible] In Europe [illegible] of the [illegible] ure, would consider [illegible] that could befall [illegible] of a grotesque [illegible] around the [illegible] evidence that [illegible] think such [illegible] was sick and [illegible] desirable as a [illegible]

Hardening of the [illegible] pressure are [illegible] doctors have named and treated recently, but mummies show [illegible] men and women suffered [illegible] them just the same, 2,000 [illegible]

[illegible] of that the [illegible] Therefore, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

When You Step Off Backwards into the Great Unknown in a Parachute

THE rookie flier made ready to leap from the plane. "Count ten before you pull the ring that lets the parachute open," he had been told. "If you don't you might get tangled up with the plane, and that's certain death."

The rookie kept repeating this to himself as he prepared to leap. He jumped, and dived like a stone to the ground several hundred feet below. The parachute never opened. The rookie was killed instantly. It was not due to any defect. He had forgotten to jerk the ring. The sensation of falling had so occupied his mind that he had lost control of his thought. From the moment he left the plane he became merely a mindless body.

Many young fliers have met their death in this way. Others have had fatal injuries because they jerked the release ring too soon after leaving the plane in order, and thus getting the parachute tangled up in some part of the plane. Experienced parachute jumpers, of course, found the ob style parachute [illegible] out of a number [illegible] some form of [illegible] would make a leap from a plane safe even to those who had never before made one.

[illegible] successfully accomplished with the design of a parachute such as [illegible] jumper [illegible] last moment- [illegible] parachute won't [illegible] for the para- [illegible] stool of the [illegible] ten yards away [illegible] ace on the plane [illegible]

[illegible] holding to a [illegible] controlled by [illegible] of a rip cord to which a ring is [illegible] opens automat- [illegible] drags the main [illegible] from the [illegible] pulled the [illegible] Besides dra- [illegible] shock for [illegible] absolutely untrue. About the only sensation you have when falling as fast as gravity will pull you which at the start is about thirty feet a second and gets up to hundreds of feet a second before you have fallen a thousand feet—is of air rushing by you like a tornado. But it doesn't take your breath or irritate exposed parts of the body.

"Usually when just falling I tumble over and over. This can be avoided by dropping off in a crouching position with your arms clasped around your knees. The tumbling, however, is not unpleasant, nor is the jerk that breaks the fall when the parachute inflates and takes hold. Of course, the further you fall the more severe is the jerk; but even at that it is sort of falling into a huge feather bed.

"Unless conditions are unusual, you might read a book while coming down after the parachute is put to work. Really the only thing to worry about is the landing. It is necessary to prevent entanglement in the branches of some tree or a bumpy pull along a cement highway. That might mean a broken bone or two."

James K. Clark Jumping Off Backwards From a Plane Several Thousand Feet in the Air. The Remarkable Photograph Was Taken From Another Plane While Both Were Traveling Two Miles a Minute.

Spray From Lake Cripples Telephones

WHEN a storm comes up over the Great Salt Lake in Utah, the winds carry the salt spray from the lake to the surrounding countryside for a considerable distance. After a particularly hard storm, salt is sometimes found upon the windows of houses miles from the lake, carried there in the spray from the wind waves.

This [illegible] to the great loss [illegible] due to the telephone system. The flying salt spray coats the insulators of the telephone line with a thick saline crust which greatly reduces the efficiency of the insulating devices. In order to combat this situation each insulator has to be periodically washed. At first the problem was a serious one.

It was necessary to take the insulators down, which meant interruption to service and damage to the conductors. B. F. Howard, electrical engineer of the Mountain States Telephone Company, at once set to work to find a way which made the matter a comparatively simple and inexpensive one. By means of it the insulators could be successfully washed without climbing the poles or untying the wires. The method involves spraying the insulators with saturated steam or finely divided hot water.

The [illegible] are [illegible] held [illegible] to be cleaned. The [illegible] portable boiler [illegible] in oil fire. An automatic [illegible] supplies water to the boiler to replace that which is used. The time necessary to wash an insulator by this system is thirty seconds. Fresh water has to be [illegible] brought by the railroad, distributed [illegible] across the mud flats. During the [illegible] no appreciable disturbance takes place in the [illegible] all of a very stubborn na- [illegible]

[illegible] an old lake bed [illegible] covered with salt, [illegible] and found that the drill passed through [illegible] of mud 20 feet more of solid salt, and then another 200 feet [illegible]

[illegible] eight inches wide and twenty long, and [illegible] a few inches deep to eight feet in thickness. The mud flats are [illegible] which in the dry season is capable of carrying the weight of a horse, and has even carried a tractor; but when a hole is broken it will rapidly [illegible] The spring snow and rain- [illegible] from the mountain run into these flats, and the surface water is blown for miles by the wind. In the [illegible] deposited for an area of fifteen [illegible]

Sheep Shears Are the Implements Used by the Beauty Specialists of Basutoland in Keeping Up With Modern Styles. The Native Lady Usually Takes Her Youngsters Along When She Goes to the Hair Dresser.

The "Shingle" Reaches Basutoland

BASUTOLAND, a British crown colony of Southeast Africa, [illegible] of its remoteness from civilization, rather behind the times in the matter of most modern institutions. However, in due time, most of the up-to-date devices and fads reach there via the travelers who tour Africa for big game.

It was only recently that the fashion of bobbed hair came to Basutoland. How it got there nobody knows, but it is a fact that in Maseru, on the Caledon River, there is a beauty shop in which is ignored by the few score white inhabitants of the city but does a good trade with the native women. Principally the operator caters to the tonsorial requirements of the Basuto land belles and matrons.

The married women bring their children to the shop, which is located in a lowly hut. The proprietor and his assistant use sheep-shears to scalp the hair of the natives. The Basutoland women do not go in for any of the strange beautifying measures practised by their sisters in other parts of Africa. In Togo, for instance, the women wear horns. It is a most primitive notion, honored by ancient tradition. In Egypt the Pharaohs frequently wore horned crowns. The Vikings were headpieces adorned with them. But the Togo women wear them on their backs. They do not merely attach the horns. They actually graft them on their backs in what must be a most painful operation and in what must develop into a most inconvenient series of appendages. A beauty shop in Togo would have the general atmosphere of a hospital.

It is still worse among the Sara Djinges tribe in West Africa, where the "duck-billed" vogue still persists. Every Djinge woman, in the period just before her marriage, is subjected to a most shocking disfigurement. When, after months of agony the Djinge belle emerges from her beauty parlor, her lips, normal in childhood, have been transformed by a series of operations into elongated flaps of distended flesh, stretched over discs of polished wood. The lower disc of a mature beauty of the tribe sometimes reaches the astounding diameter of twelve inches, or the size of a soup plate.

The Basutoland girls do not go in for any of that sort of disfigurement. They go in for tattooing, of course, which, with the primitive tools used by their beauty experts, is rather a painful ordeal, and some of them still cling to the nose ring of their mothers, but the modern flapper of Basutoland is not greatly different from her white sisters in more densely populated parts of the world, although the ideals of beauty in Africa differ so widely from those in Europe, America and even Asia.

Science at Last Able to Give the Life-History of The Spider Crab

THE [illegible] spider crab [illegible] until Mabel V. Heath [illegible] the Plymouth Marine Laboratory, in England, succeeded in rearing a specimen from egg to full grown crab in an aquarium.

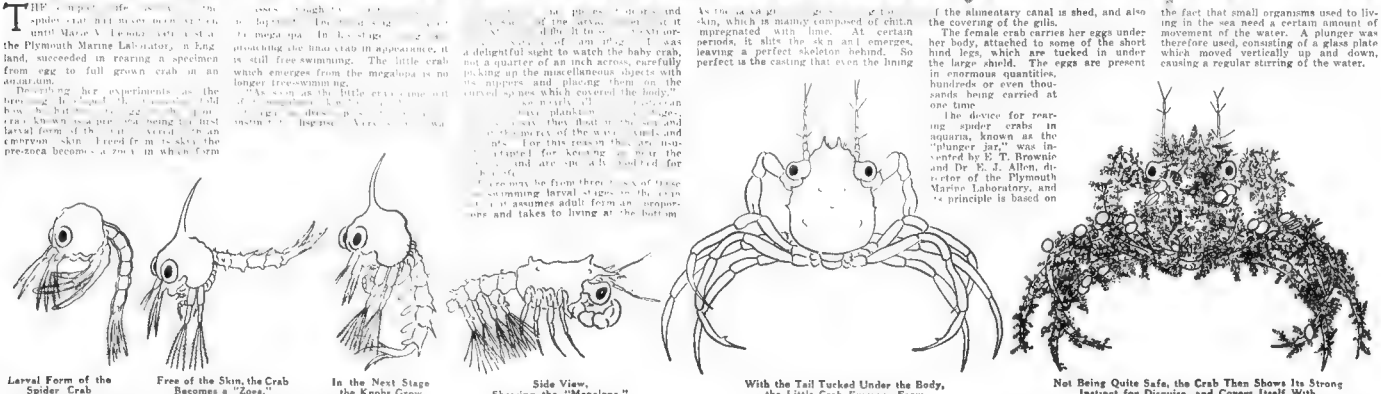
Describing her experiments as the [illegible] Miss Heath [illegible] how by [illegible] the [illegible] crab known [illegible] passing [illegible] larval form of the [illegible] the embryonic skin. Freed from its skin, the pre-zoea becomes a zoea in which form [illegible] enough [illegible] megalopa. In [illegible] the [illegible] resembling the [illegible] crab in appearance, it is still free-swimming. The little crab which emerges from the megalopa is no longer free-swimming.

"As long as the little crab [illegible] of the [illegible] it is [illegible] difficult to [illegible] [illegible] delightful sight to watch the baby crab, not a quarter of an inch across, carefully picking up the miscellaneous objects with its nippers and placing them on the curved spines which covered the body." [illegible] mainly [illegible] [illegible] many plankton [illegible] [illegible] were they dead or the sea and [illegible] the absence of the water smells and [illegible] For this reason they are [illegible] equipped for keeping [illegible] near the [illegible] and are specially [illegible] for [illegible]

[illegible] may be from three [illegible] of these [illegible] swimming larval stages to the [illegible] [illegible] assumes adult form and [illegible] [illegible] sors and takes to living at the bottom [illegible] [illegible] skin, which is mainly composed of chitin impregnated with lime. At certain periods, it slits the skin and emerges, leaving a perfect skeleton behind. So perfect is the casting that even the lining [illegible] of the alimentary canal is shed, and also the covering of the gills.

The female crab carries her eggs under her body, attached to some of the short hind legs, which are tucked in under the large shield. The eggs are present in enormous quantities, hundreds or even thousands being carried at one time.

The device for rearing spider crabs in aquaria, known as the "plunger jar," was invented by E. T. Brownie and Dr. E. J. Allen, director of the Plymouth Marine Laboratory, and its principle is based on the fact that small organisms used to living in the sea need a certain amount of movement of the water. A plunger was therefore used, consisting of a glass plate which moved vertically up and down, causing a regular stirring of the water.



Larval Form of the Spider Crab Covered by an Embryonic Skin.

Free of the Skin, the Crab Becomes a "Zoea," Which Acquires Knobs on the Tail.

In the Next Stage the Knobs Grow to Fairly Long Appendages.

Side View, Showing the "Megalopa," as the Third Stage Is Called.

With the Tail Tucked Under the Body, the Little Crab Emerges From the "Megalopa" and Looks Like This.

Not Being Quite Safe, the Crab Then Shows Its Strong Instinct for Disguise, and Covers Itself With Seaweed, Shells, Etc., Until It Is All Dressed Up Like This.

© 1927, by American Weekly, Inc. Great Britain Rights Reserved

Isadora Duncan's Astonishing Romances

Unblushingly Frank Revelations in the Memoirs of the Unconventional and Unfortunate "Classic" Dancer Who Did Not Live to Quite Finish Them

While Isadora Danced About the Funereally Draped Couch and Blew Out, One by One, the Candles, D'Annunzio Watched Her With Ever Increasing Nervousness. And as She Blew Out the Last He Leaped Up With a Howl of Terror and Fled From the Room

WHATEVER anyone may think of the philosophy of the late Isadora Duncan, the dancer, nobody will deny that she was a most interesting personality whose life was the reverse of the conventional one. Her memoirs, just published under the title of "Chapters From My Life," by Boni & Liveright, N. Y., prove that it was even more unconventional than most people believed.

Probably no woman has ever written more frankly about her intimate self and adventures than Isadora did in this story of hers; so frankly indeed, that it lends color to the gossip that she did not mean her memoirs to appear while she was alive. Through her pages troop dozens of well-known men and women, and some of them will not bless her memory for what she says about them. The great Italian poet, dramatist, novelist and soldier, Gabriel d'Annunzio, for one.

"When D'Annunzio met me in Paris in 1912," she writes, "he decided he would make my conquest. This was no compliment, as D'Annunzio wanted to make love to every well-known woman in the world and string them round his waist as the Indian strings his scalps. But I resisted on account of my admiration for Eleanor Duse, whom I considered he had treated shamefully. I thought I would be the only woman in the world who would resist him. It was a heroic impulse.

George Bernard Shaw Telegraphed His Refusal of Isadora's Curious Invitation, Referring Sardonically to His Face and Her Brain.

"When D'Annunzio wants to make love to a woman, every morning he sends a little poem to her with a little flower expressing the poem. Every morning at 8 o'clock I received this little flower, and yet I held to my heroic impulse!

"One night (I had a studio then in the street near the Hotel Byron), D'Annunzio said to me with a peculiar accent:

"'I will come to you at midnight.'

"All day long I and a friend of mine prepared the studio. We filled it with white flowers, with white lilies, and the flowers that one brings to a funeral.

"And we lit myriads of candles. D'Annunzio was ebloui (dazzled) at the sight of this studio, which was like a gothic chapel, with all those candles burning and all those white flowers. He came in and we received him and led him to a divan heaped with cushions.

"First I danced for him. Then I covered him with flowers and put candles all around him, treading softly and rhythmically to the strains of Chopin's Funeral March.

"Gradually, one by one, I extinguished all the candles, leaving alight only those at his head and feet. He lay as if hypnotized. Then, still moving softly to the music, I put out the light at his feet. But when I advanced solemnly towards the one at his head, with a tremendous effort of will-power he sprang to his feet and with a loud shriek of terror rushed from the studio, while the pianist and I, helpless with laughter, collapsed in each other's arms.

The second time I resisted D'Annunzio was at Versailles. I invited him to dinner at the Trianon Palace Hotel.

"We took the automobile to the Forest of Marley, then left it in order to enter the woods. D'Annunzio was most ecstatic. In the middle of the forest he stopped, and turning, said:

"'Isadora, you are the only woman with whom one can walk in the forest. All other women destroy the impression of Nature, but you, you are a part of the sky, of the breeze, of Nature itself.'

"We strolled for awhile and then I suggested:

"'Now let us go back to the dejeuner.'

"But we couldn't find the automobile. So we tried to find the Hotel Trianon and the dejeuner on foot. We walked and we walked, and we walked, but we couldn't find the gate! Finally D'Annunzio began to cry like a child:

"'I want my lunch! I want my lunch! I have a brain, and that brain wants to be fed. When I am famished, I can't go on!'

I comforted him as best I could and finally we found the gate and got back to the hotel where D'Annunzio ate a magnificent lunch.

"D'Annunzio said again to me:

"'Every night I am coming to your room at twelve o'clock. I have conquered all the women in the world, but I have yet to conquer Isadora.'

"And every night he came to my room at twelve o'clock.

"And I said to myself:

"'I am just going to be unique. I am going to be the only woman in the world to resist D'Annunzio.'

"He told me the most wonderful things about his life, his youth and his art.

"'Isadora, je n'en peux plus! Prends moi, prends moi!' (Isadora, I can't do anything more. Take me, take me!)

"I was so boulevarsee (turned topsy-turvery) by his genius that at this moment I never knew what to do, so I used to lead him gently out of my room into his own. This went on for about three weeks and then I was so angry that I simply rushed to the station and took the first train away.

"At the Hotel Trianon D'Annunzio had a gold fish which he loved. It was in a wonderful crystal bowl and D'Annunzio used to feed it and talk to it. The gold-fish would agitate its fins and open and shut its mouth as though to answer him.

"One day when I was staying at the Trianon, I said to the maitre d'hotel:

"'Where is the gold-fish of D'Annunzio?'

"'Ah, madame, sorrowful story! D'Annunzio went to Italy and told us to take care of it. "This gold-fish," he said, "is so near to my heart. It is a symbol of all my happiness."

"'And he kept telegraphing: "How is my beloved Adolphus?"'

"'One day Adolphus swam a little more slowly round the bowl and ceased to ask for D'Annunzio.

"'I took it and threw it out of the window.

"'But there came a telegram from D'Annunzio: "Feel Adolphus is not well?"

"'I wired back: "Adolphus dead. Died last night."'

"'D'Annunzio replied: "Bury him in the garden. Arrange his grave."'

"'So I took a sardine and wrapped it in silver paper and buried it in the garden and I put up a cross: "Here lies Adolphus!"'

"'D'Annunzio returned:

"'"Where is the grave of my Adolphus?"'

"'I showed him the grave in the garden and he brought many flowers to it and stood for a long time weeping tears upon it.'"

In her first real love affair, Isadora confesses, she was quite as unsuccessful as D'Annunzio was later. She and her family were then in Paris. She met Andre Beaumer, the French novelist.

"He was pale and round-faced and wore glasses, but what a mind!" she writes. "I was always a 'cerebrale,' and although people will not believe it, my love affairs of the head, of which I had many, were as interesting to me as those of the heart. Andre, who was at that time writing his first books, 'Petrarch' and 'Simonde,' came every day to see me.

"Every afternoon there was a timid knock at the door of the studio. It was Andre Beaumer, always with a new book or magazine under his arm. My mother could not understand my enthusiasm for this man, who was not her beau ideal of what a lover should be, for, as I have said before, he was fat and small with small eyes, and one had to be a 'cerebrale' to understand that those eyes were sparkling with wit and intelligence.

"This quaint friendship had lasted over a year, when in the innocence of my heart I had dreamt to give it another expression. One evening I plotted to send Mother and Raymond to the Opera and to be alone—that afternoon I clandestinely bought a bottle of champagne. That evening I set a little table with flowers, champagne, two glasses—and I donned a transparent tunic and wreathed my hair with roses, and thus awaited Andre, feeling just like Thais. He arrived, seemed very astonished and terribly embarrassed—he would hardly touch the champagne. I danced for him, but he seemed distrait and finally left abruptly, saying he had a great deal of writing to finish at once.

"I was left alone with the roses and the champagne, and I wept bitterly.

"When you recollect that at that time I was eighteen and remarkably pretty, it's difficult to find an explanation of this episode and, indeed, I have never found one—but then I could only think in despair: 'He doesn't love me.'

Another of Isadora's regrets seems to have been Rodin, the great sculptor, who died not so long ago. She draws an interesting picture of [illegible]

"Since viewing his work at the Exhibition, the sense of Rodin's genius had haunted me. One day I found my way to his studio in the Rue de l'Universite. My pilgrimage to Rodin resembled that of Psyche seeking the God Pan in his grotto, only I was not asking the way to Eros, but to Apollo.

"Rodin was short, square, powerful, with close-cropped head and plentiful beard. He frowned his works with the simplicity of the very great. Sometimes he murmured the names for his statues, but one felt that names meant little to him. He ran his hands over them and caressed them. I remember thinking that beneath his hands the marble seemed to flow like molten lead. Finally he took a small quantity of clay and pressed it between his palms. He breathed hard as he did so. The heat streamed from him like a radiant furnace. In a few moments he had formed a woman's torso that palpitated beneath his fingers.

"He took me by the hand, took a cab and came to my studio. There I quickly changed into my tunic and danced for him. Then I stopped to explain to him my theories for a new dance, but soon I realized he was not listening. He gazed at me. My absurd up-bringing caused me to become frightened and I withdrew, threw my dress over my tunic and sent him away bewildered. What a pity! How often have I regretted this childish miscomprehension which lost to me the Great God Pan himself, the mighty Rodin. Surely Art and all Life would have been [illegible]"

There has always been considerable doubt as to the parentage of Isadora's two beautiful children, Deirdre and Patrick, who were [illegible] automobile accident. Isadora frankly asserts that Gordon Craig, the English artist, stage manager and actor and son of the late Ellen Terry, was the father of Deirdre. The father of Patrick was an immensely rich American, whom she calls "Lochuvar" throughout her narrative, giving no hint of his real identity, although, of course, dozens of her friends know him.

Isadora madly loved children, and in this connection there is a story of a letter she wrote to George Bernard Shaw, inviting him to visit her, and saying, "What a wonderful thing it would be to give the world a child with my face and your brain."

But the saturnine Shaw telegraphed her this:

"Must decline your kind invitation. Risk is too great. Suppose the child should have your brain and my face!"

The Late Isadora Duncan in the Greek Dress She Affected.

Of another romance she writes:

"In the two years which had elapsed since Budapest[illegible] every atom of my being, brain and body had been absorbed in enthusiasm for Greece and, now, for Richard Wagner. I slept lightly and awoke singing the themes which I had studied the evening before. But Love was to awaken again within me, though in a very different form.

"My friend Mary and I were alone in Philip's Ruhe, for, as there was no servants' room, the valet and cook boarded in a small inn nearby. One night Mary called to me: 'Isadora, I don't mean to frighten you, but come to the window. There, opposite, beneath a tree, every night after midnight that man looks up at your window. I am afraid it's a burglar with evil intentions.'

"Sure enough, a small, light man under a tree stood looking at my window. I shrugged with apprehension, but, suddenly, the moon came out and lit up his face. Mary clutched me. We had both seen the exalted, uplifted visage of Heinrich Thode (the distinguished German historian). We drew back from the window. I confess I was overcome with a fit of hysterical schoolgirl giggles—perhaps a reaction from the first fear.

"For a week he has been there like that every night," whispered Mary.

"I told Mary [illegible] I put on my coat over my nightdress and ran lightly out of the house, straight up to where Heinrich Thode stood.

"'Liebes Freund, Freund,' I said, 'I bet de much so?' [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

[

What Science Has Learned from the Keyes Quadruplets

Surprising Conduct of the Four Little Oklahoma Girls Who Were Born Practically All at Once, and Who Ought to Have Grown Up All Alike, But Are Most Perplexingly Different

The Keyes Quadruplets—Roberta, Mona and Leota—When They All Looked Precisely Alike and Their Mother Had to Mark Them to Tell Them Apart.

The Quads When They Were First Beginning, to Science's Surprise, to Look Different—Roberta, Mona and Mary, Brunettes, but Leota a Decided Blonde.

And at the Right—

The Keyes Quads Today. From Left to Right, Leota, Mary, Mona and Roberta—Not a Bit Hard to Tell Them Apart Now, and Each With an Entirely Different Temperament and Character.

Ida, Iva and Eva, the Hanna Triplets, All Looking Alike When They Were Seven and Wore Pigtails, and Satisfying Science by Still All Looking Alike When They Were Seventeen.

I

Thus it is of that a study

Roberta

Mona

Mona, the heaviest over 100 pounds, and Leota

the tallest,

over 70. That may be explained on the fact that Mona still likes to

and

Between the ages of ten and eleven Roberta, Mona and Mary Keyes lost their hair got darker, until now they are to be old maids, but they are in violent of man they will marry when they grow up. Nor are young lady to change her name, three of them thinking eighteen is quite old enough, while Leota says that a girl who marries before she is twenty-five is foolish.

The girls are being given a thorough musical education, for their father expects them all to go to college, and they will have to give him a little financial assistance if they are to do so. By the time they have completed a high school course, he anticipates, they will be sufficiently accomplished to form an orchestra and take engagements on the stage during their vacations. They will be billed as the "Musical Keyes Quadruplets."

are other differences, too numer-

, but of great interest to scien-

, between the little quad

Oklahoma

mother

They do agree that Sunday school is

, and they all like to go to church. They agree that they don't want to the road she will have wheedled her father into letting her play something a bit more masculine, like a cornet or a saxophone.

Physicians and psychologists are much interested by the divergence of temperament among the Keyes quadruplets. The doctors note with interest that Leota, the last born, is frail, while all the other girls are sturdy, and Roberta, the first born, is positively husky. Psychologists, taking note of the same circumstance, comment farther that Leota is seemingly possessed of more nervous energy, determination and the quality of leadership than any of her sisters.

Why one girl should be domestic, another a romping out-of-doors lass, a third a calm and well-poised little woman of the world at thirteen years, and a fourth an

, they are beating

with Mrs.

Roberta rebels when told to practice on the violin. Under protest, she is laboring with her fiddling daily, but she hopes before the "Musical Keyes Quadruplets" take they will resemble one another just as much at forty, although life will probably that. To some it gives wrinkles;

to another

The Hannas have always been dressed alike, taught alike, and have done pretty nearly everything by threes. They have met the same people, gone to the same church and Sunday school, had the same instruction in singing and dancing, shared vacations and amusements.

They have the same aptitudes, the same prejudices, the same emotional reactions. They laugh at the same jokes and take their handkerchiefs out at the same place in an affecting drama. They cherish the same ambition, which is to win fame and fortune on the singing stage. They even have voices that their singing teachers cannot tell apart. All of which is in marked contrast to the conditions that obtain in the Keyes household.

Mr. and Mrs. Keyes let the sight seers stare, and the scientists make their observations. They have no theories. A father and mother charged with the rearing of four lively girls, all of the same age, have , Mo., of Kansas City, who took a vow that they would not look alike, though they will soon be of voting age. Ida, Iva and Eva Hanna not only have the tender regard for one another that children of multiple birth usually inherit, but they take a worried delight in accentuating their similarity to another.

Eva

people have to

"Which is which?" and they're still doing it. The triplets are confident little time for introspection or analysis.

"There is nothing little else we can do, we nature take its course," Mrs Keyes told a visitor, when he asked her how she was affected by the development of individuality among the quadruplets.

"Of course, it was very nice, when they were little, to have them all look alike, and gurgle and cry alike, and it was rather amusing to have friends of the family constantly asking which was which. But I didn't expect them to remain alike all their lives, and I am not startled or shocked that they have reached the parting of the ways, so far as temperament is only one another, actually influenced the others in many little ways. But now they have other contacts. They are out in the world, for the schoolroom is the world in miniature. They know other children, and their characters are being affected according to natural characteristics they always had but didn't demonstrate when they were

"While

Mrs Keyes

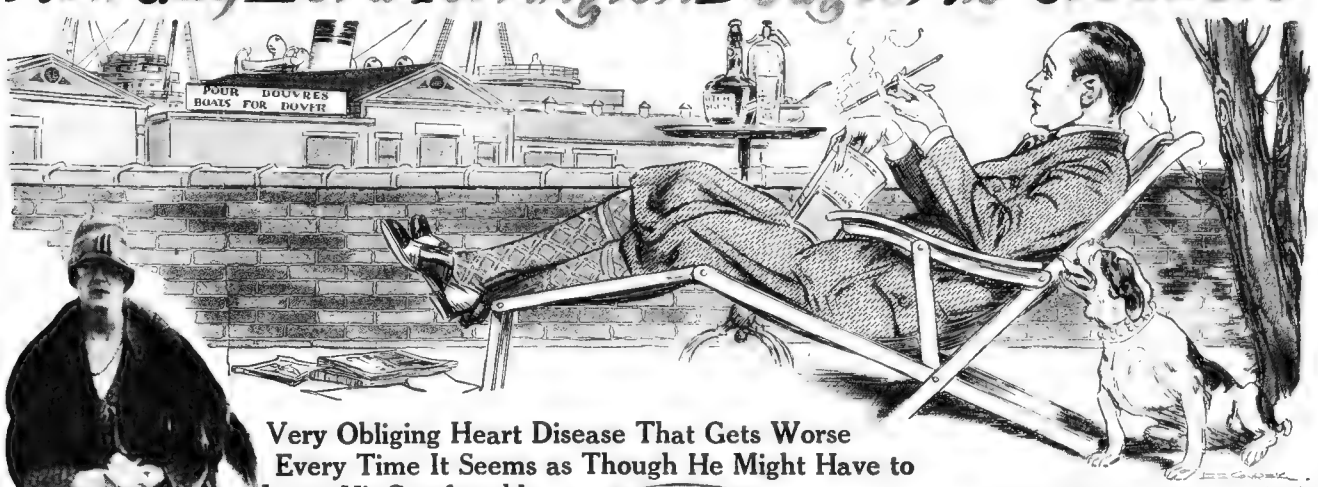
"They are all nice, kind, reasonably unselfish little girls, and I wouldn't have them go on being just alike for anything.

"It was fascinating when they were babies to see them laugh, cry or suck their thumbs by squads, but I assure the world it is exactly four times as fascinating to watch the unfolding of four distinct personalities from what was practically one.

"One interesting thing about the sharp differences of character among the quadruplets is that the girls have such dissimilar temperaments they get along like strangers, and there is mighty little scrapping in our house. In some ways they are more unlike than ordinary sisters of different ages. But there is a ways that everlasting tie that binds twins, triplets and quadruplets closer together than most commonplace human beings ever get to one another."

© 1927, by American Weekly, Inc. Great Britain Rights Reserved.

How Gay Lord Terrington Dodges His Creditors



Very Obliging Heart Disease That Gets Worse Every Time It Seems as Though He Might Have to Leave His Comfortable French Summer Resort Hospital and Go Back to England to Tell What Became of That Missing $2,000,000

The Present Lady Terrington, Who Shares His Exile.

The First Lady Terrington, From a Painting. And Lord Terrington Blames Her Political Ambitions Largely for His Peculiar Bankruptcy.

"Spinfield," Lord Terrington's Great Country House, Which Was Sold for the Benefit of His Creditors, but Was Hardly a Drop in the Bucket.

Lord Terrington, Whose Special Brand of Heart Disease Is One Which Every Bankrupt Must Envy.

There Probably Never Was Quite So Comfortable a Fugitive Bankrupt as Lord Terrington, as He Idles the Hours Away in His Luxurious Hospital Quarters, Watching the Boats Go to and From England, and Happy in the Knowledge That Every Time Anybody Wants to Send Him Back Home, He Will Have an Obliging French Doctor to Certify to a Convenient Attack of Heart Disease, and That These Will Continue for "at Least Fifteen or Twenty Years."

LONDON, Nov. 21.

FOR nearly a year the London Bankruptcy Court has been trying to catch the gay, irresponsible Lord Terrington, who was found to be bankrupt with debts of £420,840 ($2,104,200).

This colossal debtor, with various charges of misconduct hanging over him, is now enjoying every comfort, including unlimited Scotch and soda, at Boulogne on the French side of the Channel, within sight of the shores of [illegible] government is vainly trying to get him in its power.

There are some people who sympathize with Lord Terrington on the ground that he is that pathetic object—a man who has lost everything through his foolish infatuation for a woman. His first wife, a handsome woman of brains and ability, divorced him on account of his relations with the other charmer. Then all his enterprises began to fail. He lost fortune and reputation and finally became a fugitive from justice.

There is also another ground for sympathizing with him. The thinkers of this school reason that he was almost driven out of his mind when his first wife became immersed in politics and required him to accompany her to gatherings of aggressive political women. This cruel experience, they think, caused him to lose his judgment, brought about the collapse of all his interests, made him do many foolish things, and finally led him to forced his marriage vows.

About the time bankruptcy proceedings began, Lord Terrington found his health necessitated a trip to the Riviera, including an occasional visit to the green tables of Monte Carlo.

Since last March various departments of the British Government have successively sought to get him back to England without success. Their efforts have so far induced him to come as far north as Boulogne, on the French side of the Channel, but it does not appear likely that he will have to go any nearer England for some time.

Large sums of money belonging to prominent English families seem to have disappeared in Lord Terrington's hands through one cause or another, and the bankruptcy official naturally wishes to ask him how the money was lost. Lady Nunburnholme, widow of the head of the noted millionaire Wilson family, the Hull shipowners, claims that Lord Terrington had $700,000 of hers.

The Wilsons are the socially distinguished family in whose house, called Tranby Croft, King Edward became involved in the celebrated baccarat scandal. One of the Wilson girls married the Earl of Chesterfield and it is probable that all the family are distressed by the disappearance of $500,000 in these hard times.

Two trustees of estates claim that considerable sums of trust money entrusted to Lord Terrington for investment were lost.

The reason why Lord Terrington had so much of other people's money in his hands was that he had inherited a great reputation as a shrewd and honest lawyer. His father, known most of his life as Sir James Woodhouse, built up a great fortune as a lawyer. During the war he was president of the board appointed to settle the difficult question of compensating business concerns for property taken by the Government. For services on this board he was made Lord Terrington. He died in 1918.

His son carried on his father's practice with great activity and launched into many side lines. He was the chief director of a great shipbuilding company and of a chain of newspapers. He was also a prominent figure in political life. For several years he was quite a "Napoleon of Finance."

Many persons of wealth, knowing his father's reputation, naturally entrusted their money to him, but it does not seem that they studied his character very closely.

Lord Terrington has been involved frequently in amusing episodes. His first wife, a handsome divorcee who was among the first women elected to the British Parliament, brought suit against the London Daily Express for saying her ambition was to be "the best dressed woman in Parliament." She asserted that it hurt her among the democratic voters to be known as a frivolous woman of fashion. She was elected a few days after the statement was published, but at the following election she was defeated. She attributed her defeat to her reputation for being well dressed having affected the minds of the electors. She went on record as the only woman who ever complained of being called "too well dressed." The jury found that the statement was true, was not libellous, and had not injured her.

While Lady Terrington was displaying her fine clothes, her furs and her delicately toned stockings to a critical electorate, Lord Terrington was a devoted husband and assisted her campaign.

When she decided fine clothes were a mistake in politics and dressed like a dowdy in order to win a statesman-like reputation, Lord Terrington became interested in another woman, with a dangerous reputation for being very well dressed, a certain Mrs. Rena de Vere Humphrey.

The first Lady Terrington, disillusioned both in politics and in love, obtained a divorce from her husband last year, mentioning Mrs. Humphrey as co-respondent.

Then all Lord Terrington's companies began to go smash. When Lord Terrington left London last March to avoid the [illegible] court, Mrs. Humphrey went with him. Lord Terrington stopped at Monte Carlo and Mrs. Humphrey was never far away. The chief bankruptcy official sent a polite invitation to Lord Terrington to return at once and answer questions. Lord Terrington answered that his health was bad and that he would return as soon as he could.

As a man of high social position, Lord Terrington was treated very respectfully and the official assumed that his answers were true. Time after time the bankruptcy examination was postponed and the request to Lord Terrington to return was repeated.

Once he wrote, "I hope to be able to return next week." The next time he said, "My heart is very bad again and it might mean my death if I travel now."

Again he wrote that he would return if he had $100 for the fare, but when it was sent he had another heart attack and could not return himself or [illegible].

Finally the court sent a corps of detectives to find just how bad Lord Terrington's health was, why it was necessary for him to stay at Monte Carlo and how he was living there.

The detectives found the cozy flat Lord Terrington had occupied at Monte Carlo empty. His lordship had vanished completely from the principality. Evidently he knew they were coming. The Monte Carlo authorities are notoriously unwilling to give any information about persons who have visited their resorts, and the English detectives learned nothing from them. They [illegible] that he might have escaped to some more [illegible]

Along with the present Lord Terrington's [illegible] estate brought [illegible] company [illegible] debts of over $2,000,000.

[illegible] Lord Terrington at [illegible] to make [illegible] for his [illegible] fear that he [illegible] from abroad [illegible] Lord Terrington [illegible] and the English detectives [illegible] nothing from them. They [illegible] that he might have escaped to some more [illegible] from leaving France for any country

© 1927, by American Weekly, Inc. Great Britain Rights Reserved

Mystery of Therese, the Physicians, Scientists, Churchmen and Skeptics Flock to Study the Bleeding Stigmata of an Extraordinary Y

Listen to Her Repeat in Various Tongues and Dia
tions of the Saviour and Those Concerned in H

Photograph of Therese's Hands, Showing Stigmata of the Nails of the Cross on the Palm and on the Back of the Hand. These Wounds Partly Heal Up After Her Trance Every Friday, and Then Become Pronounced Again on the Following Friday.

Therese Neumann, the Bavarian "Miracle Girl," Taking Her Daily Walk With a Nun Near Her House in the Little Village of Konnersreuth.

CHAPTER II.

(Concluded from Last Sunday)

© 1927, by American Weekly, Inc. Great Britain Rights Reserved

KONNERSREUTH, BAVARIA, Nov. 1.

READERS of this page last Sunday were told of the strange and inexplicable things which have happened to the young German peasant girl, Therese Neumann, in the little Bavarian village of Konnersreuth, which have been called "miracles." The rest of the extraordinary story is related here to-day.

As those who read the first instalment know, 2,000 persons daily make the pilgrimage to Konnersreuth to see Therese and touch her hand. Four times she has made abrupt and seemingly miraculous recoveries from serious illnesses, to the mystification of the physicians. She has subsisted since last Christmas on a holy wafer given to her in a spoonful of water every day—and yet she has lost no weight and has maintained her strength. And on Easter Friday last the stigmata, or wounds of Christ, appeared upon her body, and are there to-day.

Every Friday morning the girl goes into a trance, or ecstasy of sorrow. While in that condition she suffers through the Passion with the Saviour, cries out when He is struck, screams and moans when He is crucified. She speaks fluently in Hebrew, Latin and Aramaic, of which she understands not a word when she is normal. The blood streams from the wounds in her hands and feet, and the marks of the thorns on her forehead and the wounds in her side. She weeps tears of blood. Each Saturday morning, the ecstasy past, she is again a simple country girl, fond of a joke, puzzled by her strange experiences. The wounds remain on her body, but they are smaller and do not bleed.

Therese is twenty-nine years old, and the daughter of the village butcher. Aside from the "miracles," her life has been drab and ordinary. The most learned scientists of Europe, professionally skeptical, have studied her case without reaching a conclusion. A distinguished commission from the University of Erlangen spent two weeks watching the girl and submitting her to various tests, and they went away no wiser than they were before they began their investigations.

The negative and unsatisfactory result of the examination by the commission of the University of Erlangen led to renewed efforts of the medical world towards the solution of the problems presented by the case of Therese Neumann. Physicians from all parts of the world came to Konnersreuth, saw and examined the stigmatic girl, and they could not offer any satisfactory explanation of the strange phenomena. The reports worked out by these physicians and published later in the medical magazines of various countries are characteristic of the fact that however hard the physicians try to avoid the word "supernatural," they are still at a loss to explain the strange facts of the case in the glaring searchlights of materialistic science.

Thus Dr. Johann Kmethko, a well-known Budapest surgeon, reports this:

"I must state that I am a materialist through and through, do not believe in miracles of any kind and went to Konnersreuth with the intention of either making a diagnosis of a rare and unusual pathological case or exposing a shrewd swindle. I declare that there was nothing fraudulent about the stigmatic girl herself. As to the stigmata, I have never seen wounds of this kind and though I think that their origin does not constitute a supernatural phenomenon, I must state that I consider them a result of hysterical autosuggestion, showing that our mental faculties are much greater than it is generally supposed by representatives of the medical profession."

Many scientists who came and made their own tests went away without comment. If the girl had not taken nourishment for many months, as she asserted, there was no rational explanation to be advanced. The easy explanation was that Therese must be taking food surreptitiously, although they were unable to prove this.

The wounds on the body of Christ which appear on the girl's face, forehead, hands, feet and under the heart, they argued, were in the same category with cases reported in medical history. But the scientists admitted that the experiments they made upon Therese's eyes showed results which completely stumped them and seemed to be unique in the history of medicine.

It was Professor Papstmann who suggested that an experiment be made on the girl's eyes during one of her regular Friday trances. For the purpose of this test a 5,000 candle-power arc lamp was focused on her eyes, full force. The girl failed to show the slightest reaction. This light was of sufficient power to blind anyone temporarily and perhaps permanently injure any normal human eye looking full at it.

It was expected that the girl would, either subconsciously or purposely, keep her eyes closed in the glare of this blinding light. To their utter astonishment Therese opened her eyes widely and stared directly into the glare of the lamp for nearly a minute. Professor Papstmann and the other members of the committee watched carefully, and to their startled amazement observed that the pupils of the eyes, instead of contracting, remained stationary.

After looking into the lamp Therese, not moving a muscle of her face, slowly closed her eyes, and only awoke hours later, on her regular schedule. When she awoke the professors asked her if she had not seen a bright light.

"No," replied the girl, "the sun shines no more. It is quite dark," in complete harmony with her role as the observer of Christ on Calvary when the heavens were split and darkness came upon the face of the earth, as the Bible narrative sets forth.

To the scientists conducting the investigation this test of the eyes with the blinding electric light surpassed all the other inexplicable phenomenon shown by the girl, for, as Professor Papstmann explained, the pupils of the eyes are under the sole control of involuntary muscles and entirely beyond the influence of the will. The experiment with the arc light seemed to show that the girl was in a veritable trance, and that for the time being not only did she have no voluntary control over her bodily functions, but, more astonishing still, the involuntary action of the muscles of the eyes were completely suspended.

An American, Dr. H. L. Wachtel, of New York City, has also been to see Therese Neumann. While he was not present at her Friday trance, he saw the stigmata and has studied the case. Here is what he says about it:

"In my opinion it is an unusual case of auto-suggestion, with a high percentage of hysteria, which is able to produce such physical effects as wounds known as stigmata. This part of the case is rather clear to me. There are, however, other details in which I do not see as clearly and, therefore, must refuse to voice any opinion.

"I am a materialist, and I do not believe that any person with as little food as Therese Neumann is said to have taken for the past year can live. Still, there we have the report of the physicians' commission, which says that a fraud is not possible. Here my understanding ceases, and I cannot say a word. I have simply no opinion except that there may be many things, mysteries of human brain and body, which medical science has not yet had time to penetrate."

In the early part of August a second commission, consisting of well-known physicians, subjected the stigmatic girl to another thorough examination. Again the examination lasted for two weeks, with the result that the commission, though it stated the facts and testimony regarding the case, refused to give out any statement as to the explanation of the miraculous phenomena. Some of the members of the commission, however, have published the results of the examination, adding to this their personal opinion. Particularly interesting is what the head of this second commission, Dr. Carl Wunderle, noted surgeon and professor of the University of Wuerzburg, has to say about what he terms "the most extraordinary medical case of our century."

"I suppose that we all say that this is a case of auto-suggestion and hysteria. This is my opinion, too. At the bottom of this hysteria lies something which represents quite a novum in hysterical cases, the will to be sick. It is entirely different from any other kind of desires and wills, and we have seen that it can be so strong that it can produce even physical phenomena.

"But in passing a judgment upon the case we must bear in mind certain details of it, which, perhaps, were not given full weight at the previous examination. I mean the cases of her recovery from dangerous diseases. Three first-class physicians, all of them reliable beyond doubt, Dr. Seidl, Dr. Mayr and Dr. Baron von Aretin have testified that the patient recovered three times from dangerous diseases without any medical treatment. Dr. Seidl reports that four years ago she recovered from suppurating wounds caused by her four-year-long lying in bed through the placing of religious relics on the diseased members.

"In other words we have here two different forms of effects of hysterical auto-suggestion produced by contrasting manifestations of the same will: first—to regain health, and second—to become and remain sick. If we concede that stigmatic cases, which have happened in the past, were of the same nature, in other words the stigmata were caused by the hysterical will to become sick, then we must confess that it is the first time that mere will-power or auto-suggestion effected the cure of suppurating wounds.

"If it be true that mere will-power can produce such effects, then we should go one step further and declare that it is false to speak of hysteria when we should properly speak of the human will being an absolute master of the body. Then we should say that the Hindu ascetics and philosophers and authors of the Jewish Kabbala were right when they contended that the tempo of the formation of cells of the human body is absolutely subordinate to our mental powers.

"This, however, is an inference too far to draw from this unique and isolated case. I am not willing to go that far, but, I am prone to suppose, that we are facing a case for the solution of which medical science is not far enough advanced."

It is not without interest that none of the examining physicians, no member of the two commissions went so far as to offer a positive solution of the problems or to advance any tangible theory. Dr. Ludwig Kannamueller, a noted Austrian physician, points out in his statement that the stigmatic girl has not the appearance of a sick woman in her normal condition and though she is slender, she is not emaciated. Dr. Kannamueller considers this fact alone utterly strange and well-nigh inexplicable. For Therese, during the twelve hours of her Friday trances, uses up great quantities of calories, and as she takes practically no nourishment, there is no visible source from which she replaces these lost calories.

Another physician, Dr. Heinrich Plauener, asserted that there were only two ways open for medical science in face of this "Miracle of Konnersreuth." The one would be not to speak about it at all and let it be forgotten. The second road for science to travel would be to submit the findings of the first two commissions to all great medical authorities of the world, asking their opinion and their co-operation in finding the solution of those phenomena which could not be explained by the medical authorities who have worked directly on this case. "For," says Dr. Plauener, "we must confess that we are unable to give any satisfactory explanation except words, which do not mean much."

Two months have passed since Dr. Plauener wrote these words, and though neither of his suggestions were followed, the interest of the scientific world in the strange case of Therese Neumann has not subsided. Representatives of the medical faculties of various German universities proposed that Therese be taken to one of them, so that new observations could be made within the walls of the universities. This proposition has been accepted, and the "Stigmatic of Konnersreuth" will be transported in a short time to Eichstatt and will live in a separate room in the Eichstatt University's hospital, observed and examined by the most excellent brains of German medical science, who still hope that they will be able to fathom the many deep mysteries of this singular case.

In the meantime Therese is living in Konnersreuth, in her parents' house. Every day she leaves the house for a few hours. One of the nurses and her mother support her. Usually, too, a nun accompanies her. She has difficulty in walking on account of the feet stigmata, which cause her constant pain. She is too weak to do any housework and she spends her days in meditation or in conversation with friends or visitors. Of the thousands of people who are still streaming to the tiny Bavarian mountain village and wish to see her, she is afraid. She does not accept any money or gifts of any kind and when one of the visitors offered her a hundred marks—the equivalent of $25—she refused with these words:

"No, I thank you—I don't suffer for money."——

When she takes her daily walk she is usually clad in a black robe and covers her hands with black gloves, in order to hide the stigmata on the hands. She does not pra very often, and those who had occasion to see he pray say that her worship has a strange, unique char acter. She addresses God in a confidential manne and usually asks Him to do this or that for he friends or for her family. She never asks anythin for herself.

Sometimes she describes the way in which sh would like God to help a certain person, informs Hi of his or her character, circumstances, and usuall stops with these words: ". . . But all this is non sense, You know much better what to do, becaus You are so much cleverer than I am . . . "

In her normal condition she is a simple, well meaning peasant girl, not at all different from othe peasant girls of her age with the one exception tha she is utterly devoid of egotism. She likes to talk t the physicians and doesn't mind the long and ofte very painful examinations. She doesn't consider her self a Saint or a martyr. When one of the examinin physicians asked her what she thought of her case she paused for a second or so and then said:

"I don't know . . . I am a very ignorant girl. . There are so many things which I don't know. . Yes . . . there are so many things we don' know. . . "

Among the thousands of physicians, scientist and other learned men who have journeyed to the bedside of Therese in the last few months many have searched medical history for records of somewhat similar cases. Among recorded manifestations o what medical science calls hysteria, auto-suggestion or hypnotism, the case reported by Dr. A. Moll, a distinguished European surgeon, is often referred to.

This is known as the case of "Miss A," a nurse who suffered from occasional attacks of hysteria and who was abnormally sensitive to suggestion "Miss A," Dr. Moll related, was placed in the hyp

"Miracle Girl"

a Little Bavarian Village to oung Peasant Girl, and alects the Conversa- His Crucifixion

"At the suggestion of Professor Papstmann, the experiment was made during one of Therese's Friday trances of focusing a 5,000-candle-power arc lamp on her eyes, full force—a light of sufficient power to blind anyone temporarily, and perhaps permanently injure any normal eye. To the utter astonishment of the scientists, the girl opened her eyes widely and stared directly into the glare of the lamp for nearly a minute, instead of subconsciously or purposely keeping her eyes closed in the blinding glare.

"To their startled amazement, the observers saw that the pupils of the eye, instead of contracting, remained stationary, for, as Professor Papstman explained, the pupils of the eye are under the sole control of involuntary muscles, and entirely beyond the influence of the will. The involuntary action of the muscles of the eye, which close the pupils automatically in the face of a glaring light, were suspended—an unexpected phenomenon which the scientists were unable to account for."

Painting by Georges Moreau De Tours of a Woman With the Stigmata in the Middle Ages.

notic state by Professor Forel, a well-known psychologist. Professor Forel made with his finger the mark of a cross on the forearm of the nurse. He then told her that it had been done with a hot iron, and that it would blister.

"Some minutes later," wrote Dr. Moll, "a raised cruciform swelling developed where the finger of Professor Forel had marked the cross. He now suggested to 'Miss A' that the blister would bleed, and after the lapse of an hour there were actually a few drops of blood visible upon the swelling."

Dr. Frederick Bjornstrom, head physician of the Stockholm Hospital, in a report upon hypnotism and auto-suggestion, set down the following curious observations:

"By suggestion, while the patient was hypnotized, Dr. Dumontapallier produced not only local redness, but also a local increase of temperature of several degrees. Dr. Beaunis, by the same method, has produced general increase of temperature throughout the body, and also perspiration.

"Dr. Bourru, professor of medicine in Rochefort, and Dr. Burot, of the same place, in this way caused nosebleed and perspiration of blood in a hysterical man, who was paralyzed and without feeling in his right side. One of them wrote his name on the arms of the hypnotized man with a blunt instrument and said:

"'To-day at 4 P. M. you will fall asleep, and the lines that I have now drawn on your arm will bleed.'

"At the prescribed time the patient went to sleep. On his left arm the letters appeared raised and very red, readily distinguishable from the surrounding pale skin, and from several of the marks blood was dripping. On the arm that was paralyzed nothing appeared.

"'Dr. Mabille has since seen the same patient several times during fits of hysteria, when he himself loudly ordered the arm to bleed, and the bleeding afterward appeared.

"Still another experiment with the same man and one witnessed by several physicians is worth mentioning. He was hypnotized and a letter was inscribed on his left wrist, with the order that he should immediately make it bleed

"'It hurts,' the patient said

"'Still you must bleed!' ordered the physician Then the muscles of the arm contracted. The forearm swelled. A letter appeared red and raised. Drops of blood trickled out and were clearly seen by all present.

"'Dr. Charcot, the French scientist, and his pupils have often produced real burns by suggestion. These did not develop immediately, but several hours later.

"Dr. Fere records the case of an hysterical woman who even in the waking state could produce blisters on any part of the body by merely fixing her concentrated attention on it."

Another peculiar case of auto-suggestion is recorded by Dr. E. L. Schleich.

"A hysterical young woman was sitting on her sofa. An electric fan stood on a table in one corner of the room. During my visit the young woman, terribly startled, cried hysterically:

"'Oh, heavens, there's that humming again! As though it were a great bee!'

"'Well,' I said, 'if it were, we'd drive it out the window.'

"'No, no!' she cried, 'it might sting me! Oh, oh, think if it were to sting my eye!'

"While I was trying to calm her, while I was admonishing her and she was lamenting, the poor creature's lower eyelid actually swelled up to the size of a hen's egg, of a doughy consistency, and an obviously inflammatory and extremely painful redness. Fear, the mental picture of the idea of swelling, had positively caused a plastic alteration to the tissue of the eyelid."

Therese's use of the Roman, Hebrew and Aramaic tongues is one of the greatest mysteries of her case. There seems to be no evidence that she ever heard the words of these languages that she speaks. But if at any time she had heard them, then it would be possible for her to repeat them during her ecstasy, even though she had not the faintest remembrance of them at any other time.

Dr. Louis Saton refers to this phenomenon of memory in his "Hypnotism and Suggestion," as follows

"The Danish professor, Hansen, once hypnotized an English officer. Suddenly the latter began to speak in a strange language, which none of those present could understand. After strict inquiry it was established that the language was Welsh, which the officer had heard as a child, but had later completely forgotten.

"The same explanation holds good of a well known case of a Hebrew-speaking serving maid, who, in a state of 'trance,' constantly spoke, with apparent fluency, a strange language, of which at other times she knew nothing. The strange language was classic Hebrew. It turned out that years before she had been in service with a clergyman who had a habit of memorizing Hebrew by speaking it aloud."

The maid had not been conscious of memorizing the words with the good clergyman, but she had heard them, and her brain cells had recorded them to be turned out later under the stress of hysteria like a phonographic record

In studying Therese's recovery from her paralysis the medical men considered among others this report by Dr. Anna Sturges Duryea, told in her article upon "American Nerves and the Secret of Suggestion."

"During the war a group of soldiers were brought into one of the large city clinics for diagnosis of a sudden and inexplicable inability to see. When their story was told the conclusion was reached that the men were suffering from what was pronounced 'exemption blindness.'

"The draft had called them at a point in their private affairs when they felt they could not respond Some domestic responsibility, an aged mother, an invalid sister to be cared for, a prospective family about to arrive in a newly established home, made the devoted son, brother or husband feel that his real duty held him here. He had been examined, and in every case passed as fit, but the reiterated assurance to himself in the deep of his mind, perhaps in the half waking hours of the night or early morning, that he could not go, he could not go, something must happen, an insurmountable obstacle must arise which would keep him, finally worked self-deception, and literally misled him into temporary but actual blindness.

"When the assertion that something must or must not happen is registered in the subconscious mind with a certain quality and degree of emotional tension, the subconscious automatically accepts the fact and is deceived into doing something about it, and so it sends up in these cases blindness to the unsuspecting eyes, which had not consciously bargained for the result. These cases were diagnosed by leading neurologists as functional 'exemption blindness.'"

Psychiatrists and surgeons have even established the fact of auto-suggested death in hysterical cases.

A woman whose case was noted by Dr. Coue was confined to bed by illness during the Winter. She heard, or imagined she heard, her doctor murmur, "She won't outlive April." This idea became fixed in her mind. Nevertheless, for the time being she got better, left her bed and seemed strong again. But to everyone she said, shaking her head, that she felt sure she would die in April. On April 1 her appetite disappeared. A few days later she took to her bed once more and died shortly before the end of the month

Dr. Hippolyte Bernheim, professor of medicine at the Faculty of Medicine at Nancy, France, in his "Suggestive Therapeutics" writes

"I give without comment the following quotation from Dr. Charpignon (Etudes sur la Medecine animique et vitaliste)

"'Many [illegible] of Christ's martyrs escaped [illegible] the ecstasy which came from the ardor of their faith, a phenomenon well known to their executioners, who increased their fury and improved their inventions for punishment. In the same way at the time of the tortures of the Inquisition certain individuals became insensible under the influence of their faith and the somniferous virtue of some talisman. Upon this point I will give the following [illegible] extracted from records of that time.

"'[illegible] had a thought on the cross [illegible] the [illegible] to pain [illegible] the [illegible] prisoner [illegible] that [illegible] effect. Some uttered [illegible] in a low voice, and others [illegible] about a half an hour, one part of their body. The [illegible] recognized as using some sort of a [illegible] that [illegible] touching on the feet, [illegible] help, which as if he had been [illegible] head, [illegible] complaining or crying. [illegible] touching was repeated two or three [illegible] remained as motionless as a statue [illegible] made us suspect that he was provided [illegible] chain, and to resolve the doubt he was [illegible] naked as his hand. Yet, after a careful [illegible] found on him but a little piece of [illegible] which were the pictures of the three kings [illegible] the words on the other side 'Beautiful star which delivered the Magi from Herod's persecution, deliver me from all torment.' This paper was stuffed [illegible] left ear. Now, although the paper had been [illegible] he still appeared insensible to the torture [illegible] when it was applied he muttered words [illegible] teeth which we could not hear, and as he persisted in his denials, it was necessary to send him [illegible] to prison.'"

But while medical history has been searched in every country and in every language, no case has been found which is a thorough parallel to the case of the Bavarian girl. Nothing hitherto recorded in medicine anywhere in the world can be pointed to as explaining satisfactorily all the phenomena exhibited by Therese

A flood of literature is being published about the "Stigmatic of Konnersreuth" in Germany and Austria. Pamphlets, essays, studies, learned compositions, popular stories, religious panegyrics and agnostic treatises. Some of them offer more or less hazy hypotheses about the case, others are eager to accept the phenomena as new examples of heavenly miracles. But when it comes to a precise explanation of all the mysteries involved, all the learned physicians, agnostic scientists and theologians who have so far studied the case can but paraphrase the simple words of Therese Neumann herself that there are "so many things we don't know."

If, as it is said, she is moved to an observation room in Eichstatt University Hospital will the mysteries surrounding the "Miracle Girl" at last be cleared up?

(The End)

In The Dark By Sydney Horler

A Gripping Story of Intrigue and a Game for a Girl's Heart by a New Master of Mystery

"Sitting on the small bed, Marjorie experienced a series of bewildering emotions. To be worshipped by such a man! It frightened her, because Zoab, she knew, was not only abnormal in body, but abnormal in mind."

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters.

M

CHAPTER XVIII.

The Arrest

M

"The authorities know their own business, doubtless. "As this Mr. Creighton of Scotland Yard," replied the newcomer, looking

"I warn you, Mr. Deputy Commissioner, as I have already warned your detectives, that a gross error has been made in arresting me tonight," he said. "I understand that I am charged with the murder of Simon Baste. In reply to this absurd and ridiculous accusation, I tell you that I have never even seen the person of Baste.

The voice of Mr. Jarvis Stark

The tone of Mr. Jarvis Stark's voice had changed. As he spoke, Martin Creighton leaned forward. He was trying to puzzle out what seemed to him to be an amazing story. It could not be—and yet

"It's all a damned lie!" he cried at the top of his voice. "I am innocent!"

The manner of Mr. Jarvis Stark changed once again. He might now have been a chapel deacon conducting a religious service.

"If you are innocent, Mr. Creighton, rest assured that no harm will come to you. The fact that you acknowledge this must understand that I am charged with the murder of Simon Baste. In reply to this absurd and ridiculous accusation, I tell you that I have never even seen the person of Baste.

The voice of Mr. Jarvis Stark

The deputy commissioner of Scotland Yard looked at the speaker. Before long his hand, Creighton recognized as a weapon which he had sought in South America, and which until that moment, he had believed to be in the possession of Baste. He started violently, for the realization of what this must mean flashed through

The tone of Mr. Jarvis Stark's voice had changed. As he spoke, Martin Creighton leaned forward. He was trying to puzzle out what seemed to him to be an amazing story. It could not be—and yet

"Surprise had given Martin the advantage, and he made the best of it. He packed such power into his first blow that the detective staggered."

"Now, look here, Mr. Deputy Commissioner, I am not to be intimidated by your threats. I am innocent, and I demand that you release me at once."

"Sit down, Mr. Creighton," said the deputy commissioner, pointing to a chair. "I am not threatening you. I am merely warning you that you are in a very serious position. Whoever had put his head about him, had well quoted the law in the deputy commissioner of Scotland Yard

Martin Creighton realized this huge

erful personage boldly.

"I warn you, Mr. Deputy Commissioner, as I have already warned your detectives, that a gross error has been made in arresting me tonight," he said. "I understand that I am charged with the murder of Simon Baste. In reply to this absurd and ridiculous accusation, I tell you that I have never even seen the person of Baste.

The voice of Mr. Jarvis Stark had changed. As he spoke, Martin Creighton leaned forward. He was trying to puzzle out what seemed to him to be an amazing story. It could not be—and yet

"Surprise had given Martin the advantage, and he made the best of it. He packed such power into his first blow that the detective staggered."

"Sit down, Mr. Creighton," said the deputy commissioner, pointing to a chair. "I am not threatening you. I am merely warning you that you are in a very serious position. Whoever had put his head about him, had well quoted the law in the deputy commissioner of Scotland Yard

Martin Creighton realized this huge

erful personage boldly.

"I warn you, Mr. Deputy Commissioner, as I have already warned your detectives, that a gross error has been made in arresting me tonight," he said. "I understand that I am charged with the murder of Simon Baste. In reply to this absurd and ridiculous accusation, I tell you that I have never even seen the person of Baste.

The voice of Mr. Jarvis Stark

The deputy commissioner of Scotland Yard looked at the speaker. Before long his hand, Creighton recognized as a weapon which he had sought in South America, and which until that moment, he had believed to be in the possession of Baste. He started violently, for the realization of what this must mean flashed through

The tone of Mr. Jarvis Stark's voice

In The Dark

By Sydney Horler

(Continued from Page 12)

out of her ears: "Emperor of the world!" What could such a high-sounding phrase mean?

Her mind then went back to the Colossus. The latter, she had the best of reasons to believe, was a super-criminal. Zoab, until that night, had been associated with him had committed crimes on his behalf, no doubt. It was fairly easy for her to understand what had happened: inflamed by his desire, the dwarf had seized his opportunity to kidnap her. No doubt he was working now for a fresh master, a man who was willing to supply him with unlimited money in order to profit from the scheme on which Zoab was engaged.

What was this scheme? What work could such a person as Zoab do? That it was of immense proportions, and that it was fraught with tremendous possibilities were certain—unless the dwarf had lost his reason.

She continued in the endeavor to thrash out this baffling problem. Always her reflections brought her back to one central point—the Colossus. She had this, at least, to go upon: that huge man with the parti-colored hair was the declared enemy of Lord Belshaven, her employer. Did it not also follow then that Zoab, once the associate of the other, was also an enemy of Lord Belshaven, even though he might now be working for another master?

"Emperor of the world!"

The words rang in her ears like a sinister warning.

Was it not possible that this dreadful dwarf, having some obscure and mysterious reason of his own, was striking at England—and perhaps through the very person of Lord Belshaven?

She got to her feet. Resolution had come to her. She felt herself being filled with a new spirit. Up until this time she had been something of a coward, and she reproached herself bitterly for the fact. But now this greater peril had enabled her to put on armor; her courage, she felt sure, was threatened by a terror of which perhaps she, and she alone, was aware.

She must stay on in this place. At whatever cost to herself God knew if it must be a bitter one she was bound to seek out this monstrous thing discover actually what the plot was, and then, should no help come to her in the meantime, endeavor to outwit the conspirators. An overwhelming task for a girl single-handed—but she had to attempt it, nevertheless.

Once the resolution was made, she was surprised to find the weight on her heart lifting. Stranger still was the thought which a moment later came to her unexpectedly: she would have liked a comrade in this stupendous task, and the person who stood out in her mental vision was that young, tall, clear-eyed man who twice had offered her aid. What a fool!—what a crass, stupid fool!—she had been to refuse this help! How she would have welcomed it now!

There are moments in life when one gets lightning flashes of intuition. These usually come in times of crisis. Desperately at bay, Margery Steers had a revelation vouchsafed to her—this man she had suspected, she knew now to be clean and true! What did it matter that circumstances had caused him to be surrounded by suspicion? No doubt he had regarded her with similar suspicion! Yet this had not stopped him from offering her help when he felt she was in danger.

Margery Steers' hitherto uneventful life had not been disturbed by any love affairs. She had thrown herself into the work that proved so interesting with a zeal which had been merely an abstract factor—something to read about in novels, something to be wondered at when overtaking her friends; but that was all. Love had never come marching bravely down Whitehall to catch her up in his swift, tumultuous embrace. Now and then, sitting over the fire in her rooms, or idling half-an-hour away in St James' Park, she had speculated in a vague and hazy fashion about the chance of one day a man entering into her own life. No stupidly romantic moods, these; Margery was essentially a modern girl; and the erotic or foolish balderdash of lady novelists, she would have flung unhesitatingly into the fire. Yet, feminine to her finger-tips, it was but natural that, living a bachelor girl's life, she should think occasionally about men. She did not want a lover, but if one came, she pictured him above everything else as a man whom she could meet on level ground with no artifice of sex; just a true, clear eyed pal, just such a man in fact, as that unknown, whose friendship she had been stupid enough to refuse.

Would she ever meet the man again? Any pretence she might have had was now stripped from her; her soul was bare.

Her heart beat out a message; should no come again, all the friendship that she could give him would be his.

The thought consoled her. Whatever fears the future might hold, yet she had this small hope—that once again the unknown would look into her face and say: "I am your friend! I have come to help you!"

* * *

Not many miles away, the man of whom Margery Steers was thinking, was fleeing, like the hunted criminal he had become, through the grounds of [illegible]. Two [illegible] to storm the police [illegible] at a high [illegible] Wonder of wonders that he was alive he had crawled from beneath the wreck and was now running across [illegible] desperately developed [illegible]

CHAPTER XXI.

The Escape

FIVE minute after being formally charged with the murder of a man he had never seen, Martin Creighton, his hands manacled, was seated beside one of the detectives who had arrested him that night. The other police officer was driving the car at a powerful pace across Hampstead Heath.

In some uncanny fashion which he did not stop to analyze, Creighton's thoughts were not with the present; they were in the past.

A certain scene was vividly etched in his memory. He saw the rat-like face of the ex-convict who had drifted down to the South American mining camp, as clearly as though the man stood before him. Jake Colman had been the man's name, and he was reputed to be one of the most expert safe-burglars in America. On arrival at the mining camp he was in a pitiable condition, being a physical wreck. In spite of a natural antipathy, Creighton had helped the man to the extent of giving him food and clothes and providing him with shelter. Colman who had just served a long prison sentence, human reptile though he was, had been grateful.

His gratitude had taken a most singular form.

"I don't s'pose that you'll ever get across the dicks yourself, but if yer do, matey, here's a trick that will prove useful," he said, one night, after looking up his benefactor at the latter's shanty.

To Martin Creighton's surprise the ex-convict produced a pair of handcuffs.

"Put these on my wrists, matey," he said, "and I'll show you what I mean."

Somewhat hesitatingly Creighton did as he was desired.

The ex-convict held out his handcuffed wrists. There was a smile on his hard, criminal face.

"Now yer wouldn't think," said Colman, that with gidy, [illegible] I'd be able to [illegible] free—would yer now?"

[illegible] Creighton.

The smile on the criminal's face broadened.

"Well, that's where I've got yer beat, sir!" he said. "There's just two guys in this world who can get their hands out of these steel bracelets without raising a hair. Halyeh, the guy who goes round on the music halls, is one—and I'm the other! Like to see how it's done? You never know yer luck, and I may be doin' yer a good turn well at known it."

It was more out of kindness of heart than anything else that Creighton had expressed a wish to see the astonishing trick performed. He did not like Colman, the very presence of the man was offensive to him; but, in spite of the deep rascality of the other's nature, the ex-convict, he knew, was grateful for the humanity shown, and he was trying in the only way he knew to show his appreciation of the other's decency. It would be churlish to refuse his offer.

He affected more interest than he really felt.

"Do you really mean to say that you can get free?" he asked.

"Yes. Look!"

The movements the man made could not be accurately followed by the watcher, but at the end of a very few minutes, Creighton was forced to gasp in astonishment. Although he had tested the security of the handcuffs for himself, the ex-convict [illegible] his wrists, and was now holding the manacles in one hand.

"Wonderful," he admitted.

Jake Colman showed discolored teeth in a third broad smile.

"Only two [illegible] to do that on [illegible] I s'pose," he said; "but if you likes, you can be the third."

Creighton had started. The thought that [illegible] accomplishment might ever be of any use to [illegible] course, did not [illegible] urious to know how the remarkable feat could be done. What was more, he disliked casting cold water upon Jake Colman's enthusiasm.

"I should certainly like to see how you do it," he admitted.

The ex-convict [illegible] satisfied. He showed infinite patience and still filled with his enthusiasm, he at length persuaded Creighton to put on the handcuffs himself.

[illegible] months' arduous work [illegible] showed Wonderful [illegible] such a fool, Creighton, always under the tutelage of the ex-convict (who, having stated that he wished to return to an honest life, had been given a small [illegible] ment), and, amidst the ribaldry of Harry Jenkins, his friend, persisted in acquiring the gift which Colman insisted should [illegible]

At the end of the three months Martin Creighton, to the consternation of Jake Colman, was able to free his wrists from any pair of handcuffs that could be procured.

Having accompanied the task, Creighton had thought no more of the matter. As a matter of fact, the incident had passed entirely from his mind. By a [illegible] of irony, however, it was [illegible] itself upon his attention.

He had [illegible] and [illegible] overcome by dejection. His [illegible] naked hands were hanging between his knees. Had he lost the [illegible]

[illegible] months' [illegible] right.

"Here—" started [illegible] detectives [illegible]

The man said no [illegible] Noiselessly [illegible] prisoner who had [illegible] himself [illegible] With a queer, half-strangled sob, [illegible] unconscious, sent his [illegible] sitting in front, slowed down to negotiate a difficult corner. Creighton acted on impulse. One man was disposed of, before he could be safe, he must see to the other.

He heard a groan, and then a voice: "Back the engine!"

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] at last [illegible] and back to the front of the car with the evident intention of [illegible]

Now was his [illegible] Late was leading him a Land after paying such a scurvy trick.

Opening the door to the [illegible] the driver's seat [illegible] stepped from the [illegible] ness of the night [illegible] outlined by the [illegible] could see the stooped figure [illegible]

"You needn't [illegible] moods. I can manage [illegible] the latter said.

In two hounds [illegible] upon him. He was [illegible] desperate man, and [illegible] the occasion to stand upon [illegible] His freedom, perhaps [illegible] depended upon possessing [illegible] and getting away [illegible] [illegible] He was [illegible] [illegible] who [illegible] assailant was. Yet, a man trained to surprises and emergencies [illegible]

(To Be Continued Next Sunday.)

Are you a Skinflint toward your Beauty?

The business of keeping Youth and Beauty on Tiptoe is one of the Arts of Life!

TOGUARD in all its unspoiled freshness that lovely gift called Youth; to look twenty until one is thirty-five—or more; to be fleet as Diana, racing with the years! What could be for any woman a more thrilling pursuit?

But you can't be a skinflint toward your beauty, taking care of your skin just now and then! You can't give yourself a furious facial today, neglecting it tomorrow. The cultivation of beauty must be recognized as one of the fine Arts of Life!

Strange as it may seem, however, few women have grasped these A B C's of beauty culture! Recently we asked hundreds of women in two average American cities to tell us how they take care of their skin. The answers were shocking!

Scores admitted they'd love to look young and pretty, but they just don't know how! Others declare they know, but admit they forget! They pursue an orgy of beauty-culture once or twice a month, but lapse spinelessly between.

POOR dears how short-sighted! Giving the skin some simple form of daily care is as important as brushing one's teeth! Almost as easy! Ten times as much fun!

And the woman who has a spark of imagination finds keeping herself in the bloom and freshness of an English garden, as inspiring as planning a new frock! Indeed, she even takes pleasure in devoting a few moments each day to this richly rewarding end!

FOLLOW for just a few weeks the simple program outlined here. If you haven't then acquired a soft, firm, beautiful skin, why—we'll send you the Moon or anything you like, parcel post prepaid!

Perhaps you think your face is really clean? But is it? Examine your chin and nose in a magnifying mirror.

You'll get a jolt that will send you skipping to the cold cream jar! At least twice a day your skin needs a thorough, fundamental cleansing with a pure cleansing cream to free the pores of their deep accumulations of oil, powder, perspiration and dust.

For this try Pond's. You will delight in the fragrant lightness of it to touch and the purposeful manner in which [illegible] oils, melting and spreading, go after the dirt in the depths of [illegible] generously, [illegible] and outward stroke.

AND for removing the Cream do you know about the perfectly exquisite Tissues you can buy now in any store?

Pond's just simply ha [illegible] the thing. For the women we [illegible] finally begged us for tissues soft [illegible] enough. And, goodness knows, they needed them—for they were removing cold cream with bath towels and washcloths and even their best linens!

We felt we must put a stop to this! So now you can buy Tissues of such good quality and so ample that they absorb all oil and moisture instantly, never rolling up into horrid little balls!

These same women we interviewed gave us still another idea. They said, "What can you tell us that feels as fresh to the skin as a dip in a mountain pool?" We couldn't answer that question then. But we can now.

Pond's new Skin Freshener, used when you first get up in the morning, gives you just this very sensation! There never was such a delicious awakening such refreshment for the skin!

And you'll love it just as much too, when you come in, weary, at the end of the day, with your skin feeling as thick [illegible] at the top of a dram!

Pond's Skin Freshener—de[illegible]

Pond's [illegible] cream—to [illegible] and protect.

Pond's Cleansing Tissues [illegible]

PATTING new life into your face with the delicious Pond's Cleansing Cream, removing the Cream with the new Pond's Tissues, giving your skin a final refreshment with the new Pond's Freshener—this will simply make your face over for the evening—and your spirit [illegible]

Another [illegible] Pond's Freshener [illegible] greatest [illegible] prevent any little [illegible] the skin. Soyou need not fear it's frequent use.

Were you ever so lovely as now? You look and feel as smooth and fair as a lily. Oh! But wait! There's one more touch—the lily must be given an added pearliness, a frosty glow, before she [illegible] the world and stoops to conquer it!

[illegible] Pond's [illegible] Cream Pond's [illegible] Pond's [illegible] miraculous fineness and smooth[illegible]

Now for your favorite rouge and powder! Never did [illegible] so [illegible] so [illegible] Your [illegible] For the [illegible] keep the fr[illegible] that is given so well [illegible]

Use them for [illegible] same youthful [illegible] as simply [illegible] for the new Pond's.

NEW 11¢ OFFER

[illegible] samples of Pond's [illegible] ener and Cleansing Cream.

Name [illegible]

Street [illegible]

City [illegible]

SPONSORED by

H. M. THE QUEEN of SPAIN — H. R. H. THE DUCHESSE DE VENDOME

H. R. H. EULALIA, INFANTA of SPAIN — THE PRINCESS ELGENE MERAT

THE MARCHIONESS of QUEENSBERRY — LADY LOUIS MOUNTBATTEN

THE DUQUESA DE ALBA — THE COUNTESS of OXFORD and ASQUITH

MRS. W. K. VANDERBILT — MISS ANNE MORGAN

For the School Lunch.

THE school lunch should be appetizing. The lunch box should be the kind that can be easily washed and scalded. Small jars

Honeymoon Millions

By Stephen McEnery

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters.

KENNETH THORNE, a young bank

No longer Slave of the powder puff

I've found wonderful freedom by substituting cling-to-the-skin
M. BARBARA KENT

CHAPTER V.

HE vice-president was long for [illegible] of that [illegible] dollars [illegible] box of

"With a long drawn-out rebel yell, Colonel Crocker Wetherbee shot his right fist at the prohibition agent and immediately the night club crowd started for the exits."

Proving That No Bridegroom Can Mix Business With Love and Still Keep His Bride Happy

[illegible]

(Continued on Page 16)

neuritis

Remove the congestion that is bringing the [illegible]

BAUME BENGUÉ
ANALGÉSIQUE

Advertisement.

HOW TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Makes One Look Younger.

[illegible]

Get this Week End Set SPECIAL

TOOTHACHE!

[illegible] chewing gum. Applied in a [illegible]

DENT'S
TOOTHACHE GUM

Heals Legs
By Increasing Circulation

[illegible] Easy to understand and to use. Write for FREE BOOK now!

A. W. VISCOSE CO.
1038 South Alvarado, Los Angeles, California

MOTHER!

Look at Child's Tongue if Sick, Cross, Feverish

[illegible] Fig Syrup Company [illegible] and with contempt [illegible] bottle. Beware counterfeits [illegible]

California Fig Syrup

[illegible] on down at [illegible] hand," Uncle Crocker [illegible] Mr. Richman was [illegible] Mr. Wetherbee.

[illegible] that [illegible] the office [illegible] "He [illegible] the two [illegible] on [illegible]

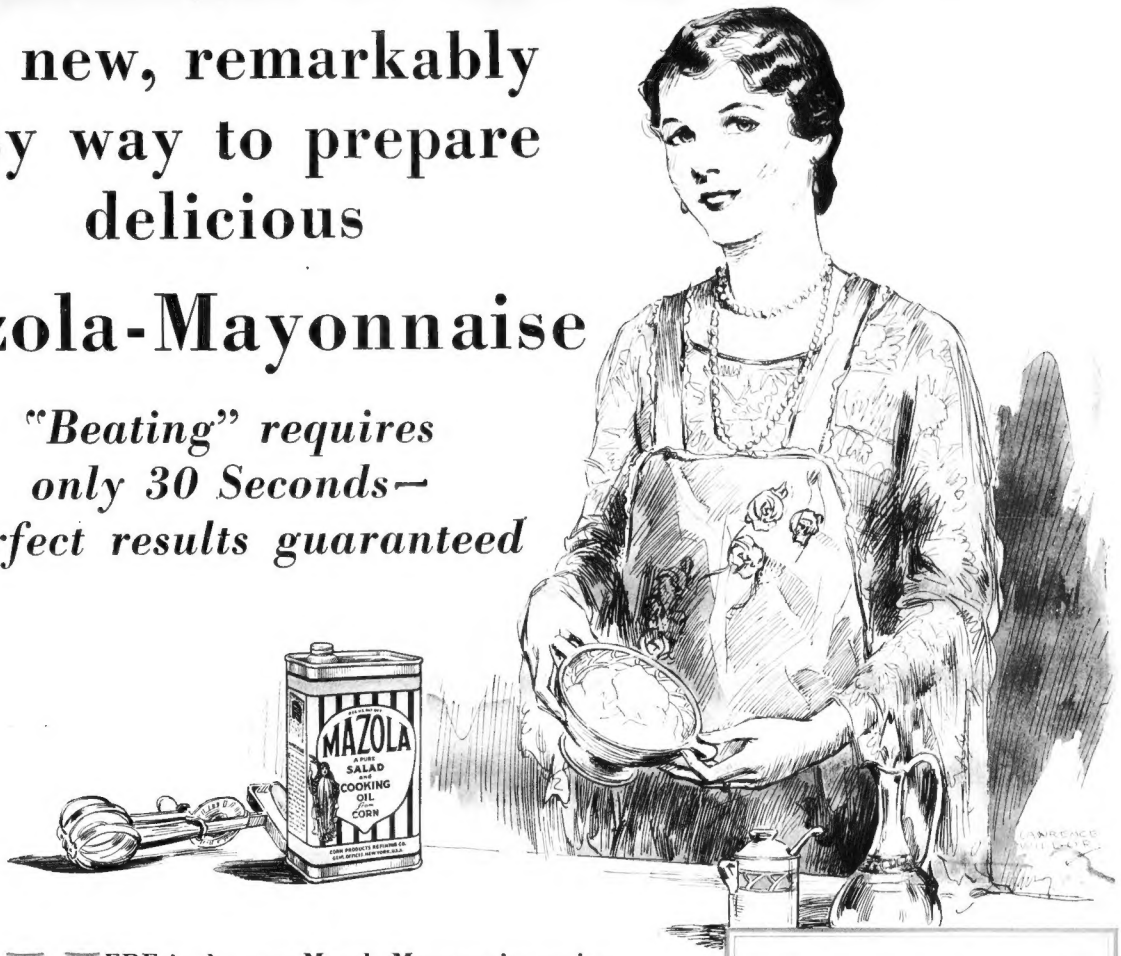
[illegible] hand—sat [illegible] t, yet there was [illegible] on the part of Uncle [illegible] crocker of [illegible] ct. He [illegible] and [illegible]

[illegible] Wetherbee [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

A new, remarkably easy way to prepare delicious

Mazola-Mayonnaise

"Beating" requires only 30 Seconds— perfect results guaranteed



HERE is the new Mazola-Mayonnaise recipe that has amazed thousands of housewives. Easily, quickly made—and you can prepare a pound of this wonderful mayonnaise for less than twenty cents—about one-half the price of manufactured mayonnaise. Merely follow carefully the recipe to the right—the results will surprise you.

Salads made Mazola famous for purity, quality and economy and this new recipe again demonstrates the excellence of this Perfect Oil for all Salads.

1 egg	½ teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons sugar	¼ cup vinegar
1½ teaspoons salt	¾ cup Mazola
2 teaspoons dry mustard	1 cup water

4 tablespoons Argo Cornstarch

(All measurements should be level)

PUT egg, sugar, seasoning, vinegar and Mazola in mixing bowl, but DO NOT STIR. Make a paste by mixing the Argo Cornstarch with ½ cup water, add additional ½ cup water and cook over slow fire, stirring constantly until it boils and clears up.

Add hot cornstarch mixture to ingredients in mixing bowl and beat briskly with Dover egg beater. Cool before serving.

Send this coupon NOW!

NEARLY 300 other unusual recipes—and many helpful suggestions—are contained in Mrs. Ida Bailey Allen's famous book "The Modern Method of Preparing Delightful Foods".

Probably no other book so adequately meets the housewife's daily need of advice on the perfect preparation of foods.

The new edition is now re[illegible]y. Send this coupon with 10 cents (stamps or coin) and you wi[illegible] promptly receive your copy.

CORN PRODUCTS REFINING COMPANY A W.
P. O. Box 171, Trinity Station, New York City

Enclosed is 10c (stamps or coin). Please send me postpaid a copy of "The Modern Method of Preparing Delightful Foods".

Name .....

Address .....

Town ..... State .....

Honeymoon Millions

By Stewart M. Emery

(Continued from Page 14)

hold word. Colonel Crocker Wetherbee placed his hand upon his heart and bowed magnificently.

"I am the donor of those few blooms, dear lady. It is the gift of one Southerner to another."

A TREMENDOUS HIT

"Oh," cried Delicia ecstatically. "Didn't I meet you somewhere? I just knew we'd meet again sometime. And I do so want to thank you before I go out to dinner."

The light of a great and glad enthusiasm appeared in the orbs of Uncle Crocker, who stroked his imperial with the gesture of a conqueror.

"I would be charmed if you would make a fourth at our table," he said grandly. "This—ah—gentleman"—a flick of the hand indicated J. J. Richman as though he were a lamp-post — "has just dropped out."

"Colonel," cried the celebrity, "I'm with you!"

Ringed fingers nestled in the crook of a gallant arm and before Kenneth could utter a word the back of Uncle Crocker Wetherbee and Miss Delicia Fairfax were disappearing through the door. They walked as though to the throne of royalty, their heads high and their faces alight. It apparently was going to be quite an evening in the Metropole-Park. A single sentence drifted back:

"You-all will find us on the roof."

"And you'll find me in the office in the morning!" thundered J. J. Richman. "Is your uncle crazy? Help take a lot of money, Thorne, if I know anything about wild men."

The door slammed with a flat and awful thud.

It was true. Uncle Crocker Wetherbee, the blazing brand from the South, would take a lot of watching. Sitting with his shoulders adroop young Mr. Thorne began to realize the magnitude of the task which he had taken up. There was J. J. to please, there was the Colonel to keep calm. Could it ever be done even with seven million dollars in the offing? He wondered.

And as he wondered in came bobbed brown tresses and silver slippers. Celia — his Celia for whom all this effort was being made—was floating down upon him with rapture in her eyes. A filmy wrap fluttered from her shoulders like magic pennons.

"Celia," he groaned, "your husband has got us in an awful fix!"

She only looked up from his shoulder, the gray eyes glorious.

"Isn't it heavenly?"

"Heavenly!"

"We're alone at last!"

CHAPTER VI.

THE orchestra of the Club Joyeux refreshed by a full quarter of an hour's recess from exertion at midnight and cognizant that a wrong note now didn't count for so much, was putting all its soul, its technique and its lusty breath into the latest song hit to storm the citadels of Broadway. There were tonight under the purple canopy that formed the ceiling of Manhattan's most exclusive night club eyes that sparkled, silken ankles that flashed and a lilt of laughter that arose to float above the tossing heads of a hundred or more representative New Yorkers bent on amusing themselves in the shortest possible amount of time. It was quite a night for joy, jazz and jubilation in general. Just why, nobody seemed to know, but in the world that is Broadway after dark to ask for reasons for anything is completely superfluous.

"At-a-Colonel!" rose a shout from the sidelines.

"He knows how to live!"

"Whoop 'er up for Robert E. Lee!"

Something like a cheer, re-inforced by a hilarious crashing of supper silver against glassware, was resounding from a table in the alcove by a window which was nobly doing its best to let a half-inch draft of air enter the premises. A dozen heads at this moment were craned in the best New York manner towards the couple who were by all odds dominating the place. In a swallowtail coat of impeccable fit, and the largest white silk tie seen on the Rialto in a number of Summers, a gentleman of the old school was more than improving the fleeting hour. He was making it historic. Uncle Crocker, with the ash-blonde head of Delicia Fairfax nestling at his shoulder, could dance with the best of them —indefatigably, excitedly, happily.

"We'll never get him home tonight," breathed Celia into Kenneth's good right ear. They, too, were dancing. Wildly the music swelled and pounded and madly his heart was leaping to its strains. He could go on doing this with Celia forever. For glorious moments he had forgotten that such an edifice as the Gibraltar Trust Company existed or that only yesterday a seven-million-dollar uncle had descended on a honeymooning couple. But now, while harmony reflected only its best loveliness was in his arms, he had to summon up cool and collected thoughts.

No one could say that good old J. J. wasn't a real sportsman. Never a word at nine-ten this morning about the fire-eating proclivities of a certain gallant Colonel; never a vestige of heat on that pink, impassive face. Only a series of swift questions dealing with the new business. A final rapid-fire succession of instructions and Kenneth had sped back to his stenographer with the job already in hand and the knowledge that the first vice-president of the Gibraltar Trust Company was one who let bygones be bygones.

"Celia," he exulted, "never mind the worries. Tonight we're celebrating. You can't blame Uncle Crocker for wanting to step out a little."

A twinge assailed him, none the less, as he spoke. Vivid highlights from a past hardly twenty-four hours old rose to present Colonel Crocker Wetherbee in the role of a gray-maned cyclone out of Texas. At the theater last night he need not have risen to his feet in the middle of the third act and shouted to the heroine as the Mexican villain crouched behind her, "I see the scalawag behind the door!" Nor need he have demanded of the first taxicab to "Take us, driver, where the lights are the brightest and liest," which had landed their quartet in the Club Joyeux. The sapphire eyes of Delicia Fairfax, late of the Frolics, had shone glorious upon him through a dinner amid the flora of the Metropole-Park's roof. All eyes had followed their progress through the course of the evening. He, himself, had sat on one side of the fair Delicia at the show and she had tried to squeeze his hand. She was a charmer. A keeper, who never overlooked an opportunity.

With a tremendous blare the music had come to an end and in chattering groups and eddies the patrons of the Club Joyeux were drifting back to their seats. From the choicest table of all, in the vicinity of which the head waiter himself hovered discreetly, there was already sounding a rich and commanding Southern voice. Colonel Crocker Wetherbee was enthroned in the alcove with Delicia Fairfax and a retinue of half a dozen about him. He was, it appeared, well and favorably known to the entire Club Joyeux on this, his second visit.

"Here come my devoted nephew and my charming niece at last," he observed. "I pride myself greatly on the way in which they have entertained me since my arrival. Never have I met such attractive people as those I now see about me."

In the courtliest fashion he took the fingers of Miss Delicia Fairfax in his and raised them to his lips.

A joyous fire smoldered beneath his bushy eyebrows and the hawk-like nose raised suddenly, much as an ancient warhorse upon the battlefield. Last night, when these symptoms had appeared, he had sent a hundred-dollar bill up to the conductor of the orchestra with the request that it play "Dixie." Above all other heads his wild gray hair towered as he arose in salute, together with a full score of other patrons rendered sentimental by the hour of 2 a. m. and the previous chords of a "mammy" song.

"It was fortunate indeed, was it not," remarked the Colonel to Delicia, "that I met you and you were from the sunny South?"

Delicia pouted a cupid's bow that was a flawless tribute to the art of the lipstick.

"I'll say it was. I love my Kentucky Colonels."

Her eyes took in the distinguished figure of Uncle Crocker with complete approval. The word "oil" may be magic in Wall Street, but it is a positive riot when electric lights flicker. Something resembling a disgruntled snort arose across the table from a young man with a slick waistcoat and still slicker hair who, up until last night, had been Miss Delicia Fairfax's leading cavalier.

"From Texas, dear lady," corrected Uncle Crocker promptly. "Kentucky is the horse country. I would be charmed to send you a blooded bit of horseflesh from the stables of one of my friends in Louisville should you desire it."

"I wouldn't know where to put it," was the answer. "But I know where there's the cutest little roadster in a window on Columbus Circle."

Beneath the table young Mr. Thorne by now was gripping his hands so that the knuckles must be showing white. Love—when seven million dollars worth of oil is included—can blossom overnight on the Great White Way.

"Columbus Circle?" inquired Colonel Wetherbee with an air of surprise. "I was not aware that our gallant navigator made any important discoveries so far North."

In the most innocent manner the ash-blonde head was coming nearer to Uncle Crocker's shoulder every moment, while trustfully and gloriously Celia sat smiling by Kenneth's side. Could he ever go back on her? Never, even if every ex-chorus girl in town registered rapid affection upon a visiting uncle. Miss Delicia Fairfax, it was obvious, was carrying the technique of Broadway into higher altitudes.

"My dear Kenneth," broke in the Colonel effectively, "is that not our friend, Mr. Richman, the banker, entering the door at this moment?"

It was. Accompanied by three prosperous-looking gentlemen in dinner coats J. J. Richman was advancing among the tables. Carstairs of the Third National, Phelps of the Gibraltar Trust, Bagby of the American Mutual—four towers of Wall Street strength had casually invaded the premises of the Club Joyeux. And why not with the Bankers' Convention holding its annual banquet in the hotel across the street? J. J. Richman was a modern vice-president in every way. His golf was par and he knew the first night openings of half the theaters in town. Now he and his colleagues, after wrestling with the financial situation of the nation, were about to have a quiet supper amid cheerful surroundings before they called their motors and were driven home. Yet none the less Kenneth shuddered.

"I wish to speak to him," said Colonel Wetherbee as though he were demanding a waiter. "My dear Kenneth, could trouble you to inform Mr. Richman that I would like to discuss my half-million-dollar investment with him—here at our table?"

From hardly ten feet away J. J. was regarding Kenneth without any particular evidence of surprise. No human being in possession of the faculty of hearing could miss the merry uproar of the Wetherbee-Thorne-Fairfax group in the prize alcove. Beneath the chairs reposed a gigantic assortment of the champagne bottles which Uncle Crocker had been ordering every quarter of an hour. His tangled moustaches lifted and he flashed the most genial smile in the world towards his late opponent. He, too, was a millionaire who let bygones be bygones. J. J. Richman nodded twice—once at Kenneth and once at Uncle Crocker.

The chance must be taken. With a deep breath and a side glance at Celia that found her tantalizingly gay young Mr. Thorne made the endeavor.

"Certainly, Thorne," said J. J. calmly. "I'll come with you for a moment."

"Mr. Richman," opened Colonel Wetherbee, giving every sign of pleasure at the new meeting, "I have decided to call upon your bank for my future investments. I am frank to say that my nephew has prejudiced me in its favor."

"Indeed?" said J. J. His glance roved a trifle curiously about the note-and promises of the Club Joyeux, where within arms' reach the dancers swirled in the glowing rose of a spotlight number. He ignored Delicia and the swarm of satellites completely, and concentrated on the matter in hand.

"You want to talk it over here?"

"I know of no better or more attractive place," stated Colonel Wetherbee. "I have done business both to music and to the sound of cannon."

"Well, then," said the Gibraltar's vice-president briskly, "I might just outline to you a few things I can recommend."

Never had Kenneth admired the hard-headed J. J. Richman more than at this moment, when amid the glamor and riot of a New York night club he calmly took the opportunity of doing half a million dollars' worth of business. He felt for Celia's palm and pressed it under the table cloth. Good old J. J. and Uncle Crocker once more were getting together in a way which meant happiness and fortune for all concerned.

A roll of drums came swelling out from the orchestra and the Club Joyeux went silent, awaiting whatever announcement it might portend. Uncle Crocker consulted a large gold watch and, smiling his brightest, rose to his feet.

"I had almost forgotten my duty. When I informed the manager earlier in the evening that I had once been speaker of the Texas Assembly he most courteously requested that I deliver a small speech at this hour."

Salvos of applause burst out as the spot-light limned the lath-like person of Colonel Crocker Wetherbee, who coughed and raised a hand in authority.

"At-a-Colonel!"

"It is now my pleasure," he announced in a ringing voice, "to recite for you-all the immortal ballad of Jim Bludso and the steamboat, Prairie Belle. I wish another roll of drums from the orchestra as a preliminary to this classic of the South."

Resonantly the tones of Uncle Crocker sounded over the spell-bound tables. It was evident that when he spoke in the Texas Assembly no voice was raised in opposition. Fire flashed from his eye, dramatic gestures employed his long arms. At a corner divan a woman wept and a strong man comforted her as the Prairie Belle sank blazing beneath the waters of the Mississippi. The effect was so stirring that no one noticed the stocky figures of four or five men in business suits who had thrust aside the functionnaire at the door and were now moving about the premises. Amid the thunder of beating palms Uncle Crocker's epic reached its final line.

"I thank you all," he boomed with a hand upon his heart. "My native South also thanks you all for your tribute to a brave pilot." He sat down and, as though there had not been a second's interruption, resumed his conversation with the Gibraltar's vice-president. "And now, Mr. Richman, you have mustered your propositions? Tomorrow night I shall be most pleased to render another classic."

"Maybe there ain't going to be any tomorrow night, ladies and gentlemen."

A hard-eyed individual whose felt hat remained rudely on his head stood beside their table and raised his voice so that the Club Joyeux at large might hear.

"Whether this place gets the padlock or not depends on how nice you customers take the bad news. We're the dry squad and Broadway's getting the fine toothcomb tonight. Boys, go round the tables and see what you find. I'll just start with this one."

Kenneth felt small fingers clutching his. No bride should be involved in the proceedings of a raid on the second evening of the honeymoon, according to all the dictates of the looks on etiquette. Something was wrong, radically wrong, with the picture. He wasn't starting very well as a husband, it seemed. Upon the faces of Miss Delicia Fairfax and her retinue appeared expressions of the most polished and injured innocence.

"Officer," said J. J. Richman, stiffly, yet with complete authority, "you needn't bother with this table. This gentleman and myself are simply doing a little business together."

The felt-batted individual swept their group with a suspicious glance. It was upon the table bare of any decorations save the lobster Uncle Crocker had been ordering every quarter of an hour. His tangled moustaches lifted and he flashed the most genial smile in the world towards his late opponent. He, too, was a millionaire who let bygones be bygones. J. J. Richman nodded twice—once at Kenneth and once at Uncle Crocker.

"Sure I see. You'll pass all right. What I'm looking for tonight is wet goods."

"We win," whispered Kenneth to Celia, "isn't J. J. a wonder?"

"Do I understand you to say, suh, that you are parched?"

Every face was turned to Colonel Wetherbee in horror as his hand stole towards his pocket at the same time that this cultured tones welcomed the stranger. Now the neck of that enormous flask could be seen coming up for air. "Once I myself was parched on a river boat and a kind stranger had compassion on me. I can provide you, suh, with a small nip of . . ."

"You shut up," declared the law abruptly. "Don't try any of your wise cracks on me." The flash of a shield emphasized the remark. "We're raiding this place for liquor tonight—get me? So the clam act is the safest for you."

The dignity with which Uncle Crocker brought himself to his feet was only equalled by the bow which followed it.

"I have been laboring under a delusion, suh. Not having directly heard your previous remarks I fancied that you might be merely a visitor in search of a mild bit of refreshment. I thank you now for informing me that you are one of those snakes in the grass engaged in depriving gentlemen of their personal liberty. Where I come from we do not shoot them—we apply a small but becoming coat of tar and feathers."

"For the thirty," snarled the prey delegate, his face purpling, "you'll get yours."

The moustaches of Uncle Crocker rose fairly on end and any ordinary human being should have quailed before the awful glance of his eyes.

"I shall be pleased to render you satisfaction on your body at any time you may name! In Texas, suh, I have killed my man! No less than three times! They quivered and lay still!"

"Come on, boys!" The hoarse shout rang through a stricken, exit-bent Club Joyeux, and large, heavy-sounding feet pounded down the carpets. "Here's a fresh guy resisting arrest!"

The next thing that young Mr. Thorne knew he was outside the alcove window, a slim and slightly trembling form pressed close to him as the steps of a fire-escape hurt his feet. Beneath him on a neighboring roof several figures flickering in the moonlight told where Miss Celia Fairfax and the others, with the natural aptitude of the Broadwayite amounting almost to genius, had already perfected their getaway from a scene of carnage.

There was no sign of the vice-president of the Gibraltar Trust. As for the redoubtable Colonel Crocker Wetherbee a sound as of splintering furniture and a long drawnout rebel yell proclaimed his complete enjoyment of the rear-guard action. Three of the posse of dry warriors, if Kenneth remembered correctly, had gone down at the first charge, their legs mowed out from under them by the artillery of a handy chair. The first thing was to get Celia safely stowed in the nearest taxicab and then dash to the rescue of Uncle Crocker.

There were vague recollections of a second and shorter fire-escape, an alley decorated with ashcans, which were rude to the shins and then were out on the street beside the canopied portal of the Club Joyeux. Like bees about a honeycomb the crowd of Broadway's night population was clustered on the pavements awaiting the news of this, the latest raid. Up there amid the debris of the battlefield a gray-haired figure which had fought bravely to the end in a lost cause would now be lying, overwhelmed by the forces of the Eighteenth Amendment.

"Never," spoke a familiar voice at this moment, "have I seen a Summer moon so beautiful above the roofs of a city."

Adjusting the cuffs of an unruffled swallowtail coat, Col. Crocker Wetherbee stood framed in the door of the Club Joyeux. He was hatless, but as debonair as though he had just risen from an excellent and quiet dinner. Before him as he strolled nonchalantly through the crowd people seemed to melt away in awe. A smile of the utmost benignancy wreathed his face when he caught sight of his own group.

"I had hoped you would wait for me here at the door, my dear Kenneth. I regret that I was detained so long on my business. It appears that one of my opponents made use of an opprobious epithet, which was directed at me personally."

"And—and—what happened?"

"Taxicab?" commanded Uncle Crocker raising his hand and a yellow night-prowler leaped out of the very asphalt. "Ah, yes. It was a long flight of stairs, but I do not think that the individual in question missed more than two or three of them on the way down. It was most cheering, suh, to observe my traducer bound from step to step.

"Oh!" Delicia carolled, "you threw a dry agent down the stairs?"

"Two of them. The others scattered like October quail. Let us say no more about it. And now, Nephew Kenneth, I feel I should not keep you and your delightful wife up any longer."

"But Uncle Crocker . . ." he ejaculated desperately, only to be waved away by a kindly hand.

"The Colonel's coming with me," declared Delicia, in a highly proprietary manner. "Aren't you?"

"It is still far from the rosy dawn," agreed Uncle Crocker with more than a remnant of his old courtly air, "and I crave my life and action. I have been advised that there are many places of entertainment which may yet be visited if one desires to Richmess his funds in a hospitable manner. My dear Delicia, do you chance to know—"

Ten minutes later a taxicab was rolling toward the majestic bulk of the Metropole-Park. Celia was very quiet, but then she had had a most amazing evening for a bride. When they would see Uncle Crocker again was a matter for deep thought. What had become of J. J. Richman, first vice-president of the Gibraltar Trust Company, in the course and heat of the Club Joyeux's melee was a matter for even deeper thought. He might be damaged or dead but in either case it was difficult to see just where promotion for young Mr. Kenneth Thorne entered into the affair.

His Celia was nestled close to him. His arm enfolded her. In the intimate darkness of the taxicab there was for an instant complete peace and rest from the worries of a topsy-turvy world. Her words came dreamily.

"Kenneth, how old would you say Uncle Crocker is?"

"Don't give me anything more to think about, Celia. About 65, I guess. But I wouldn't say he was exactly ready for a crutch yet."

"Take 1861 from 1926," murmured the dreamy voice again. "That's 65 years, isn't it? Kenneth, when Uncle Crocker fought in the battle of Bull Run he must have been about a week old."

(To Be Continued Next Sunday.)

(Copyright, 1927, by Stewart M. Emery. All Rights Reserved.)

Advertisement.

this crystal brightness for lovely jeweled nails

PETAL smooth—this brilliance—and iridescent as a sea-shell's lovely lining!

Cutex—ever watchful of the slightest swaying of the favored vogue—has perfected this marvelous new Liquid Polish. It flashes on the fingers of the smartest women everywhere.

Now your nails stay lovely for a week or more. Neither hot water nor the thousand little tasks that one must always do, will mar the beauty of its thin, natural brightness. In delicate Natural Pink or Deep Rose. Each is 35c, at all toilet goods counters. Also the Polish Remover. Or these darling samples will be sent to you for 10c and the coupon. In Canada address Dept. A-27, 1101 St. Alexander St., Montreal.

Northam Warren: New York, London, Paris

CUTEX
LIQUID POLISH

Brighter and more natural

Mail Coupon

A cuplook 10c for samples. Send Natural Pink ☐ Deep Rose ☐ Check your preference.
Northam Warren, Dept. A-30
114 West 17th St., New York

Advertisement.

Quickly Relieves Rheumatic Pains

Nothing on this earth so good as Joint-Ease for joints that are painful, swollen or lame and any good druggist will tell you so.

Just rub it on and its comforting influence is quickly felt.

Used by millions for bothersome rheumatic joints that need helpful attention.

A tube for 60 cents at all druggists America over. Pope Laboratories, Hallowell, Maine.

Joint-Ease

Advertisement.

Sage Tea Turns Gray Hair Dark

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients, a large bottle for only 75 cents, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding all mixing.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. Just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

WYETH CHEMICAL CO., Inc., N.Y.

Give this Tube a Trial

Brush your teeth—and mouth—every morning with

SPEARMINT TOOTH PASTE

You'll "come to" so fast, you'll wish you had started years ago to practise "Morning Mouth Rejuvenation." Delightfully piquant "minty" flavor.

WRIGLEY PHARMACEUTICAL COMPANY
Atlantic City, N. J.

No connection with any Individual, Firm or Corporation of similar name.

One quarter inch only gives a thorough cleansing —saves 25% of your tooth paste bills.

The whole good of soap is pure, cleansing LATHER!

In picking soap why be led away by cute packages or artificially colored cakes? No color goes into Sweetheart—the fine materials that make this soap make it cream-white and rich lathering in any water. Cleanses quickly, gently—gives most of what you buy soap for.

Low priced. At your grocer's.

SWEETHEART
TOILET SOAP
At your Grocer's it lathers

© 1927, by American Weekly, Inc. Great Britain Rights Reserved.

How to Select Winter Cereals

By Mrs. Christine Frederick,
The Distinguished Authority on Household Efficiency.

THE word "cereals" refers to all species of grasses which bear a grain, and include wheat, corn, oats, rice, etc. When these grains are crushed or milled, then the same cereals are spoken of as "flour." The housewife is interested both in the grain or cereal, and its corresponding flour, especially in cold weather, when she desires to find heating foods at low cost. As a class, "cereals" contain large percentages of starch or energy foods. They are therefore ideal for the Winter diet when foods must give warmth and strength to withstand the rigors of low temperature.

Wheat is the most universally used cereal. Its important outer coat is called bran, and while this does not have food value, it has mineral salts and is very necessary for good elimination. If the entire grain is used, as in cracked wheat, it will need long slow cooking to perfectly break down the starch cells. The best practice is to pour boiling water over such a coarse cereal and let it stand several hours, then cook in freless, waterless, or pressure cooker. Thus prepared, the whole wheat grain provides energy and heat and even some muscle-giving qualities.

The flour made from the wheat grain is whole wheat flour if it contains the bran coat and also the germ of the wheat which is its most important element. Graham flour is identical with whole wheat flour, although most housewives may not realize this. Graham flour was called after Dr. Graham, a pioneer in the food health movement. These dark flours should be used as often as possible in all home baking because of their health value.

Oats as known in oatmeal is the cereal with the highest protein or meat value. The most nutritious form of oats as a cereal is in the coarse oatmeal, generally called "Irish oatmeal." This is the entire grain, cracked in small portions. It, too, requires long cooking, but the additional food value obtainable is well worth it. This entire grain may be bought under the name of "steel-cut" oatmeal which comes in three sizes, medium, coarse and fine. It may also be purchased ground. In rolled oats, the grains have had the bran coating removed, and these husked grains go through heated rollers which flatten them. This type cooks quicker, but cannot compare in food value to the whole grain.

Rice is a grain almost entirely starch in value. It is the principal food of more than one-third of the entire population of the world. There is some confusion of terms as to the different kinds of rice. The natural grain is brown because of its outer bran husk. This is, again, the grain with the most food value. It is usually sold as "brown rice" or "whole rice." But the housewife is probably most familiar with the grain which has a pearly luster. This is the grain from which the brown coats have been entirely removed, leaving only a starchy center. Further, the grain has been polished by rapidly revolving cylinders. And last, it has been "coated." Coated rice is polished white rice covered with a mixture of corn syrup and talc to give it a pearly luster. One of the greatest errors is for the buyer to insist on having white and snowy foods, which are made so by removing the brown husk in which lies their chief value. If the housekeeper only knew that white rice is foolishly polished with talc just to catch her eye, she would surely be sensible enough to insist on having the natural wholesome grain of brown rice.

Barley and rye are some of the oldest grains, now perhaps less popular in the modern kitchen. Barley, however, has much food value and may be used as a whole grain Winter cereal, or for thickening soup. Here "Scotch" barley is again more wholesome than "pearl" barley, which is polished after the husk coats have been removed. The housewife seldom uses rye at home, but rye flour, added to white bolted flour, makes a wholesome bread of pleasing variety.

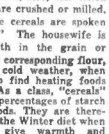
Buckwheat is used chiefly as a flour for making griddle cakes where its dark color and nut-like flavor improve the typical "hot cake." It should always be bought in very small quantities, as it does not keep well and is subject to insect pests.

Corn is the grain given us by the Indians who first found it as a wild grass growing in the region of New Mexico. It is practically pure starch, with a little fat in its kernel. Corn meal is familiar to the house wife who uses it for the many muffins, cornbread, "pones," etc. The old-fashioned method of grinding corn was called "water ground cornmeal" and was milled between stones. The grain was not heated, and therefore the resulting corn meal was of rich flavor. There has been developed a "new process" of grinding, and not as much can be said of it as the old. The flavor of this new or "granulated" meal is less rich, and the meal is not so wholesome. In buying, the old-fashioned "water ground" should be asked for, although it is difficult to secure in Northern States. White cornmeal is sold under various names and packaged forms, as a quick cooking breakfast food. And while the word farina may indicate the flour of any grain, it is generally used in this country meaning white cornmeal as known for breakfast cereals and other cooking uses. There is also wheat farina which is used in the manufacture of macaroni and other food pastes.

All cereals should be kept in a dry place and in such containers that weevils and flour moths may not gain an entrance. The whole grains bought in cheesecloth bags in quantities of three to five pounds are more economical than if bought constantly by the package suitable to small family needs. It is a mistake to let the breakfast cereal become monotonous. With so many varieties to select from, and with such valuable cold weather food value, the housewife should purchase and use cereals generously. They provide the most food value, as a class, at the lowest price. All they need is slow, thorough cooking, whether in the hot morning cereal so essential to children's health, or in the other dishes they make possible.

Hacking Cough?

Just Rub It Away



Musterole does the work, quickly and pleasantly. Rub it on the throat and chest. It tingles and penetrates the skin. It relieves soreness and wards off danger. A clean white ointment made with oil of mustard and other simple ingredients.

Keep Musterole handy for instant use. When suffering from croup, chest cold, sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis and pains in joints, headache, neuralgia and chilblains or frost bite, rub on Musterole.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Jars & Tubes
MUSTEROLE
WILL NOT BLISTER
BETTER THAN A MUSTARD PLASTER

Advertisement.

How to Have Soft, Pretty White Hands

Many women will undoubtedly be glad to know how they may have beautiful, white, soft, pretty hands regardless of the work they have to do. The secret lies in rubbing a little Ice-Mint into the hands occasionally, preferably just before retiring at night. In the morning you will be agreeably surprised at the pleasant transformation that has been wrought by even a single application. Ice-Mint is made from a Japanese product that is simply marvelous for its beautifying properties whether used on the hands or face. Regardless of what kind of work a woman does she should have pretty hands as they are really the true marks of refinement. A few application of Ice-Mint will actually make any woman proud of her hands and skin. It costs little and is sold and recommended by good druggists everywhere.

United Sales & Mfg. Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Don't Cry, Bess! I know a way to get rid of your superfluous hair by killing the hair root so it will never grow again. No depilatory, but the proven method used by beauty specialists. You can use it right here in your room. It's the method of D. J. Mahler, who has taught beauty-culture for 25 years. Send three stamps for full information in plain, sealed envelope. D. J. MAHLER CO., Mahler Plat, Providence, R. I.

A Spotless Bathroom

KEPT LIKE NEW

SAPOLIO is so thorough and quick, so clean and white, it seems made especially for modern bathrooms, to clean metal and enamel fixtures, fine glaze fittings, tiled floors and walls. It quickly removes the brown stain in basin and tub.

SAPOLIO polishes as it cleans. Just a light going over with damp cloth and SAPOLIO, and all grime instantly disappears. There is no disagreeable dust or odor.

SAPOLIO is safe and thorough—quicker for dishes, aluminum, kitchen ware and cutlery. Linoleum and oilcloth, cement floors and painted woodwork.

For the Children: Send 4-cent stamp for the cut-out and Jingles of Spotless Town

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY ENOCH MORGAN'S SONS CO., NEW YORK

SAPOLIO

Appetizing Menus for the Week

MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY	SATURDAY	SUNDAY
Breakfast	Breakfast	Breakfast	Breakfast	Breakfast	Breakfast	Breakfast
Cereal	Apple Sauce,	Sliced Bananas	Steamed Figs,	Oatmeal with	Ripe Pears,	Prunes with with Dates,	Broiled Calf's	with	Bread Crumb	Raisins,	Toasted Raisin	Lemon,
Graham Toast,	Liver,	Orange Juice,	Sausage,	French Omelet,	Bran,	Shad Roe
Bacon,	Hashed	Goldenrod Eggs	Apple Sauce,	Bacon,	Top Milk,	Scrambled
Coffee.	Potatoes	on Toast,	Toasted Tea	Popovers,	Broiled Bacon,	with Eggs,
Luncheon	in Cream	Coffee.	Biscuits,	Coffee.	Corn Muffins,	Tomato Relish,
Cream of	Sauce,	Luncheon	Coffee.	Luncheon	Coffee.	Rolls, Coffee.
Spinach	Reheated	Boston Baked	Luncheon	Broiled Vienna	Luncheon	Dinner
Soup,	Rolls,	Beans,	Cream of Salmon	Sausage,	Clam Broth,	Meat Loaf,
Croutons,	Coffee.	Raisin Brown	Soup,	Candied Sweet	Scalloped	Mushroom Sauce,
Mashed	Luncheon	Bread,	Croutons,	Potatoes,	Corn	Potatoes,
Potatoes	Spanish Rice,	Fruit and Rice	Shredded Cabbage	Sour Cabbage,	and Green	Creamed Celery, with Cheese,	Buttered	Trifle.	Salad,	Apple Tarts	Pepper,	Green Peas in
Brown Bread,	Asparagus,	Dinner	Graham Bread,	Dinner	Toasted	Tomato Jelly
Marmalade,	One-Egg Puffs	(Company)	Hermits.	Tomato Soup,	Muffins,	Salad,
Tea.	with Spice	Smothered	Dinner	Steamed Halibut	Canned Fruit,	French Dressing,
Dinner	Sauce.	Chicken,	Broiled Steak	Butter Sauce,	Ice Box	Canned Peach
Grape Cocktail,	Supper	Steamed Rice,	with	Steamed Potatoes	Cookies.	Shortcake,
Left-over Veal	Vegetable	Pimento Corn	Oysters,	Sprinkled with	Dinner	Whipped Cream.
and Vegetables in	Soup,	Fritters,	Mashed Potatoes,	Parsley,	Roast Pork,	Supper
Casserole,	Golden Corn	Cranberry Jelly,	Buttered	Buttered Beets,	Cream Gravy,	Pigs in Blankets,
Apple and	Bread,	Baking Powder	Cauliflower,	Jellied	Stewed Brown	Graham Rolls,
Celery	Norwegian	Biscuit,	Lettuce Salad,	Pineapple Salad,	Rice,	Baked Apple
Salad,	Prune	Fruit Gelatine,	Relish Dressing,	Sweet Fruit	Buttered	Salad,
Maple Bread	Pudding,	Thin Cream,	Pineapple	Dressing,	Spinach,	Bran Wafers,
Crumb Pudding	Thin Cream.	Oatmeal Cookies.	Shortcake.	Wafers, Coffee.	Deep Apple Pie.	Cocoa.

Milk for Children and Adults

MILK is nature's most nearly perfect food. It has no substitute. Its proteins are of high quality, its fat is easily digested. It is one of the best carriers of vitamins and is an excellent source of mineral salts. Milk gives us food lime which is so essential in our diet.

Food lime, or calcium, as it is more properly called, must be in our foods. Children, especially, need an abundance of food lime during their growing period to furnish building material for the bones and teeth. And quite recently scientific investigations have shown that it is necessary for nearly all the body functions.

This element is not found very abundantly in most foods, and unless we include at least a pint of milk each day in our diet it is likely to be lacking in amounts of food lime sufficient for the body needs. Children should drink a quart of milk a day.

Milk may be taken as a beverage or as a part of other foods. Either ordinary or evaporated milk may be used. It may constitute a part of other foods such as soups, sauces, custards, etc. The main thing is to get the food lime, no matter what the form.

American Weekly Patterns

A STYLISH GOWN FOR THE WOMAN OF MATURE FIGURE WITH SLENDER HIPS (5970). The pattern is cut in 8 sizes: 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52 inches bust measure. A 42-inch size, if made as illustrated in the large view, will require 3⅛ yards of 40-inch material, together with ⅝ yard of contrasting material.

A POPULAR BOY'S SUIT (5988). The pattern is cut in 3 sizes: 2, 4 and 6 years. A 4-year size will require 1⅝ yards of 54-inch material.

A NEAT AND PRETTY MORNING FROCK (5975). The pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. To make the dress, as illustrated, for a 38-inch size will require 3¼ yards of 36-inch material, together with ⅝ yard of contrasting material for pockets and facing on collar, front and cuffs.

A SIMPLE MODEL WITH NEW LINES (5970). The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. A 12-year size will require 2⅝ yards of 40-inch material, together with ¼ yard of contrasting material.

A YOUTHFUL FROCK (5973). The pattern is cut in 3 sizes: 16, 18 and 20 years. An 18-year size will require 3¼ yards of 40-inch material, together with ¼ yard of contrasting material.

GIRLS' DRESS (5952). The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. A 12-year size, if made as in the large view, will require 2⅞ yards of 36-inch material, together with ¾ yard of contrasting material. If made with short sleeves, ¾ yard less of the material will be required.

CHILD'S ROMPERS (5987). The pattern is cut in 3 sizes: 6 months, 1 year and 2 years. A 6 months size, if made with sleeves, will require 1½ yards of 27-inch material, together with ⅜ yard of contrasting material. If made without sleeves, 1¼ yards of material is required, together with the contrasting material.

To obtain any one of these desirable patterns, fill in the accompanying coupon and mail, with 12c in silver of stamps for each pattern (each number represents one pattern) to

AMERICAN WEEKLY PATTERNS
P. O. BOX NO. 260
CITY HALL STATION,
NEW YORK, N. Y.

AMERICAN WEEKLY PATTERNS.
P. O. Box No. 260, City Hall Station, New York, N. Y.
12c EACH.

5970....Bust	5975....Bust
5988....Year	5979....Years
5952....Year	5987....Years
5973....Years

Name .....
St. & No. .....
City & State .....

Send 10c in silver or stamps for our Up-to-Date Fall and Winter 1927-1928 Book of Fashions, in colors, with comprehensive dressmaking suggestions.

© 1927, by American Weekly, Inc. Great Britain Rights Reserved.

Just for a Change

By Mary Lee Swann,
The Well-Known Writer and Lecturer on Cooking.

Health Muffins.

MIX and sift 1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon soda and 1½ teaspoons salt. Add 2 cups bran, 1¼ cups milk, ½ cup corn syrup or molasses and 1 well beaten egg. When well beaten, add 1 cup thoroughly drained crushed pineapple. Bake in small buttered muffin pans in a hot oven about 25 minutes.

Pineapple, Nut and Cheese Sandwiches.

BEAT ½ cup cream cheese until smooth. Add ½ cup finely chopped nut meats and ½ cup well drained shredded pineapple. Mix well. Spread between thinly sliced buttered or unbuttered brown bread.

Moulded Fish.

REMOVE skin and bones from a thick piece of boiled fish. Finely chop and press through a sieve. There should be about 1 1-3 cups. Pound in a mortar, adding gradually 2 unbeaten egg whites. Add 1¼ cups thick cream and salt and paprika to taste. Turn into a buttered mould, cover with a buttered paper, set in a pan of hot water and bake until fish is firm. Turn out on serving dish and serve with Normandy sauce.

Pineapple Apricot Sherbet.

PRESS 1 can grated pineapple and 1 can apricots through sieve. Add juice 2 oranges, juice 2 lemons and 3 cups hot water and 1 pound sugar. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Cool and freeze.

GRAY HAIR VANISHES

THERE is a marvelous way to bring back color to gray hair.—to restore faded streaks to youthful color—to regain gleaming brilliance.

It is clean and colorless as water. You simply comb it through the hair. It will not wash nor rub off. It's called Mary T. Goldman's Hair Color Restorer.

Test free at your home. Or go to nearest druggist. A few cents' worth restores color perfectly. Costs nothing if not amazed and delighted.

Test Free

MARY T. GOLDMAN
170 Goldman Bldg. St. Paul, Minn.
Send Free Outfit. Black..... dark brown..... medium brown..... auburn..... light brown..... light red..... blonde.....
Name .....
Street .....
City .....
State .....
Please print your name and address

Won't mother be pleased!

HERE'S the gift that will make mother's work easier every day in the year. There's nothing like the carpet sweeper for the daily sweeping of crumbs, dirt, lint and litter. And a new "Cyco" ball-bearing "Bissell" will do the work better and easier and permit keeping the old one upstairs as an added convenience.

The cost of the first half-dozen brooms it saves pays for a Bissell which lasts for years. Play-size Bissells for a few dimes. At department, housefurnishing, furniture and hardware stores. Booklet of Bissell Models, or Circular on How to get best results from your present sweeper, on request.

BISSELL
CARPET SWEEPER CO. • GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.
Carpet Sweeper

Dainty Underwear for 15 cents!

To give your underwear and stockings delicate, true tones, you must use real dye. For the gorgeous shades like you see in things when they are new, use the original Diamond Dyes.

It's just as easy to Diamond Dye almost anything you wear—a faded dress, even your old suit, or the hangings in the home—a brand new color right over the old. Home dyeing is lots of fun—and Diamond Dyes make home dyeing just as perfect as any professional could do.

Diamond Dyes
Dip to TINT — Boil to DYE

Big Dye and Tint Book — FREE

A valuable book, "Color Craft," free and postpaid, if you write. Full of pictures and suggestions for dyeing and tinting dozens of things at home. To be sure of a copy clip this coupon now.

DIAMOND DYES
Name .....
Address .....
City ..... State .....

FREE!

Installation on Any Radio Set

The Marvelous

PHILCO

RADIO AB SOCKET POWER

Runs Any Radio from Your Electric Current!

IT'S a fact! It makes no difference what kind of dry-cell or storage battery operated set you now have or what kind of battery set you may buy, the New Model Philco AB Socket Power will operate that particular set from the electric light current in your home. It will also give you super-power for ALL Power Tubes! 180 volts at 60 milli-amperes!

Yours On Easy Terms

You can buy the Philco on Easy Payment Terms from any Authorized Philco Dealer in your town. You merely make a small first payment, then you can pay the balance monthly. Go to your Radio or Electrical Dealer, Department Store, Electric Light Company, Music Dealer or Battery Service Station. If you prefer, simply mail the FREE COUPON below to us and we will reply promptly.

Trade In Your Old "A" Storage Battery

You won't need your old "A" storage battery with the Philco AB Socket Power. And any Authorized Philco Dealer will make you a liberal allowance for it on the purchase of a brand-new guaranteed Philco. It makes no difference what make of "A" storage battery you now have. It doesn't matter how old or how worn-out it may be.

YES, any Authorized Dealer in your community will connect the wonderful New Model Philco AB Socket Power to your radio set—whether it is an old set or a new set—at no additional cost to you. Installation is absolutely FREE! And then you can run your radio—any kind of standard radio set—from the electric lighting current in your home.

No More Battery Worries!

Here is your chance to do away with the ordinary "A" storage battery and all dry-cell "A" and "B" batteries. No more recharging to do! No more dry batteries to replace! No hum and no distortion! Perfect radio reception from the electric light socket, and everything controlled by your radio set switch. Super-power for ALL Power Tubes!

Easy As Turning On Your Electric Light!

The switch on your radio set controls everything—your "A" Power, your "B" power, as well as the radio itself. Snap it ON when you want to listen in. Snap it OFF and the radio is silent. No fuss! No bother!

Every Philco Guaranteed

Every Philco Socket Power is covered by an ironclad factory guarantee—the most comprehensive guarantee ever given a radio socket power. Furthermore, every Philco is built to conform to Underwriters' Laboratories Safety Specifications.

Built for All Radio Power Tubes!

Delivers 180 Volts!

The Famous Philco Radio AB Socket Power

Everything enclosed in this attractive Metal Cabinet

Another Radio Sensation

PHILCO

"B" Socket Power

180 Volts

No tubes! No batteries! No harmful acids!

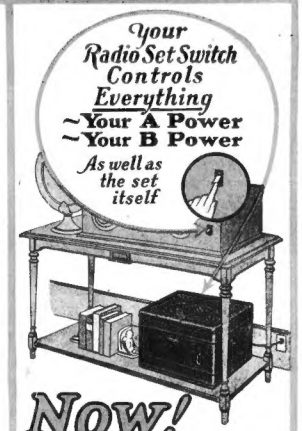
ABSOLUTELY the last word in a radio "B" Power unit. Operates any and all power tubes, delivering up to 180 volts and maintaining high voltage indefinitely. This Philco "B" Socket Power is covered by a clearly worded and comprehensive factory guarantee.

The Marvelous Philco "B" Socket Power

No Hum! No Distortion!

No water to add. No harmful acids. No servicing required. Strong, steady "B" power always and without the slightest hum or distortion. The Philco "B" Socket Power is equipped with the magic Philcotron. It prolongs the life of all radio tubes. The Philcotron is an exclusive Philco feature.

Any Authorized Philco Dealer will give you Easy Payment Terms and FREE installation



NOW!

You can buy just the radio set you want — Philco will run it from the light socket!

Yes, that is exactly what we mean! Pick out any standard radio set you like—a set with the tone, distance range and selectivity you want—a tried and proven radio set that you can depend upon. And then remember, the Philco AB Socket Power will operate that particular set from your electric lighting current! No need for you to buy a poor or unproven radio set simply to get electrical operation.

Console-Cabinet Models

Philco models are built to fit inside the cabinets of practically all well-known radio sets, including:

Atwater Kent Crosley Pfanstiehl
Victrola-Radiola Fada Radiola-28
Freed-Eisemann Brunswick-Radiola

Special Philco Units have been designed for Fada, King, Pfanstiehl, Freed-Eisemann, Stromberg-Carlson, Victrola-Radiola, Brunswick-Radiola, and are tested and approved by these companies.

Mail this Coupon NOW!

That is all you need to do. Merely sign your name and address to this coupon, put it in an envelope and drop it in the mail to us. Our address—the nearest address to you—is given below, and your inquiry will get very prompt attention.

Do not delay! Whether you own a radio set now or whether you are thinking of buying one, mail the coupon to us just as soon as possible.

Remember, this coupon is not an order. It does not place you under the slightest obligation. It is simply your request for the FREE descriptive literature telling all about the New Model Philco AB Socket Power.

We will send you the full details of our national offer of Easy Payments and Trade-In Allowance for your old storage battery. Mail the coupon today, and all this information will be sent FREE.

Philadelphia Storage Battery Company

Phone Brighton 5741

1 Brighton Ave., Boston, Mass. DEPT. 1078

Factory, General Offices and Laboratories, Philadelphia

IMPORTANT Though we provided this year for double last year's demand, our sales are running so much above our estimates that those desiring a Philco this season should act promptly. Immediate orders will be delivered promptly. It would be well to telephone or call upon your dealer today—but mail the coupon at once anyway, even if you plan to call, then you will have all the facts of this remarkable offer before you.

© H. B. B.

Special Offer COUPON

Philadelphia Storage Battery Company

1 Brighton Ave., Boston, Mass. Dept. 1078

GENTLEMEN:

Please send me, without cost, the illustrated literature describing the New Model PHILCO AB SOCKET POWER. I also desire the full details of your Easy Payment Plan, Free Installation and Trade-In Allowance Offer. It is understood that this request does not place me under any obligation whatsoever.

NAME _____

ADDRESS _____

CITY _____ STATE _____